Dedication

TO PROFESSOR H. F. KANTHLENER, head of the Department of Romance Languages, who in his many years of service in Morningside College has constantly inspired the students of our campus to higher scholastic attainments and to nobler living, this twenty-seventh volume of the SIOUX is respectfully dedicated

Foreword

ANOTHER year of college life and events has passed leaving us a vivid recollection of many functions, academic, athletic, and social. We have tried to portray these events, not as mere prosaic facts, but rather as living memories embodying the intangible spirit of Morningside. If, as time passes and Morningside progresses to the splendid future which is before her, this record revives our memories and kindles in our hearts again the old Morningside spirit, this volume will have served its purpose

PRESIDENT FRANK E. MOSSMAN, A. M., D. D.
College President

Morningside College is very fortunate in having as its President Doctor F. E. Mossman. The fact that he is an alumnus of our own college affords him a contact with the students which could be established in no other way. As a college President, Doctor Mossman has executive ability which is well known. He is a man of high ideals, one who sees into the future and wisely directs our actions in the present. We all feel the inspiration of his ideals and the urge of his able leadership. With such a man as executive Morningside can have no other than the splendid success, growth, and development which lie before her.

JUNIORS

GRETCHEN AMES

Not only does Gretchen come first alphabetically in our class, but we number her among the first of our friends. Here is a girl whose outward quietness covers a wealth of hidden character. Those who know Gretchen are proud to call her their friend.

RALPH BASTIAN

Here is an athlete of whom the Juniors are all proud. He began making a name for himself during his freshman year and during his two years of varsity competition has starred in both gridiron and cage events. Ralph was injured while upholding the honors of his class in basketball this winter and has been out of school. However, we're all looking forward to having him back to captain the football team next fall.

CECIL BENTON

When it comes to writing about Cecil, it seems a pity that there's a space limit, for there doesn't seem to be any limit on her activities or abilities. Besides having the distinction of being able to hold down what is usually considered a man's job, editing this annual, she debates, plays hockey, helps run the city library, has a wonderful time, makes good grades, is an active Pi, and never seems to have a thing to worry her. Everybody knows "Cec," and the Juniors are proud to have her for the editor of their yearbook.

GEORGE BERGMAN

A man whom we all admire. When he decides what he wants he sticks to it in spite of all handicaps. In his freshman year Bergman made up his mind that he would like to play football, and though hindered by lack of weight from extensive service, George is always out for every practice and game and has played in several varsity matches. We like him for his perseverance.

LEILA BINGER

If we're sick, we know to whom we can go for help. Leila is the nurse over at the Dorm, and we understand that even the Infirmary is rather a pleasant place with her there on duty. Although she's quite a busy person she finds time to be a mighty loyal Junior, and we feel it is something of a distinction to have the school nurse as one of our number.

JOY BOGUE

You can never tell about people just by looking at them. Everyone who was in Pelletiers at Christmas time surely remembers that wicked-looking pirate Captain Kidd. Well, it was no other than Joy himself. However, he is not nearly so villainous as his looks at that time would lead you to believe but that is only proof of the talent of this Junior. Think back a little and you'll recall the Butler in the Grand Public. The Juniors are mighty proud to have him as a member of their class.

JUNIORS

CLAUDE BROWN

Claude divides his time equally between Y. M., the Tau Delts, and Carol. He's always on hand when it comes to working on a gospel team, or attending a Christian Association Conference; so we've elected him to direct the affairs of the Y. M. next year. We are sure that only success will attend the affairs of that organization during his term of office.

LILLIAN BUEHLER

When you happen to go over to the Dorm and come to a door standing invitingly open no matter what time of day it is, you may guess that this is Lillian's room and may know that you are always welcome. It's not only because she is so friendly that Lillian has a host of friends but because she's talented musically and is a mighty good scout to be with. She's an Ath, which is also to her credit.

MERRILL BURNETTE

"Dad" is one of the busy men on the campus. If he isn't around getting the "dope" on something for the Journal, he's at Glee Club practice, or at debate meeting, or at Ruth's house. Merrill sings in "That" quartet, plays in "The" trio, and keeps the Delta Theta house stirred up as a general rule. He's been out of school off and on, but has finally shown his wisdom by choosing to become a permanent member of the Junior class.

LAWRENCE CAIN

Evidently Lawrence knows a good thing when he sees it, for he comes all the way from Florida to go to school at Morningside. In turn we know a good thing when we see it, for M. C. has made the most of Cain's ability. He has been one of the yell leaders this year and in that capacity has helped Morningside on to many a victory. The Tau Delts swear by Lawrence, and Margaret doesn't mind having him around.

LAVERNE CLARIDGE

Laverne decided she would rather go to college than be a nurse, and the Juniors are happy to claim her as one of them. As yet we don't know her so very well, but that doesn't mean we're going to continue in our present error. Laverne is one of that gang that always seems to be having such a gorgeous time in the Y. W. Hall, and besides makes wonderful grades.

DONALD CROSS

In this case it's a good thing that names don't have to fit the person. Don's rather quiet, but the fellows tell us he's some athlete. Track and football are the fields in which he is outstanding, and Cross has made an enviable record in both of these. Don is an Alpha Tau Delta.

JUNIORS

LYLE CULVER

We don't know whether this gentleman preferred to be a blonde or not, but that's what the Fates decreed and along with it a cheerful, pleasant disposition that helps make many friends for him. Culver is an Alpha Tau Delta and consequently a good fellow.

DOROTHY DAY

There isn't a Junior who doesn't envy Dorothy her brains and ability. She is one of our outstanding students, and we of the common herd who can't make all A's like to have her for our friend. Dorothy's pet hobbies are Latin and Greek, and she is an active worker in the honorary scholastic fraternity of this department.

CHARLES DOWN

Another Down of Odebolt. Charles has more than lived up to the family reputation already established at M. C. and has even improved on it. He has made an enviable record in debating, and the Tau Deltas are mighty proud of him. For two years "Chuck" remained a confirmed woman-hater but when Helen came to M. C. this year decided to mend his ways and has more than made up for past deficiencies.

RALPH EBERLY

We used to hear about Ralph and his basketball promises before he ever came to college when Lawton used to come to the tournaments. Now Morningside profits by his skill. Besides the time occupied with athletics, Clare comes in for her share of Ralph's attention, along with the Alpha Tau Deltas.

RUTH FLEWELL

What Ruth can't do when it comes to music hasn't been discovered yet. She not only sings but also plays both the piano and the violin. Of course a girl of her ability is an active worker in all of our musical organizations and anything going on at the Con. The Aths claim Ruth as a member, but we all claim her as a friend.

CAMILLE FLINT

Camille is the other half of the Colvin-Flint team. She's another one of the town gang, has brains galore, is always giggling, is majoring in math, steps a lot, and is a Pi. Is anything more necessary to tell you that Camille is a real all-round girl or to explain why Camille has a host of friends?

ALTON FORSBERG

Girls, you want to get next to this Delta Theta. The boys at the house rate him about the fanciest house manager possible. He not only has all the fellows toeing the mark, but is one of the breakfast gang doing very efficient K. P. duty. He's one in a million.

ALLAN GORTHY

Refreshing is the word that describes Gorthy. There's nothing else like him in Morningside. He seems to belong on the Orpheum stage rather than at college; still he manages to keep up his school work and entertains us on the side. He has a way about him that simply gets you in one rendition of "Flaming Mamie" or some such song, and the Phi Sigs and the Juniors are always sure of entertainment when Gorthy is around.

FLORENCE GUINEY

Florence taught school for a couple of years and then decided to join a good class and finish college. Having thus far shown her wisdom she kept up the good work by entering into all phases of college life. She's a Con student, is taking part college work, sings in the glee clubs and chapel choir, and is another of the Pis. She parks her "Lizzie" over by the Campus and is a boon to the town gang with her generosity about picking up folks.

ELMER HANSON

In this case a silent and reserved manner means hidden ability. Figuratively speaking we take off our hats to this Junior, who not only is a Physics shark but even assists in the department. However, he doesn't let school work take all of his time, but goes out for football and takes a part in all the activities over at the Tau Delt Frat House.

EINAR HAUGEN

Brains and ability are synonymous with this lad. He's the kind that can sit in a class with a detached look and then pick up the recitation at any point and make the rest of us look positively feeble. He's an active worker on the Board of Control and in the German Club.

EDITH HELD

Edith's one of our capable Juniors who has helped put Hinton on the map. She's blue-eyed, and blonde, and innocent-looking, but under it all she has tons of ability. She's an excellent student and a faithful glee club member. She always performs gladly when asked to play or sing and usually is on duty up in the Pi Hall. Her spreads and teas are famous up in the Blue Hall, and we wonder what a certain Phi Sig thinks of her ability

FAYOLA HENDRICKSON

Faye is another girl whom the Pis can always depend on, either for fun or otherwise. Faye can plan a float or fix up a party on a minute's notice with equal success. N. B. T.'s gain was our loss, for Faye didn't come back the second semester; but we still see her at college affairs, and a warm welcome always awaits her.

ELSIE HENNEM

Elsie is one of those rare girls who aren't always chattering, and we like her for it. She is always cheerful and pleasant and gives an impression of reserve by her quietness. Those who know her admire her sterling qualities and wish there were more of her kind.

MILDRED HICKMAN

Just about one remark ought to let you know what we think of Mildred. She is our class president. The Juniors feel that this is one of the big honors that they have in their power to bestow and picked Mildred, not only because of her ability, but because she's a friend of everyone. Besides her executive duties Mildred is a Zet and a famous debater, and her apt stories on the subject of marriage or divorce always enliven any contest in which she represents Morningside. She is one of our most capable members, and those who know her longest like her best.

STEPHEN HUFF

If you hear something coming down the library like the entire cavalry, don't be surprised to find that Steve is managing to make all that noise. He may be small, but you always know when he's around. When Huff was an underclassman, he was one of the yell leaders and now, though Jacks, and Marcia, and the Phi Sigs keep Steve pretty busy, he still spreads pep wherever he goes.

MAX HUGHES

Max has been with us off and on, having sandwiched a year at Ames in between his Freshman and Junior work at M. C. However, he knows a good thing when he sees it, and we think the more of him for coming back to us, satisfied with the comparison. Generally speaking, Max is everybody's friend. Specifically, he's an Alpha Tau Delta and plays in the band.

ANNA MAE HURLBURT

If anyone is needed to play on a hockey team, to work on a Pi spread committee, to dance in the May Fête, or to get some history notes, Anna Mae is the girl we all depend on. She finds time to keep the English Lit. department in working order, to get some neat grades, and to have a good time whenever there's one around. If you don't know her already we advise you to make up for lost time.

JAMES JEWELL

The other half of the Jewell-Gorthy team. Nuff said. Just about every so often student chapel needs a little song from Jimmy to liven things up, and we'll say he surely can do it. When it comes to dating, he keeps pretty close to the Woods—or as close as it's proper, is a Phi Sig, and on the side is registered for a few classes.

RUTH JOHNSON

We hope Ruth realizes how fortunate she is living right across the street from the Campus, necessitating only a minute's dash to her eight o'clock's. Ruth debated intercollegiate this year and established an enviable record in this activity. She has ability as a speaker that was well applied, and we're expecting big things of her.

BEN KITCHEN

Ben's our versatile Junior. He has a line and the terpsichorean ability to go on the stage, but the call of the sod was too much for him and so Ben left college for a while and is out among the tall corn rows. However, we want him back soon because he has heaps of ability as a debater and otherwise, and is a Phi Sig to add to his virtues.

HORACE KOCH

Horace is the Junior twin, speaking in classifications, if it is possible for one twin to be a "junior." He's a Phi Sig and so goes out for athletics, track being his line. He steps all the girls and keeps everyone guessing by dating someone different every week.

IRENE KOHLE

Irene established her reputation among us this winter as being an actress of no little ability. She appeared in a Dramatic Club production this year that was so popular that it made several public performances, and Irene's clever impersonation of the grandmother was no small portion of its success. Besides being a good student she is one of our most loyal friends and best liked Juniors.

JULIA LAGRONE

Julia's one of those P. K.'s whom you would never recognize as such. She's always ready for any fun that is on foot, and if there is nothing stirring she soon remedies that condition. Besides being an excellent student "Judy" works at the Campus, takes an active part in anything the Pis are doing, is usually giggling, and must have a past since she's been out west.

JUNIORS

ALMUS LARSON

Would you ever guess that this tall fellow with the twinkle in his eye is a P. K.? Well, he is, and he's shown his allegiance for that group by taking an active part in the Morningside P. K. organization. He's a good student and a good fellow, and they tell us he makes a mighty fine Sunday-school superintendent at a certain Morningside church.

GORDON LARSON

The curly-haired twin. Gordon takes part in about every branch of college life and is more than successful in all he attempts. He sings in the glee club and chapel choir, debates, and has represented M. C. at the Phi Kappa Delta conventions both last year and this on the forensic and oratorical platform. Besides a few of these things Gordon has time to date, keep the chain stores linked up to prosperity, and be a faithful Tau Delt.

LILLIAN LINDAMAN

If you don't know Lillian that's your loss. She's tall, and slender, and has a smile for everyone. To surpass in the classroom is a habit of hers, and she is such an excellent German student that she has been translating some German plays for research work on the side. Sometimes Lillian has a rather far-away look in her eyes and we wonder if a certain young man at home is the cause.

MARIAN LINE

Marion remains the class infant, in appearance if not in brains. She couldn't look more than twelve and we're glad she can't, for she's refreshing to say the least. She always seems to be playing around, but we notice that somehow she has found time to act as the brains of the Four Horsemen, to create the illustrations of this book, to play hockey, to be in May Fête, to be a mighty fine Pi, and to keep up a rather full program of outside social activities. We couldn't get along without Marian in more ways than one.

LAUREN MACCLAREN

Evidently Lauren intends to be an architect, for his hobby is making blue prints. He's generally out on the south campus on a sunny day working on them and usually has an admiring audience at most of the windows near. He's quiet but determined, sticks at his work till it comes out right, and should with these excellent qualities make a success of his chosen work.

LESTER MCCOY

Here's one of the hard people to write about because you don't know where to start and where to leave off. Lester sings, plays the cornet, is a member of chapel choir, glee club, "That" quartet, leads the band, is a Delta Theta, and incidentally an engaged man. What more could you ask with reason?

JUNIORS

CLARICE McDONALD

If there is anything in college that doesn't claim Clarice's attention we haven't found out what it is yet. She is the main stay of anything that goes on over at the gym from May Fêtes to hockey and basketball. She is to pilot W. A. A. next year and we're expecting great things. The Pis tell us that the Hall wouldn't be the same place without Mac around laughing and keeping things stirred up. Clarice says she plans to be a gym teacher although we thought his name was Don.

DON MACFARLAND

Don stopped hustling long enough to have his picture taken for the Annual, and we're glad of that since it adds much to the general appearance. Mac was business manager of this volume and established his reputation as a financier of no mean ability by his successful management. However, this is not the only accomplishment of this versatile Junior, as Edith, the Tau Delt, the office of class president, and even football once in the good old Frosh days, have claimed his attention. Efficiency, ability, and personality are his strong features.

GLADYS MCQUEEN

Here is another one of the talented members of the Junior class. Gladys is a student at the Conservatory, and her work shows her ability. Although she is a quiet girl, longer acquaintance with her certainly proves her exceptional qualities as a friend. She is always happy and cheerful, and everyone is glad to have her around.

CAPTAIN MADDISON

Another one of that Campus Cafe gang. Cap is one of those privileged characters who can dash over from chapel, look at an endless lunch line, laugh that off, go behind the counter and get what he wants when he wants it. However, work is the least of his worries. He is a heavy stepper, and there's always a good time when Cap is around.

HOWARD MARTIN

Do you want to know what kind of fellow Howard is? Well, he's a Delta Theta, a hustler, a good student, and a fellow worth knowing. Martin's a real worker who doesn't, however, believe in plugging all the time; so he steps out once in a while and so keeps up a well-rounded college life.

BETTY MEAD

Here's another of our warblers. Betty goes to Geneva in the summer, and in the winter we have the pleasure of her voice. She adds her help to almost every branch of college life. She works in all the musical organizations, is usually on the class hockey teams and in May Fêtes, is a Pi, cracks her books often enough to make good grades, and devotes the rest of her time to Wesley.

JUNIORS

AGNES MEANS

There are some people who have made themselves so indispensable that we just can't get along without them. Although they don't create a particular commotion you miss them if they are not around. Agnes is one of this type and all who know her will agree with us. She puts in a great deal of her time at the Con and Main Hall suffers as a result but at either place she's one of our Juniors.

CLARA METCALF

Clara, with her usual good judgment, chose to stay in college a year longer and be a Junior with us. A P. K. of outstanding ability in music, who divides her time between the Con, the Aths, and Ralph. Clara appears rather quiet, but experience has told us there is always a good time on when she's around. Our advice is, cultivate her if you don't know her.

MARGARET MILLER

Just tune in on K. S. C. J. or peek in on any college affair and you will usually hear Margaret singing, and what we like is that she is always willing, never has to be coaxed. As she takes Prof. Mac Collin's place at choir practice when he can't be there, you can imagine her ability. She is a Pi and is a main-stay up in the old Blue Hall when it comes to collecting dues. Marg came back to M. C. this fall after a couple of years at teaching, and we feel that Marathon's loss is all our gain.

THEODORE MOLENDORP

His name helps explain where some of Ted's interest lies. "Der Deutsche Verein" claims his attention as it should with such an excellent German student. Here's a mighty fine Junior who's always hanging around with the Campus Cafe gang and apparently always is having a good time.

CORA MONTGOMERY

Cora always has a smile for everyone and so we all like her. She's been mighty faithful about helping on Faculty Luncheons this year, and we wonder if she is not putting in practice that old maxim, "The way to a Prof's heart, and thus grades, is through—" but still that's irrelevant since Cora is a good student. If she isn't up in the Pi Hall she's down in the Biology lab mutilating some poor egg—not meant in a slang sense at all.

MABEL NISSEN

Mabel passed up a chance of graduating from her home college to come to M. C. evidently, showing her ability to recognize real values. Besides assisting in correcting papers in the English department this year she has taken an active part in Y. W. C. A. work and debating. Mabel has established an enviable record among us for so short a time, and we understand that some time ago she made a record in a certain young man's heart that no one can equal. He will have to be mighty nice for Mabel.

JUNIORS

FRED OKERBERG

Red's our class sheik. When it comes to the women, "Oke" is—a little inexperienced, but he'll learn. He manages to work up to the idea of a yearly date for his Frat Banquet, and so we're encouraged. Seriously, though, Red's one of our best athletes, is a football man, a track star, and basketball player. He's an Alpha Tau Delta and a loyal Junior.

RUTH ORR

Ruth's one of those big brave girls who wanders all the way from Dakota City to come to Morningside. We're glad she sees the superiority of Iowa and a certain Iowa college to the home state products. Ruth steps a red-haired Phi Sig pretty steadily, we notice, but as yet her Pi pin hangs alone.

GENEVA ORVIS

Geneva is one of those people whom it is well to know for personal and politic reasons. Besides being an extremely likeable person, she has the position of chief-letter-in-of-the-late at the Dorm. If it happens to be eleven-thirty-one instead of eleven-thirty, Geneva is the girl at the other end of the little button you push. She works in the bookstore in the daytime, and is one of our busiest Juniors.

HELEN QUICK

Here is our class musician. Helen plays or sings with equal skill, and is a leader wherever music is concerned. We always sit back prepared for intense pleasure when a chapel choir or glee club concert calls for a soprano solo, for we know no one could perform more delightfully than Helen. The Con takes up most of her time. Its gain is our loss.

FLORA QUIRIN

Perhaps you didn't know before that Flora is a Junior whose name belongs in the Hall of Fame. She's a girl who has gone out West for two summers and managed to pull through both times with her morals intact. As witness to the fact ask any of the other Zets or any of the Y. W. Cabinet members, in both of which organizations she is an active worker. Flora went to Milwaukee this winter as one of Morningside's representatives and on her return helped prepare for us our week of Milwaukee chapels. We're expecting big things of Flora and we know we shall not be disappointed.

RAE ROBERTSON

May we present our queen! Rae is all we could ask for in appearance and in character to reign over our Winter Festival; so we selected her as the Junior worthy of this honor. She is rather small and quiet, but this only adds to her charm, say her Pi sisters and a certain athlete around school.

JUNIORS

HELEN ROGERS

Helen is another of our musically talented celebrities. She sings in the chapel choir and glee club, and her sweet solos are always pleasing. She also plays the piano proficiently and has served faithfully as Y. W. accompanist this year. The Con takes up most of her time, but we manage to see her often enough to find her a true friend.

VELDA ROWLANDS

Velda is another of our enthusiastic Y. W. workers. She is intensely interested in religious work and has been an active supporter of any of the campus activities along this line. However, Velda's interests are by no means one-sided, and her recommendation is that those who know her claim she is one of the best. The Juniors vote "aye."

MARION SARGENT

Marion's one of our surprises. At first glance his quiet manner indicates merely studiousness, but he has decided not only to make his mark in this branch of college life but to excel as an athlete, as one of our outstanding track men. His "M" is almost bigger than he is, but its size indicates the greatness of his ability and the high place he holds in our regard.

MELVIN SAYRE

Shorty is usually going around yawning if you happen to catch sight of him in his eight o'clocks. Don't think it's mere boredom though, for he's the kind that's never bored at anything. He just happens to work at the Journal most of the night, and usually doesn't come to that early in the morning. Besides he is publicity man of the college, is an Alpha Tau Delta, steps a certain Pi, and incidentally makes some grades. He's one of our busiest and best.

EDGAR SCHULER

Edgar's main fields of activity are music and religious work. He sings in both the glee club and chapel choir and managed most successful trips for both these organizations this year, in spite of the weather. Schuler always has one of the Y. M. offices, is the old standby on gospel teams or anything of that sort. At present he's a Sigma Theta Rho.

MARION SHIDELER

Marion's one of those people who is always happy and cheerful, and who never seems to be rushed to death with anything and yet accomplishes a lot more than the rest of us. If he has a patent on it we'd certainly like to have him put it on the market as a lot of us would be glad to purchase a little. Marion is a Tau Delt, steps quite a bit, and is dependable and reliable. We know that he will be a success in anything that he undertakes.

JUNIORS

RAYMOND SHOVE

We don't see much of Raymond around school as he's another one of that gang that keeps up the good work down at the City Library. However, work isn't all he does, for he's always ready for a good time, when it comes to stepping or a frolic at the Tau Delt house.

BETTY SNYDER

Betty is the kind of girl whom everyone knows. She's friendly, peppy, and always ready for a good time. Sometimes she forgets that this is Iowa and not Massachusetts and drops a few of her R's, but she tries consistently to live down the old childhood ways and succeeds most of the time. "Snido" is one of our most consistent daters and has quite a string of skulls. She's a Pi, a good student without trying, quite a hockey player, the old standby of the Spanish Club programs when it comes to tangoing, and strongest of all a P. K.

HAZEL SODERSTROM

Hazel is another Junior Pi who joined us at mid-year. She's another of our town street-car athletes whose main business in life is trying to make car connections. Hazel specializes in dramatics and biology and is always running around in one of those terribly business-like lab coats. Besides, the Pis tell us she's a whiz on Spread and Tea committees and we don't suppose Gordon minds that little accomplishment.

FLORENCE SPENCER

Of course Florence's picture would follow Hazel's or else things wouldn't seem natural, as these two are always together. This is the girl who is responsible for at least part of Shorty's sleepless nights since she would live away out at the other end of town from Morningside. However, she's worth staying up for, because she's a splendid friend and a jolly person to be with. The Juniors and the Pis are agreed that she's O. K.

ALICE SWANSON

Alice has blonde hair and big blue eyes, doesn't say much, but makes friends by her unassuming, steadfast good nature. She always is at the right place at the right time and may be depended upon to do anything she undertakes.

HAL THOMAS

Some more of our vaudeville material Hal is one of these slick-looking fellows with heaps of ability as a dancer on the stage and otherwise. He's one of the gang that keeps things going on at the Phi Sig house, and they say he manages to keep the girls well entertained.

JUNIORS

HELEN TIEDEMAN

If there's anything you know of that Helen doesn't have a hand in you may be very sure it's only because she hasn't had the time as yet to do it, but she'll find the time. First it's Faculty Luncheons, then it's Agora Board, then Y. W. C. A. and the next thing you know she's off somewhere just proving the fact that Morningside has first-class debaters. In place of resting all summer getting ready for the strenuous school term, Helen dashes out to Colorado and plays around. She's our Agora President for next year and we wish her much success.

LAUREN VAN DYKE

Van's one of our number, extremely talented when he gets around to it. He has debated now for two years and has a way of getting what he wants to say across. When it comes to art work, Lauren can't be beaten. Incidentally he dates a certain Junior Miss pretty steadily and is a loyal Phi Sig.

ABE VAN SCHREEVEN

Abe's one of those lads who decided last fall to patronize the crutch market by breaking his ankle. However, he's on his feet again and going as strong as ever. He's one of that type that is able to understand chemistry enough to be lab assistant, and has, as such, more than once been the saving grace of at least the feminine members in his classes. Abe's a hustler and wears a frat pin signifying Delta Theta Pi.

RUTH WALKER

Everyone's name should begin with Walker so that everyone could sit by Ruth in classes and chapel for awhile, for she's the kind you have to know to like and when you once know her you realize that she's one of a few when it comes to being friends. Ruth is a P. K., a remarkable French student, and a fancy musician. Linked with heaps of ability is an abundance of personality that makes Ruth a friend worth having.

RUDY WILLER

If you want something done and can't get anyone else to do it up right, you may always depend on Rudy to get everything all fixed up. And that's saying a lot in this day and age of irresponsibility. His activities are varied but he does all of them well. He's a good student, goes out for athletics, is always helping on some committee, has been a life-saver on the Junior Annual, is a Tau Delt, steps some, and is always plotting some fun. If you don't happen to know him, we'll introduce you.

JAUNITA WINTER

If you've ever seen Nita not talking for five consecutive minutes, we take our hat off to you, speaking editorially, because you're one ahead of us. She's our Marathon chatterer. Naturally it follows that there is always a good time where Jaunita is, and we like to be around this happy-go-lucky Ath when we're 'looking for fun.

THE CONSERVATORY OF MUSIC

Under the capable supervision of Professor Paul MacCollin, director, the Morningside Conservatory of Music has progressed very rapidly in the past few years. The Public School Music Department has forged ahead in the past year with a thorough supervisor, Miss Grace Chapman. Graduates from this course have been highly successful in whatever community they have gone into to have charge of the music in the public schools. Violin classes and classes for instruction on wind instruments have been undertaken in the Public Schools of Sioux City by members of the Conservatory faculty. Success has been decidedly marked in this field of instruction. Thus the Conservatory of Music, through its faculty of competent and progressive instructors, not only is aiding in the advancement of the present musical life in Sioux City and vicinity, but is making possible a superior and wider reaching scope for the music of the future.

Morningside Conservatory is already well known in the Northwest for the quality and type of its work. It ranks among the foremost Conservatories. The basis of all of the growth is the undeniable interest manifested by both the instructors and the class of students who come to give and receive aid in making music play a major part in their life-work. Thus the growth and reputation enjoyed by our special organizations, such as Glee Clubs, Chapel Choir, Band, String Quartet, Symphony Orchestra, Choral Club, Male Quartet, and Sigma Mu, are the results of sincere and applied work.

EXPRESSION

Athletics

COACH J. M. SAUNDERSON

Morningside is indeed fortunate in having "Saundy" as her athletic director. He has been with us since 1912, and during that time has placed Morningside's athletics on a very high standard.

But he has done more for the school than merely producing successful athletic teams. He has built men. He has instilled into each individual with whom he has come in contact an appreciation of clean sportsmanship and a love of fair play. His work here has won him a place in the heart of every loyal Morningsider, and we heartily wish him even greater success in the future.

ASSISTANT COACH E. C. WENIG

"Obe" serves in the capacity of freshman football coach, head basketball coach, and assistant track coach, and he is fully qualified for the position. During his school-days at Morningside he was recognized as one of the best all-round athletes developed in the state of Iowa, and he has carried this ability over into the coaching game. He has gained the confidence and the respect of the student body. By his quiet, unassuming manner and his effective personality, he has proved his worth as a coach.

EDWARD PIRWITZ, Director of Freshman Athletics

Coach Pirwitz has been successful in his work at Morningside, coaching freshman basketball and track and is "Saundy's" able assistant in football. Pirwitz might be remembered as the captain of Morningside's first conference championship football team. Then he inspired his team-mates to greater efforts by his spirit and determination; now he instills that same fire into his pupils. We are indeed fortunate in having so capable a man to head the freshman athletic department.

ATHLETIC COMMITTEE

Morningside College can well be proud of her athletic committee. It is composed of three men,—namely, Professor Van Horne, Coach Saunderson, and Professor Hayes. These three men have the welfare of Morningside athletics planted deep in their hearts, and consequently they have been instrumental in placing athletics at Morningside on a high plane. Every loyal Morningsider owes a debt of gratitude to this committee for the work it has accomplished for old Morningside.

DR. G. W. KOCH, Trainer

Much of Morningside's success in athletics is due to Dr. Koch, the trainer. "Doc" keeps the men in fighting trim, and, although his work at times is painful to the men, they are always glad when "Doc" is around to see that everything is "up to snuff". All of the men appreciate his work.

Football

CAPTAIN "RED" WILLIAMS—Quarterback

"Red" succeeded in winning his fourth letter in football the past season. Although he played end the first two years, he called signals from the quarterback post the last two seasons. "Red" could punt, run, or pass equally well, which, coupled with his fine spirit and leadership, made him a dangerous man. "Red" will be greatly missed next year when "Saundy" issues his call for gridders.

CAPTAIN-ELECT RALPH BASTIAN—Center

"Al", at the pivot position, did all that could be expected of a real center. Although somewhat handicapped by weight, he was never outplayed by an opponent during the two years he has worn the Maroon. He also possessed an uncanny ability to diagnose the opponent's plays. Because of his ability to fill his position and his ability to inspire his teammates, he was elected Captain of the 1927 team. He was placed on the second all-conference eleven and given honorable mention on the all-state eleven.

CHARLES BACH—Halfback

"Chuck" was the Maroon scoring ace. When he started for a touchdown, he just simply could not be stopped. Charles' long end runs were always a feature of the game. He also knew how to stop the opposing backs when he was on the defense. Chuck will also graduate. He was placed on the second all-conference eleven.

HAVEN MEANS—End

Means developed greatly during the past season, especially in his defensive play. Opposing backs found it well-nigh impossible to circle his end if "Hooley" decided not to let them. He also was a good pass receiver and covered punts well. He will be back next year.

RUSSELL KNUDSEN—Halfback

"Pete" has been Charlie's running mate for three years. Pete was the hardest working man on the team and is a good example of what hard work will do. His specialty was open-field running. He justly earned the position accorded him on mythical elevens—that on the second all-conference and second all-state elevens.

ALVIN HANCER—Guard

"Big Alvin" has also finished his football career at Morningside. He was unfortunate most of the time in having a bad knee. He has, however, established an enviable record as a lineman. His place will be hard to fill next fall.

FREDERICK OKERBERG—Guard

"Red" was shifted from the backfield to a guard position and justified this alteration by winning a position on the second all-conference eleven. Red is strong on defense and a bear on covering punts. Great things are expected of him next fall.

FOSTER SWARTZ—Quarterback

"Roly" was a valuable man because of his generalship and leadership. He could be depended on to call the right play and then inspire the team to do their utmost. He was also a good punter and blocker. Roly will graduate in June.

LELAND WICKLAND—Tackle

"Tuck" has held down the right tackle berth for two seasons. He was perhaps the largest man on the squad and used his weight and size to good advantage in stopping the opponents' rushes.

FRANK HENDERSON—Tackle

Frank has held down the left tackle position for Morningside for four years, a time during which he proved to be an exceptionally good lineman. He was big, powerful, and fast, and held his own at all times. He was twice on the second all-conference team and last year was on the third all-state eleven. Frank's graduation will leave a big hole in Morningside's line.

WILLIAM THACKER—Halfback

"Buzz's" size deceived the spectators. For although "Buzz" barely came up to his teammates' shoulders, he proved to be a thorn in the side of the opposition. "Buzz" was a very clever open-field runner who will bear watching in the future.

"BUD" VAN CITTERS—End

"Bud" has also won four letters in football, having held down the left end job for four years. "Bud" was especially good in receiving forward passes. He was a consistent player, always there when needed. Besides performing on the gridiron, he takes part in all other sports.

ABRAM WILLIAMS—Fullback

"Abe's" first year was a real success as far as he was concerned. Although he was called upon to play different positions he never murmured, but went to work with a will and proved himself a real football player. Much is expected of him in the future.

DONALD CROSS—Fullback

"Don" held down the fullback job the first of the season in good shape. He could hit the line, run interference, and back up the line on defense. Whenever he got loose, there was no one who could catch him.

FRANK BARTHOLOMEW—Guard

"Bart" played his first year of college football this fall and showed some real ability. Although he is fairly light, he is a very hard charger and could be depended upon to do his share of the work.

HENRY KITCHEN—End

"Ben" has played three years for Morningside and has displayed ability as a football player. He was especially good on defense, where he was immovable. He just missed his letter by a few minutes.

WILLIAM KERSLAKE—Fullback

"Bill" played his first year of college football last season. He proved he had football ability and with the valuable experience he has received, should prove to be a real gridder next fall.

OSCAR BECK—Tackle

Beck received an injury early in the season which kept him out of most of the games. However, when he got a chance he proved to possess ability and fight and should go good next season.

HAROLD RICHARDSON—Center

"Scotty" played center the past season. He got into several games in Bastian's place and showed plenty of scrap and ability.

CHARLES DOWN—End

"Chuck" has been a reserve end for two years. He got into a few games and will be back for next fall.

VIRGIL COOK—Guard

Cook also played his first year of football last fall. He is big and should prove to be a good man in the future.

HENRY BOONE—Half

"Beans" also was a new man. Whenever he was given an opportunity, he showed up to good advantage and will be watched in the future.

STEVE HUFF—Half

Although Steve is very small, he showed real fight in staying out the entire season. He will be back again next fall.

GEORGE BERGMAN—Half

Bergman has been a reserve for two years. He is fast and shifty, but his size is against him.

THE 1926 FOOTBALL SEASON

The 1926 football season can be called a success without the slightest hesitancy. Not only had Morningside a winning team, but large crowds as a rule attended the games.

It was apparent at the opening of the season that we should be represented by a strong eleven, because of the number of old men and the promise of the new men, and as the season wore on this prediction held true.

The first game was held on Bass Field, October 2, when the Midland College team invaded Sioux City. But they were sent home with the short end of a 28-0 score. The home eleven showed real football ability for so early in the season. The backs ran the ends, off the tackles and through the line almost at will to register two touchdowns in each half. On the defense the Maroons looked especially good, allowing only three first downs and no gains of more than eight yards per play.

The Score by Periods

Morningside	7	7	14	0—28

The next game was played at Lawrence, Kansas, with the strong Haskell Indian team on October 9. The Maroons were outclassed completely and sent home with a 38-0 loss checked up against them. A heavy rain preceded the game, spoiling the chances for gain via passing and running, which Morningside had planned. The Indians were too heavy and too experienced for the Maroons and gained ground consistently throughout the game. The one redeeming feature was the comeback of Morningside during the last half.

McClain and Roebuck starred for Haskell, while Bastian was easily the Maroon star.

The first Conference game was played with Des Moines University team on Bass Field, October 16. The Tigers were repulsed to the tune of 27-0 after a hard fought game.

The Maroons took advantage of breaks early in the game and soon had a comfortable lead on their opponents. A Des Moines penalty in the first few minutes of play started the Maroons on a successful march to the goal, Bach carrying the ball over the last line. Knudsen kicked goal.

Late in the first quarter, Means picked up a fumble and ran 30 yards for the second touchdown. Pete again kicked goal, bringing the total up to 14 points with three quarters yet to go. Two more touchdowns came in the second quarter as the result of a brilliant offensive in which every man performed his individual task perfectly. This brought the total up to 27-0 as the half closed.

The Maroons played a conservative game the second half. All the threats of the invaders proved futile, although their pass attack appeared dangerous at times.

The next week the team traveled to Des Moines to play the University a return game. Here Morningside clearly established its gridiron superiority over the Tigers for the 1926 season, for, although three Maroon stars, Hancer, Okerberg, and Knudsen were forced to remain on the sidelines because of injuries, the Maroons won by a score of 20-0.

The game was rather an unusual spectacle, as both teams resorted to the aerial method to make gains, Morningside attempting fourteen passes and Des Moines attempting thirty-one passes. It is also interesting to note that all of the touchdowns came as a direct result of forward passes.

The first touchdown came within five minutes after the game started. After an exchange of punts, Morningside received the ball in midfield. Cross and Thacker made it first and ten on the Des Moines 34-yard line. After two plays had failed to gain, Williams passed to Means, who easily made a touchdown.

The second touchdown quickly followed the first. Bach received a pass from Williams on the Des Moines 40-yard line and zigzagged to a touchdown. In the second quarter the third touchdown came, with Van Citters catching a pass over the goal-line for the marker.

The second half was listlessly played, with Des Moines frantically trying to score and Morningside content to hold its lead. Couchman, Hartman, and Curtwright played well for Des Moines, while the entire Maroon team shone for the victors.

On October 30 the Maroons journeyed to Le Mars to play the Western Union team. Here the Morningside gridgers completely baffled the Telegraphers with a diversified offense, running ends, slashing off tackle, or hurling passes at will. The Le Mars team was no match for the determined Maroons, although they rallied brilliantly in the last half. Bach ran wild and succeeded in scoring three touchdowns. Koch and Volland played well for Western Union.

The darkest blot on the 1926 schedule was administered by South Dakota State, the Conference Champions, on Homecoming Day, the sixth of November. The weather was ideal, and a large crowd was on hand for the game which was to have such a great bearing on the Conference Championship.

The game opened with both elevens playing a conservative brand of football. The first quarter ended with neither side gaining an advantage. The period proved to be a punting duel with neither team gaining an advantage. The second quarter was much like the first, both teams resorting to orthodox football practically entirely. However, toward the close of the half State succeeded in getting the ball on Morningside's 40-yard line. The Maroons held the Bunnies for three downs, but on the fourth Eggers, big State end, received a long forward pass over the goal-line which gave State a seven-point lead as the half closed.

The second half was very different from the first. Van Citters kicked off to Kelley, who was downed on his own 34-yard line. On the first play Kelley, State's flashy half, broke through Morningside's line and raced sixty-six yards for State's second touchdown. He kicked goal for the point, and Morningside was trailing fourteen points.

However, the Maroons did not lose heart and battled gamely, and State was held scoreless the remainder of the third quarter. But at the beginning of the fourth quarter, another long pass resulted in another touchdown, and after Kelley had kicked goal the count was 21-0.

The Maroons rallied under the leadership of Swartz and pushed over a touchdown in the last few minutes to their great satisfaction. The game ended soon after, and Morningside's hopes for another Championship were blasted. Kelley was the outstanding man of the game, although Wickland, Henderson, Bastian, and Bach also played well.

The team showed complete reversal of form the next week when Wayne Normal was beaten to the tune of 63-0. The Nebraska team was no match for the Maroon offense and were given a severe drubbing, as the score indicates. At no time was the Maroon goal-line in danger, while at the same time the Maroon backs reeled off long gains.

Knudsen was the offensive ace for the Maroons, although the entire backfield came in for their share of the scoring honors.

The big climax of the 1926 football season was reached Thanksgiving Day when the Coyotes of the University of South Dakota invaded Morningside. The bitterest of rivalry always obtains when the South Dakota team meets the Maroons in the annual Thanksgiving Day battle, but the feeling was especially high last season because of the fact that a South Dakota win would give the Coyotes the Conference Championship. On the other hand a victory for Morningside would place the Maroons in a tie for second place instead of farther down the list. And so every indication pointed to a bitter battle.

Conditions were not very favorable for a speedy game. A heavy mist, resembling a light rain, fell throughout the game. However, dopesters held that a damp field would be an advantage to South Dakota, a fact that rendered the Morningside victory all the sweeter.

A large crowd was on hand when the two teams took the field. The Maroons settled down to their task with a bang. In the first quarter, after an exchange of punts, a series of end runs by Bach and Knudsen, and line plunges featuring Abe Williams, placed the ball on the Coyote five-yard line. From here Bach slid off left tackle for Morningside's first touchdown when the game was exactly six minutes old. Knudsen's dropkick for the extra point was wide. The remainder of the quarter was characterized by a punting duel between Swartz and Zellhoefer, with Swartz getting the best of it. Heavy penalties kept the Maroons from gaining consistently.

The first few minutes of the second quarter saw the two teams battling on even terms. It was in this quarter that Morningside got a break if you wish to call it such. Bacon, the Coyote safety man, fumbled a punt, and Means scooped it up and romped across the line for the second touchdown. Knudsen failed to make the extra point good.

The Coyote's only chance to score came at the start of the third period when Swartz fumbled a punt and South Dakota recovered it on the Morningside 27-yard line. The Coyotes were unable to push the pigskin across, and Morningside took the ball on downs. The Maroons immediately started a march down the field. Swartz mixed the plays in such a manner that the Coyotes were bewildered. The march did not end until "Pete" had taken the ball on an old fake placekick play and had scored the third and final touchdown. Pete also kicked goal, making the count 19-0 for Morningside.

Throughout the remainder of the game the Maroons were content to play a defensive game. They killed every attempt of the Coyotes to stage a rally, and when the smoke had cleared away Morningside had beaten South Dakota more decisively than she had ever before been able to do.

The play of the entire Maroon team was commendable. Swartz deserves special mention for his fine generalship and kicking. For South Dakota, Crockett, half-back, starred.

FRESHMAN FOOTBALL

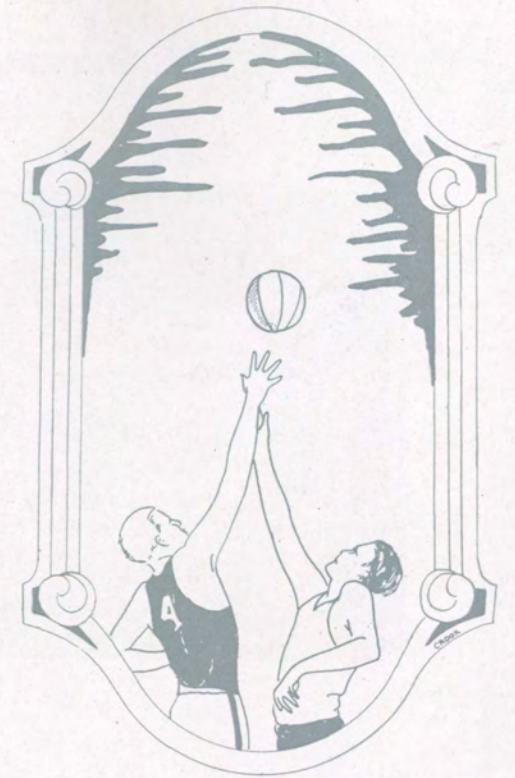

A good percentage of the freshman men came out for freshman football last fall. Although for the first few weeks it was rather a heterogenous outfit, Coach Wenig managed to present a formidable team by the end of the season.

The team showed up well in its scrimmages with the varsity. Through this system they not only gave the varsity the much needed competition, but also became introduced to college football, and had a chance to view Morningside's system at close range. Many of the men showed real football ability, and some of them will be seen on the varsity next fall.

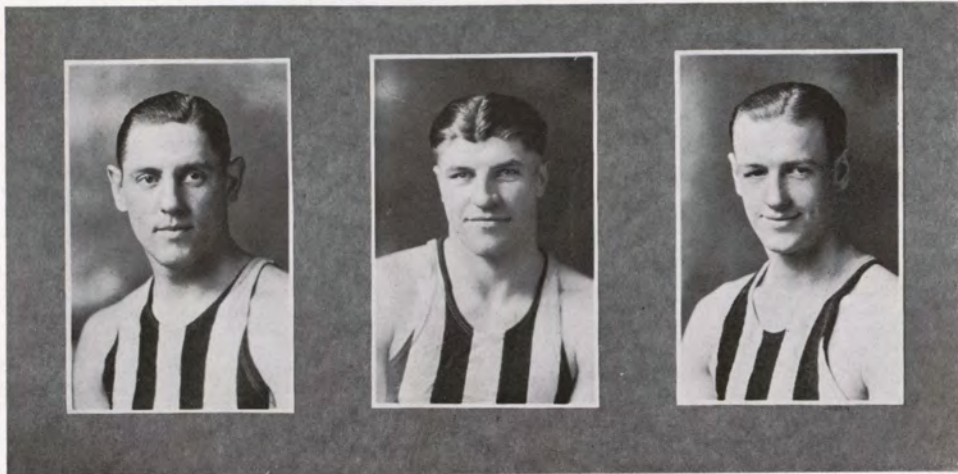

Those who succeeded in winning a numeral are:

CAPTAIN HATTER, Quarter	CRARY, Guard
COLLINS, End	GEHRT, Tackle
OWENS, End	CROSTON, Tackle
RINEHART, Tackle	DAHM, Guard
CRIPPEN, Center and Quarter	MERRIS, Guard
OLSON, Guard	RUNNING, End

Basketball

ALVIN HANCER—Guard and Captain

"Little Alvin" shared the captaincy with Van Citters. Hancer displayed his wares in the back court and was a "whizz" on getting the ball off the board. He is big, strong, and fairly fast. He, too, was mentioned on some of the "all" teams. The vacancy caused by his graduation will be very hard to fill.

"BUD" VAN CITTERS—Guard and Captain

Bud completed his fourth year on the basketball court last year for Morningside. He performed in great style all season. Owing to his fast floor work, his accuracy on long shots, and his great defensive play, he was awarded many places on various mythical fives. Besides having been placed on the all-North Central and Iowa Conference teams, the Des Moines Register gave him a berth on its first all-state team. Bud will be greatly missed next winter.

HAVEN MEANS—Center and Captain-elect

Hooley is all that can be desired of a real center. He is tall, fast, clever, and a good shot. He is one of the reasons why Morningside finished well toward the top in the Conference ratings. Hooley led his team in scoring, in addition to landing near the top in the Conference rankings. In recognition of his splendid work he was given a berth on the all-Conference team, as well as on the Des Moines Register's second all-state team and first all-Iowa Conference teams. Hooley will captain the team next year.

BASKETBALL

"PETE" KNUDSEN—Forward

Pete's consistent, hard work earned him a place on the team. Pete had always barely missed a letter in basketball by a narrow margin, and so his success in gaining one his last year shows what hard work will do. Pete's best exhibition of the year was in the Creighton game, in which he scored five field goals and two free throws, a feat of which anyone can feel proud.

MARINUS JENSEN—Forward

"Jens" was switched from center to a forward job last season and proved that Coach Wenig was justified in the action. Although Jens was never a spectacular player, he played a smooth, steady game and always managed to cage a few shots at the basket. "Jens" also graduates this spring.

PERCY EBERLY—Forward

"Perk" had established quite a high-school reputation before he entered college. He also performed well on the Frosh squad during his first year at Morningside. And in winning a letter last winter on the varsity, "Perk" demonstrated the fact that his reputation was founded on solid grounds. He will greatly help in putting another winning cage team across next year.

BASKETBALL

RALPH EBERLY—Guard

Ralph completed his second year of basketball for Morningside last winter. Only the great playing of Morningside's two guards, Van Citters and Hancer, kept Ralph from playing regularly. He can be relied upon to fill one of the backcourt posts next season.

HENRY BOONE—Forward

"Beans" did not get started this year until the last few games. Then he seemed to have found himself and played sensational basketball after that. He is fast and is a "Bear" on set-ups. "Beans" has two more years in which to prove his ability.

ABE WILLIAMS—Forward

"Abe" is another Sophomore "find". He is a fast, hard player, who will be heard from in the future. An injury to his knee kept him out of the last few games after he had shown up well the first of the season.

KENNETH MCCLURE—Guard

"Mac" was also a substitute guard last season. He is big and rangy and gave a good account of himself whenever he was given a chance to play. He is only a Sophomore; so he should prove to be a big asset to Maroon basketball hopes in the future.

BASKETBALL

BASKETBALL SQUAD

WILLIAM THACKER—Forward

"Buzz" was greatly handicapped by his size; nevertheless, he put everything he had into the game and when he got into a game he showed up to advantage. He has two more years in which to play.

GEORGE HEGSTROM—Forward

"Heg" was also handicapped by his size. He hails from Lawton, where he played on the fast high-school team. He is only a Sophomore and should develop into a good player.

NEWELL WILLIAMS—Forward

"Red" finished his basketball career last winter. He is fast and a hard worker, and only the fine playing of the regulars kept him out of the games.

HAROLD RICHARDSON—Center

"Scotty" played center on the shock troops. He has lots of fight and ginger and, as he is only a Sophomore, should give a good account of himself in the future.

BASKETBALL

BASKETBALL SEASON

The 1927 basketball season was a great success. Although the Maroons failed to duplicate last year's performance by copping the Conference title, they did win third place and in addition succeeded in trouncing Creighton, the champions, thoroughly, a feat which no other team in the Conference accomplished. North Dakota University won second place and North Dakota Aggies won fourth.

Morningside finished the season in fine shape as far as victories are concerned, regardless of the fact that hopes for a winning team were dashed owing to the fact that Bastian suffered an injury to his spine in the interclass tournament which kept him out of the game all season. Bastian's injury compelled Wenig to develop an entirely new set of forwards. This he did by switching Jensen from center to forward, and by developing Knudsen, Boone, A. Williams, and P. Eberly. The center post and the two guard positions were held by the "Big Three"—Hancer, Van Citters, and Means—who played regularly on last year's championship team.

As usual, Western Union came down to Sioux City to open the season. And, like all other contests with that school as far as basketball is concerned, this one turned out to be more of a practice game than anything else. "Obe" had a chance to use all of his men in the game. Morningside won an easy 30-15 victory.

Four days later, on January 8, the team journeyed to Vermillion where they opened the Conference schedule with our friends the Coyotes. There in the little cheese-box afforded by South Dakota University the Maroons upset the dope by winning by the score of 27-16. The Maroons showed up wonderfully for so early in the season and earned their victory.

On Monday, January 10, South Dakota State invaded our institutions and were sent home with a 37-28 defeat ringing in their ears. Morningside displayed a puzzling offense which the visitors could not effectively check. The Maroons ran up a big lead in the early part of the game, and then "Obe" gave the "subs" a chance to display their ability. South Dakota State was somewhat hampered by the fact that some of her players had not returned from Hawaii, where they had engaged in two football games.

With two Conference victories hung up, the Maroons journeyed to Dixieland to engage the Hillyards Chemical Quintet and Missouri State Teachers at Marysville. The Hillyards team, which incidentally has won the national amateur championship for two successive years, proved too much for the Maroons. They had but little trouble in downing our boys 40-25. The Maroons, however, gave a good account of themselves. The team then went on to Marysville to play the Missouri State Teachers' College. The game the night before had an adverse effect on the Maroons, and, although they played well under the circumstances, they were defeated 31-27.

After returning from the unsuccessful trip, the team won from Des Moines University on the home floor by a score of 42-21. The Maroons were exceedingly "hot" and sunk the ball with monotonous regularity. Van Citters and Means starred for the Maroons, while Couchman and Dreiblebliss played well for Des Moines.

On January 22 the team went to Omaha to play the highly touted Bluejays from Creighton. Creighton lived up to her reputation and soundly trounced the Maroons, 41-19. The Jays proved too fast for the Maroons and worked the ball down the floor in splendid fashion. Corneman was the Creighton star, while Van Citters starred for Morningside.

On January 29 Morningside entertained Nebraska Wesleyan and sent them home with the short end of a 35-14 score. Morningside toyed with the Nebraskans and coasted to an easy win. "Obe" took advantage of the situation and gave his substitutes a workout.

On February 1 the North Dakota Aggies invaded the campus and romped off with a 31-21 victory. Morningside held the visitors to even terms the first half, which ended 11-10, but the Bisons hit their stride the second half and coasted to a win. McPherson, center, and Miller, guard, starred for North Dakota Aggies, although Hahn was their scoring ace. Means, Van Citters, Hancer, and Abe Williams played best for Morningside.

On February 4 the Maroons travelled to Lincoln, where they took Nebraska Wesleyan into camp to the tune of 37-13. The Wesleyanites proved to be no match for the Maroons, who held the enemy in check on the defense but who tore through the Nebraska team on the offense. Means was the Maroon star. He garnered seven field goals.

South Dakota University came to Sioux City February 11 for a two-game series. The first game proved to be a walk-away for the Maroons. They shot baskets from all corners to run up a total of 40 points, while South Dakota was able to get but 19 points. In this game "Obe" uncovered a new forward in Boone, who played a good floor game and who caged five goals during the course of the evening. Van Citters and Hancer also played good basketball. This victory was the second victory for the Maroons over the Coyotes this year and the fifth in two years. The next night the reverse situation obtained. The Maroons seemed to be "dead" on their feet, while the Coyotes played over their heads. The Coyotes managed to get a slight lead the first half and then played a successful "stalling" game the second half. The score at the end of the game stood 25-21 for the Coyotes.

The big climax of the season occurred on February 21, when Creighton invaded Sioux City. Just two days before they had cinched the title and came full of confidence. But the Maroons had something in store for them and upset the biggest dope bucket of the season by soundly trouncing the Champs 43-30. Hooley Means started the fireworks shortly after the game had started by caging two long ones. Van Citters then added a long one and a little later scored another to give Morningside eight points before Creighton had registered a single point. At the end of the half the Maroons trotted off the floor with a 22-9 advantage.

Creighton fared better the second half but the Maroons kept pace and, when the final whistle blew, Creighton had been downed—43-30. This win stamps the Maroon team as one of the best in the middle west if not in the country. Means with seven baskets and Van Citters and Knudsen with five each were the offensive stars for Morningside, while Hancer was a big asset on the defense. Corneman, Fogarty, and Connally starred for Creighton.

The last game of the season was played with South Dakota State on February 25, at Brookings. The Bunnies had improved since the first of the season to a marked degree. The Maroons on the other hand played a rather listless style of game. The score was knotted at the game, but South Dakota State came through in the overtime period and defeated the Maroons. Brower of State was the big star with ten field goals.

This game marked the end of a successful season. Several new men displayed remarkable ability, and, with aid of a good freshman team, Maroon followers can look forward to the 1928 season with hope.

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL

The freshman basketball team, under the tutelage of Coach Pirwitz, had a rather successful season. Many former high-school stars answered the call for the first practice, and soon two very good teams were developed.

Of course the purpose of freshman basketball is not to engage in contests with other schools, but to develop the freshmen so that they will be able to fill vacancies on the varsity. They did, however, play two games with the freshmen from South Dakota University. The first game was a nip and tuck affair all of the way, and the final score was 22-21 in favor of the Coyote pups. This game was played at Vermillion. The second game was played on the home floor. The Vermillionites were again victorious.

Despite these defeats however, the freshmen showed real ability. They were able to afford very good competition in their scrimmages with the varsity. It is expected that some of them will be seen in action regularly next winter on the Maroon five.

1926 TRACK SEASON

As a whole, the 1926 track season can be considered a success. Although in the various meets Morningside did not finish ahead of all her opponents, yet the team garnered at least their share of the points. The team was better balanced than usually; consequently points were scored in a larger percentage of the events.

The captain of the team was Jake LaFoy. Jake failed to get into top-notch condition this year although he worked hard. He rounded out his third year in track, an operation having prevented him from competing four years. His specialty was the "440".

"Red" Williams was also a quarter miler. He placed second in both the conference and tri-state meets. In addition, "Red" ran on the half-mile relay team which performed so well at the Drake Relays. "Red" is expected to complete his brilliant career in a creditable manner this spring. Other good 440 men who showed promise are Bach, Gorthy, Kamphoefner, and Brown. Bach, the only letter man of this group, has one more year; the rest have two years.

The Maroons had a number of good sprinters to depend upon. Hartzell, the more experienced of the lot, has made three letters in track. Don is a hard and faithful worker and earned all the honors that he received. He will complete his fourth year this spring, and much is expected from him. Cross has worlds of natural ability as a runner. He easily broke into the scoring column in all the meets, and should go good again this spring. Sargeant is a new man who made wonderful development this year. He made his letter at Drake. He has two more years in which to develop further. The three sprinters were also good broad-jumpers.

BACH

N. WILLIAMS

KAMPHOEFNER

Means proved to be a valuable man for the shorter relays, as well as being a first class hurdler. The high hurdles were his favorite, and he topped them in fine style. He is a Sophomore. Isenberg also performed in the hurdles, as well as in the high jump. He has another year.

Morningside was well represented in the weights. Van Citters and Okerberg enjoyed toying with the discus and shot, and made good records in both these events. Knudsen developed into a good javelin tosser, due to hard, incessant work. "Van" and "Pete" have one year left, and "Red" has two.

Swartz represented us in the pole vault, and managed to pull down some points in this event. He has good form, and will doubtless do even better this spring. Jensen used the standards for a different purpose from Foster's, he being the high jumper. "Jens" got over the bar with apparent ease, and should pull down more points for us this spring.

The distance men also come in for their share of the glory. Mackintosh and Hunter, the two milers, are both letter men. Mackintosh graduates, while Hunter has one more year. Omer, Hanson, and Mitchell were the milers. Omer won his letter in the Conference meet. All of them will be back this spring. McDowell, Maddison, and Ingram ran the half mile in good time, and should improve with more experience.

With practically every man back this spring, plus the Freshmen, who show considerable promise, the chances for a successful season are bright indeed.

DRAKE RELAYS

Last spring Morningside entered a half-mile relay team in the Drake Relays, which were held at Des Moines on the 22 and 23 of April. Sargeant, Williams, Hartzell, and Cross composed the Maroon team.

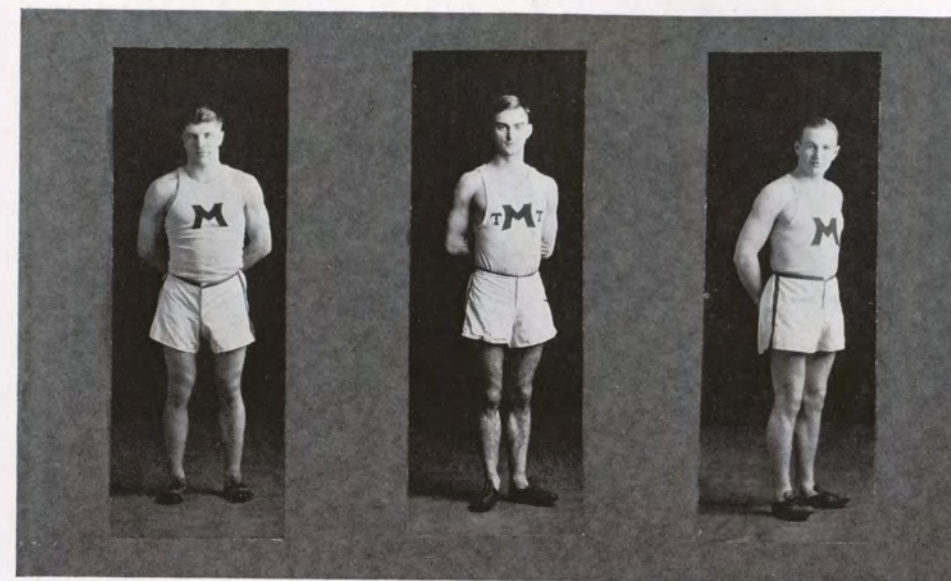

On Friday the team entered the Iowa Conference half-mile relay event, open to all schools belonging to the Iowa Conference. After sending the baton around the track twice, the Maroons captured the event. The time was 1:38, which is considered fast when the condition of the track is taken into account. A heavy rain preceded the race and left the track in very poor condition.

On Saturday the team ran in the second heat of the all-college section. This heat was won by Lombard in 1:33. Butler was second, Morningside third, and Emporia Normal fourth. The team is to be congratulated on this fine showing in face of bitter competition.

DAKOTA RELAYS

On the Saturday following the Drake Carnival the Maroons entered the Dakota Relays held at Sioux Falls. Three relay teams, the mile, half mile, and quarter mile, were entered. The mile relay team, consisting of Bach, Kamphoefner, Gorthy, and Williams, failed to place. Hartzell, Cross, Means, and Sargeant comprised both the half mile and quarter mile teams, and succeeded in winning second place in both of these races. The teams ran in the university class.

TRACK

In addition, Knudsen, Van Citters, Hartzell, Means, and Cross were entered in the special events. Knudsen won second in the javelin, Van Citters second in the discus, while Hartzell and Cross in the hundred yard dash, and Means in the hurdles failed to place.

TRI-STATE MEET

Last spring Morningside sponsored for the first time an invitation meet for colleges. Seven colleges from three states entered teams. The meet, although staged under adverse weather conditions, was very successful and will undoubtedly become an annual event.

Last year Doane College, of Crete, Nebraska, won the meet easily, with Morningside second and Buena Vista third. Other colleges entered included Midland, Yankton, Wayne Normal, and Western Union.

CONFERENCE MEET

The North Central Conference Meet was held at Bass Field Friday and Saturday, the 28th and 29th of May. The meet was by far the best meet ever held in Sioux City. During the two days nine Conference records were broken and one was tied.

South Dakota University, with a well-balanced team, won the meet with forty-nine points. Creighton, with thirty-one points, was next, followed by South Dakota State with twenty-eight points, North Dakota University with twenty-two points, Morningside with eighteen and one-half points, Nebraska Wesleyan with sixteen and one-half points, Des Moines with ten points, and North Dakota Aggies with one point.

Keane was the outstanding performer of the meet, having four firsts to his credit. The Creighton ace won the hundred, two-twenty low hurdles, and the broad jump. Sorbel and Schweinfurt of South Dakota State, Sterling Clark of South Dakota University, and Wiberg of Nebraska Wesleyan were also brilliant performers. For Morningside Williams, Means, Jensen, Okerberg, Van Citters, and Swartz looked good.

WOMEN'S ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

President	MAE ASMUSSEN
Vice-President	EULA EBERLY
Secretary	MILDRED HARTZELL
Treasurer	LOIS STURTEVANT

W. A. A. was organized in 1924 and it is still growing. Its purpose is to promote high physical efficiency among the girls of Morningside College. The membership standards are broad enough to allow any girl in school who is interested in athletics to join. She must have earned 125 points and have an average grade of C. The organization is controlled by an executive board consisting of a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, adviser, and managers of the various sports.

Last year the point system was revised to enable a girl who is really ambitious to earn her M. C. sweater in three years. Otherwise Morningside W. A. A. follows the national organization quite closely. Besides points gained in class work, supervised hikes are held in the spring and fall. Then there are also the good times, picnics, parties, over-night hikes, games, and initiations.

There is a sport for every girl in school: hockey, volley-ball, tennis, basketball, apparatus work, track, and baseball. Now archery and interpretative dancing are also included.

DANCING

This year dancing is not being given in all of the gymnasium classes, but has become elective. All who wished to take it joined the one-thirty class. Two days a week were devoted to it, while the other day was given over to regular gymnasium work.

The dancing studied is the natural dance work patterned after Miss H'Doubler's work, which aims not to make dancers out of the students, but to give them a chance for unrestrained self-expression through the medium of rhythm, to do away with self-consciousness, and to give better body and muscle control and coördination. Thus the dance of this sort is an adequate means of self-expression, and from the coördinated movement of mind, soul, and body, rhythmically beautiful and expressive movements result. Miss H'Doubler sums up the whole idea of this type of dancing in one statement: "My real purpose is to teach my students by means of dance: to teach them a philosophy of life that finds its practical application in the dance." The culmination of the dancing classes will be the May Fête at the end of the school year.

SOPHOMORE HOCKEY TEAM

Owing to the fact that the weather man sent our winter's supply of snow a little early this fall the usual hockey tournament between the four classes was not finished. The traditional Annapolis and West Point game did not take place for the same reason. At the time that the weather barred further hockey games the tournament rested at a tie between the Sophomores and the Juniors.

ARCHERY

Archery was just introduced for girls in the fall of '26; and, although a tournament was started in the gym classes to discover the best archer, it was not continued because of weather and lack of material. A similar tournament will be conducted in the spring. Archery has proved to be a very popular sport with the girls, and is especially popular with those who do not care for the more strenuous activities such as track and baseball. Archery is fast becoming a universal sport, and we hope to develop it more and more here in Morningside College.

YALE BASKETBALL TEAM

The girls' basketball season ended on Friday, March twenty-fifth, with the traditional Yale-Harvard game. Every year two varsity teams are selected from the class teams at the close of the interclass tournament; these compose the Yale and Harvard teams. The gym was full of spectators, and the practice of dividing the entire student body into Yale and Harvard groups headed by yell leaders was again followed this year. The game showed training and good sportsmanship, was well played and interesting.

Between halves the audience was entertained with songs and clog-dances presented by members of the dancing classes. At the close of the game, the President of W. A. A. awarded M. C. sweaters, monograms, and numerals to the members who had won honors during the past year.

MAY FETE

The May Fête was given on May twenty-eighth under the direction of Miss Parkhill. This year, instead of erecting artificial scenery on Bass Field as had previously been done, a favorite spot on the campus was chosen for the setting of the Dream Garden. The whole effect was very pleasing. The dances of the May Fête portrayed the story of a Princess who lived in the Garden with Melancholy and Dark Spirits for her only companions. One night the spirits of Joy visited her, even brought Prince Charming to her. She was very happy with the new life and decided to continue it.

ORDER OF DANCES

TINKER TIME

The college gym certainly never could have been recognized as such on December fifth, for it was veritably none other than Santa Claus's home itself, away up in the North Pole. There were snow fairies playing in his front yard and then suddenly a lovely snow queen, Miss Rae Robertson, emerged from a huge snow man.

But we are not to be kept in suspense long, for Santa Claus stopped his sawing and came out and talked with the Queen.

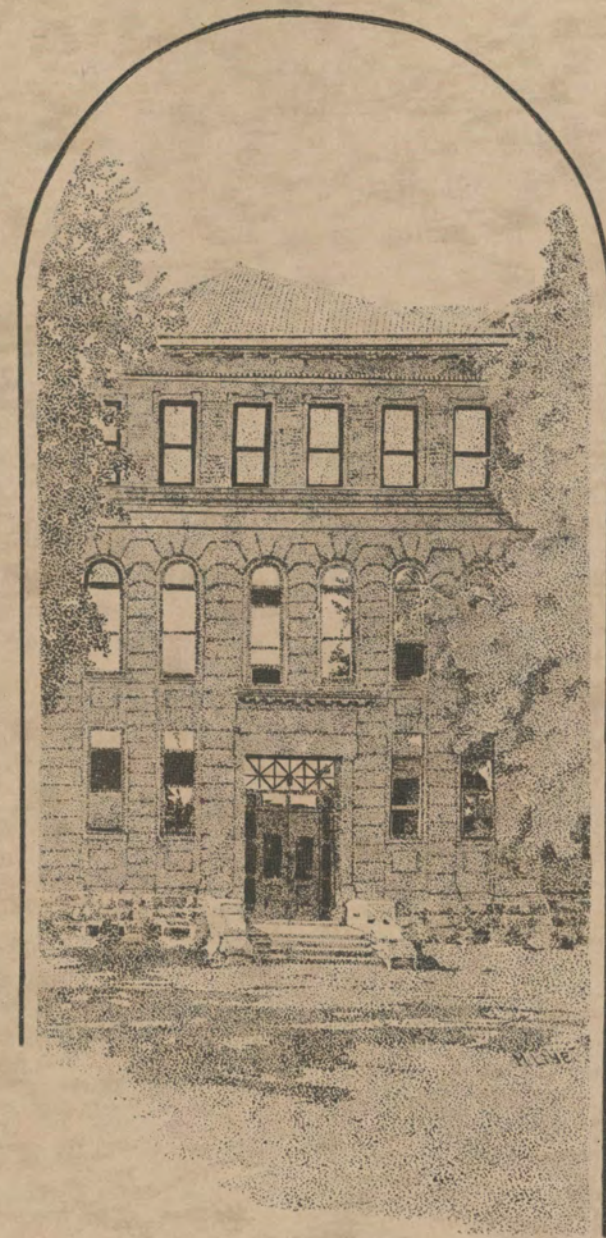

QUEEN: "Good day."

SANTA CLAUS: "Good day, Little Queen."

QUEEN: "Come, let us pause.
What's to be seen?"

SANTA: "Why, surely you know,
Oh, Queen of the Snow,
That all of the toys
That later must go
To the girls and the boys
On the earth down below
Are builded by me here in my shop.
Would it please you to see some of them hop?
Ho, Toys! Trot yourselves out.
The Queen would inspect;
So turn you about."

And such a variety of toys we never had seen: Clowns who did clever stunts; Paris dolls, one who even toe-danced, and one who was hauled in on a rickety wagon by a dirty little girl; jockey dolls, dolls who were gymnasts; Captain Bing, a furious doll with five terrible Pirates; wooden soldiers that just would not stay wound up; two lovely skating dolls; and last but not least a great many clogging dolls: clever little sailors, the French clogging dolls very stylishly dressed, French ladies, and gentlemen. After seeing all with our very own eyes, we knew there really was a Santa Claus.

Organizations

MORNINGSIDE ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

President CLIFFORD H. HARPER

An organization which is indispensable to a growing college is its alumni association, an organized body of graduates who are interested in every activity of the school. Morningside is very fortunate in having such an organization. It is owing to the efforts of the Alumni Association that Morningside has accomplished those outstanding things by which a college shows its progress, and we are assured that in the future the Morningside Alumni Association will be strong supporters of any measure for the advancement of the college.

The Christian Service Club was organized last year for the purpose of uniting all the students who are interested in full-time Christian work as a vocation. The activities of the group have been limited largely to talks and discussions both by members and other individuals with pertinent, constructive messages. This club should aid in the conservation of that very desirable Christian idealism of youth which the individual often loses in the hectic scramble of undergraduate days.

WOMEN'S DEBATES

This year the women debated the question: "Resolved, That the United States should adopt uniform marriage and divorce laws." Whether or not any of the nine women who debated were personally concerned with this particular question cannot be stated. It cannot be denied, however, that the women showed a keen interest on both sides of the question, and when one considers the fact that through the entire season, including the debates at the Pi Kappa Delta Convention, only one debate was lost, we all take off our hats to our gifted feminine arguers. The women participated in twelve debates this year, winning six and losing one. Three of the debates were no decision contests, and the other two were conducted on the Oxford plan in which each school exchanged one speaker.

PI KAPPA DELTA CONVENTION

At the regional convention of Pi Kappa Delta, which was held at Buena Vista College, Storm Lake, Iowa, Morningside made the best record of all schools at the convention. The maroon and white forensic teams finished with two firsts, one second, and two thirds. In the men's division, Morningside had five representatives. W. H. Upton was entered in the Oratorical division, taking first place. Gordon Fogg took part in the extemporaneous contest. The men debaters were Harold Larson, Max Kroloff, and Gordon Larson. Harold Larson debated both sides of the question. In debate the men advanced to the finals, losing the last debate to Dakota Wesleyan. The women debaters represented by Alice Hall, Juliet Johnson, Helen Tiedeman, and Mildred Hickman, not unlike the men, went into every debate with the purpose to win and with this spirit of determination succeeded in winning the final debate from Huron College. Mildred Hickman won third in the women's extemporaneous contest. In the women's oratorical contest, Lois Hickman placed third.

MEN'S DEBATE

This year Morningside College remained consistent with its policies of former years of winning debates. Morningside men participated in sixteen debates, winning eleven times. The question used during the entire season was: "Resolved, That Congress should enact legislation embodying the principles of the McNary-Haugen Bill." The last debate of the season was with South Dakota University, held before the Junior Chamber of Commerce. It was a no-decision debate, with open forum discussions afterwards. The debate squad was limited to ten men, all of whom were chosen from the interfraternity debates. The debate schedule this year was an unusually difficult one. Morningside met teams representing such schools as Kansas State Agricultural College, Drake University, College of Emporia, and St. Olaf College. In a dual debate with St. Olaf College the Morningside men defeated their opponents in both contests. Also with Drake University, Morningside succeeded in winning two victories from the "Capital City" orators.

A great deal of credit for the excellent work done by both men and women in debate should be given to Professor Eerkes. It is largely his consistent and effective work as a coach that has enabled Morningside to win the majority of its debates. Throughout the season there was a very keen interest manifested on the part of the students toward debating. On the whole the debates were very well attended, a fact which was very encouraging to the debaters, and made them feel as though their work was really appreciated.

DIDASKA SOCIETY

The Didaska Society is an organization of girls of Morningside who are working for a third grade state certificate with the aim of teaching. It meets twice a month, one meeting of which is educational and the other social. It is a comparatively new organization on the campus, having been organized in 1925, and consequently having much hope in the future.

The Morningside College Chapel Choir is a well known organization throughout the north-west district. Owing to the efforts of the director, Professor Paul MacCollin, and the work and interest of the members, they have achieved a name of which they may be proud. During spring recess the choir made a tour of the surrounding towns, and although the rain and the mud did their very best to stop them, they completed the tour with well deserved praise. The growth and development of the choir has been very remarkable in the past few years and has aided in raising the standards of choral singing. It is indeed an organization of which Morningside is very proud.

MORNINGSIDE SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA

LEO KUCINSKI, Conductor

The Morningside Symphony Orchestra has developed in the past few years until it has attained the proportions and talent of a professional group. Heretofore only the students of Morningside College were included, but now it includes all residents of Sioux City who have had the required orchestral experiences. Under the capable direction of Leo Kucinski, head of the violin department of the Conservatory, the concerts that have been given during the year have been indeed a treat to music-lovers. The evident quality of the musicianship has made this organization a well-known factor in the performances of worth-while music in Sioux City.

MORNINGSIDE MEN'S STRING QUARTET

LEO KUCINSKI	First Violin
DOUGLAS REEDER	Second Violin
SAMUEL SHERR	Viola
CAROL PARKINSON	'Cello

The Men's String Quartet has continued its fine work of the past two years, having now established a reputation for being the very best of its kind. Morningside College is very proud to have such an organization to represent her in musical productions, which are always of the finest. The concerts of the quartet are very well attended and are appreciated by music-lovers.

MORNINGSIDE WOMEN'S STRING QUARTET

KRISTINE KUCINSKI	First Violin
HELEN EMPEY	Second Violin
BENITA MOSSMAN	Viola
MILDRED SWEET	'Cello

Morningside College has the distinction of having a women's string quartet, an organization which is rather unusual for a school of our size. In the short period of its existence this quartet has earned a name worthy of mention. The concerts given have been a treat to musical people, and greater success in the future is assured.

THE MORNINGSIDE COLLEGE QUARTET

LESTER MCCOY	First Tenor
JOE OTT	Second Tenor
GORDON FOGG	Baritone
MERRILL BURNETTE	Bass

No all-school function would be complete without our quartet. At a football game, a basketball game, the All-College Jubilee, Agora fair, or even student chapel one will see the "That" quartet, and after one has listened to it one will understand the popularity of the group. We feel that we are very fortunate in having such an organization on the campus, and the entertainment which it supplies is always well received.

Jokes

Dear Reader,

New jokes are hard to find
So we put old ones in disguise,
And when you read these—just laugh,
Don't be too wise.

Most of the marks on our college papers were A's, B's, C's, and I. O. U's.

I'll laugh at the world as I see it,
Its women, its cities, and men.
I'll laugh again with the cynic,
Who embittered, sees only the evil in men.
You've shattered and broken my heart,
My soul lies withered and white.
I hate you! I hate you! I hate you!
But oh, how I miss you tonight!

An inquisitive college man asked us if red-headed co-eds kiss with their eyes open. We are not in a position to answer, but if the anxious inquirer will furnish the necessary funds we will gladly conduct a personal investigation. Which reminds us of the song, "I could have learned to love her, but I didn't have the money to pay for the education."

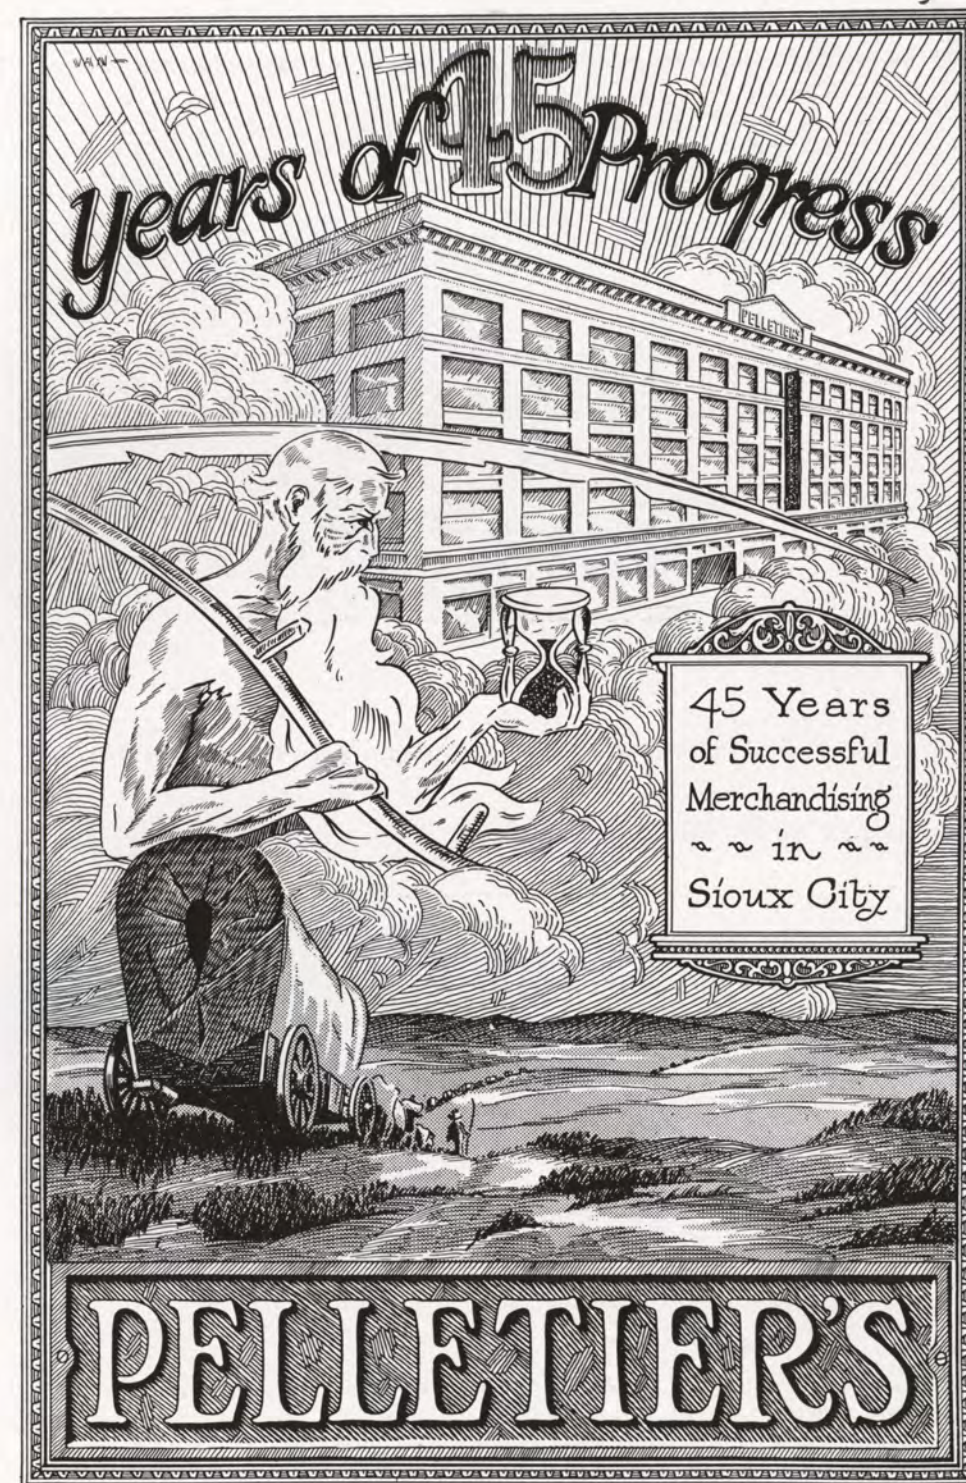

And what is so rare as a day in June . . . when the graduate's father learns that money goes but a little way?

Frater: Here is the street-car.
Shorty: Tell them to take it to the back door.

Stock: What is the name of that selection the orchestra is playing?
Yards: "That's why I love you."
Stock: I am asking the name of the piece, not what effect it has on you.

Ad on Sioux City railway car: "Ride on the Swiftly Gliding Trolley."
Gliding? Whoa! It must be that we have been getting the street-car instead of the trolley.

It has been two years since I left her there in the perfumed dusk of a September twilight. She said she would wait, and now after struggling among the city dwellers for a small portion of fame, after two long, weary years of disappointment, loneliness, and heartache, I am going back to that sleepy southern village—back to the girl of my dreams.

And if she doesn't love us any more than she does that red-headed clerk in her old man's grocery store we'll just come back to Morningside and propose to that girl from Nebraska.

Saturday—Left the Conservatory at 8:00 A. M. Everything is lovely.

Sunday—Rain. Am having a fine time. Met the driver of the bus.

Monday—Bus driver tried to kiss me. I indignantly refused.

Tuesday—Bus driver is wild with anger. He says that unless I consent he will wreck the bus and passengers.

Wednesday—I saved the bus and the passengers, too, near Holstein.

Some one suggested that the men debating the affirmative side of the question of farm relief should wear overalls. And we might add that a shovel would not be entirely out of place.

Dr. Campbell was lecturing on his trip to Europe and was describing the Swiss students: . . . and you could not distinguish them from the American students. They are a well-dressed, intelligent-looking group.

A writer recently stated that why so many pedestrians are run over in the morning, is because wives don't kiss their husbands, and men leave for the office with a grouch.

We know a lot of men who would sooner take a chance in traffic.

When they sent out the invitations to the Junior-Freshman party they said to just wear any kind of costume.

We wore our best duds over and got first prize for the best tramp makeup. There simply ain't no justice, Aggie.

"Do you think it necessary for a girl to wear silk stockings to be considered fashionable?"

"Yes, up to a certain point."

"Faint heart never won fair lady," goes the axiom. In getting our date for the formal we found out that the fairer the maid, the fainter the heart.

Little sister Alice showed her mother the likeness of a baby she had just fashioned from paper with her scissors.

"Why, that is a perfect baby, Alice. I believe you are an artist."

"Huh, if your stories are true, I must be a stork."

Father: You promised that you would live within your allowance, and you haven't done it. That shows how weak you are.

Son: No, dad; it shows how weak the allowance is.

I hear you have an artist friend, Mabel.

Yes, I have, and every time he comes to see me he draws the shades.

He (disgustedly): I think I've got a flat tire.

She: Oh, give me a chance; we're not a block from home yet.

Harry, who is that terrible blonde?

Lay off—will you? I'm going to have a terrible time explaining to her who you are.

The men who complain about the sheiks driving with one hand are the ones who used to wrap the lines around the whip-socket.

With all thy faults I love thee still,
Thou old McNary-Haugen bill.

"No checks cashed. We have an arrangement with the bank whereby we cash no checks and they sell no soup."

Storekeeper: I don't like the ring of this half dollar.

Customer: What do you want for fifty cents—a peal of bells?

Frosh: What is the date, please?

Prof.: Never mind the date. The examination is more important.

Frosh: Well, sir, I wanted to have something right on my paper.

Bill: Imitation is the sincerest flattery.

Will: Still, you wouldn't want me to step out with your best girl, would you?

FEATURES

Senior Girl: Look here. I can write my name in the dust on this dresser.
Freshman Girl: There's nothing like four years of college education, is there?

If an apple a day will keep the doctor away, what will peaches do?

A genius is a man who can rewrite a collegiate joke and have it accepted for the annual publication.

Mama: Johnny, I wish you would be a good little boy.

Johnny: I'll be good for a nickel.

Mama: The idea! Why can't you be like your father, good for nothing?

"Stone walls do not a prison make," nor stern rules a dorm, but, my goodness, how they can help!

"It ain't sanitary", protested the traveler, "to have the house built over the hog pen that way."

"Well, I dunno." replied the native. "We ain't lost a hog in fifteen years."

When our girl went home for the Easter holidays her letters showed that she had a heavy line. All her letters arrived postage due.

In reading the Congressional Records for some debate material we frequently stumbled across the word "Applause" in parenthesis inserted in the midst of a voluminous flow of oratory.—We firmly believe it should have been "Applesauce."

Sympathizer: My good man, you better take the trolley home.

Weathered One: Shno ushe; my wife wouldn't let me keep it in the house.

All good looking girls read this:

Gee, you've a good opinion of yourself.

First: What does Darwin's theory amount to concerning those thousands of years of evolution? Why, today a woman can make a monkey of a man in an hour.

Second: Yeh, but think of that wonderful hour.

Suppose some night I should awaken

To find my jewelled frat pin taken;

I'd blame you, co-ed, who

Turned out the lights on the steps of the dorm.

Clara Anna says that men resemble fountain pens. Every co-ed should have one of her own and handle it with the utmost care.

"Be good to him, Clara, old girl."

The professor said that that that that that boy used in that sentence was that superfluous that.

I cannot sing of autumn nights
Nor lovers 'neath the moon—
I cannot sing of perfumed winds
That kiss the still lagoon.
I cannot sing of happy hearts,
Of wedding-bells that ring—
Alas! I cannot sing these things
Because I cannot sing.

Some strains we heard April the first, the day before the co-eds migrated to the new dorm: "Tomorrow, tomorrow, how happy I shall be!"

Now, little Freshman girls, let us give you a poetic formula for relating college incidents in the paternal abode.

"The things you tell your folks about;
But if you do—leave half of them out.
Hinkey Dinkey, Parley Vous."

To silent member of quartet: Why aren't you singing, old boy?
"My mother told me to beware of wine, women, and song. I've given up singing."

She: I dreamed I was autoing last night.
He: Tell me about it.
She: I forget the dream, but when I woke up I was walking in my sleep.

Have you any difficulty meeting your college expenses?
Not a bit. I'm always running into them.

She: Do you still run around with that good-looking blonde?
He: Why, you know she is married now.
She: Answer my question.

Jack and Jill went up the hill,
Apparently for water;
They stayed away
Throughout the day,
And she the parson's daughter!

Our collection of humor includes numbers that excel the ones printed in this publication, but, after paying tuition for three years, the members of the staff feel that graduation is preferable to expulsion.

In Appreciation

To the many long-suffering folk who have borne with us during this year of work, we wish to extend heartfelt thanks. Without your aid and coöperation there would never have been a 1928 SIOUX. To those people who lent us the use of their cars, who carried around our cardboard, who gave us instant information when we dashed up to them, who found and returned our Junior pictures, who bore the odious odor of rubber cement and all those little details included in the arrangement of our annual, we say "Thank You". Now that we have reached the last pages of the book, and the faint dream we've had that sometime the book would really be finished, has been realized, we shall become human again, and you may rest assured that, when we start for you, it is not to beseech a favor. The 1928 advertisers who have aided in the production of the book are also deserving of only the highest praise. To the 1928 SIOUX staff, who have functioned so well this year, to the readers of all this copy, to all of you

"THANKS"

1928 SIOUX
