MORNINGSIDE EXPECTS YOU---HOMECOMING---1940

The student body, faculty, trustees and alumni will join in making this the finest Homecoming in the history of Morningside. Several events deserve a place on "Must do" calendar.

The barbecue on Friday evening will be one of those long remembered affairs according to Wilson Reynolds. Not only will we feast on prime barbecued beef from his majesty "Yehute", but Wilson promises a "blitzkrieg" type of service. All alumni are welcome, tickets twenty-five cents.

Formality, style and beauty will be the keynotes of the coronation of Miss Morningside. Her identity is as yet hidden in the Senior class, but "Gerry" Wallman says whoever she is, the attendants will dazzle your eyes. "Ned" Adams, "M" Club president, will be the lucky man.

"Jim" Bolton promises a bigger and better parade this year, one that starts on time; and one that will furnish color, life and action. The usual route over the downtown streets is planned.

The "M" Club luncheon at noon at the Warrior will be popular with the "M" men. Honie Rogers and "Whitey" Rosenterger are planning a real program. Spirit of former days runs high at these affairs. Make your reservation now with "Honie" at the College.

Of course no Homecoming plan is complete without the football game. This year we play Omaha University. The rejuvenated football team of 1940 plans a revenge for the 1939 defeat and following the setback with South Dakota University last week, is digging in for a real battle.

John Stewart, chairman of the athletic committee warns everyone to be prepared. Saturday will be filled with all the color and glamor that the imagination of administration, faculty, coaching staff and student body can supply.

"Bob" Feller will give a pitching demonstration at the half, showing all the fireworks known to baseball. Other appearances will include the Alumni dinner and Homecoming dance.

Mrs. Marie Wood Green, '13, is chairman of the Homecoming dinner, which this year will honor Miss Lillian E. Dimmitt.

Plans include the presentation to Miss Dimmitt of a sheaf of letters and telegrams from former students and alumni. Miss Dimmitt is the only living person who has met personally and known intimately all of Morningside's 2,500 alumni. Letters or telegrams to Miss Dimmitt for this occasion should be sent to Mrs. Vernon Green, 1029 So. Paxton St., Sioux City, Iowa.

Following the dinner an informal reception will be held in the Drawing Room of the Womens Residence Halls.

Reservations for the dinner may be made with Mrs. Green or at the College.

Arrangements will be made to accommodate spectators at the Homecoming dance. "Gerry" promises good music, beautiful lighting and fun for all, whether you dance or just visit with old friends.

No Homecoming would be complete unless it included a service at Grace Methodist Church. This year the speaker is Rev. Lloyd Scheerer, newly appointed superintendent of the Sheldon district of the Northwest Iowa conference. Professor "Mac" is planning special music for the occasion.

Plan now to be present for every ceremony but do not miss the dinner in honor of Miss Dimmitt. This will be one of the affairs you will remember always.

MAROON FOOTBALL TAKES UPSWING

Football opened at Morningside this fall with 10 returning lettermen, 2 Junior College transfers, and 6 graduates of last year's freshman squad forming the nucleus around which Coach J. M. Saunderson molded his team. There were 10 other gridders returning to complete the squad of 28.

A new line coach to assist Coach Saunderson was also hired this fall, Bernie Scherer, former Nebraska U and Green Bay Packer star, filling this position. Scherer introduced some reforms of his own, which with Saunderson's own knowledge, have improved the play of the Maroons.

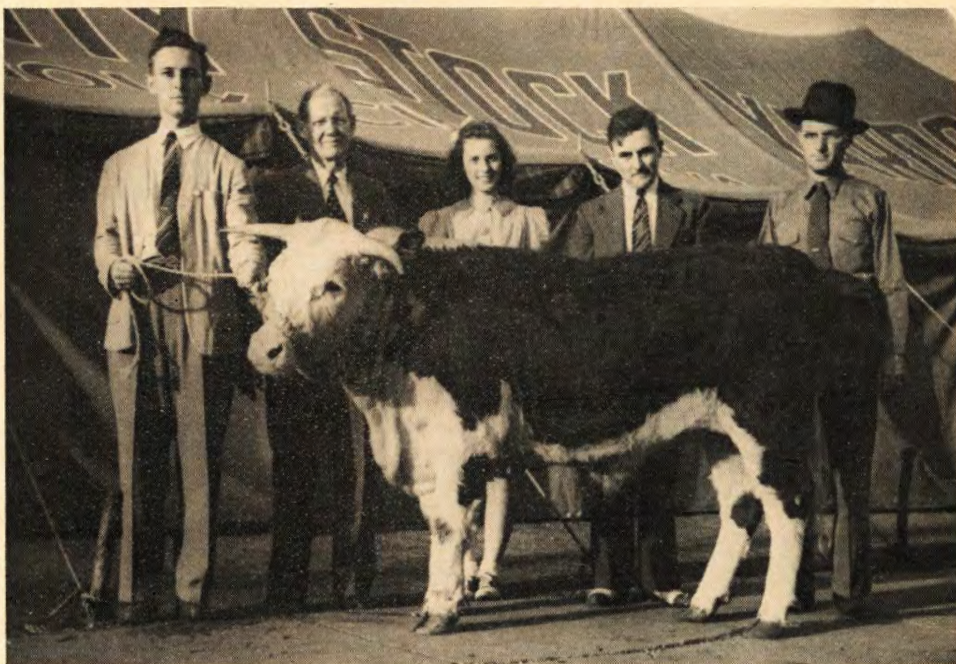

Particularly noticeable at the beginning of the season, was the new attitude which the players and the student body had taken toward football. Long before school started, forecasts were made for a better season than the college had had in several years. This feeling has continued to grow with each performance of the gridders, they themselves being just as peppy and full of spirit as they were on the first day of practice.

In line with the new program, great efforts were directed toward obtaining freshman material. These efforts were rewarded when a squad of 34, largest in the last decade, reported for freshman football. This group includes the cream of last year's high school grid crop of this territory, there being five who played in last year's Iowa high school All-Star game; one All-American center, and one All-State player included.

The Varsity opened the season with an easy victory over the Midland College eleven, by a 26 to 0 count. Dewey Halford and Sterling Logue were the mainstays in the Maroons attack, Halford handling the bulk of the passing and calling plays, while Logue was the big gun in the running plays. The first stringers were removed in the second half after having rolled up a substantial lead, and the second team was allowed to take over.

The Maroons met stiffer opposition the following week, however, when they tangled with the Loras College team, formerly Columbia University, of Dubuque, Iowa. The best that the Maroons were able to do in this tilt was to hold the Duhawks to a 6 to 6 tie. A downpour of rain, which began shortly after the first quarter began and continued for most of the game, slowed the tilt considerably and prevented both teams from opening up with a varied attack. The Duhawks scored first, their marker coming in the second period, while the Maroons were held scoreless until the last minutes of the game when they garnered a touchdown. Both teams attempts at conversions failed, due to the slippery ball.

A repeat performance was given the following week when the South Dakota State eleven held the Maroons to another 6 to 6 tie in the Maroons' first conference tilt. This game was a heartbreaker for the Maroons, for they held the visitors scoreless until the last minute of play, when a tricky reverse pass play by the Staters netted them a touchdown and a tie with the Maroons, who had scored in the second period after a thrilling 85-yard runback of a South Dakota punt by Halford. Dewey carried the ball to the 10 on this run, and Logue tallied the score on line plunges.

Another phase of the football rejuvenation has been the addition of stunts between halves of games. At the first game, Nile Kinnick, Iowa's All-American of last year, gave a punting and passing exhibition and officiated the game.

At the second game, a tumbling exhibition by the crack University of Iowa tumbling team was given, and a novel match trick was performed by the audience. At half-time of the State game, a lengthy fireworks display and the first marching demonstration by the college band were the added attractions.

At all games, the lights have been turned out before the start of the game, the national anthem sung, and players of both teams introduced individually in a spotlight located in the center of the field.

These added features will be continued for the rest of the season, Bob Feller being the next celebrity to entertain. He will give a pitching exhibition between halves of the coming Homecoming game with Omaha U, which will be played here October 26, at 2 o'clock.

ALUMNUS WRITES FROM CHINA

Letter received from T. K. Tsai, Charles City, '05, which was mailed from Shanghai, China on September 19, 1940.

Dear Friends:

Permit me to thank you for keeping me on your mailing list after all these years. Your kindness in remembering me, touches me greatly. After returning to China in 1905 I taught in William Nast College, Kinkiang. Then hearing the call to the ministry, I served as pastor and as district superintendent in Kiangsi Conference of the Methodist Church until just lately. Now I am 72 years old and am retired and due to the war I am staying in Shanghai for the time being. But the bulletins which you send to Kinkiang are forwarded to me, and I greatly enjoy reading them.

Sincerely yours,
T. K. Tsai

MISS DIMMITT ENDS ACTIVITIES AS DEAN

By Ruth Olsen

"After forty-seven years of loyal service to Morningside College, our beloved Dean of Women is retiring from that position with the title of Dean Emeritus and advisor to her successor"

A hush fell over the assembly as the students grasped the realization of the words that had just been spoken. There was a silence of honor and praise, then the students stood in respect of Morningside's most distinguished woman—a woman whose character entitles her to the place which she holds in Who's Who, a woman whose name will always be proudly mentioned in connection with Morningside College, a woman whose sympathetic interest has endeared her to the heart of every student—Miss Lillian English Dimmitt.

Upon her graduation from Illinois Wesleyan, Miss Dimmitt was asked to remain and teach in the college preparatory school.

In February 1893 she came to Morningside as an instructor.

Through many trying years in the history of the institution Miss Dimmitt has remained. When hope was low, her energy, tact and judgment surmounted difficulties; her sympathy gave new courage, her self-sacrifice, new inspiration.

Since 1893, except for the years 1903-04, which she spent at the American School of Classical Studies in Rome, and 1912-13 which she spent finishing work on her Master of Arts degree at Columbia University, Miss Dimmitt has been in our midst as an example of ideal womanhood. She always has been a loyal promoter of college interests and a faithful friend to students. At the present time she knows every alumni of the school well enough to call him by name—a record unequaled. Graduates of the College in enumerating the greatest blessings of their college life list not least among them their privilege of knowing Miss Dimmitt and receiving her advice.

Miss Dimmitt is recognized nationally for her educational and administrative achievements.

You will find her name in Who's Who, Who's Who in American Education, and Who's Who in our American Women. As a college girl Miss Dimmitt was affiliated with Kappa Kappa Gamma, a national sorority. She is an active member in D. A. R., P. E. O., A. A. U. W., and the Woman's Club.

Professionally she is affiliated with the Association of National Deans of Women, Association of American Professors, and the Classical Association of the Mid-West and South.

For ten summers Miss Dimmitt conducted travel tours through Europe. Her extensive knowledge of history, literature and art aided her in interpreting the foreign situations to her groups. She became popular for her excellent talks on "What to Buy in Europe."

During other summers Miss Dimmitt attended Columbia University and completed all course work on her Ph. D. degree.

" . . . As a woman of noble character, high ideals, unselfish motives, broad mind, and great sympathy, she has seldom been equaled. As a teacher she is thorough, conscientious and inspiring. When we pause to think of what she has done for our College and of her far reaching influence, we find that words can but feebly express our appreciation of her true worth."

AVIATION AT MORNINGSIDE

By Dean M. E. Graber

Interest in Aviation is increasing by leaps and bounds in Morningside College. This year, under the auspices of the U. S. Government and in cooperation with Mr. Ed Graham, flight operator, Morningside College is offering Primary Flight training to twenty students and Advanced Flight training to a group of ten students who have completed their training for Private Pilot Licenses.

The ground school work for these courses in Meteorology, Navigation, Aerodynamics, Airplane Engines and Instruments is being offered by the Staff of the Department of Physics. The enrollment in all courses in Aviation offered by Morningside College is seventy and special work is being offered in aviation drafting and general aviation shop training.

The Primary flight students employ 50 H. P. Piper Trainers and the Advanced students fly a 225 H. P. Waco plane.

Graduates of the Primary Course have pursued Secondary or Advanced training for army service, instructor rating and airline pilot operation. Mr. Charles Richard and Mr. Melvin McKnight are now in flight training preliminary to reporting for further training at Randolph Field. Mr. Morgan Harrison of the Class of 1940 is at present studying under a Government Fellowship in Meteorology at the University of Chicago and Mr. Harlan Dewell of the Class of 1940 is employed as an aeronautical engineer with the Martin Airplane Company of Baltimore.

With new equipment in airplanes, engines and instruments the prospects for Aviation at Morningside are very encouraging.

THE CLASS OF 1944

They are a fine bunch. We are glad for the number in the class, which at present is 230, or fifty-five more than last year's total including second semester Freshmen. We are proud of their quality for they are an active and talented class. Here are a few points.

Eight were first division winners in national music contests as soloists. They are Bonnie Stribley, Merrill; Dorothy Dawson and Harriet French, Hawarden; Helen Latch; Ronald Bush, Cherokee; Kenneth Ruby, Storm Lake; Ira Schwarz, Sibley, and Jay Wicker, Hudson, S. D.

Five men on the Freshman football squad scrapped in the recent all-state football team. Charles Dirr, Frank Hazard, Sioux City; Lawrence Wehmeyer, Storm Lake; Orin Goodrich and Lowell Buckmiller of Jefferson, are the men.

In basket ball we have a fine number of boys who went to last year's state tournament. These and other outstanding players include Robert Held and Lamar Jones, Hinton; Laurin Snyder, Sergeant Bluff; Reuben Whitebeaver, Winnebago, Nebraska; William Pepper, Charles Dirr, Gale Stevens, Norman Mathers, and Loren Clark of Sioux City.

In forensics, of the state winning and second place national team from East High, Lois Sernstrom and Wesley Jacobsen are here.

Looking at the highly important group who are children of former Morningsiders we find nearly twenty of the second generation. From Sioux City we find Frances Bridge, Ferne Dunn, Harry Fulton, Duncan Harper, Robert Postin, Paul Satrang, and Roy Schellinger. Others are Edwin Breaw, Humboldt; Faith Buchner, Chicago; Kathryn Deirup, Sergeant Bluff; Edith Harrison, Mary Louise Held, Roberta and Robert Held, Hinton; Ruth Hofman, Vincent; Willo Jean Niemeyer, Hawarden; Belva Osia, Rutland. There may be others whose former connections with the College are not verified at this writing.

The third largest Freshman class in the history of the Women's Residence Halls are proving themselves in many ways. We will have fifty girls this year, as compared with 13 last year. This shows the work of many of our friends out in the territory.

Well, they are here, a good Freshman Class. Now we start to work for the Class of 1945. I know you will work with us.

SIGNS OF PROGRESS

By Dean Paul E. Johnson

When you return to your Alma Mater, you naturally look first for the old landmarks — the old friends, the familiar scenes, the ancient traditions that have been cherished through the years. And these cherished traditions are what make a great history, such as Morningside College, standing stalwart above the shifting sands of time. But would you have your college linger in the past, or substitute past glory for present achievements? You rightly expect your college to keep on making history, that the future may become ever greater as the needs of each time are greater than those of the past.

What are the signs of progress at Morningside College this year? What is new around the campus that returning friends should note at Homecoming time? Here are a few items of progress that will interest you.

1. The best Freshman class in many years. The large 1940 Freshman class of outstanding talents and abilities represent a 37% increase over last year's class. This boosts the total enrollment 15% over last year, and increases the number of students in the Women's Residence Halls to an all-time high.
2. A better reception to the new students, provided by some forty upperclassmen serving as student guides in cooperation with faculty advisers to smooth out the tangles of the first adjustments in college. This program for new students has been in force three years, but this year the advisers and guides are extending the service throughout the first semester with discussions, interviews, and needed encouragement to make the most of college opportunities.
3. New courses in Aviation, offered by Dean Graber's Department of Physics in conjunction with the Government Civil Pilot Training. Thirty-five students learned to fly last year and summer, thirty more are in training now at the new Municipal Airport to be dedicated this week five miles from the campus.

4. Expanded Athletic and Physical Education Program with enlarged coaching and teaching staff. "A game for every student, and every student in a game" is the aim of this broadening recreational program that is captivating the interest of the student body. Additional courses will now make it possible to complete a major in Physical Education and meet the state requirements for a supervisor's certificate in Physical Education.
5. A new course in Field Botany is offered for the first time in Dr. Stephen's Department of Biology by Miss Ruth McDonald, (A. B. Morningside College 1933, M. S. Virginia Polytechnic Institute 1937), who has worked with Dr. Sass of Iowa State College, illustrating his two most recent publications on this subject.
6. A new survey course in Philosophy and Religion called "Introduction to Thought", which seeks to integrate the studies of this division of curriculum by viewing the beliefs and doubts of moderns in perspective. In considering what is true, good, and real, it is hoped that each student may begin to work out his own philosophy of life.
7. New Courses in "History of Social Thought" and "Hispanic-American History" enrich the offerings in Social Science. Other courses are pointed up to the urgent social situations in which we live today.
8. Improvement in instruction is sought by more careful preparation and correlation among our teaching faculty. A syllabus is prepared for each course taught this year and submitted to the curriculum committee for study.
9. A beautiful campus which started with a tradition of Campus

FACULTY CHANGES

Four new faces are seen on the Morningside College faculty this year. Dr. Thomas E. Tweito a former instructor at Winthrop College in South Carolina has come to head the Department of History. Prof. Tweito is a graduate of St. Olaf's College and has done postgraduate work for his master's and doctor's degrees at the University of Iowa before teaching seven years in high school and two years in college classes.

Miss Edna Cole has come as the director of physical education for women. Miss Cole is a native of Cheyenne, Wyoming, where she has been teaching in the high school. She received her B. A. degree from the University of Wyoming and her M. A. degree from the University of Michigan. This last summer she spent at the University of Wisconsin in further study. In the previous summers she has served as water safety instructor in the American Red Cross aquatic school in Colorado.

Mr. Bernie Scherer of the University of Nebraska and a native of Dallas, South Dakota, has joined the staff as an instructor in physical education and as assistant football coach. He received his B. A. degree from the University of Nebraska and for the past three years has been a member of the Green Bay Packers professional football team and one year with the Pittsburgh Pirates. For two years while in college he was selected on the All-Big Six football team and was honorary captain. He played on the west all star team against an eastern club in the San Francisco charity game of 1936. Bernie is one of the reasons we have seen such a new spirit in our football team this year.

Miss Marjorie Arkwright of Des Moines, Iowa, is the new house manager and dietician at the Women's Residence Halls. Miss Arkwright is a graduate of the Home Economics department of Iowa State College.

Although not a new member of the faculty, Mr. Thomas Canning has returned to the faculty of the Conservatory of Music after a year's leave of absence for study at Rochester, New York.

Beautification Day in the Spring, resulting in new trees, shrubbery and grass, a new sidewalk and hedges.

10. A new spirit of loyalty and enthusiasm is manifest among students, faculty and trustees that recognizes progress and is determined to keep Morningside College moving forward to greater things ahead.

CUPID'S SHOT HITS THE QUIRIN FAMILY

To have three out of four members of the family married within two months this summer was the experience of Rev. and Mrs. A. J. Quirin. Reverend Quirin is a graduate of Morningside College in the Class of 1901, and is well known for his ministry in Northwest Iowa throughout the past years.

Flora Quirin, Class of 1928, was married to Albert Bussewitz of Cedarburg, Wisconsin, in a ceremony performed in the home of her parent's in Sioux City on July 6. Her father officiated at the service which was held in the presence of immediate relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Bussewitz are now living in Rochester, New York, where he is employed in a florist's shop.

Helen Mary Quirin, Class of 1932, became the bride of Dr. Houston Shaw of Cincinnati on May 24 in the Riverside Chapel, New York City. Dr. Shaw is now taking a postgraduate course in surgery at the New York Postgraduate Hospital in New York City.

Arthur Quirin was married to Margaret Stephenson a graduate of Morningside in the Class of 1938, on June 13, in Vancouver, Washington. Mr. Quirin is a forrester and at present they are living in Portland, Oregon, where he is employed by a lumber firm.
