NUMBER TWO

High Attendance at Homecoming

With the number of returning alumni the highest in years the 39th annual Homecoming at Morningside was an especially happy affair.

The pep rally on Bass Field on Thursday night opened the celebration. The fuel for the bonfire this year consisted of "death traps" (discarded ice boxes) collected in a safety drive by the Disabled American Veterans.

the Homecoming's afternoon. At five they began to gather at Dimmitt Hall for a visiting hour and a short meeting of the Alumni Association at which the newly elected officers were installed. Edgar McCracken '38 took over the gavel from Louis Croston '30, and is the 1953-54 president. Merle Kingsbury '30 was installed president-elect, Bernice Larson Thompson '38, first vice-president, Anita Haafke Anderson '38, second vice-president. Lillian Pickersgill '41 and Ira Gwinn '22 were re-elected secretary and treasurer. Elaine Barnt Rogers '25, Russell Pecaut '24 and Garry Wall-

James I. Dolliver '15, United States congressman, was the speaker at the Homecoming church service on Sunday morning in Grace Church. Wilson Clark '17 introduced the speaker. Don Kelsey '49 sang the offertory solo.

The Sunday service ended the 1953 Homecoming for the visitors, but for the students it lasted one more day due to a holiday that was granted them. Dr. Roadman announced that it was given them because of the way the team played and because of the "gratifying preparations for homecoming events

Miss Morningside of 1953 and Her Court

The Homecoming Dance in Allee gym on Friday night was the setting for the crowning of Miss Morningside of 1953 by Dr. Roadman. Judy Larsen of Sioux City, a physical education major, received the honor. She succeeds Mary Claire Gunderson, the Miss Morningside of 1952. The Queen's attendants were Pat Grube and Marilyn Goodwin of Sioux City, and Joyce Ford of Spirit Lake, Iowa.

Saturday morning the parade of floats, cars and bands, about fifty units, moved through Morningside and downtown Sioux City. Kappa Zeta Chi's spectacular hopping rabbit float took the first prize with Alpha Tau Delta's entry winning second and Gamma Iota Alpha's placing third.

Well attended luncheons and open houses of the various campus organizations filled man '41 were elected to three years terms on the executive committee. Miss Ethel Murray '09, Fred Share '25, Don Leopold '46 and Mark McLarnan '31, are hold-over members of the committee. Patricia Warner Coriden '40 was in charge of the buffet dinner which was served in Dimmitt Hall dining room at six p. m.

The game with South Dakota State College was the high point of the day and the valiant Maroons, though defeated by two points, kept the Homecoming crowd thrilled and proud by their brilliant playing against heavy odds.

After the game an open house was held at the new student union in the men's dormitory. 250 alumni renewed friendships over coffee and doughnuts served by the alumni executive committee.

made by the student body and its executive council while still keeping their class schedule intact."

Dr. Hawthorne Honored

Dr. Hawthorn, professor of sociology, has had his latest book designated by the United Nation's General Assembly as being representative of what American sociologists are saying about the U. N. The book is entitled "Korean Prelude to Catastrophe or Consumation?", and was published in May. It will be translated into all of the languages represented by members of the international organization. It is a sociological study of the Korean crisis in relation to a peaceful, four-freedom world.

Achievement Awards For Outstanding Morningsiders

The Alumni Living Endowment Committee has voted to sponsor a program of achievement awards for Morningsiders. Action was taken at the committee's October meeting on the basis of a sub-committee report prepared by Harold P. Winter of Cincinnati and concurred in by Dr. Earl A. Roadman and Leon E. Hickman. The Plan adopted is based upon a study of similar achievement awards made by a great many universities and colleges.

Four achievement awards will be presented each year hereafter. This year one each will be chosen from the Classes of 1929, 1924 and 1919 and a fourth from the Classes of 1914, 1909 and 1904 grouped as a unit. A year later the awards will be distributed among four other classes, always on their twenty-fifth, thirtieth, thirty-fifth, fortieth, forty-fifth and fiftieth anniversaries. The achievement awards will be presented on Alumni Day at graduation time and the first awards will be given next spring. Those who are so honored will be there in person to receive the distinction.

The awards are to be given to those who best personify the ideals of Morningside in their respective communities. Each person voting for a candidate is to decide for himself the standards by which to judge who has best won his "M" in life. Men and women are equally eligible and all phases of achievement are to be considered, business, community and home activities as well as anything else that indicates excellence in life.

Elsewhere in this issue you will find the names of all those persons now living who graduated in the classes to be honored next spring. Every recipient of this issue of "The Morningsider" is urged to cast his ballot for three persons in each class and to forward the ballot to "The Morningsider". It is not necessary to vote for three persons from each class if one is not so disposed but no votes will be recognized which are cast for members of other classes.

These alumni votes will be tallied by a committee appointed by the Living Endowment Committee and the five ranking candidates in each of the four groups will become the nominees. With the January issue of "The Morningsider" there will be enclosed a biographical sketch of each of the twenty nominees. On the basis of this data the members of the Class of 1929 will be asked to vote on which of the five nominees from that class is to receive the achievement award and the Classes of 1924, 1919, 1914, 1909 and 1904 will vote similarly on their representative.

The alumni thus chosen by this democratic process will be recognized on Alumni Day by an achievement award which, it is hoped, will become one of the highest honors that a Morningsider can win.

Third Annual Band Day

Almost 2000 young musicians from 25 high schools were in attendance at the third annual Band Day in the stadium at the Morningside-North Dakota State game. Between halves of the game the bands covered the football field as they played in massed concert under the baton of Harold Walter, composer and conductor, from Seymour, Indiana. It was a colorful, unforgettable spectacle, and praise is due Robert Lowry, band director at the college, for his organization of the event.

Football Season Ends

Morningside gridders ended their season on Nov. 7, in the breath taking game with South Dakota State. An inspired team, though a two point loser, kept the Homecoming crowd in a frenzy with its sensational performance.

The Maroons ended the year with a 2 and 4 conference mark, but the fine fighting spirit of the small in numbers team has kept the fans cheering all season.

Basketball Clinic

The annual Morningside College Basketball Clinic will be held in Allee gym on Saturday, Nov. 28. The featured guest will be Forrest Anderson, basketball coach at Bradley University, Peoria, Ill. Merle Shafenberg of Hinton, recipient of last year's Journal-Tribune Coach of the Year award and Lyle Quinn, executive secretary of Iowa High School Athletic Association will be on the program. The day long meeting will end with a double header. Morningside will open its season in a game against Westmar following a game between Rock Valley and LeMars high schools.

Basketball Prospects

The basketball squad in its first full week of practice will have its work cut out for it this year. Living up to past results, finding a replacement for high scoring center, Ray Knauer, and trying to get adequate rebounding strength will be Coach A. W. Buckingham's problems.

Buckingham says that the team has been showing plenty of hustle and he looks for another interesting and successful season. Returning lettermen are Dick Norman, Shelby, Iowa; Bob Hussey, Albert City; Wilbur Long, St. Louis, Mo.; Virgil Barrett, Lakota, and Bill Ide and Buck Miller, Sioux City. Reserves from last year's team are Al and Ed Brunsting of Hull, Dave Vander Berg of Sioux Center, Don Verdoorn, Paul Noble and Chuck Heldridge of Sioux City. Two junior college transfers complete the squad. They are Don Van Der Wiede from Orange City Junior College and Bill Holsclaw from Estherville Junior College.
