Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Jones

A. W. Jones, Cherokee banker, has turned over to Morningside College $50,000 worth of northwest Iowa property holdings, to be converted into cash for the college's $250,000 three-story science hall, scheduled to be completed in September.

Mr. Jones was a member of a popular quartet during his days as a student in the Morningside Conservatory.

Dr. Roadman, announcing Mr. Jones' gift after the annual meeting of the college board of trustees, said the science building would be named "The A. W. Jones Hall of Science." Construction of the hall was halted last fall by lack of materials, but was resumed recently.

The board also took action on a pension plan for faculty members, raised tuition rates, adopted a half-million dollar budget for the coming year and stressed the need for a new boys' dormitory and a field house.

Family Dinner to Feature Commencement

Does your family have five or more who have attended Morningside College? If so, you are to be especially honored at Commencement time. The five or more who have attended Morningside from within a family group are invited to be special guests at the Commencement exercises at 10 A. M. Monday, June 2, and to be guests of the College at a special dinner immediately following at the Dormitory. The desire is to be as inclusive as possible (Morningside is never exclusive) within the limits of five. For example, if a father or mother has attended plus two sons or daughters who have attended and then if there are sons-in-law or daughters-in-law who have attended or who are in school at the present time, a family of five would be thereby constituted.

A total of more than one hundred families were found by the committee in charge to be eligible. The names of families herein are given with the hope that any and all others who believe themselves to belong to the large family group will write at once to Mrs. Florence Kingsbury, Secretary of the Alumni Association. It will also be necessary for all who can attend to inform Mrs. Kingsbury in order that luncheon provisions may be adequately planned. It is hoped that there will be approximately three hundred and fifty guests.

College Singers Add to Laurels in "Home" Concert

Morningside College's a cappella choir, back in full concert swing after war's interruption, added to its laurels Thursday night, April 19, when it presented a polished program in Grace Methodist Church auditorium.

Paul MacCollin, director of the choir, and head of the Morningside College Conservatory of Music, led the singers in a program combining works of the earlier masters of religious music with compositions of the contemporary school.

Four soloists who appeared during the intermission period at the concert were: Gladys Logan, conservatory violinist; David Halversen, pianist; Elizabeth MacCollin, soprano, and Emery Stewart, baritone.

The choir had just returned from an intensive tour of northwestern Iowa towns and cities, during which it averaged three concerts a day.

During its spring concert tour the 55-voice choir sang in 20 northwest Iowa towns, including Sioux Rapids, Albert City, Manson, Pocahontas, Eagle Grove, Belmond, Goldfield, Humboldt, Fort Dodge, Britt, Clear Lake, Forest City, Algona, Thompson, Spencer, Emmetsburg, Laurens, Sac City, Clarion and Storm Lake.

DEATHS

Miss H. Elizabeth Loveland

Miss H. Elizabeth Loveland, sister and inseparable companion of Miss Helen Loveland, died April 8 at a nursing home here in Morningside where she had lived since the death of Miss Helen in March, 1946. She had been ill for a long time, and close friends had marveled that she had lingered beyond the life span of her sister.

Funeral services were held in Grace Methodist Church on Friday, April 11, with Rev. John Buthman officiating. The service was planned to be as nearly like that of Miss Helen as possible, with Prof. Robert Van Horne expressing tribute to the faculty. Her resting place is beside her beloved sister in Graceland cemetery.

Bertha Conner Riedesel

Mrs. Lloyd Riedesel (Bertha Conner, '39) died April 1 at Glidden, Ia., victim of a rare ailment, poly multiple neuritis, which baffled medical skill. Funeral services were held at the First Presbyterian Church. Her husband and three children, Sydna Lou, Lynn Ralph and Reyna Maxine, survive her, as well as her father, five brothers, and three sisters.

Bertha majored in both piano and organ while at the Conservatory and was considered one of the best accompanists to study there. Her high scholastic standing brought her membership in Mu Phi Epsilon, national music fraternity. She was also a member of Alpha Sigma social sorority.

A part of the obituary given by Rev. C. Harrison Becker at the funeral service is quoted:

"She was the incarnation of the spirit of music. Since she was 5 years of age, she had given much of her time to this fine accomplishment. She was a splendid interpreter of music, and seldom has anyone been as generous with talent as she was.

"But music was not her exclusive interest. She found a keen delight in performing the routine tasks of the home which to many people seem irksome. She was a leader of women. And she had a supreme talent for friendship. She was deeply religious, and the best of mothers."

A group of Bertha's classmates, including Irene Anderson, Clara Louise McBurney Swanson, Virginia Smith McClain, Birdie Slothower and Mirian Hawthorn Baker, plan to give as a memorial gift to her a cross for the young peoples' worship center of her church.

CLASS NOTES

An address delivered by James I. Dolliver, '15, of Fort Dodge, congressman of the Sixth Iowa district, before the Fair Manager's Association of Iowa and the State Agricultural Convention in Des Moines on December 11, 1946, has been published in pamphlet form. The speech is entitled, "Iowa Contributes to Nation's Progress—One Hundred Years of Statehood Attained by a Commonwealth Founded on Freedom."

William Kirchner, '39, is a cashier of the Richfield State Bank and Trust Company of Minneapolis, Minn., which he has been instrumental in organizing. Bill received his M. A. from the Business School of Harvard University.

A picture appearing in the Sioux City Journal-Tribune the past winter shows Cora Montgomery, '28 (Mrs. Hassan Essat), formerly a resident of Morningside but now of Alhambra, Cal., author of the fiesta play, "Bells of San Gabriel," ringing one of the historic bells of the southern California mission.

J. Le Roy Kuhlmann, '42, writes that he is studying this year at Faith Theological Seminary in Wilmington, Del., preparing for the ministry.

Mrs. T. A. Schneckloth (Lorna McKenney, ex '37) is living in Green Bay, Wis., where her husband is a practicing veterinarian. Although Lorna spent only her freshman year here in '33, transferring to Ames where she majored in home economics, she writes that Morningside gave her some of her happiest memories and that "The Morningsiders" is eagerly read for news of her friends and the faculty. Dr.
Schneckloths have a son, Larry Joe, 5½ years, and Lois Ann, age 2 years.

James N. Dutton, ex '43, who is working on his master's degree in music at Northwestern University, gave a recital recently at Kimball hall, Chicago. Mrs. Dutton, the former Harriette French, ex '44, of Hawarden, accompanied him at the piano.
Mr. (ex '12) and Mrs. W. A. Dutton, his parents, were in Chicago for the recital.

Earl Pollock, ex '49, and Jack Howe, ex
'47, opposed each other in a debate at the University of South Dakota. They participated in two other discussions. Mr. Pollock, a student at the University of Minnesota, spoke on the affirmative side of the question, Resolved; Labor Should be Given a Direct Share in the Management of Industry, and Mr. Howe, a student at South Dakota University, argued the negative.

Mrs. Michael Loftus (Ethel Walker, '02)
in sending birthday congratulations to Miss Dimmitt from Hollywood, Calif., says that Mrs. Will Haggith (Ruby Trimble, '06), whose home is in Vancouver, B. C., has been spending the winter in California.
Ruby's son is an ambassador from Canada in Washington, D. C. Mrs. Loftus' son, Glen, is a minister in Massachusetts, her younger daughter and two children live near her in California, while her older daughter and husband are in government service in Washington. Of Miss Dimmitt's guidance while in college, Ethel writes:
"You have put a whole life into that school and influenced for good thousands of young people. They all have a warm place in their hearts for you as we have. Most of my few "wild oats" were sown there, my first time away from parental restraints, and you were a wise and helpful counselor
—for which I am still grateful."

Mrs. Ray Welterlen (Marie Nicolls, '23) is living in Manchester, Ia., where her husband is county auditor of Delaware county.

The Welterlens have two children, a daughter, Kathryn, age 10, and a son, Craig, almost 4.

Mrs. J. M. McLearn (Beatrice Gary, ex
'08), of Rifle, Colo., writes to Miss Dimmitt that she has two sons, Ralph, living near Palm Springs, Colo., and Jude, who was overseas in the service for two years, now is married and lives near his parents in Colorado.

D. C. Cooper, '16, professor of genetics in the College of Agriculture at the University of Wisconsin, in a congratulatory letter to Miss Dimmitt states that he has found that the Latin which he learned in her classes most useful as it is a basis to taxonomy and scientific terminology. Delmar is still busy publishing scientific papers and results of his research work there at the university. We quote: "Dr. Brink and I have a paper coming out soon in the Botanical Review and another in Genetics.
Thus far, this makes 52 papers to which my name has been attached. I am now working on another one. We have been making a study of the dandelion and a new story turned up. I began examining other material and find the story there also. Dr.
Mysky was here for a visit and urged me to get busy and put it into print. He was very excited about the finding."

Ralph Mahlum, '30, of Long Beach, Calif., is working with and for three state judges in the Second Appellate District Court in Los Angeles, which he state constitutes an extremely busy life. So far he is "still single, footloose and fancy free!
But one never knows, —." He mentions several Morningsiders whom he has met recently, among them Burton (Pete) Hall,
'32; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Feick (Elizabeth James, ex '15); Mr. and Mrs. Bud Paulson (Louise McCracken, '33); Don Pauley, '35; Alvin Montgomery, ex '33, a successful practicing surgeon in Glendale, Calif.

Viola Benz, '25, who is teaching public school music in Dayton, O., has written several musical compositions which are being used in the schools of that city. Her operetta, "Easter in Mother Goose Land," was given by one of the elementary schools.
A cantata, "Rip Van Winkle," was sung in the citywide spring music festival. The chorus parts were sung by 200 fifth and sixth grade children. Solo parts were taken by high school people and speaking parts by a verse speaking choir.

Rear Adm. Thomas Carlyle Anderson,
'08, medical officer in command of the national medical center at Bethesda, Mo.,

"Murder in the Cathedral" Well Received

T. S. Eliot's "Murder in the Cathedral," presented by the speech department, under the direction of Prof. Richard Flowers, Monday and Tuesday nights, April 21-22, at Grace Methodist church, was not the type of stage production which the average first nighter expects. To see the play was to experience a variety of emotions.

The plot centers about the murder of Thomas Becket, archbishop of Canterbury, on his return from France to England in the 12th century. While not essential, knowledge of the historical background and the political implications of the time aids one to appreciate the play.

Mr. Robert Tracy, as the archbishop, turned in a commendable performance. He genuinely portrayed the tired and troubled churchman from the arrival in England to the murder.

The play was one of the finest productions presented before Morningside College in recent years.

Three Maroons Make North Central Cage Team

Morningside College North Central Intercollegiate Athletic Conference championship basketball team placed three men on the all-conference team chosen at a loop meeting in Minneapolis.

After formally voting the cage title to Morningside, faculty representatives, athletic directors and coaches named the following Morningside players on the all-conference team: Robert Held, forward; Gale Stevens, center, and Jack Larson, guard.

Athletic directors and coaches also made schedules for next fall's football season. Present eligibility rules were unchanged and the question of reinstating the freshman rule was discussed but laid over to the December meeting.

Only one amendment was made to conference rules governing competition in basketball. In the future, to be eligible for the loop basketball title, a team must play a minimum of eight or nine games and must play each conference member at least once.

Where a team meets another conference member more than twice the winner of the majority of games will be credited with two victories and no losses for the series, and the loser with two losses but no victories. Thus no team could get credit for more than two conference victories over any other conference member.

Alumni Fete the Conference Champs

Members of Morningside College's three North Central Conference basketball champions, the 1926, 1938 and 1947 quintets, were honored Monday night, April 21, at a banquet at the Student Union building. The College Alumni Association sponsored the event.

Dr. Earl A. Roadman commended the teams for their fine achievements and spoke of plans for the development of Morningsides' athletic department. Other speakers were Les Davis, director of athletics; Honie Rogers, former Maroon basketball mentor; Al Buckingham, present basketball coach, and Gale Stevens, member of the 1947 cage team. Lowell Crippen, coach at Leeds high school, was master of ceremonies.

Dr. Roadman presented the members of the 1947 championship team with small gold basketballs in recognition of their fine work. The school received a beautiful trophy from the North Central Conference for winning the current conference championship. The trophy is on display in the trophy case in Main Hall.

Members of the 1926 team present were Dwight Hauff, Sioux City sporting goods dealer, and Harvey Peterson, superintendent of schools at Sergeant Bluff. The 1938 team was well represented by Honie Rogers, coach of the 1938 team; Gerry Rosenberger, Omaha sporting goods dealer; Walt Olsen, coach at Sheldon, Ia.; Al Strozdas, director of recreation, Sioux City; Russ Kraii, coach at Holstein, and Al Buckingham, present Maroon coach.

Letters of congratulations from Alvin Hancer, coach at Decorah and member of the 1926 team, and Don Michaelson, coach at Jefferson, Ia., and member of the 1938 team, were read at the banquet.

SPORTS NEWS

Baseball—

Spring sports are in full swing at Morningside, with baseball, golf, tennis, and track having their regular schedules. The baseball team has played five games to date and won three; prospects for a good team are bright. This is the first baseball team that Morningside has had since 1923, and the students and faculty are really enjoying their baseball. It seems good to see several hundred fans sitting in the Bass Field bleachers watching the boys play. Coach Les Davis is coaching the baseball team. The May schedule for baseball is:

- May 1—Creighton, there.
- May 8—South Dakota State, there.

Education is the best provider

. . . but it takes PROVIDERS to provide it!

RIGHT NOW, Morningside College, with the best, highest paid faculty in its history, is providing an education for 1,477 students. That's a 143.5 per cent increase over any previous enrollment.

Throughout the past 10 years Morningside College has been operated on a balanced budget. An indebtedness of $350,000 has been paid off, and there isn't an outstanding debt on the books.

Morningside alumni, through the Living Endowment movement, are taking an active part in the success of their Alma Mater. Graduates agree to pay the interest on a "Morningside Bond" of any denomination they choose. Under this plan, for example, an annual contribution of $50 is the equivalent of 5 per cent interest on a $1,000 Bond. A contribution in this manner is really a Living Endowment, for it carries the active support of the donor.

Take part in the progress of your College. Join the steadily growing band of Morningside alumni who, through the Living Endowment program, insure the success of their Alma Mater.
