Girls Decorate Yule Tree

The annual Christmas tree decorating party, with all the traditional ceremony, was held at the Women's Residence Hall, Tuesday evening, December 9. At 10 p. m. the girls, dressed in pajamas and robes, entered the firelighted drawing room and began their designated tasks of preparing wreaths and festoons and other handmade decorations for the lovely tree which reached the ceiling. Toys, clothes and other gifts were placed under the tree by the girls, and at Christmas time they are given to the under-privileged children of Sioux City.

Christmas cookies were provided by the cook and the girls nopped corn before the open fire to conclude the festivities.

Gymnasium-Fieldhouse Campaign Progressing

The Gymnasium-Fieldhouse Campaign has made good progress to date. Over $220,000 has been subscribed, mostly in Sioux City, including one gift of $32,000, three gifts of $10,000 each, sixteen others above $1,000, and forty-eight gifts of $1,000 each.

There have been several very delightful surprises in the city campaign. The very large number of business and professional men (over 180 of them) who have given freely of their time in this very busy season, the cordial and hearty support of the campaign by the community in general, and the large number of large gifts surpass all previous records, and indicate that the college has entered upon a new phase of its history.

An encouraging spotlight was the flight to New York City for a Friday appointment which netted a $10,000 gift.

Then there was the woman in Sioux City who called up a Division Chairman, in order to call him down for getting a $1,000 subscription from her husband, heard the college story first hand herself, thanked the Division Chairman for the "most informative conversation she ever had," and said that she was going to telephone her husband that she was glad he gave that $1,000.

Local factors combined to make it necessary to have the campaign in Sioux City between the Community Chest Drive which closed on October 17, and December 31st, when another campaign is scheduled to start its preliminary work. The results achieved in the college campaign are the more encouraging in view of these narrow limits of time.

The Campaign is organized under five divisions: I. Name Gifts (above $1,000), D. W. Stewart, Chairman. II. Sponsor Gifts, ($1,000), Carrol N. Smith, Chairman. III. Sponsor Gifts (under $1,000), Gene Egan and Russell Pecaut, Co-Chairman. IV. National Firms, Oscar W. Broyer and Tom Cowley, Co-Chairman. V. Morningside, Coach Les Davis and W. C. Wolle, Co-Chairmen.

Already several gifts of $1,000 and one gift of $2,500 have been subscribed by Morningsiders.

One large bronze tablet in the new Gymnasium-Fieldhouse will list the donors of gifts above $1,000 and another of those who give $1,000 each. A suggested wording for these tablets reads: "Because of their faith in Youth and in America, these persons and firms gave $1,000 each (or more than $1,000 each) to help build this Gymnasium and Fieldhouse."

Contributors in the campaign may pay their subscriptions in full now, or spread payments over three tax years. Besides the bronze tablets just described, donors may name various parts or projects within the building, such as the swimming pool, bowling alleys, or team rooms.

Now with over $220,000 subscribed, about $80,000 is yet needed to reach the goal of $302,500. It is expected that the necessary funds will be raised in the near future and that the new gym will be ready for use by the fall of 1948.

Clarence Obrecht Baseball Foundation

Athletic Director Les Davis has announced that a graduate of Morningside and a very close friend of the late Clarence Obrecht has created an annual baseball foundation of three hundred and fifty dollars for Morningside College. Clarence Obrecht, or Phoebe, as he was known to his teammates and friends, graduated in 1918. While in school, he was captain of the baseball team, and became one of the Maroons' best second basemen in the history of the school. Always a great athletic enthusiast, he did much to create good athletics at Holstein, Ia., and in other towns in Northwest Iowa, where he lived most of his lifetime. It was very sad news when, last spring, his many college friends heard of his death. Under his direction as president, the Holstein State bank was known throughout the Middle West as a modern institution fitting the needs of its community.

Mrs. Obrecht and two children still reside in Holstein, Ia. Their son, Norton, who is a junior in the Holstein High School, was a member of the 1947 championship Holstein high school football team.

Morningside is proud and grateful for such sincere and lasting friendships which have been created in the years in which its many loyal students have gained their education on the Maroons' Campus.

Men's Gymnastic Program at Morningside

A well organized gymnastic program has been worked out by the Men's Physical Education heads at the college and is now in effect under the supervision of assistant Coach Charles Obye. All freshman and sophomore boys, who are not veterans, are required to participate in the program that is most helpful to them. However, this does not exclude the veterans as they may use the facilities of the gymnasium whenever they are available.

The first two weeks of the fall are devoted to Tests and Measurements of all new students. Among the many things included in the tests are measurements of the elbow width, knee width, chest girth, and sitting height. From these tests the general physical capacities of the students are judged. Until the cold weather of November the students participate in cross country team races and fun games such as 20 yard touch-football to develop their large muscle groups and acquire a sense of team play.

Apparatus work and tumbling are introduced to the student for their indoor fall physical education. Simple stunts and coordination exercises are practiced, with no complicated gymnastics, thus developing gracefulness in body carriage, and reducing the gymnastics from a formal to an informal program.

Basketball and volleyball are played during the winter months with group leadership being given a great part. Each student at one time or another is in complete control of his group of six or seven pupils, with the duty of explaining the rules and techniques of these two games which have a great carry-over value in adult life.

The spring classes are devoted to kittenball, track and field, and progressive checks. Through the track and field activities the pupil's progress during the year is checked against his scores on the tests and measurements. The degree of improvement in competitive records and in bodily measurements is noted and the pupil's grade is derived from this, plus class attitude, attendance, and rank in own class.

During the school year the instructor teaches the the pupil the correct rules and techniques of all games so that he will not only participate in his physical education class but in the intramural program as well.

Help Wanted

One of the big jobs of the Alumni Office is to keep the files of the names and addresses of our 5,000 Morningsiders up-to-date. It is difficult to do this work and we can only succeed if we have the cooperation of all Morningsiders away from the campus. If you change your address, send in the new one. If you know of some other Morningside man or woman who has recently moved, send in the new address.

First and foremost, advise us of YOUR change of address and then send us the addresses and news about others.

Messiah Draws Large Audience

Attesting the everlasting popularity of Handel's Messiah was a great audience whose late comers stood six deep around the edges of Grace Methodist church auditorium Sunday night, December 14. The crowded condition was a compliment to Prof. Paul MacCollin, director and founder of this 29-year-old series.

The performance was at its usual high standard, enhanced by top rank solo work by Max Williamson of the University of Colorado, tenor; Erna Clanton of Omaha, alto; Elizabeth MacCollin, soprano, and Emery Stewart, bass, the latter two of the Morningside conservatory of music faculty.

A chorus of 150 voices showed the precision training with which Prof. MacCollin marks his oratorio presentations, dividing accent between technical knowledge of the score with the feeling and expression which are vital to Messiah successes.

Members of the Sioux City orchestra and Miss Lois Krogh, organist, were accompanists.

College Choir to Take Southern Trek

Fifteen appearances have been scheduled for the Morningside College choir which will leave Sunday, January 25, on an extended tour through the South. Mr. Harry Hartman, manager of the choir, returned recently after a three-week trip, during which he completed the itinerary.

Concerts of the choir, directed by Mr. Paul MacCollin, will be made daily. First performance will be given Sunday night, January 25, at Shenandoah, Iowa. Each day will find the Morningside singers at a new site.

After the Shenandoah concert, the choir will appear at Falls City, Neb.; Ft. Scott, Kan.; Bartlesville, Muskogee and Oklahoma City, Okla.; Dallas and Greenville, Tex.; Hope, Little Rock and Conway, Ark.; Joplin, Nevada and St. Joseph, Mo., and finally Atlantic, Ia., on Sunday, February 8. Upon their return to Sioux City, the group will present a home concert.

Mr. Hartman intimated that one and possibly more radio broadcasts will be afforded the Morningsiders. He also stated that the fame of the choir was well established, that everywhere he went people had heard of the Morningside choir.

'Cellist Featured with Sioux City Symphony

Joseph Schuster, 'cellist, appeared with the Sioux City symphony orchestra, conducted by Leo Kucinski, at the Orpheum theater Monday evening, December 8.

He is an artist who invests a performance of high technicality with virile emotionalism and whose cello achieves that lighter brilliance more often associated with the violin in addition to its own warm, substantial tones.

The symphony, playing its last concert of the Sioux City Music association series, performed ably throughout, although high spots were the Haydn Concerto in D major for cello and orchestra; the Overture to Phedre by Massenet, and Toccata by Frescobaldi.

Campus Activities

A carnival theme was carried out in decorations and entertainment at the formal Christmas dinner of the Faculty Women's club, Saturday evening, December 13, at the Women's Residence Hall. The faculty gathered in the drawing room for pink lemonade, served from a booth presided over by Dr. T. E. Tweit. Dinner was served at tables arranged in a large circle, with streamers hung from the ceiling representing a tent top. Lifesize figures of circus animals were arranged in the background. Mrs. James Reistrup was general chairman.

The program included a presentation of the play, The Boor, directed by Prof. Richard Flowers, and a musical program in which Prof. James Reistrup played his Parade Suite and Emery Stewart sang. Carol singing concluded the evening's entertainment.

This year the traditional Christmas dorm formal was held on Tuesday evening, December 16. The girls, all dressed in their lovely formals, attended a dinner party held in the candle lighted dining room, appropriately decorated for the Christmas season. Following the dinner the girls retired to the drawing room where they sang carols and Mrs. Roadman read the Christmas story from the Bible.

On the last night before Christmas vacation most of the dorm girls took part in all night parties. Early in the morning the sophomore girls went caroling throughout the dorm and hung holly wreaths on each door. A special Christmas breakfast was served all the girls at six o'clock.

Members of Ishkoodah, the freshman women's organization, held their annual Christmas tea, with the faculty women of the college as special guests on Friday afternoon, December 12. A grab-bag with presents was a feature of the party with a visit from Santa Claus.

Special Christmas carol numbers were featured on the chapel program Thursday morning, December 18, at Grace Methodist church. Prof. Paul MacCollin, director of the conservatory of music, conducted the chapel and vesper choirs in selected Christmas numbers. One choir sang from the balcony, the other from the choir loft.

Fifteen faculty and students were initiated into Sigma Tau Delta, national honorary English fraternity, Sunday afternoon, November 23. The ceremony took place at the home of Miss Mirah Mills, professor of English. John Patterson, president of the fraternity was assisted by Mrs. Betty Cairy Macur, '45, in the initiation of the new members.

Congregation Honors the Waltons

The Morningsider reprints the picture and the story of Rev. ('17) and Mrs. Don Walton (Bessie Reed, '21) which was published in the June issue of "The City Mission Monthly" in New York City.

"Five anniversaries were celebrated at the DeWitt Memorial Church, 280 Rivington Street, on Thursday evening, May 8th, at an informal reception honoring the pastor, Rev. Donald J. Walton, D.D., and Mrs. Walton. The church, one of the oldest centers operated by the New York City Mission Society, was dedicated 66 years ago on May 8, 1881. The building was a memorial to Dr. Thomas DeWitt, President of the New York Mission Society from 1846 until his death in 1874.

Dr. Walton was ordained and began his ministry here twenty-five years ago, on May 4, 1922. May 9th marked the 25th anniversary of his graduation from Princeton Theological Seminary, and his marriage to the former Bessie Reed. Together they have served this church continuously through the twenty-five years. Every organization in the church shared in honoring the pastor and his wife, and expressed their appreciation for their devoted ministry."

"The First Methodist Outlook" for November 14 published by the First Methodist Church of Glendale, California, carried the following article:

"Fred Alden McMaster, '23, is the third speaker on the Church Town Meeting. Representing the general field of Christian men in business, Mr. McMaster is especially qualified to speak on the responsibilities of the businessman to his church. First a banker, then an automobile dealer, later with a nationally-known Tire Company, since 1940 Mr. McMaster has been general agent for one of the big Insurance companies.

"Active in church life through the years, Mr. McMaster was chairman of the Finance Committee of the Walnut Hills Methodist Church in Cincinnati, of the Wilshire Methodist Church in Los Angeles, and is at present a member of the Finance Committee of First Methodist Church, Glendale. He is one of thirteen on the Bishop's Committee for the securing of funds for the University Religious Conference at U. C. L. A.

"Much in demand as a speaker before businessmen's groups, he has addressed the National Association of Life Underwriters in its annual convention and just this summer was a featured speaker at the Million Dollar Round Table Meeting in Swamp Scott."

3 Hours Does Week's Work

Snow removal on the Morningside campus is being accomplished swiftly and efficiently this winter by using a Ford tractor equipped with a snow plow.

Three hours was the amount of time required with the new equipment to clear all campus drives, walks and paths, and the sidewalk from Garretson Avenue to the Women's Residence hall this week. R. J. Sweet, college business manager, pointed out that previously such a job would have taken at least a week.

Purchased recently from the Sioux City tractor and equipment company, the tractor with snow plow attachment will also have lawn mowing equipment for use in season.

Plans for a third grade study unit in safety methods developed by Mrs. Chester Yeaman (Cleo Pratt, ex '30) of Sioux City have been printed in the National Safety magazine. Cleo is a teacher at Cooper school in Sioux City. The program was developed for third grade pupils taught by Mrs. Yeaman, who is credited with doing outstanding work in developing a workable procedure for children in the safety field.

Basketball Season Is Underway

The lid of the 1947-48 basketball season was removed in alumni gymnasium Monday evening, November 24, with a thrilling game between the Morningside varsity and a group of Alumni all-stars, the grads edging the students, 59 to 58. Proceeds of this game were donated to the funds for the new fieldhouse. Playing for the alumni were such former Morningside greats as Joe DeMaine, Jack Larson, Chuck Obye, Bob Held, John Helm, Gale Stevens and Tom Green.

The Maroons dropped their regular season opener to the Beavers of Buena Vista college, 46-42, on December 2. The strong Beaver quintet took advantage of the inexperienced Maroons when they stalemated at the beginning of the third quarter to gain the lead which they never relinquished. All-conference Bill Briggs, Sioux City, and Henry ("Dutch") Langstraat, Newkirk, paced the Maroons with 11 points each. Defensively it was guard Bob ("Red") Norris, Alexander, who sparked the Maroons. However, the floor-play of Howard Harmon, 5-foot 8-inch forward from Pisgah, was outstanding. He was consistently in the opponent's hair with his ball stealing and aggressive tactics.

The Maroons initiated their 11-game home schedule. Thursday, December 11, on the hardwood of Alumni gym when they met the Indians of Omaha University at 8 p. m. A closely fought game ended 49-44 with Omaha on the long end of the count.

The Maroons' fast break functioned in hot and cold streaks, enabling them to hold the lead by a narrow margin until the automatic timeout, when Omaha began pouring in shots to forge ahead and retain the lead in a rough and tumble scramble that lasted the final four minutes. Langstraat of Morningside and Slogr of Omaha tied for high score with 14 points each.

Morningside posted its first basketball victory of the 1947 season Tuesday night, December 9, by emerging from a rough and tumble battle with a 42 to 41 decision over the Wayne State Teachers.

The Maroons, trailing through the middle minutes of the contest, went ahead halfway along the final half and managed to hold their lead in a mad scramble down the homestretch. Wayne, which fought with the spirit and tenacity which its Wildcat name implies, held a 22 to 17 halftime margin.

In the second period, two swishing long ones by Johnny Williams put the Maroons ahead, 32 to 29, and Wayne, though firing desperately and remaining dangerously close, never could close the gap. Don Coome's two buckets and five free throws gave him nine points and scoring honors for Morningside.

On Saturday night, December 13, the Maroons traveled to Ames to meet the Iowa State College five. Sparked by speedy Bob Petersen, the Iowa State basketball team topped the Morningside quintet, 68 to 50. Leading by only five points at the half, 28 to 23, the Cyclones started clicking in the second half. Peterson sank five field goals and made seven free throws for a total of 17 points. Bob Norris, rangy guard from Alexander, led the Maroons with 10 points.

This year's Maroon squad, younger and more inexperienced than last season's championship squad, faces a tougher schedule

Football Honors Announced

HOWARD PETERSON, 240 pound all-conference tackle, was selected honorary captain by his teammates. "Big Pete," a senior, who hails from Sioux City, earned his third letter in football at Morningside this fall.

BOB HOOKS, freshman fullback from Sioux City, was selected as the player most valuable to the football team during the 1947 season by members of the football squad. Hooks was the leading scorer and ground gainer for the Maroons and was outstanding defensively with his vicious tackling. Bob was also named on the all-conference 1947 team.

CONNIE CALLAHAN, who performs triple threat duties from his left halfback position, has been an all North Central Conference selection for the backfield for two successive seasons, 1946-47. In addition to his bullseye passing, accurate punting and hard, shifty running, Connie plays safety on defense and his tackles are clean and decisive.

North Central Conference Meeting Held

Athletic Director Les Davis and faculty representative Ira J. Gwinn represented Morningside College at the North Central conference meeting December 10th in Chicago.

Business acted upon included the selection of the 22-man all conference football team. Named on the all-star 1947 football squad were two Morningside backs, Connie Callahan and Bob Hooks.

It was voted to reinstate the freshman eligibility rule, which had been waived during the war years, effective September 1, next year. It was also voted to hold their spring meeting next April 3 at Sioux Falls, S. D.

The track and field, golf and tennis championship events next May 15 will be held at Augustana, Sioux Falls, or South Dakota State at Brookings.

Women's P. E. Majors Clinic Is Success

On November 22, the Women's Physical Education Major club sponsored a successful basketball clinic with a registration of approximately 150. Attending the clinic were two of the State University of Iowa physical education faculty, Dr. Gladys Scott and Miss Gail Hennis, National Board representatives of the section on women's athletics.

In the morning Miss Hennis gave an explanation and the purpose of the National Section on women's athletics, followed by a demonstration of coaching techniques by Dr. Scott. The Yale-Harvard teams were used for the demonstration.

The afternoon session opened with the Yale-Harvard teams. Harvard was the victor. Following the game, Miss Hennis gave a short talk on officiating techniques. A general discussion period concluded the clinic.

This was the first basketball clinic for girls at Morningside. Future plans call for bigger and better girls' clinics.

Basketball Clinic Labeled a Success

The first annual Morningside college basketball clinic on Saturday, Nov. 29, was acclaimed a success by the 150 coaches and officials that attended.

Lecture-demonstrations by coaches Orval Madden, Alton high school, Wayne Beery, Danbury high school, Harold Stevens, Central high school, Sioux City, Al Buckingham, Morningside college and Lyle Quinn, secretary of the Iowa High School Athletic Association were well received in the morning and afternoon sessions. In the evening session which closed the one-day clinic, Danbury high school defeated Alton high school 35-27 and the local Old Home Bread quintet took the measure of the Morningside Maroons 38-35.

with such schools as DePaul, Iowa State, Northern Illinois Teachers and Dubuque College to play. The conference teams are also stronger with most of them having the same squad as last year with only one or two men being lost through graduation or transfer.

Deaths

Dr. C. U. Senn, a prominent civic leader and physician in Ripon, Wis., for more than thirty-eight years passed away November 28 following a stroke which he had suffered at his home Thanksgiving Day.

Dr. Senn entered the pre-med course at Morningside and following his graduation in 1908, he entered Marquette University in Milwaukee, receiving his M. D. degree. He began the practice of medicine at Two Rivers, later coming to Ripon where he continued until his retirement two years ago, because of poor health.

Funeral services were held at the First Evangelical Lutheran church in Ripon. Surviving Dr. Senn, in addition to his wife, Margaret, is one daughter, Mrs. Evelyn Worby and one grandson, Glenn of Rochester, Wis.

Farming was Dr. Senn's hobby and his leisure hours were spent on his farms east and southeast of the city. Several years ago he also purchased a 400 acre farm in Clark County, which he developed into one of the best farms in that section, and which he disposed of only a short time ago.

Dr. Senn was widely known professionally. He was a member of the American Medical Association of the State Medical Association and also of the county organization. He was instrumental in the founding of the Ripon Municipal Hospital and served as its Chief of Staff.

Maroons to Fly on Two Football Trips

Next year you can call them the Flying Maroons.

The 1948 football schedule for Morningside may include two airplane trips for games away from home, Athletic Director Les Davis has indicated. He announced a slate of eight contests, with two open dates.

Preparations are being made to fly to Grand Forks and Fargo for the North Central conference battles with North Dakota's state university and state college.

Four other conference games, with Iowa Teachers, Augustana college and the two South Dakota schools, are on the 1948 schedule. The two nonconference tilts will be with Midland college and Omaha university.

With opponents still to be booked for the two open dates, the schedule now stands as follows:

Sept. 11—Midland college, here.
Sept. 18—North Dakota U., there.
Sept. 25—Iowa Teachers, here.
Oct. 2—Omaha University, here.
Oct. 9—North Dakota State, there.
Oct. 16—Augustana College, there.
Oct. 23—South Dakota U., here.
Oct. 30—Open.
Nov. 6—South Dakota State, there.
Nov. 13—Open.

Chosen "Personality of Week" at Fort Richardson, Alaska

Lt. Gladys Yeaman, ex '21, now Alaska's only Wac, was honored in the November 21 issue of the Sourdough Sentinel, publication of Fort Richardson, Alaska, as the post's "personality of the week."

Lt. Yeaman, who formerly was in a law partnership here with her father, George G. Yeaman, now is legal adviser for the Alaskan air command. Her position, the Sourdough Sentinel said, is one of the most important in the command headquarters. Lt. Yeaman "is doing an able job," the publication said. It characterized her as "a grand young woman with a grand record and a grand future."

Gladys enlisted in the women's auxiliary army corps in 1942 and received her basic training and commission at Fort Des Moines, Ia. She served four years at San Bernardino field in California, where she was awarded the army commendation medal for "exemplary service in carrying out of duty."

"I have been in Alaska several months now," Lt. Yeaman told the Sourdough Sentinel, "and though the weather is nothing like that of California or Iowa, it is not as bad as I had expected. My job here is interesting and diverting enough to keep me from any real ennui."
