ON OUR COVER

There is no need to explain the importance of The Second Founding, the college's $4 million campaign to increase the endowment, nor the key role to be played by the many people who will serve as workers. We honor them all by introducing the three men who will spearhead the drive, General Chairman Bill Lohry (center) and associate chairmen Feldman Jones (left) and Byron Brower.

Authors' Corner

While ROY JUSTUS, x'24, was a student at Morningside College he flatly denied that he had any desire to become an editorial cartoonist, in spite of all the talents he showed for the job. He was afraid his friends might not take him seriously.

But that was Roy's burning ambition. And last March, at the crest of a career that spanned three newspapers and 50 years, he put aside his pen and ink and paper and headed into retirement. On his schedule for early October was a visit with old friends in Sioux City and a tour of the campus; the last time he had visited Morningside was in 1965 when the college awarded him an honorary degree. A great deal had happened to Roy before and a great deal has happened since.

After leaving Morningside (Roy vowed he would return for his final year; the dean told him he wouldn't), he served, except for brief interruption, with The Sioux City Tribune, The Sioux City Journal and from 1944 with the Minneapolis Star. Upon his retirement the Star published a handsome 48 page book of "The Best of Justus."

Roy Justus received the National Headliners' Club Award annually from 1949-56; the Christopher Award, 1955; the Greenville Clark editorial page award, 1962; and the Sigma Delta Chi editorial cartoon award, 1965. The list conveys the idea yet leaves unspoken the fact that his strength as a cartoonist emanated from his keen sense of humor, a deep regard for freedom and a basic respect for all things living.

Roy's first wife, RUTH LANGLEY, '25, died in 1970, and he remarried in 1973. The couple continues to make Minneapolis its home.

Report on the 'The Second Founding'

Outstanding Start for College's $4 Million Endowment Drive

"The Second Founding," Morningside's campaign to raise $4 million for improvement of the college's operations, is off to an outstanding start, officials of the drive report. The multi-phase campaign was announced to the alumni and friends of the college in the March issue of The Morningsider.

Four generations after the initial founding, the college is endeavoring to make its fiscal foundation as strong as its physical cornerstone.

Three years of study and analysis of the institution preceded the decision to proceed with the campaign, pointing to areas of need and projected growth and development. Conducting the studies were the board of directors and its special committees and the college's long range planning committee.

Most of the $4 million will be used to enlarge the endowment fund, with the resulting increased income earmarked for faculty development, more financial aid to students, and for upgrading educational equipment. The campaign goal for these categories totals $3.3 million.

The remaining $700,000 is to enlarge the present library building and renovate some of the older buildings on campus—physical improvements which are described by President Thompson as "modest and essential."

To direct a campaign of such dimensions—the largest in the college's history and the first major fund raising effort since 1965—it was imperative to find a person with exceptional skills in organization, management and leadership. The institution found such a person, the young, energetic president of Nutra-Flo Chemical Company, Bill Lohry, a Sioux Cityan.

A former Morningsider (x'49), Lohry imparts a great deal of enthusiasm into the campaign leadership. Within hours after accepting the post he was on campus collecting pictures and data from the college's files for fund drive presentations. One result is a multi-media-slide presentation enriched with seldom seen shots of the early campus and of faculty and student leaders of yesteryear and today. The program, narrated by Ray Grandle of Sioux City's KSCJ Radio, is an exceptionally moving piece and has been praised by those alumni from the area who have already viewed it. Present plans are to present the show at the alumni kickoff events to be held in key areas of the country in the near future.

Lohry, after attending Morningside, continued his education at Iowa State University and received a degree in chemical technology in 1949. Mrs. Lohry (DORIS RAUN, x'49) is a member of the college's board of directors.

For his top aides Lohry selected as associate general chairmen Byron Brower, a University of Arizona graduate and president of Brower Construction of Sioux City, and Feldman F. Jones, vice president of Jones Distributing Company of Sioux City. Jones attended the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, and received his Bachelor of Science degree from Morningside in 1948.

Lohry's leadership team will conduct the campaign on four fronts:

ginning. Contacted at the outset, the faculty and staff accepted a goal of $84,000. In the 1965 fund effort, "Program for Academic Advance," a group of identical size (160) pledged $44,000. Now, with a number of members still to be contacted, the faculty and staff have pledged $81,039 and it seems virtually certain that the goal will be exceeded.

A similar response has come from the board. As the Morningsider went to press, 30 per cent of the directors and directors of honor had been contacted, and they had invested 31 per cent ($273,850) of the established $888,000 goal for the group.

Initial support was termed "outstanding" by the co-chairmen of the Official Family Division, Bruce A. Crary, (x'48), chairman of the board of directors and board member Robert M. Lincoln, ('50). Crary, a Sioux City attorney, and Lincoln, chief executive officer of Payless Cashways Inc., hope to have their phase of the drive completed prior to Nov. 1.

(2) The Founders Division embraces the major gifts portion of the campaign, and the responsibility for raising the largest share of the $4 million goal will fall on the shoulders of division chairman William T. Dible of Sioux City, president of Terra Chemicals International Inc., and a recent appointee to the Morningside Board.

Dible has chosen two capable Sioux City business executives as vice chairmen, Richard P. Sulzbach, president of Sioux City Engineering Co., and George Wilen, president of Pecaut Equipment Co.

This division has adopted a target date of Nov. 4 for its campaign kickoff, and will contact selected foundations and friends of the college across the nation.

Kickoff dates later in November or just after the first of the year have been scheduled for the other categories, including:

(3) Town and Gown Division, which encompasses Sioux City and includes local businesses and friends of the college but is exclusive of the community's alumni. Robert G. Knowler, president of Black Knight of Morningside and a director of the college, will serve as chairman of this division.

(4) The Alumni Division is a three-prong program to involve alumni in Sioux City, elsewhere in Iowa, and throughout the remainder of the nation.

Columnist Ann Landers (Esther Pauline Friedman, x'40) has agreed to serve as national honorary chairman of this division.

As with the other alumni divisions, the national effort will consist of a number of campaigns within a campaign. Present plans call for area chairmen in those localities with the largest concentration of Morningside alumni. Area chairmen will recruit volunteers to call upon alumni and kick off meetings will have a large role at the organizational stage.

The area chairmen include:

OMAHA: Charles "Connie" Callahan ('50); LINCOLN, Dr. Miles Tommeraasen ('43); DENVER, Emmett Curry (x'37) and Dr. James J. DeRoos ('35); SIOUX FALLS, John Griffin ('34) and Bill Burggraaf ('60); MINNEAPOLIS, William Kirschner ('39); CHICAGO, Dr. Robert J. Hilker ('38) and Eldred Saltwell ('49); PHOENIX, yet to be named; TUCSON, Mrs. Lyle Tweet ('68); LOS ANGELES, Dr. Max Gaspar ('36); and SAN DIEGO, Mr. (x'58) and Mrs. ('58) Roger Cunningham.

Serving as Iowa alumni division chairman is R. G. "Honie" Rogers of Sioux City and he will be assisted by chairmen in 12 areas of the state:

AREA 1, Mike Fleming ('52), Sibley; AREA 2, yet to be named, Spencer area; AREA 3, Charles W. "Pete" Cropley ('49), Garner; AREA 4, Leon Shortenhaus ('49) Sioux City; AREA 5, Mike Hanna ('66) Fort Dodge; AREA 6, Frank Mahan ('58) and Herbert Watson ('36), Cedar Falls.

AREA 7, Don Leopold ('46), Dubuque; AREA 8, yet to be named (Carroll); AREA 9, Wes Boldt ('55) and Bob Josten ('64), Des Moines; AREA 10, Don Oxenford ('52), Cedar Rapids; AREA 11, Ken DeVries ('57), Davenport; AREA 12, Arvin Bomgaars ('53), Council Bluffs.

While the team headed by Shortenhaus contacts alumni in the area surrounding Sioux City, a separate group composed of local men will approach alumni within the city. This phase of the campaign will be chaired by Edgar McCracken ('38) who will be assisted by Fred Davenport Jr., ('41), Robert Beck ('54) and Bruce Kolbe ('60) as vice chairmen.

In reviewing the background of the campaign, President Thompson said preliminary studies showed that the college's "real strength rests in its people, not on a large scale building program."

"Therefore, the construction part of the drive will be limited to realizing the maximum utilization of the space already available on campus," he said.

The president called the library expansion a "top priority item." Morningside's current library, constructed in 1913 as the gymnasium, was converted to its present use in 1955.

Initially it was designed to house 80,000 volumes, but the number now has swelled to

Current endowment of $2.6 million inadequate for financial stability

125,000. The facility serves a student body of 1,500 and is available to people in the community.

The present building is deficient in seating capacity, working area and shelving space. Consequently the college has adopted plans for a new annex of 10,000 square feet to permit the library to serve as a total resource center.

The estimated cost of construction and equipping the annex has been set at $500,000 by college officials.

The endowment income earmarked for faculty development will be used to assure a salary schedule and benefits program which will remain competitive with other colleges in Iowa and the Siouxland area.

There also would be more funds for faculty members pursuing doctoral programs, to permit faculty to attend more professional meetings and accept invitations to lecture at other institutions, and to continue to bring visiting scholars to Morningside for the benefit of the college and the community.

* * * *

Board Chairman Cray noted that Morningside presently provides more than $500,000 in financial aid to students each year. To meet the financial needs of able, qualified applicants who wish to attend Morningside, a greater financial girding is necessary, he said.

In addition, the endowment will help finance better counseling, tutoring and career preparation for students and career advancement for alumni. And some $300,000 will be set aside for equipment and instructional aids.

General Chairman Lohry points out that Morningside's endowment—the investments which provide an income through earnings each year and give financial stability to the institution—currently stand at $2,600,000. This is small by college standards.

Fortunately, 42 per cent of the total endowment is invested in Iowa farm land, which generally yields a substantial return on the investment.

The Founders Division of the campaign will be led by chairman William T. Dible (center) and co-chairmen George C. Wilen (left) and Richard P. Sulzbach.

Nationally colleges and universities are faced with financial problems, Lohry noted. Money is needed to cover increased operating costs, needed improvements in the quality of education and for better curriculum materials, and to give low income students an opportunity for a college education.

In early 1975 a total of 88 colleges and universities had campaigns of $10 million or more underway. Together their targets totaled $4.741 billion, and those 88 institutions hoped to raise $2.735 billion during the last six months of this year.

Approximately 75 per cent of the programs were for endowment purposes.

Yale University, with a total endowment of $430 million, is now conducting a $370 million campaign and—closer to home—Macalester College in St. Paul, total endowment $30.8 million, just announced a development program for $19 million.

“The Second Founding,” Lohry concluded, “represents an investment of $4 million. But more than an investment in dollars, it represents an investment in a highly sophisticated service industry.”

“However, unlike other service industries, our colleges and universities are virtually the sole source of manpower for the other professions.

“The program we design and support today will found not another campus or another building, but will help perpetuate Morningside's role as a provider of professionals, and thus create the most compelling reason to undertake “The Second Founding.”

COLLEGE REPORTS GAIN IN TOTAL ENROLLMENT

Total enrollment at Morningside for the fall term is up 47 students over last September, according to Registrar William E. Spornitz.

A large freshman class and a sizable increase in the number of day part-time students were factors in the increase, Spornitz said in a preliminary report issued in mid-September.

The registrar placed Morningside's total registration—full and part-time, undergraduate and graduate students—at 1,502, compared with 1,455 for Fall 1974. Included in this year's total are 1,135 full-time (those carrying 12 or more semester hours), 327 part-time and 40 graduate students.

The number of freshmen jumped to 397, up 9.97 per cent, while the total number of new students, including transfers from other schools, rose to 447.

Continuing a trend of recent years reported at Morningside and many other four year institutions across the country, there was an increase in the number of part-time students. This was accented by a rise from 57 to 97 in the number of those taking less than 12 hours in day classes.

That more than offset a decline of 20 in the number of those taking more than 12 hours, Spornitz said.

41 RECEIVE DEGREES IN AUGUST CEREMONY

Forty-one persons were awarded degrees from Morningside College at summer commencement exercises in Eppley Auditorium Aug. 15.

The list included 26 candidates for bachelor's degrees, 14 for Master of Arts in Teaching (MAT) and one honorary.

President Thompson conferred an honorary Doctor of Humane Letters degree on the Rev. Harold Dellit, superintendent of the Perry, Iowa district of the United Methodist Church. Dr. Dellit has been active in programs for young people and the elderly, and in church and community affairs.

In the commencement address, Dr. Wendell Q. Halverson, president of the Iowa Association of Private Colleges and Universities, urged educators to "instill a love of learning and serving that causes students to use their talents and let them multiply."

He asserted that "the non-learning adult who asks only for bread and circuses got cheated somewhere. Some thoughtless parent or teacher turned the sacred joy of learning into a boredom so stultifying that the exhilaration of discovery and the thrill of exploration were atrophied."

During the ceremony, Leonard Paulson of Newell, Iowa received the academic hood signifying a Master of Arts in Teaching degree conferred posthumously on his wife, Ruth Arvilla Paulson, who died last December at the age of 38.

Mrs. Paulson, who taught for 11 years in the public schools at Newell and Albert City, Iowa, suffered from diabetes and began to lose her eyesight in 1969. Although totally blind, she returned to teaching in 1971 and continued her studies toward her master's degree at Morningside.

She was within 12 semester hours of completing her work toward the degree when she died at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn., in December of last year.

PRESIDENT THOMPSON NAMED TO AIDP GROUP

President Thompson was elected in August to a newly formed advisory council for the four-year colleges and universities participating in the federal government's Advanced Institutional Development Program (AIDP).

The seven-member council was formed in Atlanta as presidents and aides from the 53 AIDP institutions met to form a consortium. The council will guide the consortium's affairs.

President Thompson will represent those institutions which were first named to AIDP this year as well as others in the North Central region.

The consortium will be funded by a grant from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Organization headquarters will be at Tuskegee Institute at Tuskegee, Ala., for the membership, which is composed of 11 public and 42 private colleges and universities.

NEW YEAR, NEW FACES ON FACULTY, STAFF

There were a number of new faces on the Morningside campus in September due to recent resignations and expansion of the Department of Nursing staff as the new Bachelor of Science in Nursing program welcomed another class.

Under the BSN program, freshmen are considered pre-nursing students. The first class to enter the program—now juniors—numbers 21, and they were joined this fall by a class of 40 sophomores. A phase-in of faculty was planned to keep pace with growth and progression of classes in the federally funded program.

This year the nursing staff numbers six, twice the number of last fall. Still, there are four new faculty members due to the resignation of Mrs. Ruth Rand, who left at the end of the spring semester.

Joining the department are Rosalie D. Burton, former assistant director of Ancker Hospital in St. Paul, Minn.; Lanette M. Moehling, who served as a first lieutenant in the Army Nurse Corps and was clinical instructor at Montana State University; Ora Lee Skidmore, a 1972 graduate of Morningside and until recently an instructor in nurse education at St. Luke's School of Nursing in Sioux City; and Arlene Van Horn, who was mental health consultant and in charge of inservice education at Cherry County Hospital, Valentine, Neb.

Music Department

Fulltime members of the Music Department faculty who have resigned and are now employed elsewhere are Larry Graham, presently with the University of Colorado at Boulder; Dr. Howard Reitz, now living in Fort Dodge, Iowa; Dr. Larry Edwards, at Grand Valley State College in Allendale, Mich.; and Margaret Barela, who is working toward a doctorate at Indiana University.

They were replaced by Ronald Fishbaugh, a prize winning pianist who taught at Duke University before coming to Morningside; violinist Erich Lear, a student of Charles Treger and Allen Ohmes at the University of Iowa and former instructor at Virginia Polytechnic Institute; Louis Rossman, a teaching associate at Ohio State University for the past year while working toward a Ph.D.; and James Hobbs III, formerly teacher of theory and piano in the adult education and preparatory division of the Cleveland Institute of Music and first place winner in the 1971 Young Composers Contest sponsored by the National Federation of Music Clubs.

Art Department

There are two new members of the Art Department for the 1975-76 academic year. Chairman Frank Breneisen is involved in a one-year faculty exchange program sponsored by the U.S. State Department and John Gordon resigned during the summer to devote full-time to his Sioux City studio.

Royston Jones, assistant professor at Southport Art College in England is the other person in the faculty exchange, and Larry D. Hefner, instructor at Pembroke State University at Pembroke, N.C., is the other replacement.

Other Faculty

Dr. William G. Phillips, chairman of the Business Administration Department, left at the end of the summer session for a similar position at the University of Alaska. His successor is Dr. Joseph Papenfuss, formerly with the faculty at Utah State University.

Dr. Jacquelyn Miller has joined the administrative staff of the Sioux City Public Schools and she has been replaced in the Education Department by Alvera Lorenz. Mrs. Lorenz was on the faculty at Ellsworth Community College, Iowa Falls, Iowa.

Dr. Edward Mazeika, who has been engaged in post-doctoral work at the University of Geneva, Switzerland, has joined the English Department faculty. Miss Beatrice Tift, who was listed as a part-time teacher last year, is now assistant to the registrar.

Samson Munywoki, a native of Kenya and former teacher at the University of Nairobi and California State University, has replaced Betty Bullock in Sociology. Miss Bullock, now Mrs. Chester J. Durnal, is living at Raytown, Mo.

Speech Change

Donald Rybacki, assistant professor of speech, is studying for his doctorate at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, and he has been succeeded by Karyn Charles, a doctoral student from the University of Iowa.

With the death of Dr. James M. Miller, a vacancy was created in the Department of History and Political Science. It has been filled by Rudolph Daniels, who spent the 1974-75 academic year as a teacher in West Germany. Dr. Daniels also has taught at Loras College and the University of Dubuque.

Dr. Edward Shane, former chairman of the physical science department at Nathaniel Hawthorne College, is a new member of the Chem-

The Freeze Is Over: Chiefs Notch Victories!

SPORTS

In campus record books Sept. 6 should go down as the day the Morningside Chiefs emerged from the gridiron deep freeze.

Coach John Dornon's warriors ended a 19-game losing streak that day with a 28-21 victory at the Stevens Point campus of Wisconsin University.

The last time the Chiefs had won a ball game was on the next to the last Saturday of the 1973 season when they tripped Augustana 20-14.

The Maroon triumph in the 1975 season opener materialized as tailback Dave Dupree turned in a record breaking day and the defense stopped Stevens Point in critical situations with five pass interceptions.

Dupree, one of nine returning offensive starters from last year's squad, picked up 202 yards in 38 carries, bettering Dave Bigler's performance of 190 yards in 37 tries against Missouri Southern in 1971.

With the ice broken, the team turned its attention to the home opener, the annual Shrine Game with the University of Nebraska-Omaha on the following Saturday, but slipped again.

The Chiefs won the battle of the statistics but UNO went home with the victory on a 33-7 thumping before a crowd of 7,000 in Roberts Stadium.

Morningside led in first downs, passing and rushing, but—unfortunately—also recorded seven turnovers on four fumbles and three interceptions, and the Chiefs were unable to capitalize on the opportunities they had. It was a hard-fought ballgame, however, and much closer than the score would indicate.

After a rest due to an open date, Morningside opened the conference schedule with a 49-7 loss to the powerful, 15th ranked North Dakota Sioux at Grand Forks. Dornon summed up the game with the observation, "You can't make the mistakes we did and expect to beat a team the caliber of North Dakota."

Three fumbles, two pass interceptions and 74 yards in penalties and an offense that had trouble getting started contributed to the ungluing, but Dornon was encouraged by the running of Dupree and the overall performance of the defense.

The contest the following week at Mankato State had been rated as the Chiefs' best opportunity for a conference victory. The Indians, however, used two big plays to pave the way for a 21-0 win over the Chiefs, who had been weakened by sickness.

On Oct. 12, the team turned tables and won one they weren't supposed to win, a spectacular 30-29 victory over archrival University of South Dakota on Dakota Day at Vermillion. It was the first conference win since that game against Augustana in 1973.

Senior quarterback Tom Janssen led the attack with three touchdown passes, scored again on a run, and also ran for a pair of crucial two-point conversions. Dupree again was the leading rusher with 118 yards in 30 carries.

With both the non-conference and conference freezes ended, the Chiefs were scheduled to meet a tough University of Northern Iowa team in the Oct. 18 homecoming affair, then entertain South Dakota State at home the following Saturday. Augustana at Sioux Falls on Nov. 1 and North Dakota State at home Nov. 8 will close the season.

KEY TO CAGE SUCCESS: WHO REPLACES DAVE?

Who can replace Dave Schlessler?

That's the big one confronting Coach Dan Callahan as he looks forward to the 1975-76 cage season.

Schlessler's importance to last year's fiery 9-5, national tournament team is reflected by the statistics—the North Central Conference's Most Valuable Player for the past two seasons, best shooting percentage and most rebounds in a season in the conference, plus a host of Morningside records.

Considering his contributions to the Chiefs, Dave will be a difficult if not an impossible man to replace, but Callahan does have some outstanding ball players who are willing to give it the old college try.

There is Ken Warner, a 6'9", 230-pound freshman from Windom, Minn., and Keith Kohler, 6'8", 215 pound freshman from Remsen, Iowa. Or it could be that the pivot responsibility will fall on Herb McMath, 6'5", 225-pound junior from Springfield, Ill.

McMath, who bolstered the cage Chiefs at critical moments last year, is noted for his versatility and aggressiveness. This fall he's been earning applause for services as a linebacker and a key to Football Coach John Dornon's defense.

The Chiefs will also miss the play of their sparkplug guard and most valuable defensive player for the past two years, Dan Pomerence. Like Dave, Dan has joined the ranks of the alumni, although Pomerence will be around in a coaching capacity this year as Callahan's assistant.

In spite of such losses, the outlook for the coming season is bright due to the nucleus provided by eight lettermen. There's a wealth of talent returning in Captain Marv Munden, McMath, Doug Marx, Joe Longo, Owen Lomax (super-sub), Doug Schultz, John Held and Dave Krumbholz.

"I know this group is looking forward to the season," Callahan reported. "We will work hard to achieve the high level of play they maintained last year, and I'll expect each one of them to make an even greater contribution."

"We may be a smaller team, but I expect the Chiefs to overcome this with their determination and to come up with another great team effort."

Dave Schlessner spent a successful summer as a member of a collegian all-star team which barnstormed Europe. Dave had troubles locating his teammates (they had already begun their itinerary when he arrived in Europe) and he also experienced difficulty in getting used to the food.

But he quickly adjusted not only to the intricacies of European living but also to the style of basketball and was chosen Most Valuable Player in one of the European tournaments.

Dave returned to the states at summer's end, in his own words, a better basketball player and noticeably several pounds heavier. Reports are that the extra weight was due to a fondness for pasta which Dave acquired overseas.

The 6'11" Schlessner's basketball future remained in doubt at the time the Morningsider went to press. As reported in the July issue, he was drafted as the ninth-round choice of the Atlanta Hawks. However, he failed to receive an invitation to the Hawks' training camp, and he was overlooked in the ABA draft.

He may decide to rejoin the collegian team on the tour circuit, but his long-range goal is to join in the operation of the family farm near LeMars, Iowa.

SCOTT MEYER NAMED MAROON TRACK COACH

Scott Meyer, a 27-year-old native of Sioux Falls, S.D., is the new Morningside track coach. He succeeds Mickey Everett, '73, who resigned in July to accept a position with a South Sioux City sporting goods store.

Meyer will perform his coaching duties while continuing with his work as manager of a physical conditioning clinic in Sioux City. He is working with a squad of 12 cross-country runners at the present time.

A sprinter in college, Meyer attended the Air Force Academy and was graduated from the University of Illinois. While managing a conditioning clinic in Sioux Falls, he assisted with the Augustana College track program.

4 LETTERMEN, FROSH IMPROVE MAT OUTLOOK

Four returning lettermen and an exceptionally talented group of freshmen are expected to lead the Morningside Chiefs back toward the top of the NAIA wrestling world in 1975-76.

A UNO back finds a giant wall confronting him as the Chiefs' defensive unit gets it all together in this segment of the Shrine Game at Roberts Stadium.

"We feel with our four returnees providing leadership and our freshmen showing good enthusiasm," commented Coach Arnie Brandt, "we're capable of having a real fine season."

The Chiefs slipped under the .500 mark last year for the first time in five seasons, finishing at 9-11. Early season injuries took their toll as inexperienced freshmen and sophomores were forced into starting rolls.

But the youngsters improved as they gained confidence and the Chiefs won six of their final eight dual meets.

Three of those youngsters are back to form the nucleus of the 1975-76 squad. Sophomore John Snakenburg (158) and Rex Mehrhoff (167) and junior Rod Foutch (150) will be counted on heavily to offset the inexperience of 12 new faces. That trio combined for a 31-36-6 dual record a year ago.

Brandt will also have junior Tom Meyer available at 158. Meyer missed all of last season with an injury after having a promising freshman year.

A long list of newcomers is headed by freshman Mike Cooney (190) and Dwight Evers (142). Cooney led his West Des Moines Dowling High School team to the AAA Iowa State Championship last spring. Evers was undefeated on a cultural exchange trip through Europe in the summer.

Coach Brandt's son, Greg, lends depth to the squad at 167 and 177.

Young Brandt captained Sioux City East High's grapplers a year ago.

In addition, sophomore Doug Bowers, a Sioux City West High product, joins the team in the heavy-weight division. Transfers Tim Winter (177) and Mark Pottebaum (167-177) will become eligible in January to give the Chiefs a boost.

The Maroons open their 20-date schedule Nov. 22 in an exhibition against the alumni. Seven other home meets appear on the schedule, including visits by powerful Mankato State Jan. 27 and archrival Westmar Feb. 11.

The year concludes with the NAIA Nationals in Edinborough, Pa., March 11-13.

'BUCK' IN MEXICO CITY FOR PAN-AM GAMES

A. W. Buckingham, vice president for estate planning, was in Mexico City during the Pan American Games, once again directing food and housing for American athletes and guests.

"Buck", a member of the U.S. Olympic Committee's board of directors, is co-chairman of food and housing. He left Sioux City Oct. 1 and was expected to return the latter part of the month.

He held similar duties at the 1971 Pan American Games, the Winter Olympics at Sapporo, Japan and the Summer Olympics at Munich, Germany in 1972. His next assignment will be next summer's Olympic Games at Montreal.

Buckingham just completed a two-year term as president of the United States Collegiate Sports Council, sponsor of the World University Games.

CUBS PICK SALTWELL AS GENERAL MANAGER

E. R. "Salty" Saltwell, a 1949 Morningside graduate associated with the Chicago Cubs for the past 20 years, was named general manager of the National League club Sept. 30.

Saltwell most recently was vice president in charge of park operations and served as assistant secretary-treasurer. He is the first to hold the GM post in the Cubs organization since 1949, when Jim Gallagher resigned the position to become business manager.

Saltwell's baseball career began in Sioux City while attending Morningside. After graduation he became general manager of the Sioux City Soos of the Class A Western League and continued in that capacity until 1953. The following year he was named executive vice president and treasurer of the Western League.

He joined the Cubs organization in 1955 and was president and general manager of the Des Moines club in 1955-56. In 1957 he was with the management group of the AAA Los Angeles Angels, and the following year served as general manager of the AA Fort Worth club, before being called up to Chicago.

istry Department, replacing Dr. Robert Franklin, who taught last year on a part-time basis.

Administration

In September, Mrs. Barbara Hennessey, executive secretary to President Thompson since 1970, resigned because of ill health. Mrs. Patricia Klatt, who has served as a secretary in several other administrative offices, is her successor.

Charles LeMaster, a 1962 Morningside graduate, has been named head of library services at the college. LeMaster had been acting director since the departure of Vernon Martin last December.

Joan Ayers, a 1972 graduate, has been named director of the media center in the library, a post formerly held by LeMaster. She recently received a Master's degree in library science from George Peabody College for Teachers.

Ruth Ann Shay, associated last year with the Keokuk (Iowa) Community School District, has joined the admissions staff as a counselor, replacing Neil Blair, who is now with St. Olaf College.

SCHOLARSHIP HONORS MISS MARCIA McNEE

No power is stronger than that of a teacher who spends a half century in helping to prepare young men and women for positions in the elementary schools. Such a teacher was Miss Marcia McNee, who spent 25 of those years in the Education Department of Morningside College, where she retired in 1961.

Upon retirement, Miss McNee moved to Spring Valley, Minn., to be near the nieces and nephews she had aided in securing a college education. At the time of her death on March 25th, she was at Meadow Manor in Grand Meadow, Minn.

During her many years as a resident of Sioux City, Miss McNee was as active in community affairs as she was in college work. During World War II, she was a supervisor under the Lanham Child Care Act which provided a place for the children of working mothers. She acted in various leadership roles at the Mary J. Treglia Community House. She was president of the Womens' Fellowship of the Congregational Church.

Miss McNee belonged to a number of social and professional organizations, including Delta Kappa Gamma, A.A.U.W., the J.G. Chapter of P.E.O., and the Faculty Women's Club. She was president of the latter two organizations.

Miss McNee was a graduate of Spring Valley High School, received her B.A. from Upper Iowa University and her M.A. from the University of Chicago. Upon graduation from Upper Iowa University, she became an instructor in the Education Department at the University. From there she came to Morningside in 1936.

The Marcia McNee Scholarship Fund has been started by a group of her friends in order to perpetuate her memory. Plans are to make an annual cash award to an outstanding student in elementary education at Morningside's honors convocation each spring. Friends who would like to add their support to this fund may send contributions to Dr. Sharon Ocker, Education Department, Morningside College.

Position Opening

MORNINGSIDE COLLEGE

The position will be available Jan. 1, 1976 and applicants must be alumni of the college. Director will work in the areas of alumni relations, church relations, admissions and fund raising. Applications in writing only should be sent to: President Thomas S. Thompson, Morningside College, Sioux City, Iowa 51106. Morningside College is an equal opportunity employer.

In Memoriam

James M. Miller

Dr. James M. Miller Jr., professor of history and political science, suffered a heart attack Aug. 27 during the faculty workshop and died a few hours later at a Sioux City hospital. His loss is deeply felt by the college community.

Dr. Miller, 44, had been a member of the faculty since 1960 and was active in many facets of campus life. He had served as president of the Morningside chapter of the American Association of University Professors and advisor to the Collegian Reporter. He was chosen outstanding professor for the 1963-64 academic year.

A native of Wichita, Kan., he attended high school in Kansas City, Kan., and was graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree from Park College, Parkville, Mo., in 1952. He received a Master of Arts degree from the University of South Dakota in 1953 and his Ph.D. in 1968 from Clark University, Worcester, Mass., where he was a teaching fellow. He was a Noyes Scholar in 1951, 1952 and 1953.

Dr. Miller served in the U.S. Army Infantry from 1953 to 1955 and was on the editorial staff of the Watertown (S.D.) Public Opinion from 1957 to 1960.

In 1968 he was advanced to full professor on the faculty and became a faculty associate of the Danforth Foundation. More recently, he was selected as a scholar for the National Endowment for the Humanities in Residence for Cherokee under sponsorship of the National Endowment.

He was a member of the American Historical Association, National Oral History Association, and the Private College Advisory Committee for Iowa's Sixth Congressional District.

Dr. Miller's survivors include his widow, Beverly, two daughters, Julie and Sharon, a son, Phillip, all at home; and his mother, Mrs. James M. Miller Sr. of Kansas City, Mo.

A memorial fund and an award to honor him have been established at the college.

The James M. Miller Honor Award in History and Political Science will be presented annually at the college's honors convocation to an "outstanding and creative student" in history and political science.

The winner will be selected by the members of the department's faculty on criteria designed to reflect the interests, characteristics and abilities portrayed by Dr. Miller during his career at Morningside. Among the qualifications will be a junior standing, and a major in the area, eagerness to learn, a probing mind, sound analytical skills and good judgment.

The award will be funded by the James M. Miller Memorial Fund, which has been restricted solely for that purpose. Those who wish to contribute to the memorial should send their gifts to the Development Office at the college.

1908

Rear Adm. THOMAS CARLYLE ANDERSON, '08, USN ret., died in a San Diego, Calif., hospital July 4 at the age of 88. A career military surgeon, Adm. Anderson was credited in World War II with developing air evacuation for critically wounded personnel, devising a system for delivery of whole blood to casualties on battlefields, and ordering aircraft spraying of insect infested islands to prevent the spread of disease. During the final two years of the war he directed the Navy's medical services in the Pacific as fleet medical officer for the Pacific Fleet and Pacific Ocean Areas Command. He was awarded the Legion of Merit for his role in directing medical care to shipboard casualties and to U.S. ground forces. Following his graduation from Morningside, Adm. Anderson received his M.D. degree from the University of Michigan, joined the Navy Medical Corps in 1917 and served in World War I. Mrs. Anderson (LURA MATTESON, '08) and three grandsons survive.

1930

Mrs. George R. Batcheller (DOROTHY M. PANGBURN, x'30) died July 10 at a Sioux City hospital following an illness of six weeks. She was 67 years old. Mrs. Batcheller, widow of the founder of Concrete Products Co., was secretary-treasurer of the firm and president of Sioux City Tractor & Equipment Co. at the time of her death. After attending Morningside she taught school at Luton, Iowa. She was married to Mr. Batcheller Aug. 30, 1930 and he preceded her in death in 1960. Survivors include a son, GEORGE ROBERT BATCHELLER, '71, of Sioux City, a daughter, Mrs.

Elmer Ratliff of Norman, Okla., and five grandchildren.

Mrs. Eli Seff (ANNE GREENBERG, x'30) died following a brief illness in August at a Denver, Colo., hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Seff were married in Sioux City in 1931 and moved to Rapid City, S.D. in 1939, and to Denver in 1949. In 1960 the couple acquired the International Villa and Mrs. Seff served as bridal consultant until her illness. Survivors include the widower, two daughters and a son. Mr. Seff's address is 1155 Ash St., Denver 80220.

SYLVIA GRIFFITH BORGSTROM, '55, who taught in the Sioux City schools for 21 years, died at a Sioux City hospital June 20. Mrs. Borgstrom was 73. She and her husband, Carl G. Borgstrom, moved to Sioux City from Wisconsin in 1930 and she was a teacher in the city from 1946 to 1947. Mr. Borgstrom also taught in the local schools until retirement. In addition to the widower, survivors include two sons and six grandchildren. Services were held in Sioux City.

1963

PAUL M. SPRINGER, honorary Doctor of Humanities, '63, former executive secretary of the YMCA of Siouxland, died July 19 at a Sioux City nursing home following a long illness. He was 77 years old. Dr. Springer entered YMCA work in 1920 and served in Chicago, Lincoln and Minneapolis before his appointment as general secretary of the Sioux City YMCA in 1942. He was a member of the civic committee that organized the USO locally and also assisted in formation of the Sioux City Council of Churches. Survivors include

Mrs. Springer, who resides at 3239 Douglas St., Sioux City, and two sons.

Mr. and Mrs. James C. Wicker have notified the college that their son, LAWRENCE J. WICKER, '75, died July 10 at his home in Greeley, Colo. While a student at Morningside, Mr. Wicker was active in Religious Life Council, International Relations Club, Phi Eta Sigma, American Guild of Organists, Phi Mu Epsilon, Chamber Orchestra, Concert Band and woodwind ensembles. He was a Presidential Scholar, was on the Dean's List and was a Roadman Scholar during his years at Morningside. A memorial scholarship has been established at the college in his memory.

Dean Winfred R. Colton, honorary Doctor of Music '48, dean emeritus of the College of Fine Arts at University of South Dakota, died March 21 at a hospital in Sioux Falls, S.D. Before joining the USD faculty in 1908, Dr. Colton taught at Simpson College. Dean Colton was instrumental in development of USD's fine arts college from a school of music.

Mrs. Mildred Weed died Feb. 23 in Appleton, Wis., at the age of 93. Many alumni will remember her as "Mom" Weed, especially those who lived in the "Weed House" while attending Morningside. She was preceded in death by her husband, a daughter, VERA WEED Kidder, '23, and two sons, DAN, x'27, and JACK, '35. Survivors include two daughters, RUTH WEED Crane, '38, and JOYCE WEED Swanson, '40, 2921 Oakland, Aurora, Colo. 80010.
