College Life

College life, some say, should be the best times of your life. Others say, it's the hardest times of your life. I say, it's a combination of both. It's fun to be out on your own, to make your own schedule and set your personal goals. It's also hard when midterm or finals weeks roll around. And every year we struggle and complain and still we make it through with everything gained and our goals met. So much knowledge fills our brains each year; each month; each week; each day. With the help of professors, advisors, and close friends, our lives are enriched with knowledge, friendships and wonderful memories. College life may not be the best or the hardest years we will face, but they will be rewarding years.

The situation is frightening. Nineteen years old and fearing a heart murmur. Instead . . . "Leukemia" is uttered by the doctor.

For Lance Nesbitt, this wasn't a situation, it was real. On August 31, Lance and his family were told that what they thought had been a virus and feared would be a heart murmur was actually leukemia.

"I heard all these words that I've heard before, but they were so foreign to me. I was scared to death," he said.

Learning of the illness was equally hard for what Lance describes as a "Very, very close family." Scott, Lance's older brother, remembers how he felt when the doctor told the family. "What was so weird is we were sitting in the lobby thirty seconds before that laughing and talking and then we found out. It's so weird, you go from being great to being way low," he said.

The very next morning Lance's commonly seen positive attitude was back and going strong. Through prayers and continuous good reports from the doctor, "Lance said he was able to keep his positive attitude. He said more than 250 cards and letters he received from his friends helped him more than any of them could know.

Lance kept up on 13 credit hours of classes. Through tape recordings, reading assignments, and the help of Carolyn Rants and Dr. Bruce Forbes, Lance's class schedule is right on track.

Thanks to Marsha Ryan and her article in the Collegian Reporter for giving us an insight into Lance's experience. Lance, our prayers and best wishes to you and your family are with you.

Dance for Lance

The Mace was a widely discussed topic this year when it turned up missing shortly after the Winter Commencement exercises. The disappearance of the Mace was reported on KCAU-TV, the Sioux City Journal, and the Des Moines Register. Pictured below is President Tommeraasen uncovering the missing Mace and below at right Dr. William Yockey during the Spring Commencement exercises. The "Mace Chase" as the maceknapper called it, was not found very amusing by Morningside officials. Special thanks to Dr. Bill Knepper for his article "The Mace" in clarifying some unanswered questions.

The mace has a long history, sometimes a dubious one, sometimes comic. Its origin was no doubt a club used in combat. The term is generally associated with the medieval weapon used to break the armor of an opponent. Such weapons, usually made of metal, characteristically were spiked or studded. An interesting variation was a relatively short-handled affair with an attached chain and ball. William the Conqueror, a giant of a man, is reputed to have used it to dispose of five soldiers with one revolving blow.

The medieval universities adopted the mace for both ceremonial and practical purposes. Ceremonially, the mace became a symbol for the various colleges in convocation, and, aping the Parliamentary custom, were also used to represent the presence of a dignitary, the sovereign, in the case of the parliament, or a university chancellor in educational circles. As a ceremonial piece, the mace represented power but was not considered to function as a practical weapon and was, indeed, generally highly decorated and balanced for carrying rather than for striking.

The practical purposes, by tradition, are rather amusing. It is said that college dignitaries were often lax about attending those functions they were expected to attend. On occasion, notorious slackers were called upon by the college beadle and reminded of the upcoming occasion. Should the dignitary prove reluctant to do his duty, the beadle, properly armed with his mace, was expected to "compel the attendance" of the truant. It is probable that the custom of the mace bearer's following the president or chancellor of a college or university in a procession to a ceremony is a hold-over of this "compelling;" just why the bearer leads the way from the ceremony is not quite so clear. Perhaps, his duty completed, he expects the dignitary to find his own way home. The notion that the mace is used to protect the head of an institution is apocryphal, most likely, though there was a case in the 1970s when an elderly professor at the University of Texas gained nationwide attention by striking, in the name of law and order, an unruly spectator with an especially ornate mace.

ORIENTATION . . .

Orientation is a helpful way to get acquainted with Morningside College. For all those incoming freshmen — It's a way to meet new people and start to settle in. The theme for Orientation this year was ORIENTATION . . . Out of This World. Directors were Sara Ulven and Dave Borrink.

The Orientation schedule went as follows: Saturday, August 24 — Movie and pool party; Sunday — Anything-Goes Olympics, a picnic, and a dance; Monday — Registration and Presidents' Banana Split Party.

This is a good way for organizations to recruit freshmen into their groups. Orientation was fun and unique for everyone that participated.

Excitement has this crowd enhanced with the speaker.

Dances are popular among college students. Yet you see a large variety of things going on other than dancing.

The Talent Show brought in Papal Pounder (Tom Sweeney) being attacked by The Grizz (Paul Niebuhr) while Lawrence of Morningside (Brian Luther) is thrown out of the ring.

Was that really necessary? Asks Marsha Ryan. Linda Hoogensen, Maria Haack, Shaunda Bowen, and Bryan Stearns also participated in the Pie-throwing contest.

Opportunity Pass It on

Phone-A-Rama was held October 27 thru November 14 this year. The goal of 110,000 was surpassed with a total of $ 126,440 pledged by college alumni. Last year $ 112,000 was pledged.

There were 260 student, faculty, staff, and alumni formed teams to conduct the telephoning during the event, and several local businesses donated prizes for the callers.

Russ Wilson, coordinator of Phone-A-Rama said, "All funds raised through the event are earmarked for financial aid to students . . . The Phone-A-Rama is a community effort that involves all of these people working together on behalf of the college, and I think that's pretty tremendous."

The Good Woman of Setzuan Cast

The Good Woman of Setzuan

The Good Woman of Setzuan is the remarkable tale of three gods' search for one good person. It was written in Scandinavia in the late thirties by Bertolt Brecht, and first performed in the United States at Hamline University in St. Paul, Minnesota in 1948. The play combines the soft lyric quality of Brecht's cabaret songs with his revolutionary staging techniques, and is considered a classic of modern theatrical convention.

Alpha Kappa Delta (AKD) is the National Sociological Honor Society. The Morningside chapter of AKD was established to promote interest in sociology and to examine social problems of the day. The national organization of AKD sponsors programs for students to present ideas of sociological concern. Some students are able to publish their ideas in AKD's student journal.

Members who have interviewed for jobs report that prospective employers regard their membership in AKD as a "big plus." Another practical benefit of membership is eligibility for the Federal Civil Service Commission's GS-7 rank rather than the GS-5 rank normally assigned for those with a Bachelor's Degree. Membership also qualifies the student better for financial benefits in the form of fellowships and scholarships. Those admitted to AKD receive a handsome certificate acknowledging their membership and a one-year subscription to the excellent sociological journal, SOCIOLOGICAL INQUIRY.

To join AKD, you must have taken at least 10 hours of sociology courses with a minimum 3.00 overall grade point average.

If you are interested in AKD, please contact Dr. Richard Bobys in the Department of Sociology and Criminal Justice.

Greek Councils

Making the move from a graduating senior to an incoming freshman is a big step. Morningside College helps students make the adjustment to college life by offering a wide variety of extra-curricular activities and organizations for your involvement.

The Greek system is one such organization that offers involvement as its key to success. Morningside College has three international fraternities: Delta Sigma Phi, Alpha Tau Delta, and Tau Kappa Epsilon, and two international sororities: Alpha Delta Pi and Alpha Omicron Pi.

Some of the Greeks activities consist of college and community service projects, Greek week, Christmas parties, formals, and exchanges. On campus the Greeks are involved in athletics, student government, intramurals, honor societies, the dean's list, CBC, student ambassadors, orientation and more.

Greek Week Annual Festivities

were held this year from Monday March 10 through Saturday March 15. The Banquet started the week off on Monday where Denis Sailer and Alicia Wessendorf were selected as Greek Man and Woman of the Year respectively. The winners were nominated by their chapters and voted on by the entire Greek system. Individual awards were also presented to two members in each of the college's five sororities and fraternities. The sorority and fraternity chapter boasting the highest grade point average were also recognized. They were Alpha Omicron Pi and Alpha Tau Delta.

Other events of the week included a "Greek Party" Wednesday at the Cellar, the ceremonial painting of the bench in front of Lewis Hall Thursday, with a road rally near Jacobsen Science Building to follow, and concluding with a dance in the Commons on Saturday featuring the music of "Zig Zag."

Greek Week is sponsored by the Panhellenic and Interfraternity Councils representing the Greeks on campus.

Sig Eps Reorganize

Morningside's Sigma Phi Epsilon fraternity has changed its name and its charter. What was once Sigma Phi Epsilon, a national fraternity, is now the local fraternity Alpha Tau Delta.

President Eric Boe believes that this was a good move for the fraternity from a financial position. One of the main reasons that the Sig Ep's chose to go local was because of the economic position of the chapter. The costs of belonging to a national fraternity have increased dramatically in the 29 years the Sig Ep's have existed at Morningside, and, along with the rising cost of college, became out of reach for many students interested.

Since the chapter has become a local one, many improvements have been made. The college has helped paint the chapter house at 3716 Garretson, and provided draperies for the lounges. The men of Alpha Tau Delta have also been able to accumulate new furniture and a new stove for the house.

With the Alpha Tau Delta's trying to get organized as a new chapter, many activities and photos of events were not able to be gathered at this time. The Sioux hopes that next year the Alpha Tau Delta's will be well represented in the Greek section. Thanks to John James — Collegian Reporter Staff Writer for his article 'Sig Eps Reorganize.'

TKE's

Tau Kappa Epsilon was established on Morningside College in 1955. Since its founding in 1899, TKE has as its goal high standards of scholarship and community service.

As a fraternity, we try to make the most of our college years. To attain our goal we help each other to maintain high academic standards. TKE also gives individuals a chance to experience leadership and cooperation.

St. Jude's Children's Hospital is the national charity for TKE. Every year we sponsor a keg roll to USD to raise funds for St. Jude's. We also assist in many local community service projects.

But a fraternity isn't all work. Many of our members are involved in extracurricular activities, such as: football, tennis, golf, the CR, CBC, and others.

Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority

This has been an exciting year for the Theta Chi Chapter of Alpha Omicron Pi, as it is our Twentieth Anniversary.

First semester started with a high step when we hosted the Marching Cobras. Then came the Homecoming parade and the Cornbowl parade, in which our joint float with Tau Kappa Epsilon fraternity won second prize. At Christmas the Morningside Greek system has a Christmas party for under privileged children at the AOPi house. The Christmas cozy was held at Howard Johnson's.

We've sponsored many fundraising activities for our philanthropy, Arthritis Research, this year. We served our annual Turkey Dinner Raffle in which we raised $57.00 and during SHEAF Week in February, we raised $60.00 for our philanthropy. We hosted an Alumni Brunch October 20 and held our annual Barn Ball at the Rasmus farm. We were kept busy by February follies at "The Cellar," the Twentieth birthday celebration of our chapter, Greek Week, Inspiration Week and Rose Formal at the Hilton.

The year in review: 1985-86 school year saw many interesting historical phases in America and around the world. The Geneva Convention between the Soviet nation and the United States. The Black Apartheid in South America. Terrorism with Khomeni leading to the air attack by the U.S. Air Force.

Tragedy occurred when NASA selected a school teacher to be the first civilian in space. Seconds after the space shuttle launched, it exploded. A formal investigation was instigated by President Reagan.

Many fundraising projects were sponsored this year by musicians in hopes of raising funds for starving people in Ethiopia and Africa. Such concerts as Live Aid and Farm Aid were sponsored.

Pre-registration means lines and the only way to make the best of it is to Be Patient!!

Opposite Page:

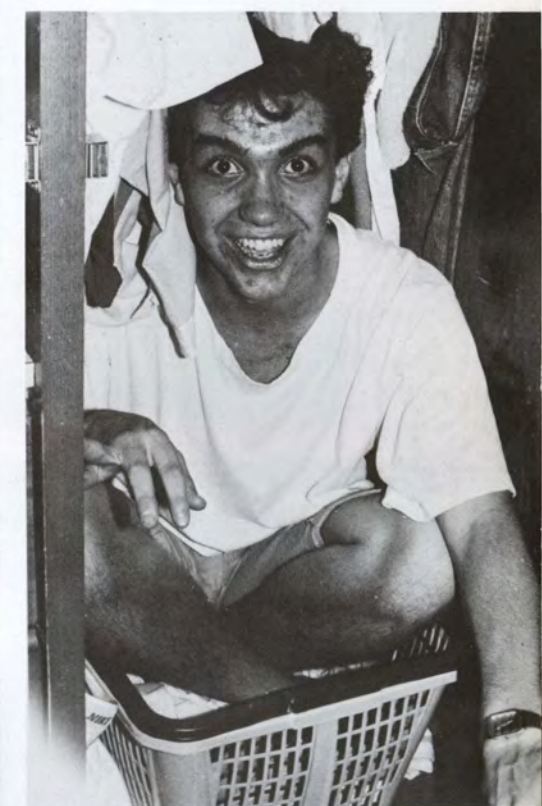

Matt Miller, junior, takes advantage of Morningside's subscription to the Chicago Tribune.

Monte Christenson, sophomore, is ready for the cleaners, as he waits inside his laundry basket.

Polly Carmichael, senior, captured in her dorm room.

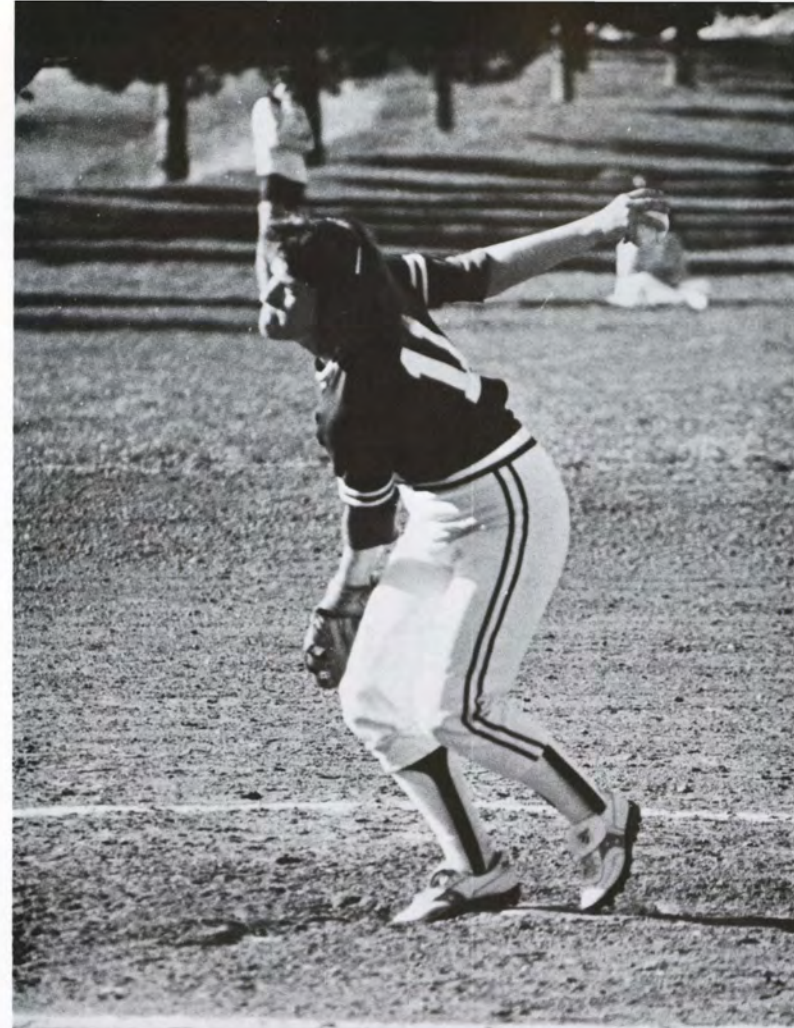

Bob Geldhoff, the person who initiated the Live Aid Concert, received a Nobel Peace Prize for his efforts. Country Western Singers put on a Farm Aid to help America's farmers through the farm crisis. Such sponsors included Willie Nelson and John Cougar Mellencamp. Other fundraising drives included "Hands Across America" and Sports Aid which was mainly sponsored in Europe.

Major sports events for the year included the baseball showdown in Missouri between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Kansas City Royals. The Cardinals were victorious. Football heroes were the Chicago Bears with their Super Bowl Shuffle. The Boston Celtics took the Basketball Crown.

New Television shows included Golden Girls, Cosby Show, 1986, Miami Vice, and the Mini Series North and South Books I and II. Movie highlights were Rocky IV, The Color Purple, Short Circuit, to name a few.

The renovation of Lewis Hall was an obstacle for a while this year, but the outcome is great!

Morningside provides many activities, and Golf is one of them. If you are interested, find out how you can get involved. Carlynn Baerenwald shows her teeing form.

"There are plenty of chairs" says Laura Johnson as she pulls one up to sit with Becky Walz, Mary Kottmann, Susan Barker, Beth Lund at the Plex Christmas Party.

Setting up is the key for a good take-off in track.

Yearbooks Are Important

Another school year has come and gone. The Sioux Staff was again small. I hope that next year more people get involved in the Sioux. It is a big process that involves working the entire year for completion. New faces and ideas are always welcome. Without people to express their experiences, the yearbook cannot fairly portray life at Morningside.

Every year is going to be different, because of the people who are here. It is the individuals that make things happen. So as an individual — find out what you can do, to help portray the year. Even if it's just to be there when pictures are taken, or to write an article, every thing will help. Help to personalize the 1986-87 Sioux yearbook by letting the editors know that you care. By showing them you are concerned as to who is portrayed and what topics are explored. The Sioux staff cannot do their job without you — The People — of Morningside College.

Questions were risen this year as to whether or not Morningside should continue to have a yearbook. Personally, I hope that they will never take it away. Having been the Editor for the past two years, I can see the importance of a yearbook. To most people they are not something that is thought about until they come out in a book form. But, they are brought out later. How many of you have taken out your high school yearbook at least once since you left there? How many have gotten it out to show friends that you made here at Morningside? Almost all of us that have a high school yearbook have gotten it out for one reason or another. The same with a college yearbook. The yearbook is meant to be of greatest value after you have left and moved on to another aspect in your life. Think about this the next time you are asked to be a part of a yearbook staff, or just asked if you would like to buy a book. The impact of the book is not going to be as great as you would like the minute it comes out or even one year later, but several years down the line, you'll wish you had one.

I would like to personally thank everyone who participated in making this book possible. Starting with Jill Hanson — Chief Photographer. A yearbook just can't be made without pictures! Randee Ball — Staff Artist. For last year and this year, sharing your talents with the Sioux. Michele and Tim Davis for managing the advertising and sales aspects of the Sioux. Doug Smith, Joyce Dawson, and Mark Gambaiana for all the help with last minute pictures and details. I couldn't have finished the book without your help. Teresa Ronnfeldt — Taylor Publishing Representative for the many hours you spent with me patiently. And to all the faculty, administration, staff for your patience and understanding. And to you, my fellow students, for whom this book could not have been produced without you.

Sincerely,
Stacy DeLong
Sioux Editor

Colophon

The 1985-86 Sioux Yearbook was planned, designed, and prepared by the yearbook staff of Morningside College.

We decided to use 30 point Korinna for our headlines and 18 point for our subheads. All of our copy is 10 point Korinna with captions set in 8 point. All halftones used a 150 point line screen printed on 80 pound matte paper. Our cover consisted of 120 point Binders Board with a red fabrikoid material onto which an original theme design was applied through a silk-screen process. The applied silkscreen was ivory with names stamped in black foil. Our cover was also grained and embossed with a Mission Grain. Our endsheets were ivory with no design. Bindings were Smyth sewn, rounded and backed.

We sold 300 copies of the 184 page Sioux which was printed by Taylor Publishing Company, 1550 West Mockingbird Lane, Dallas, Texas. We sold each copy of the Sioux for $10.00. The remaining balance came from our advertising revenue and Student Government. These funds were used to cover printing and photography expenses.
