OCTOBER, 1950

NUMBER TWO

Homecoming at Morningside

There'll be a big treat and good time in store for you at the 1950 Morningside College homecoming. The weekend events have been planned for the pleasure of old grads and former students, so come back to the campus to visit with college friends, watch the Maroons scalp the Coyotes, and enjoy all the activities which are on the Homecoming calendar.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 20

- 8:00 p. m.—Something new, a Homecoming play, sponsored by the Dramatics department in the drawing room of Lillian Dimmitt Hall. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.
- 9:30 p. m.—Homecoming Dance in Allee Gymnasium, with the crowning of the Homecoming queen at intermission.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 21

- 9:00-12:00 a. m.—Registration of Morningsiders in Alumni Office.
- 10:00 a. m.—Homecoming parade
- 12:00 Noon—"M" Club luncheon—Elbon Club
Sorority luncheons

- 3:00-4:00 p. m.—Pigskin Prevue—Secrets of the "T" revealed in One Easy Lesson. Demonstration by Morningside freshmen in Allee Gymnasium. Come and learn how to enjoy a football game.
- 4:00-5:00 p. m.—Alumni and faculty coffee hour in Allee Gymnasium. Visiting and inspection of the Gym. Refreshments served by the members of the Alumni Executive Committee.
- 3:00-5:00 p. m.—Fraternities and sororities will hold open house for returning Alums.
- 5:30 p. m.—Annual Alumni business meeting in drawing room of Dimmitt Hall.
- 6:00 p. m.—Buffet supper in dining room of Dimmitt Hall.
- 8:00 p. m.—Football game with South Dakota University in Public Schools Stadium.

SUNDAY, OCTOBER 22

- 10:45 a. m.—Homecoming Service at Grace Methodist Church.

Meet Our New Faculty

Eight new faculty members began teaching duties at Morningside at the beginning of the fall semester. First in line is John W. Johannaber of Rockford, Ill., who was named Director of Religious Life and succeeds Dr. Ernest W. Saunders, now on the faculty of Northwestern University. Professor Johannaber holds degrees from Omaha and Boston Universities and did social work in Boston for five years. Formerly director of religious education at a Norwood, Mass., church, he is married and has one child.

Also from Rockford, Theodore Farra was appointed Professor of Languages and Religion. Prof. Farra has degrees from Drew and Columbia Universities and formerly taught at Phelps school, Malvern, Penn., Drew University and Union College, which is somewhere in the hills of the Southeast.

Johannaber

Farra

Dr. Knud Anderson will head the department of Music Theory. Dr. Anderson, a graduate of the University of Cologne and former instructor there, had been scheduled to arrive at Morningside last year, but was unable to obtain proper credentials to enable himself, his wife and two children to make the voyage from Bielefeld, Germany, where he was director of the municipal opera. Professor Anderson has done extensive concert and radio work in the United States and played with the Santa Barbara symphony while attending Santa Barbara College and the University of California.

Tommeraasen

Watt

Miles Tommeraasen, instructor in Accounting, is a native of Inwood, Ia. and a Morningside graduate. He holds a degree from Northwestern University, taught at Canton, S. D. for two years and before coming here, worked with a Chicago accounting firm.

John S. Watt, assistant professor of Education, is a graduate of Akron University and holds A.M. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Chicago. Professor Watt is a veteran of World War II and formerly taught at West high school, Akron, Ohio. He is married and has one child.

Green

Transtrum

Another Morningside graduate returning to teach at his Alma Mater is Robert Green, instructor in Physics. Mr. Green taught here during World War II, later serving in the Navy. A former instructor at Iowa Wesleyan College, he is married to Ruth Milton ('47). They have two children.

Lloyd Transtrum, student assistant in livestock marketing is a graduate of Utah State Agricultural College. He will study under Professor Robert Ashby, the work done at Morningside being credited by the Utah school toward Mr. Transtrum's Master of Science degree.

William E. Spornitz, a native of Park, N. D., and holder of two degrees from the University of that state, was named instructor in Business Administration. A veteran of the paratroops in New Guinea, the Philippines and Japan, Mr. Spornitz is married and has two children.

APOLOGY

We are sorry that the names of Irving B. Culver, Jr. and Stella J. Miller were omitted from the list of August graduates last month.

Pictured above are Dr. Dayle (x'42) and Kay Madison Crabb, '42 with Bruce, aged four months and Dennis, aged four years. The Crabbs are now located in Denison, Ia.

NOTED ARTISTS ON CONCERT COURSE

This year the annual concert course series features an outstanding array of talent which will offer topnotch entertainment for the most discerning music lover. Lauritz Melchoir will head the group and will be augmented by Yehudi Menuhin, violinist; and Nan Merriman, contralto. The season's program is:

November 6, 1950-----Yehudi Menuhin, Violinist
November 27-----Charles Kullman, Men of Song
December 11-----Maryla Jinas, Pianist
January 22, 1951-----Richard Farrell, Pianist
February 12-----Nan Merriman, Contralto
March 19-----Lauritz Melchoir, Tenor

Concert time is 8:15 p. m.

Supplementing the concert course series are the "Pop" concerts by the Sioux City symphony orchestra. Morningside's Leo Kucinski, head of violin and orchestra, is conductor of the group.

The Sunday afternoon concerts feature the orchestra with guest soloists in lighter musical offerings. Main attraction of the 1950-51 season will be Miss Margaret Truman, soprano, who will appear at the last concert of the season on Saturday evening, April 21, at 8:15 o'clock in the municipal auditorium.

From a Family of Doctors

Mrs. Charles Black and son, Carl

If you came from a medical family like Dr. Gertrude Black, formerly Gertrude Kielhorn, ('37), you, too, would be an M. D.

Dr. Gertrude is married to a doctor, one of her brothers is a doctor, one sister is a doctor and her youngest sister is now in premedical school.

Not only are many of Dr. Gertrude's immediate relatives in the medical profession but she also comes from a long line of doctors.

Besides all the M. D.'s in the family, her brothers are married to registered nurses. This proved to be very handy for Dr. Gertrude since both of her sisters-in-law have been her office nurses at one time or another.

Mrs. Black's husband is Dr. Charles Black, pathologist at Edward W. Sparrow hospital. Mrs. Black is in limited general practice in Williamston, where she resides with Dr. Charles and their children, Carl, 3, and Barbara, 1.

Dr. Charles can come home from work and talk shop with his wife, and she can understand. Not only that, but when the whole family gets together, the conversations, complete with long medical terms would probably be unintelligible to the layman.

At the present time Dr. Gertrude's general practice is, of necessity, limited. Since she does all her own housework, cooking and caring for her young children, the doctor finds there isn't too much time left for a full time practice.

Since medical treatment improves and changes constantly, Dr. Gertrude feels that it is wise to keep up with current trends, even though she is not spending all her time as a physician. Anyway "she just can't leave medical practice alone."

The Black family lives in Williamston, Mich. where they have "wide open spaces, yet all the advantages of a nearby city."

The large brick home is surrounded by a high, wide dike disguised as a circular driveway. After floods came within one inch of the first floor level of the Black residence, the Blacks had the levee constructed. Deer creek flows through the property which is situated on US-16, on the western outskirts of Williamston.

A pond near the highway provides excellent ice skating. The Blacks enjoy having their neighbors use it. A windmill is an unusual feature of landscaping.

Mrs. Black and her sister, Dr. Dora Zaeske, '31, and brother, Dr. Walter Kielhorn, ('38), graduated from Creighton University, a medical school in Omaha, Nebr. She met Dr. Black when he was an instructor and graduate student at the University of Wisconsin, Madison, and she was studying medicine there.

Dr. Gertrude interned at St. Lawrence Hospital and married Dr. Charles after the completion of her internship. When the Doctors Black moved into their Williamston home after their marriage, she started her general practice there.

Note: The September Morningsider gave an account of the tragic death of Dr. Walter Kielhorn, '38, (mentioned in the above article) in an airplane crash last spring.

1915 Class Reunion

Now for the letters and messages:

I wish I could send you copies of all the letters I received but that would take a book so I'll just give some high lights from each.

My first reply came from Congressman James I. Dolliver. "Regret—not be able to be present. Biographically, taught school, studied law, practiced in Ft. Dodge, elected to Congress in 1944, 6th Iowa District, married Rachel McCreight of Ft. Dodge, four children, James 24, Margaret 21, Arthur 18, Robert 15." Several days after receiving his letter I read the following announcement in the Washington news. "The proudest new grandfather in Congress—James I. Dolliver—a daughter, born to son Jim, a law student at the U. of Washington." Congratulations grandpa, from the class of 1915!

From the office of the Dean, Drew Theological Seminary, Madison, N. J., came a grand letter from Clarence Craig. "Greetings to the class of 1915. After Morningside, Clarence studied in Boston and abroad. He began his ministry at Cincinnati, Ohio in 1922. After six years he began teaching New Testament in theological seminaries, first at Oberlin Graduate School of Theology, then at Yale Divinity School and now at Drew. He married Rena Stebbins of Rochester, N. Y. in 1925. (Our congrats to the Craigs on their 25th anniversary this year.) They have four children, John in Princeton, Pete and Martha in Oberlin! All doing well academically. What else would you expect from Clarence's children? Did you ever tell them about the bean shower, Clarence? Clarence has done outstanding work in the translation of the Bible and speaks of his work with the World Council of Churches as being most interesting. For the fifth successive summer he will go abroad during August in the interest of this work. (Another "Brain").

Susie M. Burgstahler, Tyndall, S. D., is teaching commercial subjects in the Broadview Montana High School. In 1939 she was graduated from the Minneapolis Business College and has been teaching commercial subjects ever since. She says "no creaky joints and not much grey hair". Good for you Susie! Wish you were here to do this typing. As if you didn't know it, I might say I have never taken any commercial subjects and the two finger method of typing isn't very pleasing to look at.

A letter from Dora Carlson Cervin brought news of her intention of coming to the reunion but she did not get there. We were all so very much disappointed. Tragedy has entered Dora's home during the last year in the form of an automobile accident which took the life of her husband and severely injured Dora. I am sure that all 15ers send you our love and our sympathy.

(Mrs. O. Z. Cervin, 3400 10th Avenue, Rock Island, Ill.)

Bea Wright Jacobson wrote such a grand letter. A visit from a son kept her at home. She said she wasn't in a wheel chair and that all of her aged parts were operating O. K., tho slightly creaky. It was raining when Bea wrote and she said it reminded her of our Senior skip day that we had to spend at her house because all of the food was there—and it rained. She said her mother died only four years ago and that she often liked to brag about all the dishes "Uppie" washed without a single piece of glass or china broken. She still has the rocking horse "Beans" Evans rode that day—it's now 80 years old. Bea and her husband, Albert S. Jacobson, have lived on the same farm near Jewell, Ia. for 30 years. I believe she has belonged to and worked in all community and church organizations known to man. They have four children and two grandchildren. In closing she quoted Marie Dressler—when she said "Not how old you grow, but how you grow old"—Well we're finding out.

The letter from Mabel King Greening came from Salt Lake City. Mabel and Mr. Greening lived in Sioux City from 1917 to 1938. He was the official weather man. They went from there of Phoenix, Ariz. and then to Salt Lake City. Mr. Greening passed away in 1948 but their two sons are attending the U. of Utah there and they all enjoy living in Salt Lake City. Paul, a doctor, was graduated this month and the younger son—who will be a meteorologist as was his father—was married in May and will graduate next year. Her mother (84) lives with her.

Vivian Lavelly was another one we expected to see at the reunion but who failed to get there. He has been living at Crookston, Minn. but expected to move to Holstein, Ia. before Commencement. He said he had not been well, has hardening of the arteries and a year ago had a bad heart attack and a stroke. Mr. and Mrs. Lavelly have two children, John and Jean, both attending Moorhead State Teachers College, evidently very talented youngsters. His P. S. "Speaking conservatively, I believe the class of 15 was the greatest class Morningside ever produced". Well—who are we to dispute him?

Earl Hiatt, St. Ignatius, Mont. wrote a grand long letter. If I can persuade my husband to take that Canadian vacation trip I so much want to take, we may take up your invitation to call Earl. Earl said it had been 34 years since he had been at Morningside, and said he had not seen a Morningsider in all that time. How awful! something needs to be done about that. He and Lola Brownell Hiatt have three boys and one girl and two grandchildren. The daughter has graduated from college and the three boys are all in college now. His letter head bears the pictures of the beautiful Mission Range of mountains in western Montana—The Little Alps of America. He says—"Our home is situated at the base of the Mission Mountains, one-half mile east of the Post Creek store on Highway 93 (park to park) which is five miles north of St. Ignatius. We would be very pleased to have any old Morningsiders (don't like that word old) passing through the country to stop and pay us a visit". Brother! I'd like to spend the summer!

Ethel Collier (Mrs. W. D. Hawley, Morrison Lake R 6 Coldwater, Mich.), can't believe that this really is the 35th reunion—she sends greetings. Since her husband passed away last summer she has been teaching in Coldwater and managing her farm. She has one son, Robert, a sophomore in college. I was glad to learn that she is still singing and busy with musical clubs. Yours was a lovely voice, Ethel.

When in Phoenix, Ariz. several years ago Earl and I tried to find Herb Dunham. He is a very important person there and was out of town at that time on business. His letter head says he is senior vice president of the Valley National Bank there, and some bank that is. He thinks he is the only Morningside grad in the state. I'd surely like to be the second for we fell in love with Arizona. We were all glad to hear from you, Herb, and be assured we all remember you.

A wire from Bill Payne, San Mateo, Calif. read—"Planned to be with you. Although I am retired, business made it impossible for me to be there. Will see you all in 1955." Bill—retired! can't imagine that.

Bob Vernon wired from Webster Groves, Mo., "Greetings to all of the Famous Class of '15. Deeply regret cannot be with you to show pictures and brag about my three grandchildren too. Best wishes for a great reunion. My affectionate regards to all including the Roadmans." How well I remember how Bill and Bob gave me a stern talking to for having made calls in some questionable places on lower 7th street as part of our Sociology assignment. "Now we don't want you to ever do that again Mabel."—I didn't.

A few days after the reunion I received such a good letter from Herman Bogard. Herman is superintendent of the Flandreau Indian School at Flandreau, S. D. He too had planned to come back to the reunion and then found that he couldn't and didn't get a letter off in time to be read by all, but I was tickled pink to hear from him. He said "For these 35 years I have received no correspondence from any member of this class". Someone write him quick! I am glad that he sometimes goes through Storm Lake. Earl and I are hoping that your next trip will be soon. Do plan to spend a night with us and we will bring you up to date on Morningside news. Herman has been with the United States Bureau of Indian Affairs for the past 20 years. He has attended Central College at Pella and received his M. A. from the U. of Wisconsin. He has done graduate work at several other schools. What an interesting life you have had! I started once to make a hobby of Indian hand work but didn't go far with it. I do have some bead work and some pottery and think it most interesting.

"And so the party ended with jolly all hands round." I hope this letter may stir some of you to write to others whom you have not heard from in many years.

Possibly I am a bit sentimental but I feel we 15ers are bound by ties stronger than those of mere friendship—we are bound by those ties of college class friendship. What happens to any one of you is of real concern to me. Thank you all for your letters and messages and for coming to the reunion.

I would be most happy to hear from any of the "lost 18".

Mabel Irwin Burgess, 1915

Messiah to be Given

The Messiah, probably the best-loved of all Handel's vocal compositions, will be performed this December for the thirty-second year in Sioux City, conservatory director Paul MacCollin announced.

The performance will be sponsored by the Sioux City Council of Churches. This year the Council voted to present the oratorio in the new municipal auditorium. Paul Snyder of Sioux City will act as chairman. Morningside's chapel and vesper choirs will participate in the performance.

TICKET SALE

Football tickets for the Homecoming game will be on sale at all sporting goods stores in Sioux City and in Allee gymnasium. Buy your tickets early and avoid standing in line at the ticket office.

Here is the Beautiful New Allee Gymnasium

Plan to spend Homecoming afternoon at Allee Gym. Attend the football clinic which is being arranged by Athletic Director Al Buckingham and the freshman football squad. The demonstration will teach you all about the "T" and single wing formations with their intricate plays, the new rules for the 1950 football season as well as why penalties are called and what the referees mean by their signals. Then you will be prepared to enjoy the Morningside-South Dakota University game in the evening because you will understand what the teams and officials are doing on the field. After the football clinic there will be an opportunity to visit with friends and faculty during the coffee hour. If you have not inspected the gymnasium, guides will conduct you on a tour of the building. And don't miss seeing the swimming pool.

Football Round Up

Morningside — Mankato

The Morningside Maroons opened the 1950 gridiron campaign successfully by edging a large, well-coached Mankato Teachers squad 13-12, September 16, at Mankato.

With three minutes and a series of fumbles gone in the first quarter, Tony Levitto culminated a short twenty yard drive on a scoring plunge from two yards out. Loren Moll then scored the game winning point with a perfect place-kick to give the Sioux Cityans a 7-0 lead.

The Indians, paced by an unusually hard-charging line, roared back early in the second quarter for their first touchdown. Scatback Pat Dunn squirmed to the Maroon eight yard line after eluding the Morningside defense to snare a forty-five yard pass from halfback Don Mauer. On the next play, Mauer hit the line for the score.

Jack Reardon broke up an early third quarter stalemate by breaking into the Mankato backfield to intercept a lateral on the Indian's 31-yard line. Sophomore "Skip" Cowan then fired a nineteen yard aerial to Mike Fleming and after two unsuccessful stabs at the defender's line, the Maroon tailback danced around end to close the Iowans' scoring.

Mankato's last desperate attempt to win the game came in the closing minutes of the last quarter. However, their last hopes went glimmering when a hurried pass from center spoiled their extra point attempt.

Coach Allen substituted freely in an attempt to bolster the defensive line and discover a powerful scoring combination. In addition to Cowan and Reardon who were definite standouts, Truman O'Doherty proved a valuable asset at his linebacking position.

South Dakota State — Morningside

Morningside failed to stop Herb Bartling and the powerful South Dakota State Jacks and consequently the Maroons were drubbed 31-7 in a game played September 24, at Brookings.

Four times Coach George Allen's team was stopped at the golden gates by the beefy Jackrabbit line and this inability to score when the chips were down ruined their chances of victory. State also showed a devastating ground attack which was good for drives of 75 and 90 yards and a net total of 372 yards gained rushing. Bartling di-

Here's the Maroon Coaching Staff

Head football mentor, George Allen, explains to his board of strategy the plans by means of which the Maroons hope to trap the South Dakota Coyotes on Homecoming Day, October 21, in Public Schools Stadium. rected the South Dakota attack and led his team in scoring with two touchdowns.

State, taking advantage of Morningside fumbles deep in Maroon territory, scored two touchdowns in the first quarter from 35 and 20 yards out. The Jacks continued to control the game in the second quarter, scoring twice to give the host a 25-0 halftime advantage.

The Maroons refused to quit, however, and in the third quarter showed a startling reversal of form by taking the opening kickoff and marching 70 yards for their only touchdown. The score, which was made by the combined efforts of the whole offensive platoon resulted on a Bob Hanson to Bill Fox pass on a fourth down play. Following the Maroon's score Morningside's chances continued to brighten when the determined defense stopped the Jacks cold and then gave way to the offensive team which marched to the enemy three yard line. However, State finally held Morningside for downs and ended Sioux City's threat.

Gibbons added insult to injury by breaking away for an 18-yard touchdown run to give the South Dakota school a 31-7 victory.

Sophomore Truman O'Doherty, who blocked three extra point attempts by the Jacks, did a lion's share of work in bolstering the Maroon defense from his line-backing position. Ken Bengford, Ralph Weaver, Pete Starrett and several others also played outstanding line games. The offense was largely manned by Skip Cowan, Tony Levitto and Oscar Jones. End Bill Fox was the most successful receiver of the Cowan, Hanson and Loren Moll passes which were good for 10 completions in 34 attempts.

Morningside — North Dakota University

Lady luck finally favored the fighting Morningside Maroons in the last two minutes of a gruelling football game, September 30, as the Maroons gained a 13-13 tie with North Dakota University.

Until a North Dakota backfield hand-off backfired, the Morningside hopes of preventing another loss had glimmered to a weak spark. Up to that moment, along with some fine football, the Sioux capitalized on every break in the book to gain a 13-6 lead.

The Maroon's big touchdown was set up on a faulty handoff in the North Dakota backfield. In a lightning move the whole Morningside line broke through the Dakotans and it was Ken Bengford and Floyd Lindgren who recovered the ball on the enemy 45-yard line. On the next play Loren Moll broke off tackle and with perfect blocking electrified the Maroon supporters by dashing 34-yards to the 11. Tony Levitto hit the right side of the North Dakota line for seven yards and on the next play Moll scored. Moll's educated toe then made a perfect placekick to give Morningside a final 13-13 tie.

ON THE CAMPUS

Dimmitt Hall was the scene of much pomp and ceremony on the afternoon of September 15, when the annual Agora Big and Little Sister tea was held, in order to acquaint the new girls with the faculty and older students.

The receiving line consisted of women members of the college and dormitory faculties and the officers of Agora. Miss Mirah Mills and Miss Marcia McNee were hostesses at the tea table.

The initial 1950 appearance of the Morningside Choir was termed "very successful" by Professor Paul MacCollin, director. Try-outs were held during registration week, and Mr. MacCollin was very pleased with his many new additions from the freshman class, especially in the soprano and tenor sections. Plans are underway for the annual tour, which will take place in the spring.
