TO YOU, IN 1946, WE PRESENT THE SIoux

In this, the first year of peace, the Yearbook of the Sioux presents in graphic evidence its faith in the ultimate internationalism of the world. Nations now residing in prominent places in the United Nations Organization have in their past raised their voices supporting the brotherhood of all men. Their symbols and literature are again depicted to sustain our belief and hope for peace.

In Memoriam

They saw him fall
And turned away their eyes,
For then their hearts were cold
From nameless loneliness.
How could their eyes
Spilled full of aching tears
See, or comprehend
How this must be?
They saw not, heard not,
The freedom of this boy;
Yet watched him
No longer bound by Custom's apathy
Soar buoyantly into the sky
He loved so well.
Soar, and return not.

MAIN HALL

Built at the turn of the century, burned and desolate in 1912, rebuilt and repaired many times—but still the heart of Campus administration and classes—this veteran of our college buildings stands.

CONSERVATORY

Music coming from its open windows—someone singing the scale—students chatting on the steps—the Conservatory, although partially destroyed by fire in 1914, remains as one of the centers of campus activity.

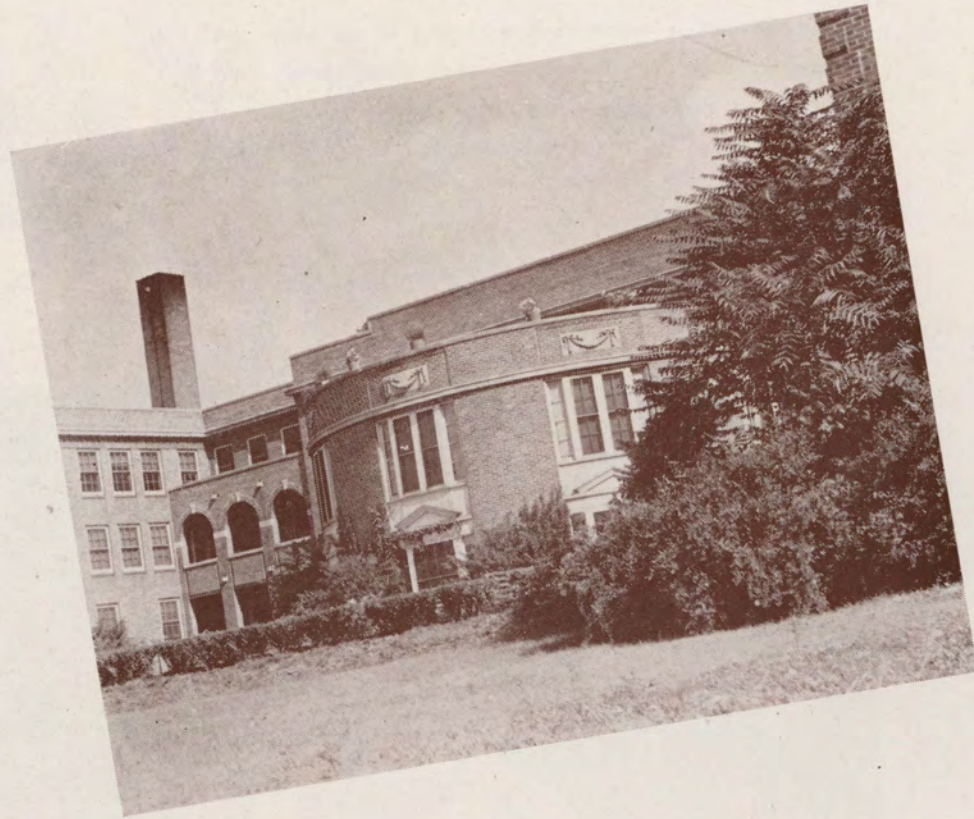

GRACE METHODIST CHURCH

"The chimes tell it"—the carillon ringing in our ears—the Thursday trek across the campus—the quiet beauty and majesty of vaulted arches—rich organ tones—the peace of pausing to "be still and know that I am God."

THE DORM

The quiet, luxurious parlors—a slamming door—a ringing telephone—groups of laughing girls—all this is a monument to the dreams of Miss Dimmitt whose newly painted portrait resides in the place of honor in the lounge.

PREXY LODGE

Just west of the Grace Methodist Church lies the gracious home of the President. The "latch-string" is out to all who come, and the welcome extended to all callers is most cordial.

THE BARN

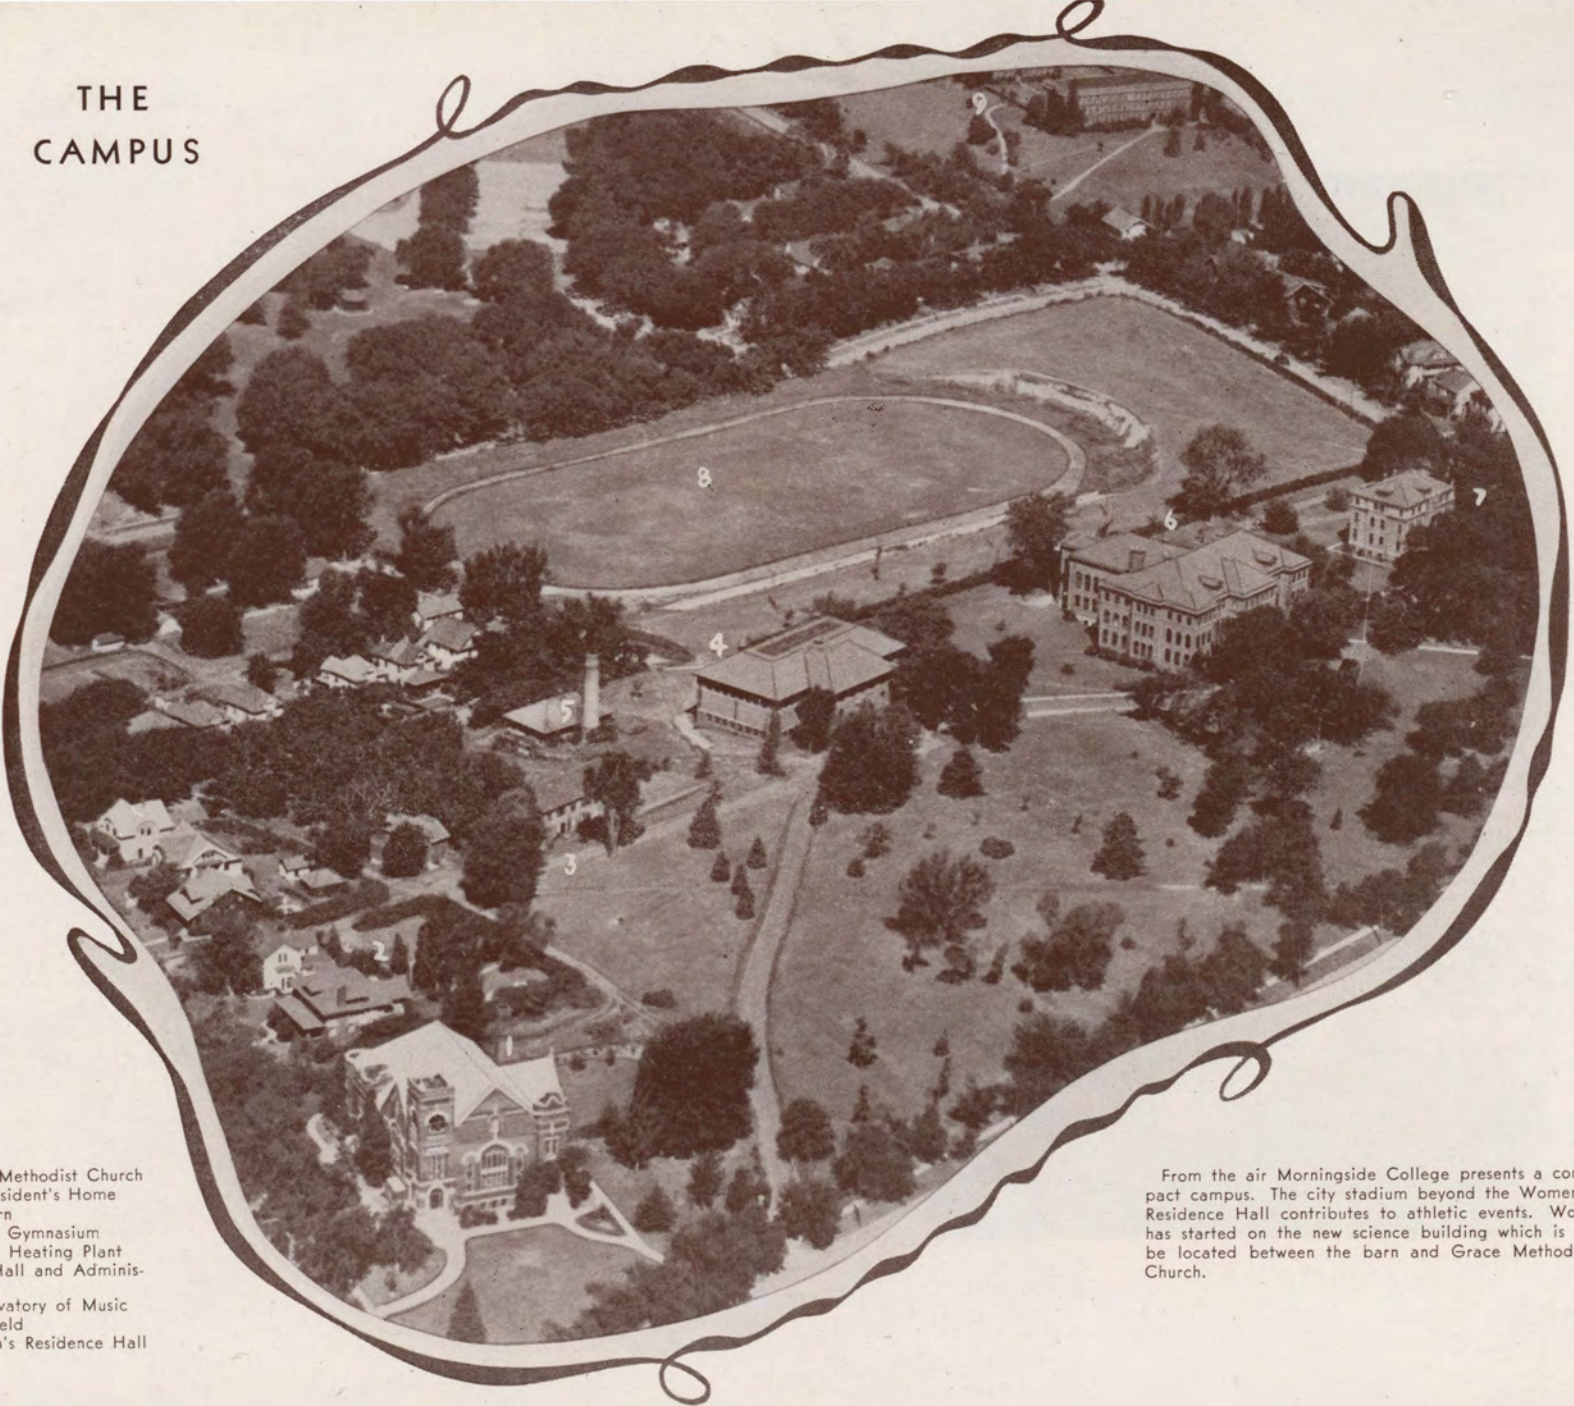

Officially opened in 1946 as the new Student Union Building, the Barn has already become a "must" to students.

THE ALUMNI GYMNASIUM

THE CAMPUS

- 1—Grace Methodist Church
- 2—The President's Home
- 3—The Barn
- 4—Alumni Gymnasium
- 5—Central Heating Plant
- 6—Main Hall and Administration
- 7—Conservatory of Music
- 8—Bass Field
- 9—Women's Residence Hall

From the air Morningside College presents a compact campus. The city stadium beyond the Women's Residence Hall contributes to athletic events. Work has started on the new science building which is to be located between the barn and Grace Methodist Church.

'Tis Good to Remember ...

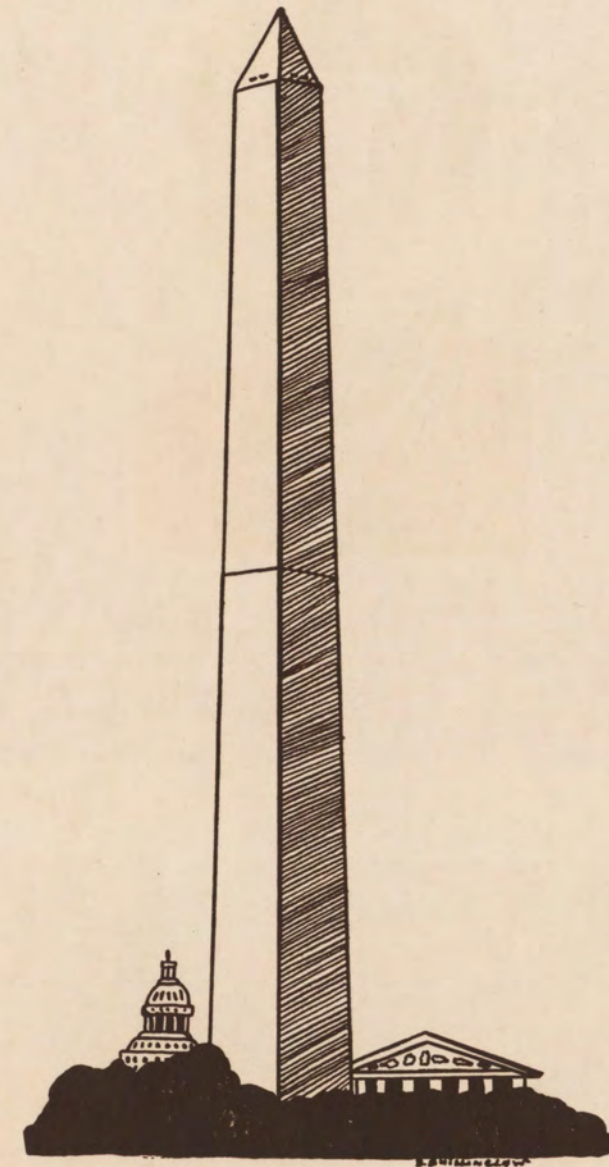

Henri Pensis, who so ably directed the musical programs of Sioux City during the war years, left for his homeland, Luxemborg, the latter part of this year. His exceptional talent, superior musicianship and friendliness will be remembered as will the superb concerts given under his baton by the Symphony, Symphonetta, and Monahan Post Band.

The faculty march on Graduation Day, traditional and stately, from Main Hall to the Commencement Exercises at Grace Church.

Yes, 'tis the seniors. Only four years ago they were eager freshies. Now they are ready to receive that "sheep-skin" they've worked so hard for. Knowing them as we all do, we're sure they'll find life as pleasant as college has been.

DIARY

Dear Diary: September. That word is all that is necessary to bring back "tender" memories of Freshman "daze" with their endless tests. Of course, test week is always rainy, but it didn't dampen the Freshman spirits, nor the spirit with which the upperclassmen initiated the Freshmen. It all ended nicely with a picnic at which the Freshmen boys occupied themselves scraping Floyd River mud off their clothes after losing the tug-o-war to the upperclassmen. My, oh my, but the food we did stow away! So school started off with the proverbial bang.

Dear Diary: Do I smell smoke? Natch! It's October. The football squad really looked handsome while practicing evenings, and still no definite coach. They did all right anyhow. The homecoming was simply "dreamy." It started with a bar-b-que at Bass Field. I'm certainly never going to tell how much food I ate that night! After stuffing ourselves like Thanksgiving turkeys, we gathered around the huge, hot-bright bonfire and yelled ourselves hoarse. Then we retired to the assembly to see Bev Rehnblom crowned queen and a very lovely one, too. Audrey Goodrich and Marjorie Kas-ten were her attendants. To see the three, the only appropriate comment was Hubba! Hubba! The Queen's entertainment was genuine royal entertainment. Everyone had a grand time. The climax to all this was the game, and what a game! Our sore tonsils didn't get any rest the next day, and we won the game. We gave our tonsils a rest that night but wore our feet out at the homecoming dance. But it was fun, believe me, children, it was fun.

Dear Diary: MMMmmm! Do I smell roast turkey? I do! It must be November. If there is any doubt in your mind, just listen in during dinner at the dorm. "Ten more days until vacation, then we go to the station." Sounds familiar, doesn't it? Just ask Miss Tolf. Also, Morningside played host to the Ikota "Y" conference. It was fun meeting new people and showing Morningside off, and we couldn't ask for better quests by our rules or Emily Post's. The Leadership Dinner was this month too. My, but the girls looked purty in their "whistle bait" formals. From the after reports, everyone had a grand time—natch. There was one touch of sadness to this otherwise pleasant scene. Must I recall it? I can't forget it. Mid-terms! Know what I mean? However, everyone seemed to survive, even the profs. After vacation the W. A. A. basketball tournament began. Enough said!

Dear Diary: December, the only month in which I enjoy snow, is here. It's really quite pretty stuff. So many things happened this month, including my birthday. Ahem! The first thing was the Pi Dinner preceding one of the concert courses. The next night was the Kappa Chi banquet. Glen Clark visited our campus this month also. All those who missed hearing him were sorry, and the rest who heard him were smug with their "I told you so's." And then—and then came the first formal dance of the year. My, wasn't it beautiful? Sparkly stars hanging from the ceiling, snow covered cardboard trees, and bon ami frost on the French doors made a breath-taking scene. Did you ever help carry an awkward tree down the street when your partner behind is taller and takes longer steps? It is quite a workout. Intermission was held in the large drawing room with its softly lit tree. Light entertainment and punch were provided. Everyone felt very festive. The following week was the play, "You Can't Take It With You," completely equipped with live snakes and fire crackers. To corn a phrase, it went off with a "bang." Another leaf for Miss Butts' laurels! Finally we left for the long awaited vacation and Santa Claus.

Dear Diary: Happy New Year! It was, until I remembered it was January and Finals. But somehow we did get through them without too much wear and tear on our gray matter. Then began registration, and how the halls did change! Men were back in college. You kept bumping into them. Class rooms overflowed. Girls began to carry compacts again, but no one's complaining. It's grand to have "youse guys" back.

Dear Diary: Yep, all this lace and hearts meant just one thing, February and Valentines. The package table in the dorm nearly collapsed with all the boxes of chocolates, and the mailman threatened to quit if the mail got any heavier, but the girls weren't complaining. All they did was to go off their diets until the candy was gone. Heart Sister week was quite exciting. Everyone was wondering—wondering who gave them their lovely gifts and what to give their heart sister. It was a lot of fun for all involved. Also this month the sororities began to extend their mid-year bids. If you got a bid you knew you'd have a two point at least. What did happen to those grade books? The A. A. U. tournament became quite heated. Harvard defeated Yale. The Alpha Sigma Sorority held open house which is a sure sign they spent the afternoon scrubbing and dusting.

Dear Diary: Windy March arrived under a coat of snow. I kept looking for Christmas lights. At the beginning there was a lull in school activities. The Kappa Zeta Chi sorority held open house. The four beaten down, tired looking girls were the pledges who were assisted by the actives in cleaning the hall. That same night Morningside put a feather in her cap by defeating Tulsa, Oklahoma by one point. Whatta game! It took ten years off my heart and blood pressure. As for details—all I can say is "Whatta game!" The last concert course program was this month. It was a luscious ballet. Everyone and his puppy went. Even I went, but I'm not telling how many others I attended. After all, I'm not a con student. The question of the evening was, what was enjoyed the most, the ballet or the Hershey bars? The Tau Delts held their pledge dinner, if anyone was wondering why those intelligent boys were carrying hen's eggs around so tenderly and asking people to autograph them. The Collegian Reporter held its style show and dance. The Manuscript came out, and the grade books were uncovered. Ishkoodah held its spring formal. Hmmm! What those Freshman girls can do! It was beautiful. It was fun. To put it bluntly, it was super. The Mu Phi and Phi Mu Epsilon (no, it isn't double talk) held their spring formal at the Mayfair Hotel. Then it was the end of the month—just like that.

Dear Diary: April has arrived and so has spring. It brings out the poet in me which shouldn't be done. "Spring has come, the grass is riz," I don't dare go on. And then came the Freshman's day, the Spring Festival. Boy, did the Freshies rate! And their queen—words can't describe her. Take my word for it, chillun, Marg was a beauty. And this beautiful month ended so nicely with Easter vacation. I wish Tom Brenneman could have seen my hat! But the nicest thing in April was the dorm formal dinner dance with open house. If I were Wordsworth, I might be able to describe it. As it is, all I can say is—rudeytoot. This is one performance which can be repeated any time.

Dear Diary: Did you find a May basket on your door? Nice, wasn't it? May means it is time to tie up the loose ends of the year. The collegiate players gave heart warming performances of "Little Women!" Some little theatre and director! Eat, eat, eat, that's all we seem to get done, but no one complains except the waistline. The Junior-Senior girls had a lovely garden party. Aaahh, to be a Senior, or even a Junior wouldn't be bad. This was such a beautiful month, but the footsteps of finals caught up with us. Why do I always let my work go until the last minute? One nice thing, after exams came Memorial Day holidays.

Dear Diary: "What is so rare as a day in June?" Don't answer that. This should be a happy month with Baccalaureate and Commencement Services, but it isn't. There are so many loved faces we won't see next year. I hate to leave this grand school year with a sigh, but I must. Before I close the pages of 1945-46 I want to wish the Seniors not only luck but happiness. It's been swell knowing you. So long for now.

Rallying to meet the "problem" created by a return to normal college life, the Student Council met every other Monday evening in the dormitory all year to plan for and administer a full and successful student extra-curricular program.

The Constitution of the Student Councils of the past which was outmoded, was remodeled during the year. Chairman of the Constitution Committee was Harold Minor. After approval by a vote of the Student Body, the new Constitution was put in effect immediately.

The first semester Student Body President, Beverly Rehnblom, led the Council in sponsoring Homecoming activities over which she herself reigned as Miss Morningside. A formal dance was held on December 7, heralding especially the return to peace-time activities on the third anniversary of Pearl Harbor. Plans were also well under way for the conversion of the Barn into a Student Union during the first semester. The Student Council worked for a better publicized campus, and chartered busses for the various out-of-town football and basketball games in addition.

With a student body increased by over 200, David Cox took over the presidency of the Student Body at the advent of the second semester. An expanded social program was undertaken which saw a Council-sponsored dance after each second semester basketball game. Completion, opening, and administration of the Student Union took place during the latter half of the year. Also successfully carried out by the Council were the traditional spring events of Walkout Day, Sadie Hawkins Day, and Spring Formal.

Looking back on the academic year 45-46, Morningsiders can see that it was a year of great change, of constant surprise, but most of all, of a successful and well-balanced program of activities, headed by the Student Council.

Kappa Chi, fraternity for men and women students training for full time Christian service, initiated a new policy of electing associate members during 1945-46.

Meetings were held once a month; and this year they included not only speakers and initiation ceremonies, but slides on "Christ and the Fine Arts," cooperative dinners in the Barn, and informal discussions.

The annual fellowship dinner with the Allbright Fellowship, a similar group in Western Union College at LeMars, was held this year at Morningside, as was the annual formal dinner, held in late spring at the Mayfair Hotel.

The Kappa Chi "Parsons" basketball team should certainly be mentioned and its loyal cheering section.

The purpose of the fraternity is to provide fellowship, and opportunities to discuss common problems, for the members, and to stimulate an interest in full time Christian service among students.

Gamma Iota Alpha is a new organization on the Morningside campus this year. Its purpose is to promote the welfare of the veterans in their return to college life and to create a fraternal spirit among them. The student's only requirement for membership is an honorable discharge from the United States armed forces.

The "Vets' Club," as it is commonly called, has leased a store building just off the campus, for club meetings and recreational purposes.

Gamma Iota Alpha is the largest men's organization on the campus, with over sixty active members. In this one short year the veterans' fraternity has become an integral part of campus life at Morningside. GIA, we salute you!

Organized in 1891 as the Othonian Literary Society, Alpha Tau Delta continued uninterrupted for fifty-two years and now boasts many famous men and alumni as fraternity brothers.

These pleasant memories mean a lot to each member and it is with reluctance that we see the year end.

PAUL MacCOLLIN

Professor Paul MacCollin, Director of the Conservatory of Music at Morningside, is the conductor of the Morningside College Choir, and outstanding vocal instructor.

The choir has taken an active part in campus life through the continual effort put forth by Professor MacCollin. It has taken several tours this year, and more tours are planned for next year.

"Mr. Mac," as he is known to all his friends and students, has done much to make the Conservatory what it is today. His ability as a conductor, interest in the advancement of music, and willingness to cooperate at all times, has made him friend of all who know him.

MORNINGSIDE COLLEGE CHOIR

This year has seen the a capella choir returning to its former standards of musicianship with additional male voices giving the desired balance. The choir traveled to Rock Valley to sing the "Messiah." They also gave the annual Messiah presentation under the successful leadership of Professor MacCollin at Grace Church. Student soloists appearing at this concert were Janice Gibbons, Barbara Schmidt, Tom Wikstrom, and Don Fischer.

In January, the choir gave a fifteen-minute concert of choral music over radio station WHO in Des Moines. The broadcast included several selections from Handel's "Messiah." Soloists were Mrs. MacCollin and Margaret Ralston.

SIOUX CITY SYMPHONY

This year brought the most successful season the orchestra has seen for many years. Despite having to use high school and college personnel in every section, Mr. Pensis directed some of the world's greatest music in such a way as never to be forgotten. At his last concert, Mr. Pensis bade Sioux City farewell to return to his native land, Luxembourg. We welcome Leo Kucinski back as conductor after his serving in the armed forces.

RUTH BUTTS

Miss Ruth Butts, a graduate of Northwestern University and Indiana State Teachers College, has been head of the speech department this year. She also graduated from Alviene School of Dramatic Art in New York City, and her work with the Winthrop Players of Winthrop, Maine, and the Chapel Playhouse Players of Guilford, Connecticut, have made her an experienced actress.

In addition to the regular play productions Miss Butts has encouraged students to present programs for various civic and religious organizations.

Part of her delightful personality is her helpfulness and charm which make attendance at her classes a pleasure.

"YOU CAN'T TAKE IT WITH YOU"

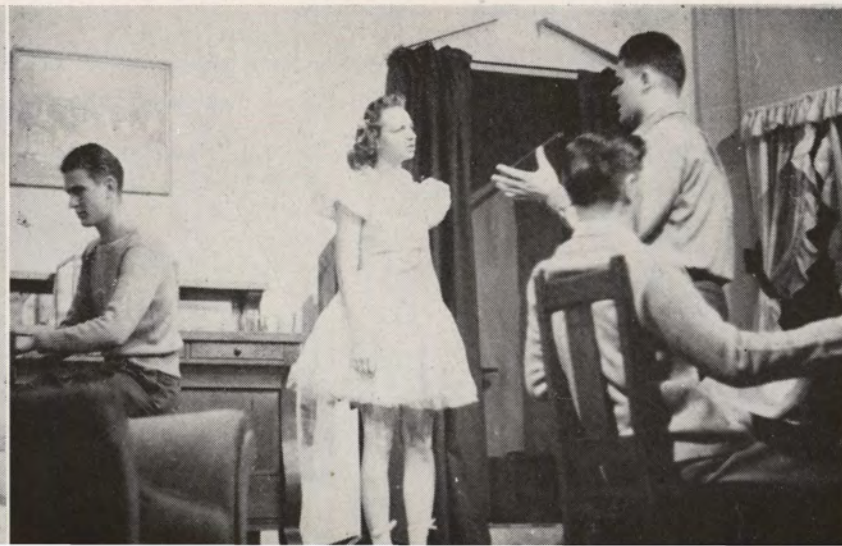

The Broadway hit, "You Can't Take It with You," written by Moss Hart and George Kauffman, was presented by Morningside students December 13 and 14, under the direction of Miss Ruth Butts.

This rollicking comedy takes place in the home of Martin Vanderhoff—"grandpa" to those who live there. The scene is a living room, better known as the every-man-for-himself room where one can see a snake collection, printing press, typewriter, and a piano. Due to a misunderstanding the love affair of Alice and Tony seems doomed to failure, with the family and their friends adding to the hilarity of the situation, but everything eventually turns out happily.

COMEDY BY HART AND KAUFFMAN

DEBATE

In Morningside's first year of intercollegiate forensic competition since 1942, the squad, consisting of Earl Pollock and Jack Howe, coached by Dr. Thomas E. Tweito, participated in numerous events in this section of the country.

Debating both sides of the question, "Resolved: That the policy of the United States should be directed toward the establishment of free trade among nations of the world," the team commenced their season with a first place, winning all their debates, at a tournament held at Wayne State Teachers College in December. This was followed by a non-decision meet at Doane College, Crete, Nebraska, and then, in late February, by a tournament at the University of Nebraska, where the team was one of ten from among seventy-two participating which received a certificate for superior work, while Earl received individual honors in debate and discussion. As the climax of the season, the team journeyed to St. Paul for the Northwest Debate Tournament, where they placed second, losing to Marquette in the finals. Thence to Cedar Rapids for the Iowa Intercollegiate Tournament, where they were one of three teams securing superior ratings. Here both Earl and Jack received individual awards as debaters, and, in addition, Earl was given recognition for superior work in news-casting and poetry reading. The team also participated in individual debates with the University of South Dakota at Morningside, and with the University of Omaha at Omaha, and finished the year by attending the Provincial Tournament of Pi Kappa Delta, national speech fraternity, held this year at Yankton, where they were tied for first place.

In all, the team accumulated four firsts and one second place for debate in the five decision tournaments it attended.

LES DAVIS

Morningside is extremely fortunate in acquiring the services of Les Davis to direct the athletic program and coach the football and track teams.

Coach Davis received his early football tutoring under J. M. Saunderson, for whom he was an outstanding back, being an all-state choice in 1923.

Upon his graduation in 1924, Mr. Davis coached for three years at Webster City before going to East High School, where he has compiled an enviable record in football, basketball, and track.

ALBERT BUCKINGHAM

Another new member of the Physical Education Department is Albert Buckingham, '39. Upon his discharge from the Navy, November 7, "Buck" assumed his duties as basketball mentor. Under his guidance, the Maroon quint built up a fine won-lost record.

After his graduation from Morningside, Al coached two years at Sergeant Bluffs High School, where his basketball team went to the state tournament.

RUSSELL HUGHES

Returning to his alma mater to take over the reins of the 1945 Maroon football squad is Coach Russell B. Hughes. The team, under Russ's tutelage, improved steadily and played their best game in upsetting a highly rated Dakota Wesleyan team. Coach Hughes also assisted Al Buckingham in directing the fortunes of the 1945 basketball team.

Graduating in the class of '37, he has had previous coaching experience in the Akron and Woodbine high schools.

GRIDIRON GLIMPSES

JACK BRAKE—Jack, a Sioux City freshman, played a lot of guard for the Maroons, and more will be heard of him next year.

DICK FORBES—Dick played quarterback and was the best blocker on the squad. He proved a valuable ball-carrier in his own right, being particularly effective on reverse plays.

BOB GILLESPIE—Winning fame for his accurate passes from center and his line backing, Bob will be missed next year on the Maroon eleven line-up. South Dakota University gained second semester upon his transfer from Morningside.

ORIN GOODRICH—"Goody" was without doubt the star of the squad. He was the leading ground gainer, possessed an accurate passing eye and did the team's kicking. Orin, a junior, will be heard from in the 1946 season.

WILL KAUFMAN—Another former Maroon squadman. Will was always good for a first down or a few needed yards from his fullback position.

NORM MUTCHLER—Norm, though handicapped by an injured ankle, played a lot of halfback. He proved a good pass receiver in the Augustana game, and his extra point against Dakota Wesleyan proved the margin of difference between the two teams.

In their first football game since 1942, the Maroons fought the Wayne State Teacher Wildcats to a 0-0 standstill. The team's initial encounter showed several expected early game weaknesses which rose to mar the action of the contest. Playing an outstanding game for Morningside where Goodrich and Will Kaufman, backs; and Bert Nixon in the line.

Russ Hughes took the helm for game number two. October 4 found the Maroon eleven invading Augustana College of Sioux Falls at their homecoming. After battling on even grounds for the first half, 7 to 7, the Sioux Falls aggregation took advantage of several Morningside fumbles to push over two more scores. The Sioux squad was able to tally only once in the last half, the final score being 20-14. Goodrich scored both touchdowns for Morningside, with Paul Zeman and Will Kaufman making the conversions. In the line, Warner, starting his first game at guard, and Bert Nixon starred.

The following week Morningside traveled to Lincoln, Nebraska, to play Nebraska Wesleyan College. Morningside was downed 21-0 in a heartbreaker, with the Plainsmen scoring on passes.

Again, the Homecoming jinx was overcome as the Sioux downed Augustana 26-20. The game was nip and tuck all the way, with Orin Goodrich proving to be the difference between the two teams. "Goody" heaved two touchdown passes to Zeman and Mutchler, and marked down the other two counters on short line plunges. The team, at times, showed defensive lapses, but Morningside, not to be denied this victory, tightened and held when the chips were down. Forbes, quarterback; Zeman and Nixon, ends; were other standouts in the game.

Ending their season on a victorious tone, the Maroons played their best game of the season downing a tough Dakota Wesleyan outfit. Wesleyan scored first but Dick Forbes plunged over for the Maroons to make the half time score 6-6. In the third quarter the Maroons took a lead they never relinquished as Norm Mutchler drove 13 yards for the touchdown and assured the Maroon victory by booting the extra point. Goodrich and Mutchler looked good in the backfield and the line played very well as a unit.

BERT NIXON—An East High graduate, Bert proved a very capable performer, shining particularly on defense. Few opposing teams called plays around right end.

FRED WARNER—Onawa's contribution to the 1945 Maroon football eleven was Fred Warner. Fred played a bang up game at guard and was always in the thick of action.

TOM WIKSTROM—Tom, lone senior of the team, hails from Sioux City. Being unusually fast for a lineman, Tom was at his best when the going was rough.

LEONARD WORDEN—"Len," another freshman, was an aggressive guard in the Morningside line. His best performance was in the Homecoming game, when he plugged up the left side.

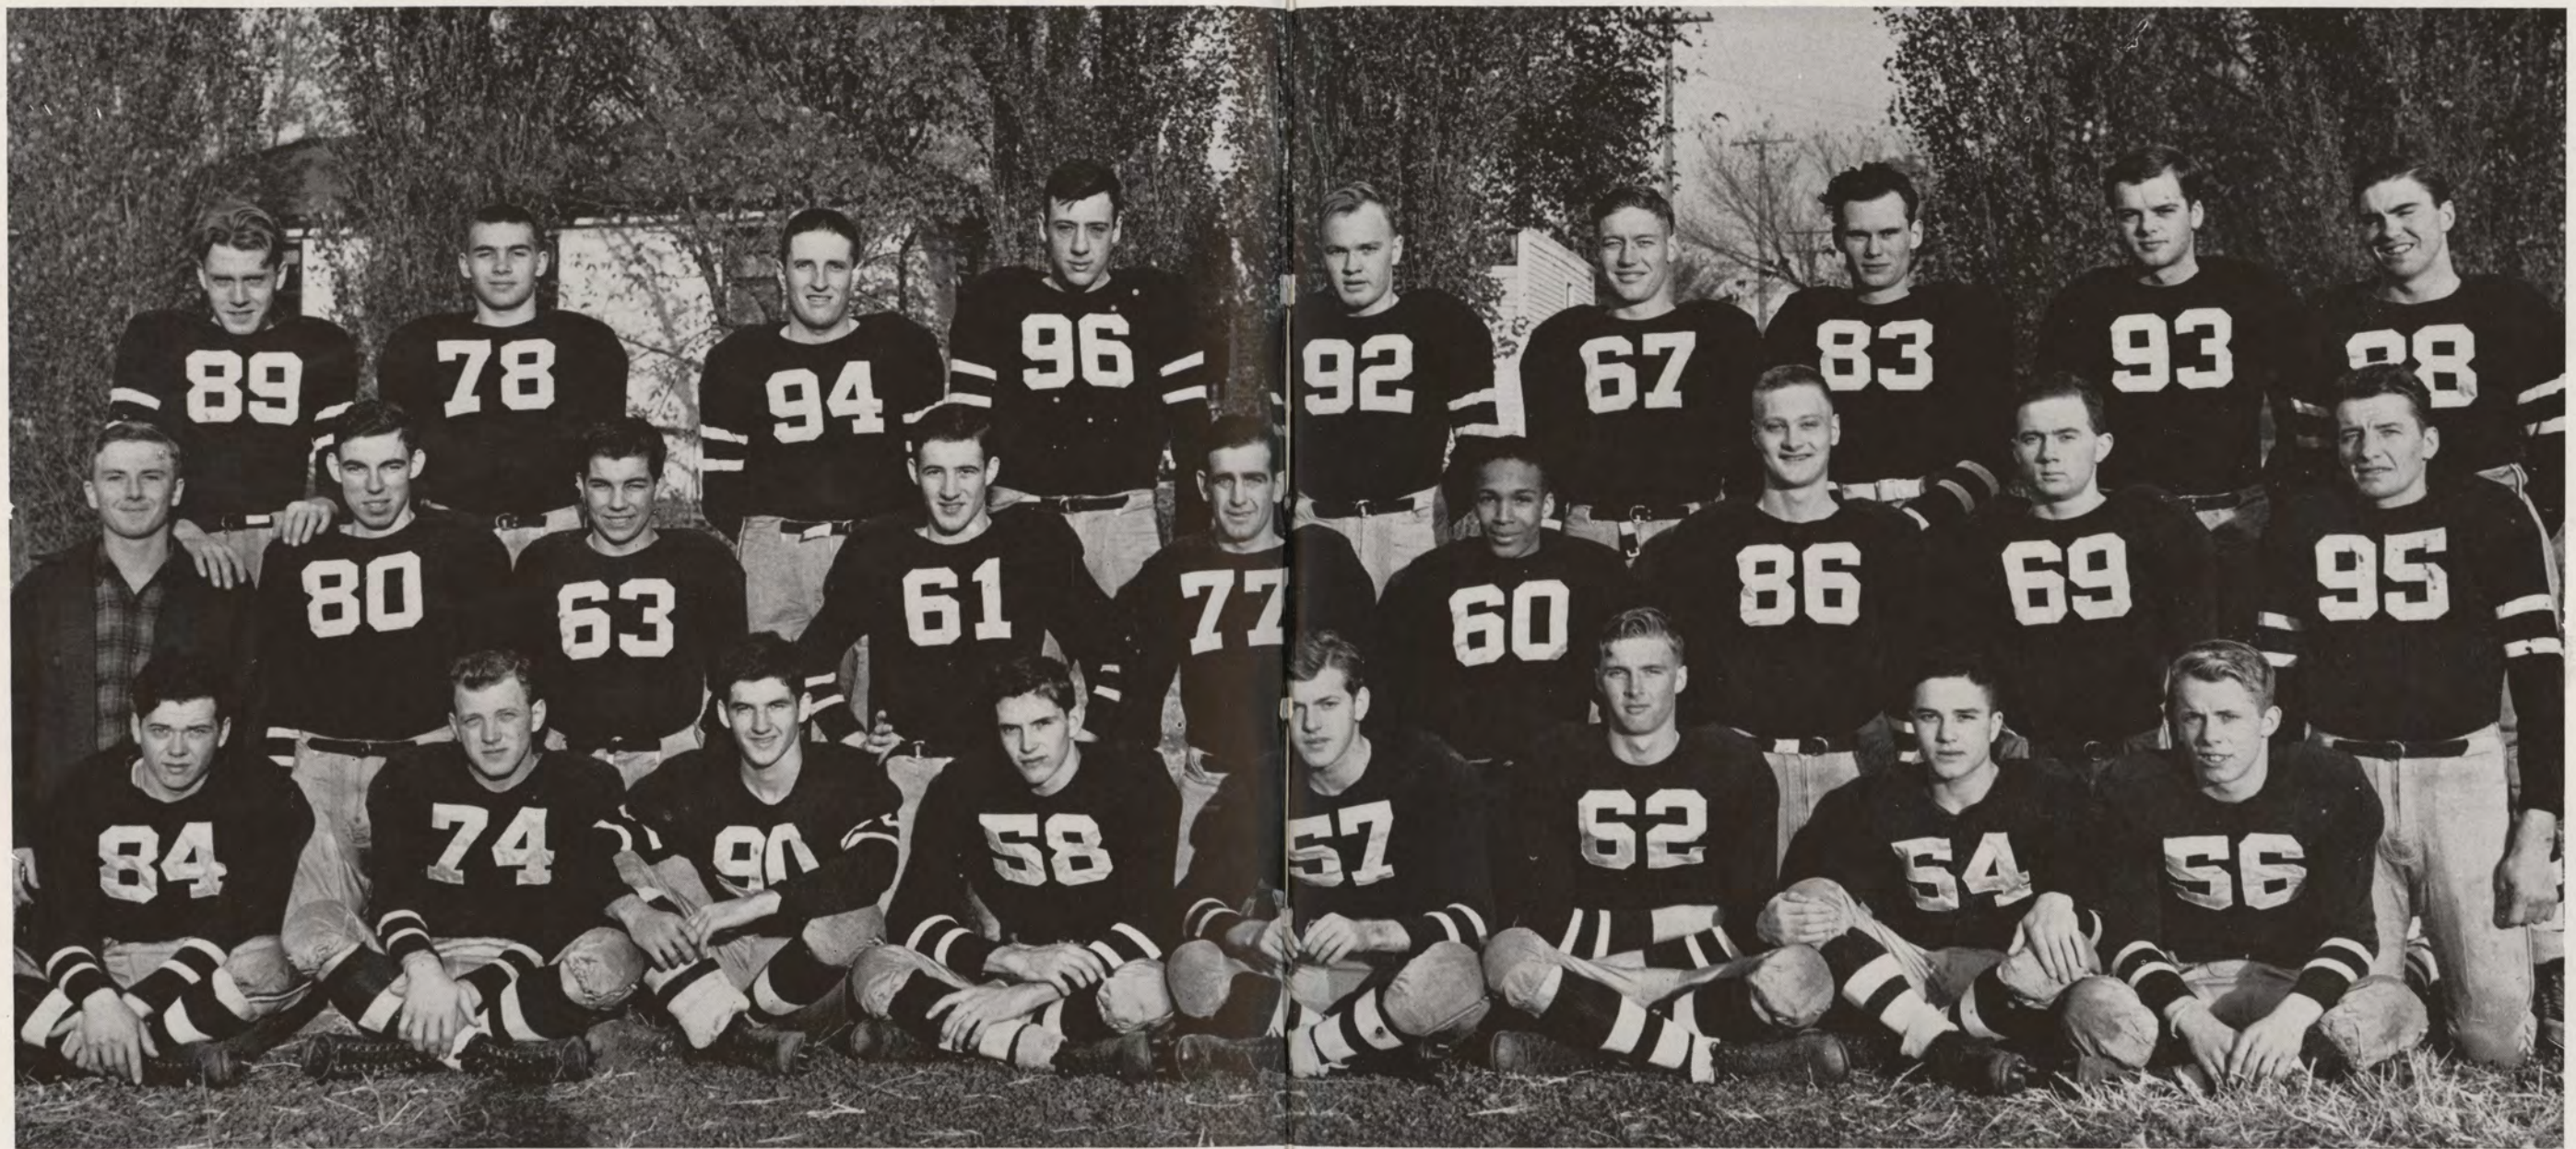

DICK WRIGHT—"Big Dick," by far the largest man on the squad, proved an effective tackle. Rough and aggressive, Dick was at his best when the game was tough.

PAUL ZEMAN—Paul won his fame during the year as the "Playing Parson." He played end, was a good pass receiver and was used on end-around plays.

The 1945 edition of the Morningside basketball squad welcomed the new season by trouncing the Wartburg five 58-33. In their next engagement the Maroons didn't fare as well, being dumped by a taller Creighton team, 41-32. Playing three more non-conference games, the Maroons handily defeated Northwestern Junior College 43-38; Western Union 44-36; Buena Vista 54-23.

The "Men of the M," drawing the Augustana Vikings for their first conference foe, downed them 50-38. In the return engagement at Sioux Falls, the Vikings retaliated, taking this contest 45-39.

The season was counted a complete success as South Dakota University was overcome twice, 53-41 and 50-44. In the first game at Vermillion, Uknes led the scoring with 15 points, while in the second encounter, Norm Mathers took honors with 16 markers.

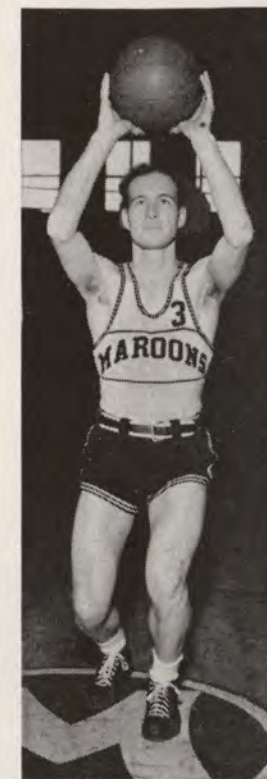

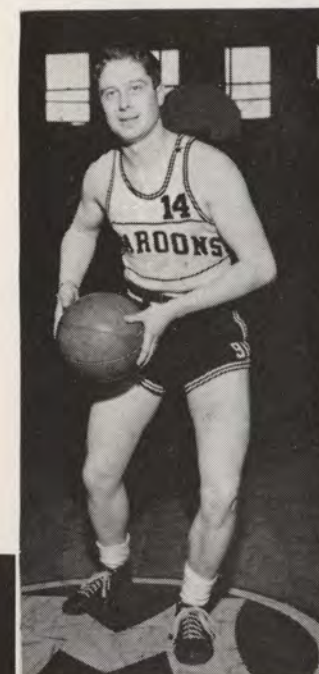

After a several game road trip Morningside was downed 59-42 by the Jackrabbits of South Dakota State. This defeat was avenged in Sioux City, the Sioux squad coming out on the long end of a 65-54 score. Gale Stevens copped 26 points in the encounter.

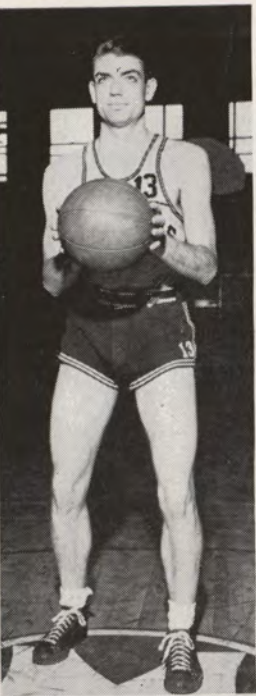

Boosting their conference record the Maroon cagers scalped the Omaha Indians twice, 46-27 and 42-35. Iowa State Teachers were next to succumb to Morningside's high powered attack. The game proved to be a real thriller, with a final count of 49-47. With reserves playing most of the game, Western Union went down to defeat at the hands of the Maroon quintet 58-45.

In their last two regularly scheduled battles, Buckingham's men really hit their stride by vanquishing Northwestern J. C. 58-48; Buena Vista also fell 80-40 in a game that saw Stevens garner 25 points.

A post-season tussle was arranged with a strong Tulsa five of the Missouri Valley Conference. This game, played before a capacity crowd in the Morningside gym, was finally won by the home team in a thrilling overtime contest, 46-45. Obye, guard, closing his collegiate career, was outstanding on defense, while Mathers led the scoring column with 12 tallies.

The highlight of the campaign came next as Morningside was chosen to represent this area in the National Intercollegiate Tournament in Kansas City. The elation was short lived for the Maroon cagers lost out in the first round, going down 56-40 at the hands of the Nevada University Wolf Pack.

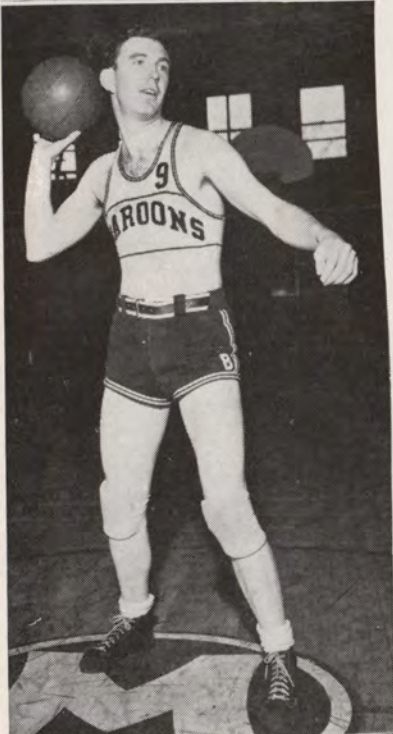

LOREN CLARK

Things always began popping when "Tut" came into the game. A sure shot and expert ball handler, he returned to the Maroon line-up after an absence of two years in service.

JOE DE MAINE

Joe, a great favorite with the crowd, was especially valuable as a team player. Playing forward, he could always be counted on for a few well needed points.

ORIN GOODRICH

Getting his first taste of intercollegiate basketball, Orin was held in reserve, but added pep and speed to the team when in action.

NORMAN MATHERS

Norm was runner-up for the season's high scoring honors, tossing in 167 points. A good rebound man, he was used alternately at forward and center positions.

CHARLES OBYE

"Chuck," lone senior on the squad, was an outstanding performer on defense in every game. An all-conference guard selection in 1942, Chuck was at his best when the chips were down.

GALE STEVENS

LEON UKNES

Leon, an Iowa State transfer, missed the first three games of the season, but he then provided an illustration of how he set a conference scoring record while attending Central High School.

JOHN WANSINK

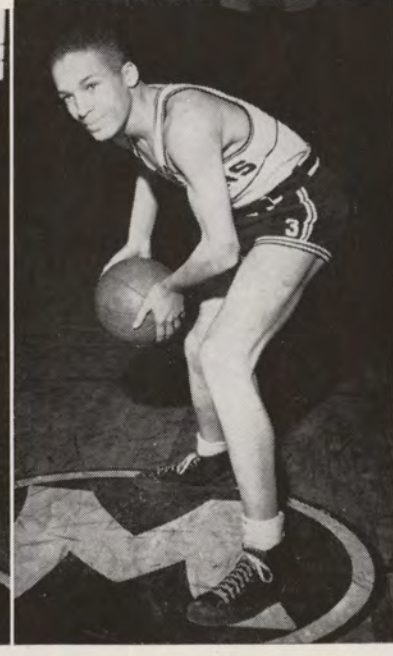

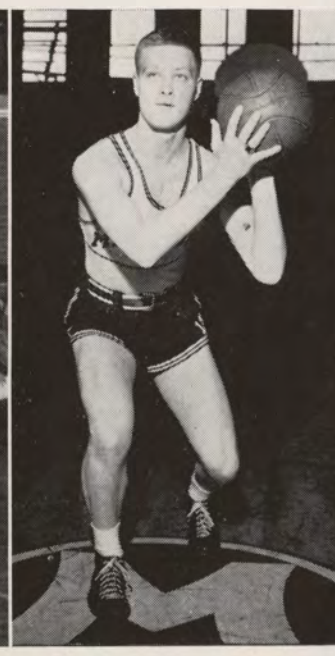

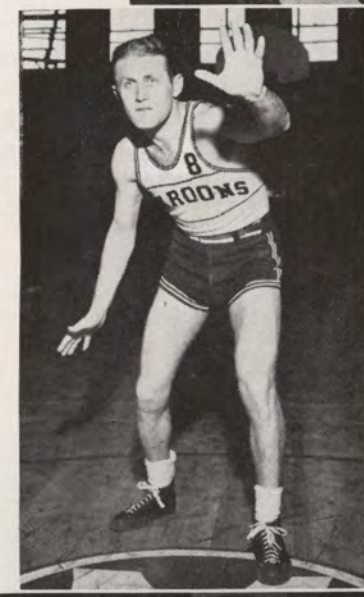

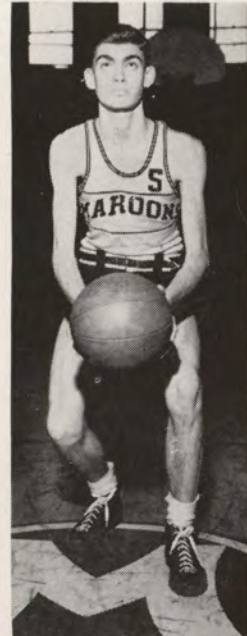

John, an able and smooth playing guard, proved to be especially effective on defense.

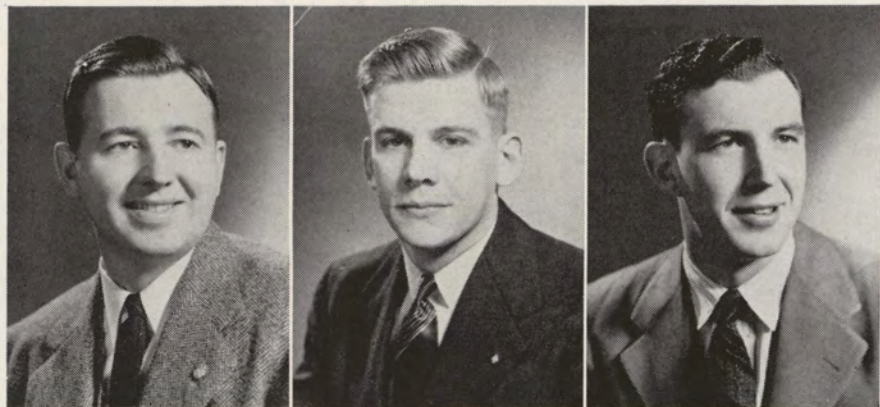

ROSAMOND WILSON

A quick breaking, fast moving forward was "Rosy." The only freshman on the squad, he obtained valuable experience and will see plenty of action next year.

WILLIAM WOLLE

Bill was the youngest member of the squad. Showing himself to be a capable reserve, Bill used his height to a good advantage.

M CLUB

With the return of many pre-war members, the "M" Club was reorganized second semester. Jim Steck was elected president of the club; Chuck Obye, vice president, and Norm Mathers, secretary-treasurer. The white "M" seen on the campus and in the halls symbolizes the return of athletics to college standards. This year the "M" letter was awarded to Loren Clark, Joe DeMaine, Orin Goodrich, Norm Mathers, Charles Obye, Gale Stevens, Leon Uknes, John Wansink.

ATHLETIC ACTIVITIES

The intramural basketball teams entering the contest were: M Club, Cubs, Kappa Chi Parsons, Suburb Swamis, Independents, Vets Club, Cardinals, and Whiz Kids.

Track, the first of this sport since 1943, again appeared on the field. Morningside was represented in the local contests and Dakota Relays, taking a good share of the events.

SPRING FESTIVAL

A MAN AND HIS DREAM

The Spring Festival, a tradition since the first May Fete in 1907, was presented again by the Physical Education Department under the sponsorship of the Physical Education Majors.

From the first scene of a man who had fallen asleep in a park filled with the fantasies of statuettes noting the world's progress in dance, to the final black out, the theme of "A Man and His Dream" was excellently carried out in this 1946 Festival. As the fete progressed, the statues depicting the developing art were further represented in colorful panoramic movement. Modern dance was apt in the savage rhythms and Indian pow wow. Gay European folk dances included the Russian Trepak, Gypsy tamborine solo, and the familiar wooden shoe stomp of the Dutch.

After a Swiss couple dance, a Sports Drill indicating both grace and humor presented a resume of all popular recreation. Poland was represented by a quartette of ballerinas preceding a Swedish polka. With folk music as an appropriate background, the dreamer was shown an English scene with "Picking Up Sticks" as entertainment.

Six couples graced a ballroom floor waltzing to the strains of "Tales of a Vienna Woods." The court was then presented with its Queen, Miss Margaret Johnson, who was crowned by President Earl A. Roadman. Miss Johnson was attended by Miss Kaye Johnstone, who assisted in the coronation. A trio number of "Girl of My Dreams" again reminded those present that the May Queen was a vision in the imagination of a man drowsing on a park bench.

Early American influences on the dance were shown in a clever rope tap dance which was followed by an old fashioned square dance "called" by Miss Skubic. Humor again was inserted in a black face tap number at the depot, "Waitin' for the Train to Come In."

Rhythms of the rumba and conga complete with drum beat and sultry melody transported the fancy to our good neighbors on the south.

Modern dances from jitterbug to the most ultra in the later school closed the fete. The tumblers with their clown, the twin Golliwogs, and the drama of "A Door Stands Open" will not soon be forgotten.

With the completion of the modern dance group, the man awakened to find the statues all in place. The radiant queen of the Festival remained the only reality of his dream.

INTRAMURALS

An extensive intramural program was carried on this year under the sponsorship of the Women's Athletic Association. Tournaments in basketball, volleyball, and softball were included.

The Cadet Nurse team received the W. A. A. plaque as reward for defeating the six other basketball teams entered. Participants were Alpha Sigma, Pi, Zet, and three Ishkoodah squads. The Zet team won their last volleyball game from Ishkoodah to take that tournament.

THE MIRACLE OF THE PICTURE AGE

In less than eight minutes, modern Wirephoto can transmit a picture from New York or any other part of the country directly into the newsrooms of the Journal-Tribune Publishing Company.

A modern miracle—but one which could not be realized without the assistance of photoengraving. Cuts must be made from Wirephotos before they can appear as dramatic "picture news" in your newspaper.

In the creation of posters, folders, catalogues, anything in the medium of printing—only cuts can tell the whole story.
