Midyear Exercises Held

Morningside College graduated thirty seniors Friday morning, January 19, in exercises at Grace Methodist Church. Twenty-nine men and one woman received degrees.

J. H. Peet, superintendent at Cedar Falls, Ia., addressed the graduates on the theme, We're Kicking Down the Ladder. Mr. Peet received his B. A. degree from Cornell College in 1916 and his master's degree from the University of Chicago in 1928. He has been superintendent of schools in Iowa since 1916 and has held his present position since 1935.

According to Mr. Peet: "Secularism is leading our country into the historic pattern of rise, decline and fall. Commercialized auto racing, fishing derbies, sports and other amusements are robbing us of the renewal of spiritual strength that it once gave us.

"As economic pressure has been lightened, the people have begun to feel more self sufficient and have recognized less and less dependence upon God.

"Every civilization has followed a similar pattern in its development", said Mr. Peet as he drew from a talk by Will Durant, famed philosopher who has pointed out that our American civilization is no worse and no better than those that preceded it. The crest of economic self sufficiency is the point where the nation begins its decline. As a solution, the speaker said we need to "rededicate our lives" to bring religion back as a guiding force and break the precedent of rise and fall of nations.

The program included an opening prayer by Rev. Roy H. Cox, '23, of Sac City; benediction by Rev. John C. Buthman, pastor of Grace Methodist Church, and music by the college chapel and vesper choirs.

Dr. Roadman presented diplomas including eight bachelor of arts degrees, two bachelor of music education degrees and twenty bachelor of science degrees.

Candidates for degrees were:

Bachelor of arts: Roger Cox, Sac City, Ia.; James Gerkin, Sioux City; Robert Hjelm, Lanyon, Ia.; Stanley Jenkner, Chicago, Ill.; Shoji Katayama, Los Angeles, Calif.; Ramon Segistan, Panama City, Panama; Martin Weiner, Sioux City, and Miss Beverly Welton, Sioux City.

Bachelor of science: James Anderson, South Sioux City, Neb.; Max Bacon, Harlan, Ia.; Raymond Burnight, Sioux City; Donald Doyle, Sioux City; Robert Hooks, Sioux City; Daniel Johnson, Sioux City; Nels Joslin, Sioux City; Bruce Lampport, Sioux City; Ben Medcalf, O'Neill, Neb.; John B. Merriman, Sioux City; Edgar Nelson, Sioux City; Alex Pelelo, Sioux City; Don Pelton, Sioux City; Bruce Pickford, Chicago, Ill.; Ray Robison, Vallonia, Ind.; Kenneth Sager, Sioux City; Robert Shulenberg, Sioux City; Henry Skiles, Rembrandt, Ia.; Harold Strunk, Sioux City, and Howard Tolles, Sioux City.

Bachelor of music education: Frank Lieb, Cherokee, Ia., and Edwin Osborn, Jefferson, S. D.

Morningside Rates High

Morningside was one of four colleges in Iowa that received recognition in the third annual report of Good Housekeeping magazine on small colleges in the United States. The February issue of Good Housekeeping lists one hundred twenty five good little colleges in the country. Only independent colleges were considered by the magazine's Advisory Board and the magazine staff, and only colleges with enrollments of not more than fifteen hundred full-time students, where the total cost for board, room and tuition does not exceed $1220 per year. Morningside College met these basic requirements, as well as qualifying under the further specifications. The survey and report are made "as a service to parents and prospective college students who are interested in the selection of a good college."

The criteria for rating the qualifications of "a good college," as judged by Good Housekeeping's Advisory Board, include such factors as "adequacy of endowment, investment value of buildings and grounds, strength of the faculty as evidenced by professional memberships and advanced degrees, completeness of library facilities, and the percentage of students continuing with graduate work." Geographical location was also considered.

Alumni and other friends of Morningside College will agree that Morningside merits this recognition.

Grads Honored

Three Morningside graduates were initiated into Mu Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma preceding the annual Founder's Day banquet on February 17 at the Warrior Hotel. The new members are Ethel Hedenbergh ('35), Alice Dawson, '27 and Luise Thoms, '47.

Choir To Make Tour

Fifty members of the Morningside a cappella choir will make a tour of northwest Iowa, beginning on February 25.

The current tour will be divided into two parts, the first consisting of three one-day excursions, February 25, March 4 and 11. On these days the choir will sing concerts in Hawarden, LeMars, Cherokee, Storm Lake, Sheldon and Archer. The second half of the trip will be a four-day jaunt, March 25-29. The choristers will appear in Spirit Lake, Estherville, Clear Lake, Clarion, Sac City, Burt, Garner, Belmond, Fort Dodge, and Manson.

The Chapel Choir is under the direction of Professor Paul MacCollin, who has directed it for the last thirty years.

Pianist Adds To Reputation

Dr. Knud Andersson, aside from his duties as piano instructor at Morningside College, recently has been accompanist for such well known concert artists as Mary Henderson, Norman Scott, Jean Handzlik and Frank Edwinn.

After his first two concerts with Scott, leading bass-baritone of the New York City Center opera, Dr. Andersson received favorable comment from both critics and the singer. As a result, the National Concert and Artists corporation chose him as accompanying artist for most of its singers touring the middle west.

Dr. Andersson has been a member of the Morningside faculty since last September. Before coming to the United States he established himself as an accompanist and, in addition, as a conductor at opera houses in western Germany. He intends to produce two short operas with the conservatory opera workshop some time this spring.

MISS DIMMITT REMINISCES

The passing of Pierre Peters will bring back to old-time students many recollections of the early days of the college.

There would first come to mind the far famed elevated railroad for Pierre was employed in his student days by this transportation company. Many a student will recall his first ride on this elevated train after a wearisome climb of a long flight of stairs to the waiting room on third and Jones Street on his way to register for an academy or college course of study.

An impressive figure in all public meetings for the advancement of the interests of Sioux City was Pierre's father, Mr. E. C. Peters, dressed in a light grey suit of clothes with a topcoat and hat to match.

The older students, in particular, appreciated knowing Mr. E. C. Peters and they listened with great interest to his account of his prospecting visit to Sioux City where he investigated the opportunities for investments. Especially did they enjoy the picture of him and Mrs. Peters, as they described their experience, in their open buggy, driving out from Sioux City on a cross-country mud road that had never been surveyed, to inspect a farm that was for sale. This farm he bought and today a part of it composes the campus of Morningside College. Old-time students will recall the Peters farm home located north of the Jones Science Hall, the impressive landscaping with the semi circular driveway, lined with trees, leading up to the front door, the lovely rose garden seats partially enclosed by lattice. Among the recollections too, will be "Lovers' Lane" on the north side and the seats underneath the trees.

When Mr. Peters decided to plot his farm and place it upon the market, he moved from this large farm home and rented it for a short time to be used as a sanitarium.

Soon it was included in an additional purchase of land, known as the Peters tract, made by the college. The hospital facilities were moved out and O. M. Bond and Frank Mitchell with other students moved in and decorated their rooms with drawings of germs.

The next change resulted in the name of Mendota Hall being given to the house which was to be used as a home for college girls under the supervision of a resident faculty woman. The dining room was opened to all students and managed by Mrs. Alldridge.

The growth of the student body necessitated the organization of two similar houses for college girls with faculty women in charge and in the reorganization Miss Jeanette Lewis became the house mother of Mendota Hall whose name was later changed to Park Place.

Main Hall was crowded—the expanding library originally organized by Mrs. J. B. Trimble and housed in two adjoining recitation rooms on the second floor of Main Hall had outgrown its quarters. It was moved down into its present quarters on first floor which had been occupied by the Chemistry Department.

The Chemistry Department was moved into the Peters farm-house which was finally destroyed by fire.

Old students, too, will recall Mr. E. C. Peters' father whom they fondly called "Grandpa Peters" and his home to the west of the president's home.

The pioneers of Sioux City are gone, but their names cling to streets, parks, commercial buildings, churches and organizations. Their achievements still live and prized are their memories.

NEW BOOK BY FORMER DEAN

Dr. Paul E. Johnson, Dean of the College and professor of philosophy at Morningside College from 1936 to 1941, is the author of a new book, Christian Love, a psychological study of the subject, set for publication by Abington-Cokesbury Press of New York.

Dr. Johnson has been professor of psychology of religion at Boston University since 1941. In connection with his work in pastoral counseling, he leads classes in group therapy for psychosomatic and psychoneurotic patients at the Boston dispensary. An ordained minister, Dr. Johnson holds degrees from Cornell College, the University of Chicago and Boston University. He has served as a pastor in the United States and as a missionary in China.

His book deals with love in terms of both religious and social interpersonal relationships.

APPOINTED CONSULTANT

Dr. Eugene M. Emme, '41, has a new position as historical consultant to the Air War College, at Maxwell, Ala., serving as a civilian faculty member to the highest educational institution of the U. S. Air Force. In this capacity he delivers lectures on historical subjects, although the bulk of Air War College lectures are given by national leaders and guest professors from the larger universities. On November 15th he spoke at a convocation at Kansas State College in Emporia on "Air Power in World Affairs."

He has an article on the "Politico-Military Aspects of Western Defense Under the North Atlantic Treaty" appearing in the current issue of Air University Quarterly Review. He is also a frequent contributor to the book review section of the Des Moines Sunday Register.

MENDOTA HALL

CLASSES PLANNING REUNIONS

The Alumni Executive Committee at its regular February meeting in Dimmitt Hall voted to carry out a modified Dix plan of reunions this year instead of holding the customary five year class reunions at Commencement time.

This program of reunions brings together the classes of three consecutive years; for instance, if you are a member of a class celebrating your twenty-fifth anniversary, the classes which graduated immediately preceding and following yours also will be in attendance. Thus you will meet the friends who were sophomores and seniors while you were juniors in college.

Accordingly, the following schedule has been arranged. If you are a member of a reunioneing class, plan now to be on the campus Alumni Day, May 26th.

It is hoped that, for the first time in the history of the college, members who are attending their Fiftieth Anniversary will be present. With this in mind, we are inviting all members of the classes of 1900, 1901 and 1902 to come back to receive special honors at their Alma Mater.

The classes of 1910 and 1912 are invited to return to help the class of 1911 celebrate its Fortieth Reunion. Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Chandler (Frances Horn), both 1911, will be co-chairmen for this group.

Members of the class of 1925, who held their 25th reunion last year, again will be guests with the class of 1926, the twenty fifth anniversary class, as well as members of the class of 1927.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Parties, dinners, birthday cards and congratulatory telegrams were all an enjoyable part of Miss Dimmitt's eighty-fourth birthday celebration on February 10. Miss Dimmitt reports that she is still receiving greetings from friends and former students in every mail. And how she does appreciate them!

IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Iver G. Nore

Mrs. Iver G. Nore (Anna Carlson '25) died at a hospital in Sioux City on February 9 after a week's illness. A lifelong resident here, Anna was active in many organizations and a member of Trinity Lutheran Church, where her funeral was held.

After graduating from Iowa State Teachers College, she had taught school until her marriage. Besides Mr. Nore, who teaches at Jeed's high school, she is survived by two daughters, Barbara and Pamela, her father, a sister, Dora, '14, (Mrs. O. Z. Cervin) of Rock Island, Ill. and a brother.

Mrs. H. O. Keck

Mrs. H. O. Keck, formerly Lucretia Troutman ('28), died on January 19 at her home in Sioux City after an illness of several months. Survivors are her husband, three sons, and two brothers. One brother, George, of Los Angeles, Calif., is a former Morningsider.

Pierre Peters

The month of December marked the death of Pierre Peters, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Peters. Very appropriately the funeral services were conducted by President Roadman and Dean Graber, neighbors for many years of the deceased. The Peters name is closely associated with the founding of Morningside College and Pierre Peters was one of its early students.

Lola Pearson

Mrs. Lola Clark Pearson ('94), associate editor of The Farmer-Stockman magazine for twenty years, died at her home, 2645 N. W. 24th Street, Oklahoma City, Okla., on January 31.

One of the few Oklahoma women listed in Who's Who in America, Mrs. Pearson had been ill with heart disease since early December. In 1930, Mrs. Pearson had been named one of the twenty four leading women in the state by a group of educators. She served as editor of the Oklahoma Farmer from 1922 to 1924 before becoming associate editor of the Farmer-Stockman in June, 1925.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Dewey H. Neal, of Oklahoma City; two sons, John and Clark W., the latter an executive in the General Motors Corp., Detroit; two brothers and four sisters.

Earl E. Bovee, '12

The editorial by Mr. John Woodson in the February 7 Sioux City Journal is a splendid review of the life and influence in our community of Mr. E. E. Bovee, a graduate of Morningside in 1912.

We reprint the editorial:

With a career of 31 years as principal of elementary schools in Sioux City behind him, Earl E. Bovee, veteran teacher and former civic worker, who died of a heart attack in San Luis Obispo, Calif., on February 5, surely is remembered by thousands of men and women who came under his guidance and benefited from his leadership in education. His record in the Sioux City public schools was a good one, ranking among the best over a long period of years when numerous men and women gave distinguished service to this community.

Mr. Bovee once estimated that 6,300 students had passed through elementary schools in Sioux City during the time of his principalship service. Five thousand of them were under his guidance at the Whittier school alone where he had served 27 years continuously. Two generations of students were known to him during his years of school activity, and to this day men and women now of middle age recall him as a principal who always was fair and just and tolerant but firm if the occasion demanded.

It was not however as a teacher, or principal alone, that Mr. Bovee impressed himself upon the Sioux City community. He was active in various extracurricular activities of public school students. He was a school garden inspector and took part in various playground activities, thus becoming a mentor for boys and girls who today as men and women remember him with affection. He lived to some purpose, this wholesome teacher, performed a valuable service to a community where he lived long and where he reared his family. A fine man in every respect, he left a deep impress on the lives of thousands, a fact in which he took pardonable pride in the last years of his long and busy life.

Survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Don F. Crippen, National City, Calif.; two sons, Dr. Eugene Bovee ('37), San Luis Obispo, Calif.; Victor ('34), Sioux City; three brothers and four sisters.

CLASS NOTES

Miss Elizabeth E. Johnson, '06, has retired recently from the Portland, Ore. post office where she had been employed since 1935. Elizabeth entered government service with the department of agriculture, for which she worked three years before being appointed postmaster at Gresham. She held that position for twelve years under three presidents of the United States. Fellow associates at the Portland office presented her with a silver service set at a going away party. Elizabeth's present address is 505 Wallula Avenue in Gresham.

Mrs. Lon A. Hawkins (Cora Frear, '07), who visited the campus last fall on her way to Washington, D. C. recently gave a report of her trip east to the branch of National League of American Pen Women at Eugene, Ore.

Reuben O. Walin ('10) is a rancher living at San Luis Rey, Calif.

An interesting letter to Mabel Irwin Burgess, '15, of Storm Lake, Ia. from a classmate, Florence Shumaker Tilsch, '15, of Houston, Texas, explains that a serious illness kept her from attending her class reunion last June. The Shumakers were a prominent family while they lived in Morningside during the early 1900's. Florence's father, Mr. J. G. Shumaker, was for many years a trustee of Morningside College while the children were students here. When the family left Sioux City in 1919, they settled in the lower Rio Grande valley in Texas. Florence taught in the high school at McAllen, Texas until her marriage in 1921 when she moved to Houston. She taught there for eight years and later took work in sociology at the University of Texas when her health failed. Lillian ('04), the older sister, is Mrs. F. E. Waechter of Omaha, Nebr. and Hazel, '13, is Mrs. Hal Hudson of Titusville, Fla. Hal, '11, and Hazel are planning to return for Hal's fortieth reunion on May 26.

Mrs. Florence Bull Baker, '16, is living at 1144 South Main, Horseheads, N. Y.

CAGE SUMMARY

Previous to Morningside's two-game trip against the North Dakota's, the Maroons had compiled a strong 11-4 record to place them among the top three teams in Iowa on a won-lost basis.

Following the narrow 55-53 loss to Iowa Teachers, Morningside defeated the speedy Coyotes of South Dakota 67-57. Using their height to good advantage, the home team battered its way to a 20 point lead, and then managed to hold the Redshirts for the remainder of the contest. Wiedenfeld scored 26 points while Ray Berry tossed in 14.

Buckingham's charges made it two in a row by blasting a weak North Dakota State team 75-55. Don Fougner, crack Bison forward, pulled his team to within one basket, 10-8, but then the super-charged Morningsiders winged to a wide margin. Coach Buckingham cleared the bench during the last 17 minutes in an effort to give his substitutes more experience. Sophomore John Law, who has seen little action this year, showed up well in the last half.

The league-leading ITSC Panthers, a vastly improved ball club since the North Central tourney, dropped Morningside for the second time this season, 71-60. Although the Maroons jumped into an early 19-9 lead, it was soon apparent that the tricky screen plays used by the Panthers would cause the host team trouble. After grabbing a 37-29 halftime lead, Morningside finally crumpled under a sudden sure-fire Tutor surge which outscored Morningside 27-4 over a period of 12 minutes.

The next Saturday Augustana's Vikings came to Sioux City with high hopes of upsetting the injury-ridden Maroons who were minus the services of Red Norris. However, the basket-thirsty Maroons beat the Augies 84-71 in a high-scoring game. Big Dick Wiedenfeld rang up 35 points in a brilliant display of shooting accuracy. With three minutes left in the game, Wiedenfeld was only two points shy of the Allee gym record, but was unable to score despite the assistance of his ball-feeding teammates.

Morningside—North Dakota University

Morningside hoopsters nosed out North Dakota University 85 to 81 at Grand Forks, Saturday, February 3 to move a step nearer to the North Central Conference Championship.

In a torrid first half the lead changed hands thirteen times to end with North Dakota ahead, 38 to 35. In the second half the Maroons, after tying up the score at 52 apiece, took a commanding lead which they held until the end of the game. Doug Gresham was high scorer for Morningside with thirty points to his credit.

Morningside—North Dakota State

Playing smart basketball the Maroons outfought North Dakota State at Fargo on Monday, February 5 by a score of 62 to 54 to make a clean sweep on their northern tour.

The Maroons befuddled North Dakota State by going into a stall the last eight minutes of the game when leading with a two point margin, 52 to 50. Then North Dakota proceeded to make enough mistakes to assure itself of a defeat.

Cool, collected Bob Norris won acclaim from all the fans with his shrewd floor game and the scoring of four crucial baskets in the second half. Doug Gresham and Dick Wiedenfeld were high point men with nineteen and eighteen points, respectively.

Morningside—Omaha

A free throw by Bob Norris after the final horn had blown gave Morningside a 73 to 72 decision over Omaha University on Saturday evening, February 10, in a non-conference game in Allee gymnasium. This was the last scheduled home game of the season.

Still smarting from the defeat handed them by the Maroons in football last fall, the Indians were out for revenge. In the game which was a wild affair, the lead constantly changed hands and fifty five fouls were called.

Pacing the fast breaking Indians was Bob Rose, a tall, lithe, colored forward, who tossed in twenty points before he collected five fouls early in the second half. Dick Wiedenfeld again was high scorer for Morningside with twenty two points.

Frosh Win

The freshman cage squad, under the direction of Coach Clayton Drouillard, has had a winning streak of seven games so far this season. Victims of the frosh are the freshman teams of South Dakota State, Augustana and South Dakota University along with four top-ranking recreation fives.

Chief reasons for the team's unusual record are Bob Hussey and Dick Norman, two fine players who have paced the freshmen in scoring all year. Bill Wickett, one of the best ball-handlers on the team, has played most of the season with a cast on his hand. Rounding out the starting lineup are Walt Wagner, of Sioux City and Vern Wyland of Onawa.

Drouillard's charges still have remaining games with the three South Dakota teams in return contests.

WOMAN OF ACHIEVEMENT

Miss Grace Smith, 1310 South Cornelia Street, was chosen a Woman of Achievement by Editha Webster in the February 18 Sioux City Sunday Journal.

Since 1921 Miss Smith has taught art at East Junior high school and for many years has conducted an art class at Morningside College.

Evidences of her skills and accomplishments are the treasures which lend charm and graciousness to her home. When Miss Smith retires from teaching this summer, she is anticipating the opportunity to concentrate on many of her hobbies such as weaving, gardening and homemaking.

Bob Norris (20), Ray Berry (12) and Loren Moll (14), stand ready to rebound if necessary as Doug Gresham (24) and Dick Wiedenfeld go up in the air after the ball in the North Dakota-Morningside game.

Robert R. Vernon graduated in the Class of 1915. He has achieved unusual success in his field, the Y. M. C. A. He is now General Secretary for the entire area of St. Louis.

Bob, We Are Proud Of You!

says about Living Endowment!*

"The Living Endowment plan of the College provides an excellent way in which Alumni may show their appreciation of what Morningside has meant to them. I have counted it a privilege to be one of the participants in the plan from its inception and I hope to continue as long as I live. What a splendid thing it would be if every alumnus of the old school would join in this plan, each to the extent of his or her ability, but ALL doing something!

GRADUATES FETED

Midyear graduates and their wives were guests of Dr. and Mrs. Earl A. Roadman at the traditional senior dinner, Wednesday night, January 17, at the Martin Hotel.

The informal program consisted, as in previous years, of a sharing of most interesting or humorous experiences in the college life of each student.

Interesting statistics brought to light during the latter social hour included the following: The class is comprised of twenty nine men and one woman. Eighteen of the men are married, and there are twenty children so far from these marriages. Of the graduates, seventeen will remain in Sioux City, eight will take graduate work, five will begin teaching this coming semester and one has been recalled to service.
