The North Iowa Annual Conference has just closed its 106th session.

Probably the most significant action of the Conference related to Morningside and Cornell. The Conference approved the plans for the proposed Conference-wide campaign, which will be conducted in 1963 for the amount of $1,500,000.00, to be divided equally between the two colleges and used by them in capital, or building programs.

The Henry Meyer & Associates firm was employed to direct the campaign.

Our own alumnus, Eddie McCracken, who is co-chairman of the committee directing the campaign, was present at the Conference during the first three critical days and did much in his work among laymen and ministers to assure their confidence in the program. He presented the official statement to the Conference for action and spoke to the motion. His dynamic leadership has been invaluable to us and will be a source of much help in the months to come.

To all those members, both lay and ministerial, of the North Iowa Conference who supported us in this action, I wish to give my sincere thanks and solicit your continued prayerful concern toward the successful completion of the campaign one year hence.

Significant also was the action of the Conference in electing Mr. Leon Hickman, class of '22, as chairman of the Board of Trustees of Morningside College. Mr. Hickman has served on the Board of Trustees for many years and we are looking forward to his leadership with deep anticipation and appreciation.

New Dimensions

We hope you have noticed that the Morningsider has taken on new dimensions.

On the Cover

For 41 years, Mr. Toothaker has played the part of Greathealer in the ceremony initiating seniors into the "Tribe of the Sioux".

The cover picture was taken in one of the gardens at Friendship Haven in Fort Dodge, Iowa, where Ray resides. Long a highly esteemed nurseryman in Sioux City, he laid out the gardens at Friendship Haven, plans the arrangements and supervises their care. His knowledge and love of trees, shrubs and flowers seems unlimited. It is a high privilege to walk in a garden with him.

Hickman is the executive vice president of the Aluminum Company of America. He is a member of the American Pennsylvania Bar Association and is on the committee on corporate law departments in the association's section on corporation, banking and business law. He is very active in the work of the Methodist Church on an area level as well as a local and conference level.

Mrs. Hickman is the former Mayme Hoyt '24. She and Leon live at 829 Osage Road in Pittsburg, Pennsylvania.

The new president of the board said of the College:

"Morningside College will be what we make it. We have a number of choices open to us. In my judgment the most promising is to build the best liberal arts college of medium size that human dedication and money can achieve. In the turbulent days that lie ahead, our way of life will need nothing more than men and women of the breadth of knowledge, wisdom and compassion that can best be achieved in a medium sized Christian college dedicated to the liberal arts. Vocational training and pre-professional courses are important but not as significant as an emphasis on the liberal arts.

"There will be students aplenty in the years ahead if we have a dedicated and competent faculty of Christian teachers and adequate facilities. These are within our reach. Morningside College has long enjoyed an unusual support from Sioux City and other communities of Northwest Iowa, from the Methodist Church and those of other Christian faiths, and from a body of alumni who are steadily increasing in number and influence.

"There is no reason why we should not build at Morningside a Christian liberal arts college of unique significance. I, for one, am committed to the achievement of that goal."

Hickman Delivers Baccalaureate Address

Leon Hickman '22, newly elected president of the College Board of Trustees, delivered the baccalaurate address to the class of 1962 at Grace Church on Sunday, June 3. The title of his address was The Role of the Christian College.

He said that only four percent of the nations young men and women went to college when Morningside was founded, but today thirty five percent are enrolled.

"When Morningside was founded a substantial majority of all college students attended colleges or universities which had been founded by churches," he said.

He went on to say that today sixty percent of all college students are enrolled in municipal or state colleges or universities and according to prediction that figure would rise to eighty percent by 1985.

The speaker said "The church related college can make four valuable contributions:

It can maintain student communities that are relatively small, it can emphasize the liberal arts, it can maintain a freedom from government and it can teach Christian values."

"Without the pressures of graduate work, it should be possible to build a faculty around the concept of great teaching rather than the publication of works of research," he said.

Hickman stated that the great contribution of the liberal arts college to contemporary civilization should be in the social sciences.

Athletic Department Wants Pictures

The Athletic department is seeking pictures of former Morningside Coaches to place in the Saunderson Lounge in Allee gymnasium. Any size is solicited. They will be redone to uniform sizes. Send them to the Athletic Department, Morningside College, in care of Charles Obye.

Lay Cornerstone For Commons

The cornerstone for the Commons building was laid in ceremonies held at 10:30 a. m. Monday, May 14. Following regular chapel services at 10 a. m. at George M. Allee gymnasium, students proceeded to the Commons site for the ceremony.

The small cornerstone box contained various editions of the Collegian Reporter, giving progress of the planning and construction of the Commons. There were also various pictures, a copy of the President's Twelve Year Blueprint, letters from President Palmer, Steve Pohlman, student body president for 1961-62; and A. W. Buckingham, president of the student council at the time of the installation of the first student union, and financial statements concerning the construction of the Commons.

Arrangements have already been made for the opening of the box in 1987, for the 25th anniversary of this June's graduating class. Miles Tommeraasen, executive vice-president of the college stated, "It will be interesting to see how the 'guestimates' of the Morningside future will turn out."

At the Dedicatory services David Bones, Wahoo, Nebraska, student body president, son of Herbert and Maribeth Squires Bones, gave the invocation, and Steve Pohlman, Sibley, Iowa, welcomed those present for the services.

Miles Tommeraasen told of the construction of the Commons and explained the materials placed in the cornerstone box. President J. Richard Palmer spoke on "The Commons". A message from the board of trustees was given by David W. Stewart, president of the board, followed by a benediction by Dr. Allen K. Jackson, chaplain.

Dimmitt Hall

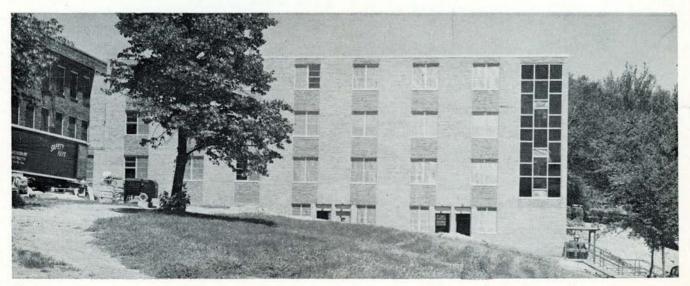

Addition Ready Soon

The new addition to Dimmitt Hall will be ready for occupancy when the 1962-63 school year opens in September.

The unit is four stories high, matching the three floors of the original building with the hill slope allowing a ground level floor. This ground level floor has four apartments for married students. There will be 43 dormitory rooms housing two girls each.

As the accompanying photograph shows, the new unit connects on to the north end of the east wing extending toward Allee Gymnasium along Vine Avenue.

The total cost of the new building is $235,000 and is being financed by the contractor. It will be paid for from funds procured in the Morningside - Cornell joint Campaign to be run in the North Iowa Conference beginning in 1963.

"Medea" Cast Visits Miss Dimmitt

Cast, crews and director of "Medea" by Euripides, recently produced by the Speech and Drama Department, visited the home of Miss Lillian E. Dimmitt on Monday afternoon, March 12, 1962.

The students showed Miss Dimmitt, a Greek scholar, their contemporary adaptations of classical costumes, masks, buskins and gloves designed under the chairmanship of Marie Rowlands.

mitt's living room. Later the play's characters and Greek tradition were discussed by Miss Dimmitt.

Freezing weather out of doors was forgotten in the warmth of Miss Dimmitt's hospitality and the shared enthusiasm for classical drama.

Physical Education at Morningside

A. W. Buckingham '39 is Athletic Director and Director of Public Relations at Morningside College. He received his M. A. degree from Stanford University.

Nearly all college faculties put themselves on record as favoring development of the whole person. This includes physical, intellectual, moral, and spiritual growth. When we speak, therefore, of physical fitness it includes moral, emotional and mental aspects. The Professor of Art, Language or Religion should be just as concerned about the well-being of our youth as physical educators, and on the other hand the physical educator must be concerned with mental, esthetic, and moral values of the student.

A healthy body serves as a basic requirement for creative leadership, for intellectual vigor and personal effectiveness.

Periods in history in which man has advanced most are those in which man has made most progress in the promotion of his health. Progress in health has always been associated with advancement in the various pursuits of learning and with progress in providing for man's material needs. When health has been neglected civilization has declined and mankind has retrogressed.

Educated men and women as responsible citizens should understand the value of good health, vitality and physical fitness and should strive to develop and protect their own health and fitness and that of their family, community and nation. Therefore, we need excellent physical education programs in our colleges.

The Kraus-Weber test in 1955 woke Americans up to the fact that our children and adults were far behind European countries in physical fit-When the Kraus-Weber test ness was given in the United States, only 42% of the students could pass it, while of the same number tested in Europe, 91% of the group passed. Since that time physical fitness has been encouraged and urged from the top level of government; both President Eisenhower and now President Kennedy stressed the fact that onlyif we are physically fit can we as a nation remain strong and carry on our responsibilities as free people in a democratic country.

We need to but look around to see other indications which show us that better health information and practices are a must in our educational programs today.

For instance, there are 750,000 chronic alcoholics in the U.S. today. Also 14.2 billion dollars is spent on personal consumption of alcoholic beverages and tobacco. Drug addiction is a major problem, especially in our larger cities and in our coastal areas. Safety measures are not practices in our homes and on our highways. Accidents are increasing at an appalling rate with approximately 30,000 persons killed annually. Mental hospitals are filled to capacity. Emotional problems, delinquencies, and minor illnesses plague all of us in our everyday living. Better health habits, proper recreation, and adequate exercise could remedy some of these faults and do a great deal to improve the well-being of the individuals in our great nation.

Our modern way of life with mechanization, the automobiles, T. V. and many other mechanical helpers keep us from getting our exercise naturally as we used to some years ago. This means we must teach and provide new ways of getting exercise. The need is great. What are we doing about it?

The National Physical Education Health and Recreation Association suggests that all colleges meet the following requirements:

1. Required medical examination before entering college—then counsel the student on his health needs. (Morningside College requires examination for entering students)

2. Require physical education courses to develop and maintain a high level of physical proficiencies. (Morningside has a one-hour activity requirement each of the semesters of the freshman and sophomore years a total of four semester hours.)

3. An opportunity for health information through courses in physical education, health and nutrition, human anatomy, etc. (Morningside provides such courses on an elective basis. Perhaps part of the entrance examination for colleges should cover basic health information and if the students failed to achieve a prescribed score, then they should be required to take a course in health education designed to provide the minimum basic information.)

4. An opportunity for students to participate regularly in physical exercise. (Morningside has a wellrounded intramural and recreation program for men and women which includes swimming, volley ball, tennis, golf, bowling, touch football, soccer, basketball. In addition, the college provides a varied inter-collegiate athletic program.)

5. Varsity sports facilities should be available to both students and faculty when not in use by varsity teams. (Morningside's program encourages the use of the sports facilities for all students and faculty.)

6. Leadership should be used to serve the fitness of citizens in the local area. (Morningside provides both facilities and personnel in recreational and sports development for the area. For example, our swimming pool is used by many of the area youth groups. Staff members are on sports and recreation committees that work for better sports facilities and programs for our community.

Achieving a reasonable balance in work, study, exercise, rest, and relaxation is of real concern to everyone. In a supervised situation, it is not too difficult to learn good health facts and discipline ourselves accordingly.

The stimulus for physical fitness can be developed by schools, colleges, and other community organizations but it is up to the individual to continue using what he has learned. In other words — it is up to you.

Alum Supports Belief in Athletics by Endowing An Athletic Scholarship

A. R. Van Wyngarden '32, president of Color - Craft Corporation in Indianapolis, Indiana has endowed an athletic scholarship at Morningside. Mrs. Van Wyngarden is the former Nellie Chilton '31. The value of the scholarship in its first year will be approximately one third tuition. Van Wyngarden plans to add to the endowment until the income from it is sufficient to support full tuition.

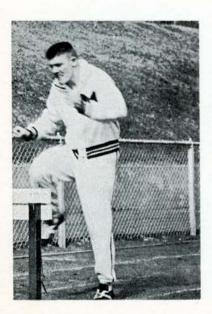

The scholarship is known as the Van Wyngarden Athletic Scholarship and will be in use for the first time in the school year 1962-63. The recipient for the first year is Jim Swanson of Sioux City who broke the 120 high hurdle record of 15.5 shared by Haven Means '28 and Warner Taylor '32. Swanson's time was :15.4.

"Van takes a place among the track immortals of Morningside College by virtue of his performance on the cinder path last spring where he concluded a collegiate track career of record breaking in the high and low hurdles. During the course of the season this fleet timber topper from Manson broke a mark that had stood since 1911, and then broke his own mark twice after that. He went to the national collegiate meet in Chicago last spring, hitch - hiking his way and being trainer, coach, and athlete all in one, and after winning his preliminary race to qualify for the final heat, was edged out of a place by hurdlers who later in the summer placed in Olympic Competition. Track was the only sport in which he participated seriously, but his specialization was justified by the dazzling performances he was able to turn in consistently in heavy competition."

A. R. Van Wyngarden

First Recipient of Van Wyngarden Award

Jim Swanson, a member of the Class of 1963, has been honored by being selected the first recipient of the A. R. Van Wyngarden Athletic Scholarship.

Swanson is from Sioux City, having graduated from Central High School. At Central he played football and participated in track. He was the Drake Relays Champion in the high hurdles in his senior year at Central.

Jim incurred a knee injury in freshman football at Morningside, which has eliminated him from further football competition, and which he has been striving to overcome in his track endeavours. He is known for his highly competitive spirit, a spirit that parallels that of the man setting up the scholarship, Art Van Wyngarden.

Swanson participates in both the high and low hurdles, and is a member of the mile relay team. This spring he broke a long standing school record held jointly by Haven "Hooley" Means '28, and Warner Taylor '32. The record was set in the 120 yard high hurdles. Means set the record time of :15.5 in 1928, and Taylor equalled that time in 1932. This season Swanson posted the time of :15.4.

ATHLETICS

Spring Football

Coach Dewey Halford and assistant Bud Brockman ran the Morningside college football aspirants through their spring paces and reported a turnout of 44 men.

Calisthenics opened the program, and after limbering up, the squads went through signal drills. Then Coach Halford took the backs through handoff drills while Brockman put the linemen through blocking drills.

Some changes in offensive alignment contemplated for next fall were worked over, along with stance, snap count, blocking fundamentals and new plays.

The coaches said the Maroon Chiefs showed enthusiasm and desire. "We'll be looking forward to next fall," said Halford.

Squad drills were held four days each week, and an intersquad game rounded out spring football drills.

In the intersquad game, senior Leo Hupke engineered the Maroon winners to a pair of first-half touchdowns and then unlimbered his talented throwing arm again in the third quarter for the final T. D. Hupke even figured in the scoring done by the Whites when he was knocked down behind his own goal line in the third period for a safety.

As was the custom in the annual spring game, there were no kickoffs, but the Maroons got the first possession of the pigskin and marched all the way down to the goal line before being halted by the Whites.

Track

The Morningside cindermen, under the coaching of "Bud" Brockman, finished the 1962 track season with a new school record, a 100 yard dash time of :9.9, and some very fine relay races.

Jim Swanson, junior, set a school record of :15.4 in the 120 yard high hurdles. (see page 7)

Jerry Nashleanas, also a junior, ran the hundred in :9.9. The school record in the hundred is :9.8, and is held by Fletcher Kettle '31. He set the record in 1930.

Baseball Season With Second Place

The Maroon Chiefs ended its sophomore loaded line-up season by walloping Westmar College 13 to O. The heavy sophomore line-up was headed by two first-year workhorse pitchers. The Chiefs ended with a ten win and fourteen loss record. Lefthander Roger Van Bergen headed the pitchers win column with four while losing two. The sophomore workhorse righthander Fran Doyle finished with three wins and fives losses while posting the best earned run average of 2.78. Doyle was the conference leader in strikeouts by posting 33 in 32 innings.

Handy with the bat was senior Gary Wardlow who had a .375 average for the season. Wardlow hit above the 300 mark for his third year. Gary also led in home runs with 4, in runs batted in with 23, in doubles with 9, and in total hits with 30.

The Chiefs lose three seniors from their squad; 3-yr. lettermen Gary Wardlow and Paul TeStroete and two-year letterman Gordon Kokenge. Returning for next year from the squad will be three juniors and ten sophomores.

The Chiefs tied for second place in the south half of the conference.

Most Improved Football Player

The presentation was made by Don Preston '51, president of the M Club, between halves of a basketball game last winter. Roger is also a star basketball player.

Hanson was picked for honorable mention on the Little All-American team last fall. He is an end, is 6' 3" and weighs 200 pounds. He will graduate next spring (63).

Yockey Attends Postgraduate Course

William C. Yockey, '49, professor of chemistry at Morningside college and consultant for clinical chemistry at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital laboratory, attended a week-long postgraduate course in Practical Pediatric Biochemical Technics at the University of Colorado Medical Center in Denver, Colorado. The workshop, was conducted by the University of Colorado School of Medicine, to develop and advence new techniques for the clinical analysis of very small amounts of human blood and other fluids. This is especially important in pediatric or geriatric work where the sample available may be exceedingly small.

A completely new field of chemistry has developed based on these technics and is referred to as ultramicro chemistry. As many as six or seven different clinical tests may be performed on as little as three or four drops of blood. The results of these tests are very helpful to the doctor in diagnosing the disease of the patient as well as following the course of the disease and the progress of recovery.

The hospital is especially interested in keeping its laboratory supplied with the new type of equipment required for this field and also in having its technicians trained in these procedures. Since this is a new field, there are constant revisions of methods being used and new technics are developed periodically. It is the endeavor of the hospital to make available to the doctors the new developments that are occuring in the laboratory work and supply them with every aid possible in the treatment of disease and anomalies.

Some of the subjects included in the workshop were: new methods of blood collection from infants, blood electrolyte determinations, sweat electrolytes, phenylketonurea, serum salicylates, chromatography, vitamin A and Carotene determinations, and catecholamines in urine.

The results of the workshop program and methods developed will be incorporated into the training program of the laboratory technicians. St. Joseph Mercy Hospital has an accredited school of medical technology which trains several new medical technologists each year.

Class of 1912 Returns Twenty Strong

The class of 1912 set a new record for fifty year reunions when twenty members returned to celebrate the 50th Anniversary of the graduation of their class.

Arriving Friday June 1, they were together at a reception that evening in Dimmitt Hall. On Saturday morning they and their spouses were guests of President and Mrs. Palmer at breakfast in the President's home. At noon Saturday they were the feted guests at the reunion luncheon held in Grace Church. On Saturday evening they attended the annual alumni dinner at the Municipal Auditorium and on Sunday, marched in the academic procession in full regalia, at Commencement exercises.

WHAT'S THIS 2:30 A. M. BUSI-NESS?

From a most reliable source of information we learned that several members of this group, stayed up until 2:30 a.m. Saturday, sorting and counting silver dollars, with a numismatic approach and lots of fun. It should be stated here that the dollars had been bought and paid for (with profit in mind). No games of chance were involved.

DISCOVER DIMMITT HALL CAN A PRISON BE

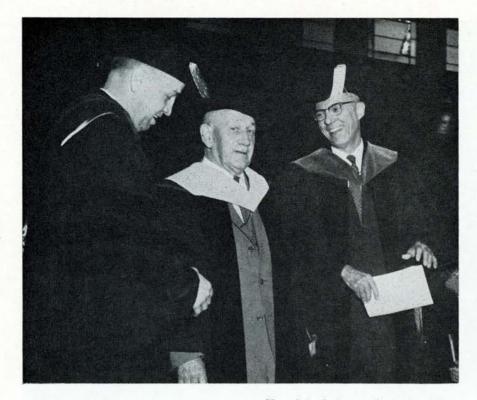

We know that the coeds have been saying this for years, but now we have proof of how you just can't get out of Dimmitt Hall before and after hours.

> Without naming the individuals involved, except to say that one is a noted biologist from Washington, D. C. and the other an avid coin collector from California these two men arose early, with the idea in mind of the California gentleman driving the Washington, D. C. gentleman to the airport, only to discover they were locked in. They tried all the doors and found them locked, windows were too high or too low and they finally resorted to their only hope, they aroused the head resident, Mrs. Bertelsen and were released and off to the airport in time.

It was a joy to have this group on campus.

NEXT YEAR THE CLASS OF 1913

"Doc" Berkstresser Receives Degree

The honorary degree Doctor of Science was conferred on Dr. C. F. Berkstresser ('15) at June Commencement exercises. He was presented for the degree by Dr. Edward Sibley '31.

Dr. Berkstresser received his medical degree from the State University of Iowa and came to Sioux City to set up practice in Morningside. In 1936 he started the health service at the college and has been the college physician since then.

Dr. Sibley said of Dr. Berkstresser, "Since students took up a good share of his time, it was only natural for them to become his major outside interest. Extra special attention is given 'his boys' on the football field and basketball court. "Doc" as many refer to him, is always found on duty on the sidelines. A more loyal backer has not been found."

122 June Graduates

122 seniors were graduated at commencement exercises in Allee gymnasium on Sunday afternoon, June 3.

Nathaniel Leverone of Chicago, founder-chairman of the Automatic Canteen Company of America, was the commencement speaker. He advised the graduates to "keep your faith in people, keep your faith in God and keep your faith in yourself."

An honorary doctor of laws was conferred on Mr. Leverone by Dr. Truman Carl, pastor of St. Paul's Methodist Church in Mason City and a member of the board of trustees.

'62 Class Inducted Into Tribe of Sioux

Members of the class of 1962 were inducted into the "Tribe of the Sioux" at the traditional initiation exercises at the Alumni dinner, June 2nd.

Dick King ('41) Addresses Alumni

Dick King

He predicted — "Some of the weaker ones, (private four year colleges) will pass from the scene as separate private institutions during the next 10 or 20 years as costs rise and competition for the gift dollar increases.

"Most colleges would have disappeared long ago without the support of loyal alumni. The Alumni association as an organized force to support and strengthen the college is an American institution unknown among European universities."

He further stated "Today Morningside alumni are contributing some 20 to 25 per cent of the total support of the college, a decided improvement over a few years ago, but leaving plenty of room for improvement."

REUNION CLASSES FOR JUNE, 1963

Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were teachers at Central High School in Sioux City when Mr. Stewart obtained his law degree and started practicing in Sioux City. Mr. Stewart will continue in his service to Morningside as a Trustee of Honor. He was elected to this position at the April meeting of the board.

Wills and Estates

Response to the new Wills and Estates program in force at Morningside is one of the very encouraging things that has happened this year. Many alumni have informed us that they have put Morningside in their will for a certain amount. As one alumnus said "This amount for Morningside in our will, perpetuates our giving through the years to come".

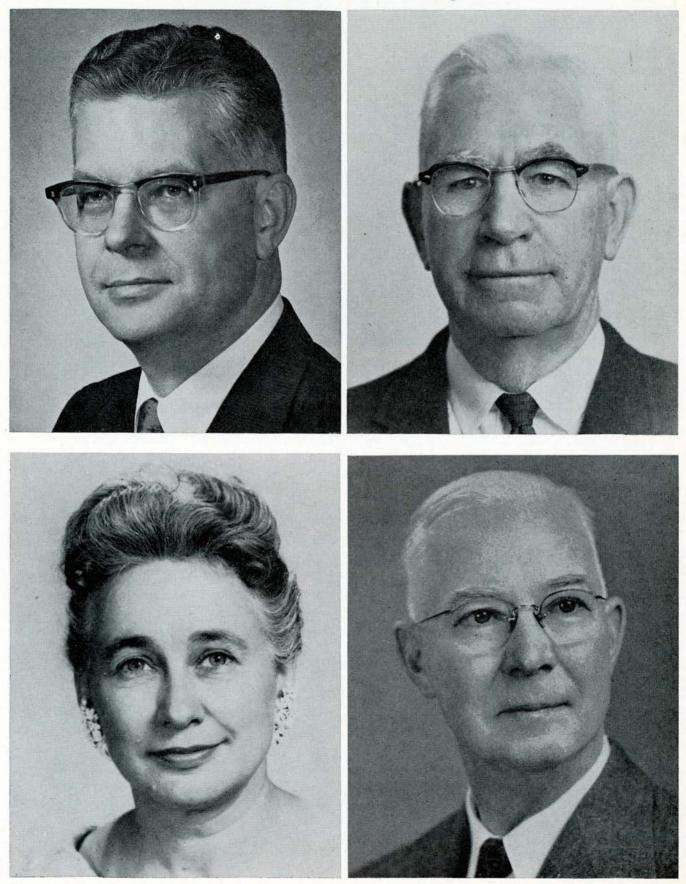

Others have expressed an interest in talking about Estate Planning. Astute planning of an estate can save enough in taxes to provide for a substantial gift to Morningside, and increase the share to the heirs over the amount they would have received through unplanned distribution.

Direct any information or queries to the Alumni Office.

Floyes Beaver Entrekin '33

Floyes Beaver Entrekin of Columbus, Georgia, grew up amidst grinding poverty on a Georgia cotton farm, one of a family of ten children. She worked her way through high school, was offered a scholarship to Morningside College, borrowed $25.00 for transportation and arrived penniless in Sioux City. Working for her room and board, Mrs. Entrekin also worked in department stores for money for clothing. After two years she taught in a rural school, and returned to complete her course and graduate in 1933.

Floyes chose to return to Georgia to teach and work among "her people". She has been first grade teacher, author of children's plays and programs. Her classes and individual pupils have been nationally recognized.

Active in community affairs she is program chairman of the Community Club. She led a movement to have her community represented in the Rose Festival Parade in Thomasville, where her entries won prizes. She also led a drive to get all citizens registered to vote. She was president of the Thomas County Education Association.

While teaching in Coolidge, Georgia she was chosen Coolidge Teacher of the Year. In 1957 she was chosen Georgia "Teacher of the Year" by the Georgia Chamber of Commerce. She was elected delegate to the National Education Association in 1955 and is serving as Chairman of the Public Relations Committee of the Georgia Education Association.

The courage and stead-fastness of Floyes Beaver Entrekin, in defying poverty and discouragement to reach for the education that seemed beyond her grasp has remained with her as she gives of herself and her talents to better the lives of her fellowman.

For 19 years he edited the "North American Boys Work Journal".

Since retirement he has been serving as director of Camp Pittenger for the Society of Crippled Children. The Columbus Dispatch said of him, "The children are enthralled by Klippel's tales of The Sioux Indians____." He is a collector and authority on Indian lore and another hobby is geology.

A member of the North Broadway Church, he has actively served on the Official Board, the Planning Committee, and recently served as Dean of the "University of Life Series". He was Chairman of the Commission on Christian Social Action. Casey Klippel's work with boys has always been closely allied with his personal Christian beliefs. For his Christian concern for the future of youth reaching beyond the responsibilities of professional duty he is recognized as a good Citizen."

Alvah L. Miller '09

Alvah Leslie Miller of Brookfield, Connecticut, came to Morningside College from Marcus, Iowa. He was graduated in 1909 and served for three years, 1909-1912, as state secretary of the state YMCA in North Dakota. After four years he was transferred to Delhi, and after two years there was transferred to the headquarters of the National Council of YMCA's in Calcutta. In 1935 he was appointed World Service Secretary in Palestine.

He was an active member of the Methodist Church both at home and abroad and found time to engage in other important affairs. He was appointed by the British government to the Board of Inquiry for the Punjab and was a member of the Missionary Council there.

His YMCA program and his skill as a mediator prevented many violent clashes between Jews and Arabs within the city of Jerusalem. His skill and statesmanship in bringing together divergent groups made the YMCA the one place where Jews and Arabs still meet in friendly fellowship.

"Especially in India and Palestine he was left his mark of calm judgment and Christian love and tolerance on the lives of many students who will influence human destiny for many generations to come."

Music Camp Now a Home

"An old 'shell' of an Iowa dining hall that echoed for about a quarter century with songs and chatter of music students has been turned into a luxurious year-around home of early American motif. The home is in Brownell Heights, a residential area west of Spirit Lake on the shores of West Okoboji Lake. It nestles among oaks and pines, as did the original dining hall".

The foregoing paragraph is taken from an article of "Picture", a supplement of the Des Moines Sunday Register of March 11, 1962. The building mentioned is the dining hall of the Okoboji Summer Music camp, established in 1927 by Professor Paul McCollin. Leo Kucinski was co-sponsor.

Again quoting from the Sunday Register. "Each summer 64 music students, 32 boys and 32 girls were admitted for weeks of study and practice in the relaxed atmosphere of a lakeside vacation. Students worked in several tiny "practice houses" that dotted the seven acres. They slept in two large dormitories.

"After Professor McCollin died a few years ago, the site was purchased by a real estate dealer. Some land and buildings were sold. The dining hall stood idle"

The present owners have converted the old dining room into a cozy home.

Certainly, the mention of the music camp will bring nostalgic memories to many Morningsiders, and the realization that another era has passed.

Price '51 on Film Assignment

Nelson Price, '51, returned to the United States April 5 from a seven weeks filming assignment in Alaska, India and Africa.

The film is being produced by the Methodist Television, Radio and Film Commission, Nashville, where Price is director of production, to promote missions projects of The Methodist Church. Price served as producer of the motion picture and writer-director for a filmstrip.

The four-man team spent one week at the new Alaska Methodist University in Anchorage, two weeks in the Hyderabad area of India and two weeks in the Katanga, Africa.

The evening following Prices return to Nashville, Mrs. Price gave birth to a baby girl, Debra Leah. The 7 pound, 10 ounce girl is the third child. Debra has a sister, Donna Lynn, 3, and David Brent, 1.

Price is also producer of a new 13 week children's television series released by The Methodist Church entitled, BREAKTHRU. The series is aimed at the 9-11 year old audience and attempts to combine the fantasy viewing desires of the child with a reality situation. The program opens with a dramatic story. At a point of decision, the story is interrupted and four children in the film studio discuss the points raised in the drama.

In reviewing Breakthru, Variety, commented: "'Talking Hands,' the first episode in the Breakthru series . . . was a moving, warm believable segment of life, replete with on and off screen talent."

The New York Times wrote: "In contrast with much of the TV fare thrust upon children, Breakthru is intelligent and has a stimulating, wholesome point of view."
