LISTEN ALUMNI!

Something new has happened; A vital alumni assistance for Morningside College has started. An alumnus offered $1500 if others would join him. His class has taken up his challenge and is securing pledges to match his offer. Two classes of an earlier date have together secured pledges amounting to $1065. They will, without doubt, match the donor's total. Some classes, of course, have not been so fully cultivated. The class of 1915 has $70 pledged in three gifts with promise of much more to come. 1934 has one gift of $50, 1936 has one of $15, and 1932 one of $10. A recent Sioux City Alumni meeting was called to give impetus, organization, and form to this new alumni movement. Class letters are going out from committees formed within the Sioux City residents of the various classes. It was decided that former students should be included in the classes with which they would have graduated.

The eager interest upon the part of former students was well illustrated by the recent meeting of President Roadman and Alex W. Adams of Los Angeles. Mr. Adams was compelled through the illness and death of his father to leave college in the summer of 1905. Although his residence for the past twenty-five years in Los Angeles has brought him few contacts with Morningside people, three most delightful hours were spent in reviewing the earlier history and present interests and work of Mr. Adams' former friends.

This new movement of alumni hope is destined to bring a union of the forces of Sioux City and the Northwest Iowa Conference in laying the perfect foundation for Morningside's future. President Roadman has been working with super-human energy to bring this to pass. Sioux City has responded with fine enthusiasm and with above $75,000 of assistance. The Northwest Iowa Conference is moving up with new outlook and assurance. All alumni and former students will happily join with the one who has led by his offer of $1500 when he said that his first loyalty was to his family, his second to his church, and his third to Morningside College. The stimulus of that type of loyalty will make the Fiftieth year a truly Golden Anniversary and promises a new impetus for the beginning of the second half century of Morningside history.

Morningside. Make yourself and your friends Morningside conscious. Second, by sending the better young people to Morningside—those who will be proud to be alumni. Third, by assisting in this movement for alumni financial aid. Let no alumnus or ex-student forget that he belongs to our alumni group, that he counts one and because he counts one will do all in his power to help. Maybe you can send but $10.00. Send it. A similar gift from each alumnus and ex-student would produce $20,000. Others, like Ben Abou of old, who have been more greatly blessed by a kind Heavenly Father, will give in terms of hundreds of dollars. A school's greatest asset is the helpful and energetic backing of individuals whose ideals include tomorrow.

Will you help? Now is the time to decide. The first of July is just around the corner and your help is needed at once. Why not make out your check now? Make it payable to Morningside College and send it to Mr. T. N. McClure, Bursar, indicating the class of which you are a member. Some classes will answer 100 per cent on the roll call. Will your class do it?

Will you send a student to Morningside this fall?

COACHING SCHOOL

1939 COMMENCEMENT

DEATH CALLS DR. BUSHNELL

The death of Dr. J. J. Bushnell at Ames, Saturday, April 22, marked the loss of a kind, sincere, and jovial friend of the faculty, students, and alumni. No member of the faculty had such wide acquaintance with Northwest Iowa and Sioux City.

Dr. Bushnell has been on the Morningside staff for the past eleven years. He was Dean of Extension for two years and Professor of Bible and Religion for nine years.

The memorial to Dr. Bushnell prepared by Dr. M. E. Graber, Dean of Men, for the Rotary Club of Sioux City is such a fitting tribute that it is given here in full.

John J. Bushnell

As Rotarians we sustain a serious personal loss in the passing of our loyal friend and brother, Doctor John J. Bushnell, for few of us have been as friendly, as cordial, and as devotedly loyal to the ideals of Rotary International as he. Possessed of a jovial nature and a compelling sense of humor John J. chuckled with appreciation of another's joke and was seldom lacking in retaliating with some original humor of his own. John J. was truly and religiously a friend of man. He was deeply loved and revered by his students, his associates on the faculty of Morningside College, and a host of friends through Northwest Iowa. As District Superintendent, minister, and professor his contacts were myriad leaving their impress upon him through the years. Time and again as it was my privilege to visit with him on our way from Rotary he would hail his friends on the street until it seemed that his acquaintances were legion. No one was too inconsequential and no one too self-important to merit his greeting. Then, too, John J. was ever aspiring and studious in his endeavor to Morningside College's Seventh Annual Coaching School will be held at Spirit Lake, Iowa, during the week of August 14-20, 1939, according to Director J. M. Saunderson. This school has become one of the largest of its nature, because of its well-chosen location in the popular lake region.

Dr. Eddie Anderson, newly elected Iowa University football coach, heads the list of grid instructors to be present at the coaching school. Coach Anderson is a graduate of Notre Dame and for the past six years has been coaching at Holy Cross where he has developed many outstanding teams. He will act as head football instructor during the entire coaching session.

To assist Dr. Anderson with football, Jim Harris and Frank Leahy will be in charge of line play. Harris is also new on the coaching staff at Iowa University, having formerly coached under Anderson at Holy Cross College. Leahy is head coach at Boston College.

Coach Dave MacMillan of the University of Minnesota, will head the basketball sessions. He has been at the University since 1927 and has developed some of the most brilliant passing teams in the Western Conference. Assisting Coach MacMillan is Art Schabinger, formerly of Creighton University and also Past President of the American Basketball Coaches.

Frank Cramer, noted authority on athletic linaments and their uses, will also be on the coaching staff.

keep abreast of the times in the fields of his choice, religion, philosophy, and science. On the occasion of his death he was in attendance at the meeting of the Iowa Academy of Science of which he was a member and an attentive listener to reports on the onward march of science.

Above all else John J. was a hero. Stricken with angina pectoris eight years ago and facing death at any moment he did not spend his time in self pity and despair but kept courageously at his teaching and preaching, rarely missing a class or conference through all these years. Every day of living was in preparation for his departure. When asked a few days before his death what he would do upon retirement he smilingly remarked that his retirement would be to Heaven.

His life of courage, industry, and loyalty to lofty ideals serves well its purpose as an example of what men can do and be. May we have more Rotarians like our departed brother, John J.

The executive committee of the Alumni Association has planned with the faculty commencement committee to arrange a Golden Anniversary Commencement. While the major celebrations of the anniversary will be grouped in the week of October 21, Homecoming, special emphasis is also being placed on this commencement.

The enlarged program includes the "New Outlook Days for Women" to which the leading women of Northwest Iowa Methodism have been invited on May 24. The May Festival, on Saturday, May 27, at which time Agora will entertain prospective women students, includes the May Fete as a part of the program.

Members of Zeta Sigma will wish to hear Dr. T. C. Stephens deliver the Honor Society Oration on Wednesday evening, May 31.

Opportunity to hear the College band is provided with the band concerts Saturday, May 27, Friday, June 2, and Monday, June 5. The Senior Concert on Thursday, June 1, and Verdi's "Il Trovatore" given in concert form by the Department of School Music will attract music lovers. The climax of the musical activity will be on Sunday, June 4, with the recital by the Faculty String Quartette in the afternoon and the concert by the Morningside College Choir in the evening.

Milton Wiksell, dramatics director, has selected Milne's "The Romantic Age" as the Commencement play on Friday, June 2.

The activities of Senior-Alumni day are especially attractive. The high light will be the Silver Anniversary luncheon honoring 14 members of the faculty who have spent 25 years or more at Morningside. The alumni are urged to be present to honor these men and women who have had so large a part in building the ideals of Morningside. Few schools can boast of more devotion. These personalities have endeared themselves to every Morningsider. Frank Henderson, '27, Alumni President, promises to provide real entertainment in the kittenball game while "Dave" Brinkman concedes the alumni may win if a "Hoople" umpire can be found.

Marion Fortier Reeder, '27, chairman of the alumni dinner committee, promises the largest crowd ever. Remember "Big Chief" Van Horne, '00, will do his stuff. Ira Gabrielson, '12, will be the alumni speaker.

The Commencement exercises conclude on Tuesday, June 6, with W. W. Waymack, '11, of the Des Moines Register and Tribune as the speaker.

RURAL LIFE CONFERENCE

The third annual Rural Life Conference of Morningside College, sponsored by Morningside College, Iowa Christian Rural Fellowship, Iowa State College and Extension Service, was held in the main hall, Thursday, April 27.

With the theme "Living Democratically in a Chaotic World", the program included addresses by Dr. Harry Terrell, Executive Secretary of the Educational Policy Committee, who discussed the subject "How Do World Affairs Affect Our Lives", and Dr. E. H. Kleinpell, who described "Europe Today".

The afternoon session featured a panel discussion led by Dr. W. H. Stacy. Dr. Sampson, of Buena Vista College, presided.

PRICHARDS AT MORNING-SIDE

Fourteen members of the Prichard family have attended Morningside College and participated in a wide range of activities including athletics, debate, journalism, public speaking, and music.

O. G. Prichard, '10, principal of East High School in Des Moines, was manager of the Sioux while in college. Vernon Prichard went from Morningside to West Point, where he was honored with recognition as an All-American football player. Others of the family to attend Morningside are George Prichard, '13, Onawa attorney; Ralph C. Prichard, '15, Sioux City attorney; Mrs. H. Thompson (Mary Prichard), of Mapleton; and Miss Marian Prichard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Prichard of Schaller.

This list includes three married couples: Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Prichard of Onawa; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Prichard of Lubbock, Texas ('31, '25); and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde H. Prichard of Schaller. Attending Morningside this year are Quinn Prichard, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Prichard; and Barbara Prichard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Prichard. Quinn is a junior and editor of the Collegian Reporter; Barbara is a freshman.

Readers of the Alumni News will be interested to know if other families have Morningside records to rival or surpass this one.

EDUCATIONAL CONFERENCE

The second annual Conference on Educational Problems held Saturday, April 2, at the Women's Residence Halls and devoted principally to problems in the small high schools, was reported to have been very successful.

Two principal lecturers were Dr. K. O. Broady, professor of School Administration at the University of Nebraska, who talked on "Repairing and Modernizing the School Plant", and on "Meeting Curriculum Problems", and Dr. Ruben T. Shaw, president of the National Education Association, who discussed "The Place of the Small School in American Democracy".

Approximately 85 persons registered for the conference, hailing from the following towns: Little Sioux, Whiting, Everly, Kingsley, Hartley, Onawa, Ogden, Schleswig, Dunlap, Storm Lake, Merville, Manilla, Sanborn, Sloan, Missouri Valley, Soldier, Hawarden, South Sioux City, Nebr., Oto, Mapleton, Sheldon, Cushing, LeMars, Hinton, Sutherland, Primghar, Spencer. In addition there were 12 Sioux City teachers, 11 Morningside College professors and 17 Morningside students in attendance.

MORNINGSIDE COLLEGE CHOIR SPRING TOUR

This year's spring tour of the Morningside College Methodist choir included twenty-three engagements in a number of high schools and churches in Northwest Iowa and was even more successful than tours of the past.

The first concert, at Sheldon, was outstanding for the representation of Morningside alumni and vacationing students; but no concert was presented without a grateful group of Morningside followers.

The men's quartet thrilled audiences at the Rockwell City women's reformatory and Emmetsburg high school. As usual the audiences called for encore after encore and were only satisfied when the popular group exhausted their repertoire.

Some other cities playing host to the singers were Ft. Dodge, Storm Lake, Algonia, Emmetsburg and Spencer. A severe change in weather forced a slight revision of the original itinerary.

MORNINGSIDE ALUMNI SEND CHILDREN TO M. C.

When Morningside was newer, parents of some students now attending college walked through the same halls, studied the same subjects, and frolicked in similar fashion. These alumni must hold Morningside high, to send their sons and daughters back. Glance over the following names and see how many you recall. The parent's or parents' names are followed by those of their children.

Mr. L. R. Chapman, Robert; Mr. A. S. Crabbe, Daryle; Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Curry, Charles; Mrs. Elizabeth James Feick, Bob; Mr. R. H. Garlock, Brown; Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Garretson (Lela Schellinger), Homer; Mrs. George Gasink (Maude Hatter), Virginia and Frances; Mrs. George Green, Sr. (Marie Wood), George; Mr. H. Milo Hall, Ardis; Mr. J. F. Haskins, Fuller; Mr. Benjamin Held, Joyce, Hazel and Carol; Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Hicks, Sr., Earl; Mrs. George Iseminger (Ruth Bailey), George, Jr.; Mr. Harvey H. Harrison, Alta Claire; Mr. Homer W. Johnson, Helen; Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Kingsbury (Florence Montgomery), Nancy; Mr. and Mrs. John D. Kolp (Marie Sebern), John and Kathlyn; Mrs. E. L. Lundquist (Iowa Cisne), Margaret; Mr. and Mrs. John V. Madison (Anna L. Beard), Kathryn; Dr. and Mrs. L. M. Mahood (Hazel Siman), Lewis; Mr. R. A. Moor, Deon; Mr. George W. Prichard, Barbara; Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Prichard (Etta Haeitz), Quintin; Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Schatz (Isobel Wehb), Kathleen; Mr. George E. Schneider, Maurice; Mrs. H. G. BAND TRIP

The Morningside College Band returned March 31 from a four-day tour, an annual event. Fourteen concerts were played at the following towns: Mapleton, Schleswig, Peterson, Rembrandt, Laurens, Ruthven, Lake Park, Ocheyedon, Milford, Everly, Hartley, Remsen, Orange City and Akron.

The concerts consisted of overtures, marches, popular selections including a special arrangement of "Deep Purple" and another clever number composed especially for this trip by Everett Timm, the band director. This number, called "A Day at the County Fair", musically portrays the happenings of an eighteen-year-old boy attending the fair.

SUMMER MUSIC CAMP

For the eleventh summer young people interested in training for musical careers will flock to the Lake Okoboji Summer Music Camp for six weeks' intensive study under some of the Midwest's foremost musicians. From modest beginnings, the camp has grown steadily under the leadership of Paul MacCollin and Leo Kucinski. Students have discovered that at Okoboji they can put their summers to two uses—serious professional study, and a delightful out-of-doors vacation.

COMPREHENSIVE EXAMINATIONS

Three seniors, Robert Rohwer, Miriam Hawthorn, and Charels Seward took comprehensive examinations in their chosen field of concentration on April 29. The comprehensive examination is a new feature which gives a senior the opportunity to attain educational perspective and to test his mastery of his chosen field.

Mr. Rohwer's examination included a survey of Economics, Sociology and History under the chairmanship of Mr. Miller. Miss Hawthorn took her examination in Diversified Social Science and English of which Mr. Beyer was the chairman. Dean Johnson administered the examination to Mr. Seward in Philosophy, Religion and Sociology.

The examinations included six hours of writing divided into two three-hour periods. Those students who pass creditably will be recognized by honorable mention at graduation.

HELP NEEDED TO SUPPLY ALUMNI ADDRESSES

Lost addresses are the plague of the Alumni Office. It will be very helpful if anyone can supply missing addresses. Please keep us informed as you move. It will require but a penny postal card and one minute of time.
