Message From The President

My father, who is now 82 years old, has a happy philosophy of life, a sense of real security that grows out of an unshakeable faith in the goodness of God. Judging from material blessings, he has never had a reason for such a faith. It can be explained only in terms of that which a man can possess which is other than material. Since I can remember, I have heard him often say: "Life gets better all the time." Yet through my lifetime and most of his, he has never known what might be called real financial security. In fact, it has been a hard life. I have watched him make sacrifices in order to secure his education. To appreciate what I mean by sacrifice let me explain that during the part of one winter he lived and slept in a tent near the campus of the South Dakota college he was attending. During the drought and depression years in South Dakota I saw him serve as a poverty stricken country parson, yet I never realized we were poor. His salary the year I was a senior in high school was, as I recall, $645 — for the year! Later as I went through college and seminary and began my own ministry, I saw him face old age and retirement with the meager pittance provided for retired Methodist preachers. Yet, he always honestly meant it when he said: "Life gets better all the time." And still does!

It has occurred to me that most of you who are in college or are being graduated this year have lived through an entire lifetime of insecurity. Your first recollections are of war and its aftermath. You have heard all your lives of the "cold war", which is yet being waged. You have heard newscasters spreading doom like thick paste over the air. We have been warned of the threats of enemies. After such a life, some of you now leave college intent upon making some positive contribution toward the building of a better world.

I covet for each one of you the ability to honestly say, year by year, "Life gets better all the time." No mere, blind, wishful, "Pollyanna-ism" will produce that experience. I believe there are two qualifications which must be met by those who would really know that life gets better all the time.

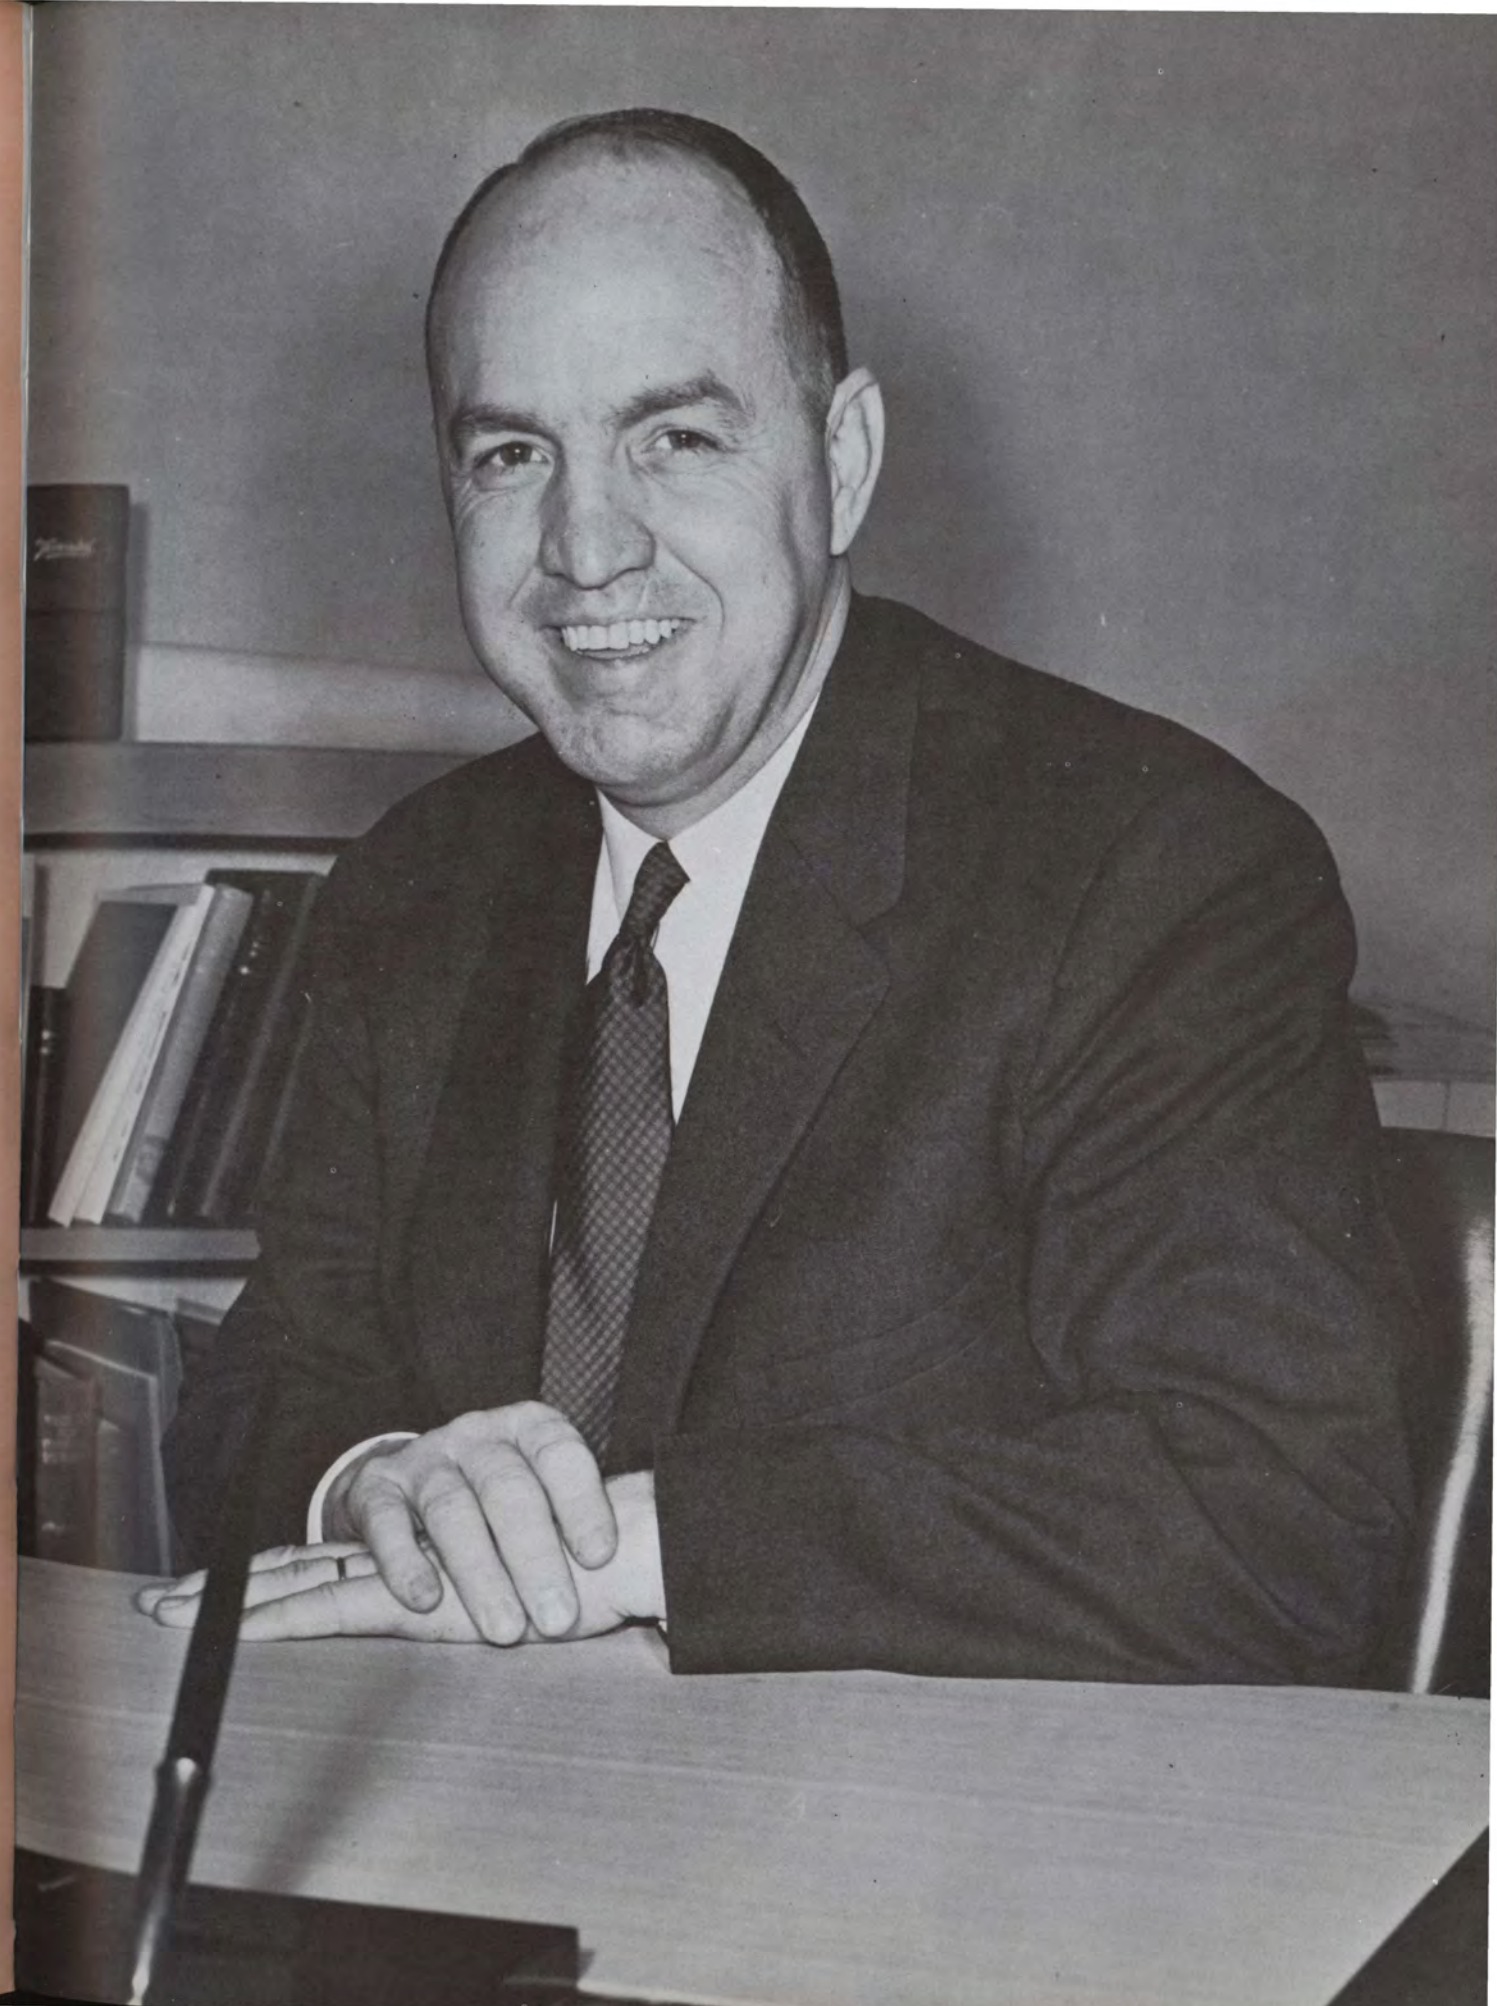

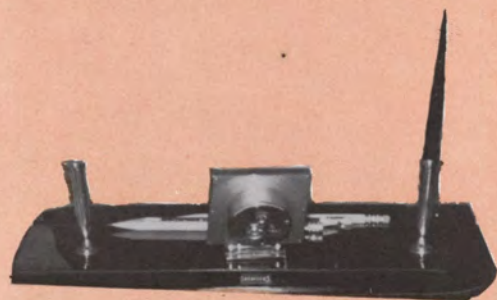

First, success must be defined in terms of spiritual growth. A meaningful working relationship with God, a worthy purpose for all of life, an unquestionable moral code, and an awareness of nobility within will help us find inner peace and strength. Real success in life is measured by our growth toward such goals.

Secondly, security must be thought of in terms of integrity. Individuals do not fear those whom they can trust. Nor do nations build defenses against other nations which they can trust. Our security will result first, from making certain our lives are worthy of the trust of others, and then working through all the available agencies to help the peoples of the earth to understand one another and to be worthy of mutual trust.

I hope your college years have helped you to appreciate such a point of view. It will not prevent physical or mental pain, but the faith that produces such a philosophy of life will give you strength to endure and to find good joyous reasons for living. Nor will such a belief grant you material security or any of the other freedoms we love, but you will find a growing sense of inner peace as you use every available source to help build lasting security for our age and our posterity.

It is my prayer that each of you will find a faith that will make you know: "Life gets better all the time."

J. Richard Palmer
President,
Morningside College

Message From The Deans

College presents a golden opportunity to learn to live a more abundant life. It aims to prepare people to play a more effective, though not necessarily a more dramatic, role in daily living. Science and technology will undoubtedly influence our lives increasingly in the future. But the quality of life will continue to be determined by the housekeeping in the heart of mind. If truth, purity, common decency, and basic integrity are among the virtues husbanded in the heart, it will reflect itself in christian citizenship and nobler participation in church, community, and civic affairs.

It is a joy to be associated with one thousand enthusiastic young people who are striving to improve the potential of life. The pages of the Sioux will be a storehouse of memories of the golden days invested in the foundations of life.

Thomas E. Tweito

The Indian poet Tagore expressed the highest hopes of people all over the world when he wrote:

“Where the mind is without fear and the head is held high
Where knowledge is free;
Where the world has not been broken up into fragments by narrow domestic walls;
Where words come out of the depths of truth;
Where tireless striving stretches out its arms toward perfection;
Where the clear stream of reason has not lost its way into the dreary desert of dead habit;
Where the mind is led forward by thee into ever-widening thought and action—
Into the heaven of freedom, my Father, let my country awake.”

What Tagore desires for his country we desire for ours. Such a heritage has been handed down to us. Ours is the task to prepare ourselves to be creative contributors to that heritage.

Lola Jacobs

The Sioux is a permanent record of this year. My congratulations to each of you for the results of your efforts. I hope you have enjoyed the classes and found them as rewarding as I have.

A great deal of work has been invested in the events portrayed here for you to review now, and in later years. This work, and more, is necessary if we are to be more than spectators in life. Little work and ordinary efforts result in little success and ordinary performance.

1958 SIOUX

Dear Mr. Petersen:

From among the photographs you sent I have selected your SIOUX QUEEN and her four lovely attendants.

This has been an honor and a most pleasant though difficult task -- so very many of the young ladies possess outstanding qualities of beauty, charm, and personality. Had it been possible for me to see and speak to these young ladies in person coloring, skin texture, figure, poise and personality would have influenced my selections. Nevertheless I hope you will approve of my decisions.

Please extend my congratulations to the lovely winner and her beautiful attendants. With best wishes to you, your entire staff, and to the faculty and student body of Morningside College.

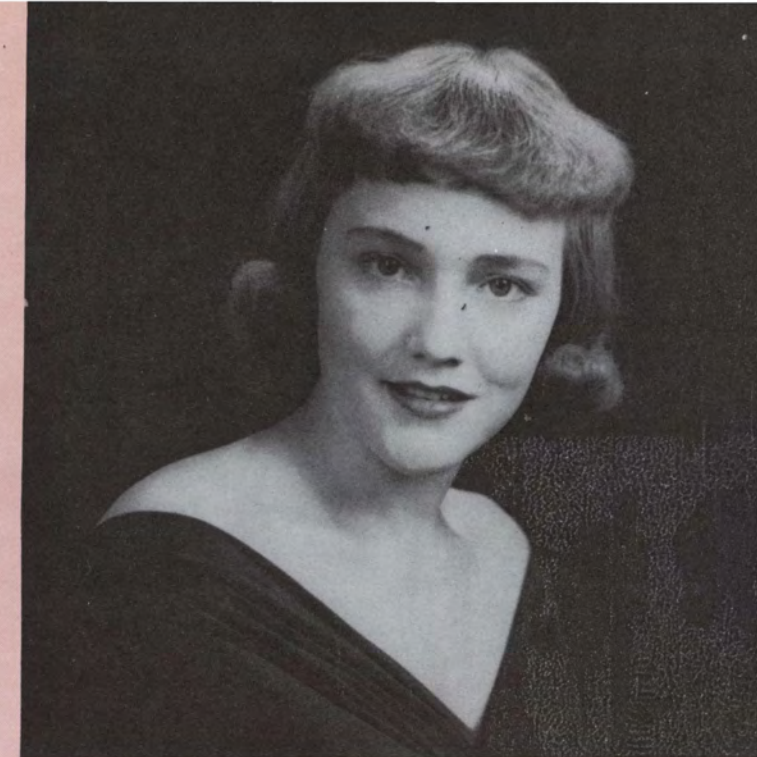

Cordially,
Bob Cummings

Alpha Delta Pi

Alpha Delta Pi was the first secret society in the world for college women and has since grown to be one of the largest.

In keeping with the sorority's service project for working with handicapped children, a Valentine's party for the children of the Community House was held.

Homecoming floats, rush parties, after game dances, a spaghetti dinner, bowling parties, Christmas caroling, dinners with the alumnae, engagements, Walk-out Day relay teams, and the spring dinner-dance, all go into making sorority a wonderful time for all the girls.

Delta Zeta was the first national sorority on the Morningside College campus. Delta Zeta was established in 1902 at Miami University, Oxford, Ohio. Some of the projects include a special event of entertainment and refreshments for underprivileged children and all DZ chapters assist with the unique work being done at Gallaudet College which is the only college in the world devoted entirely to the needs, instruction, and training of young people who are deaf.

Activities of the Delta Zeta's this year include: Bowling, Birthday parties, pot luck suppers, pledge party for actives, Sig Ep mixer, picnic for Sig Eps, Steak Fry, State Convention at Ames, Style Show, DZ Mothers' Club pot luck, all Greek party, DZ Slumber party, banquets at the Steak House for pledges and initiates, Agora carnival, after-game dance, Siouxland Exposition, Club ATD, and the Dorm Slumber Party.

DZ's also participated in Agora, Ishkoodah, LSA, Home Economics Club, Student Council, Panhellenic, Majorettes, Band, Choir, ISEA, Cheerleaders, WSGA, Collegian Reporter Staff, Science Exposition, Religion-in-Life Week, Prize winning float at Homecoming time.

Sigma Kappa . . .

Sigma Kappa is one of the five oldest sororities, having been founded at Colby College in 1874. We are proud that it was the first Greek letter sorority to be founded in New England. While many Greek letter sororities had their origin in early literary groups, Sigma Kappa was in the beginning what it is now—an organization of college women to promote service, cultural development, spiritual standards, high scholarship and intellectual life among its many thousand members.

The first emblem worn by members was a ring. The second was a monogram of which the present pledge pin is a replica. In 1894 the badge as worn by Sigmas all over the world was adopted. Sigma Kappa colors are lavender and maroon and the sorority flowers is the violet.

Despite our small number we successfully sponsored the Queen of Hearts dance, a booth at Agora Carnival, and other campus activities.

Mu Phi Epsilon . . .

Mu Phi Epsilon is a national music sorority which promotes musicianship and friendship among women students and graduates of American colleges and schools of music throughout the country.

Membership is based on scholarship, musicianship, and personality. Phi Zeta chapter requires a candidate to have attained a 2.75 grade average and reached the standing of a second semester freshman music student, or the equivalent number of hours.

The badge is a triangle enclosing a lyre and displaying letters MΦE, one on each side of the triangle. The greek letters Phi Zeta, the name of Morningside's chapter, are shown on the guard pictured.

Delta Sigma Phi

The Gamma Psi chapter is the representative of the Delta Sigma Phi International Fraternity on campus. During the past year the chapter has played an active and important part in campus functions. The highlights of the year included the Homecoming parade, returning of the alumni, the winning of the intramural football championship and the annual dinner dance. Individually there were many Delta Sigs outstanding in the various campus activities. These included varsity sports, science, drama and business.

Throughout the school year the student council serves as the voice of the student body. From the strenuous election campaign in the spring of the previous year with the announcement of the winning personalities at the annual Senior Farewell dance, the council has its beginning. In the fall, determination of the appointive officers fills out the entire council. Planning student functions, homecoming and walkout day activities, controlling the student activity funds, and providing a general voice for the students comprise the council's duties. The ability to carry out these functions, the achievements and failures, serve as the platform basis for another election. After walkout day the duties of the council have in essence been terminated and a new council has its birth.

To round out the music program of Morningside College is the Sioux City Symphony Orchestra. Many students are affiliated with this group, along with professors of music Leo Kucinski and Jack Wolff, who are conductor and concert master respectively. Name soloists are brought in each year, but the highlight of the year is when the symphony stars in its own exclusive concert.

Football

A successful record was the result of a hard fought football season. The record, of four wins, one loss and one tie, placed the Maroons second in the North Central Conference. The crown was won by South Dakota State, whose record in the conference play was marred only by a 7-7 tie with Morningside.

The high spirit of the Morningside fans following the team was an asset to the rampaging Maroons. This spirit was evident in the homecoming game with Iowa State Teachers' College. In the first quarter a 13-play, 55 yard drive resulted in the first Morningside tally. The Tutors lost the ball on downs on the Maroon 18 in the second quarter, and on the first play from scrimmage Rusty Mohler took a handoff from quarterback Reynders and raced 82 yards, with excellent blocking, for a second T. D. In the fourth period, a punt blocked by the powerful Maroon line resulted in the final score, of 21-7.

Four players were named to the 1957 All-Conferenie team. They were Truman O'Doherty, Delaine Koch, Larry Johnson, Darrell Murray.

Basketball

The Maroons finished the basketball season with a 9-12 record. The year might be called a year of building, with only three lettermen back. Head coach Chuck Obye ('46) spent his first year finding what will be a good foundation for the 1958-1959 Maroons.

Senior graduates from the squad will be center Dick Yates and Norm Falk, a forward, both from Sioux City. Because of first semester graduation, the team will also miss the Erwin brothers, Jim and Gary, guards, in January 1959.

After the final tabulations, Yates and Ron Juffer, a junior guard, led the individual scoring for the team. Yates has the most points, 231, but his 12.16 average falls short of Juffer's 13.13 mark. Juffer missed four games because of leg injuries; he has 197 points for the season. Yates led the North Central Conference in free throw accuracy, hitting 81% in conference play.

Track

Morningside's Track Team is one of the better in the mid-west. With several outstanding lettermen returning this year we can expect a good season for the Maroons. With practice comes perfection, and these pictures show our men drilling in the art of running, the discus and the shot. Under the able direction of Jack Jennet, our men will show in their meets ability as well as sportsmanship.

Baseball

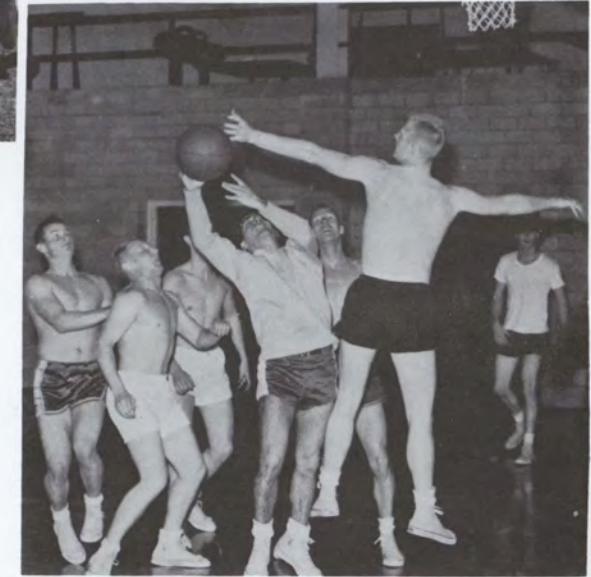

Our baseball team played many games with our neighboring colleges, and portrayed the Maroon spirit in every instance. The returning lettermen gave our team the zest and experience to forge ahead and better our win and loss record of last year.

With Don Protector as their able coach, we can well be proud of our team.

Marion Clark

The intramural program under the direction of Marion Clark, was the best in years. Much effort was exerted to get all to participate. Football, volleyball, and basketball were some of the varied activities in which many of Morningside's organizations participated.

Several independent teams entered competition this year, which stiffened competition. Many outstanding trophies were presented to the winning teams as rewards for excellent performance, showmanship, and sportsmanship.

RELIGION

IN LIFE

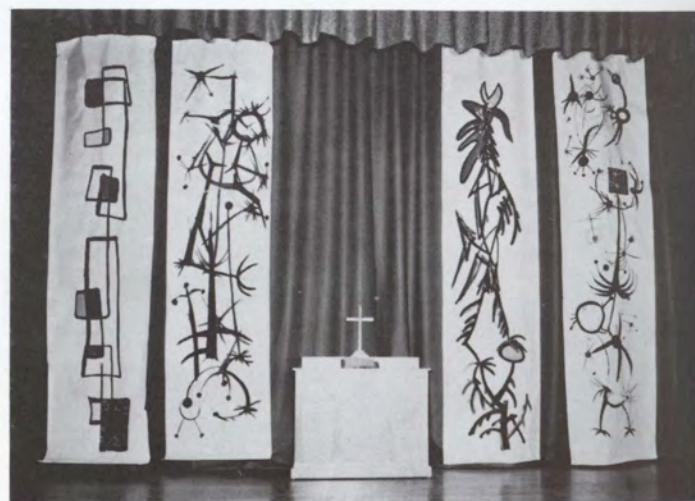

R. I. L. Week Speaker — Dr. William Hall

Dr. Hall of Denver University proved to be a dynamic personality both in his chapel addresses and in his work with separate organizations and groups. He played a vital part in the success of the week.

Voluntary chapels were held in Klinger Forum on Thursday and Friday. The excellent attendance on both days showed that the student body was finding that Dr. Hall had something of value to offer and they were taking advantage of it.

Keith Fry and Tom Priestman painted these panels to be used as part of the worship center, giving artistic expression and offering stimulation of thought about the religious values which we hold.

Climatic Evening of R.I.L. Week

"The Little Seers"

This production, written and produced by Morningside students, vividly portrayed the confusion and searching in the life of a student. Directed by Coleen Neilsen and Harvey Bartz, it became the high point of the week for those who attended. The modern dance and drama departments were used in the production of "The Little Seers."

Fellowship Hour

Following the production, those attending went to Allee Gymnasium for an hour of square dancing, refreshments, and singing. Miss Clara Luther led the dancing and Rev. Charles Wallace directed group singing. As many students as participated had an evening of life, fun, and Christian fellowship.

Faculty

Home

Discussions

A further step in the direction of better understanding and relationship between faculty and students was taken on Wednesday evening as faculty people extended invitations to the students to come to their homes. This is the first time such discussions have been introduced into RIL Week. It will be hoped it is not the last for everyone enjoyed it and believed it to be very profitable. Pictured above is the discussion at the Ray Nelson home. Also on Wednesday seminar groups were held at which faculty members served as discussion leaders. These were very well attended.

The executive committee for RIL was composed of six students and six faculty who acted as chairman and advisors over five other committees. The entire group included about thirty people. The executive committee was composed of (left to right —seated) Mr. Collier, Rev. Gingerich, Mr. Clarkson, Harvey Bartz, (standing) Dr. Walsh, Mr. Zimmerman, Myrna Christian, Rosalie Jacobson, Miss Jacobs, Nancy Crary, Doris Sadler, Roger Tuttle, and Dr. Hall. David Petersen is absent.

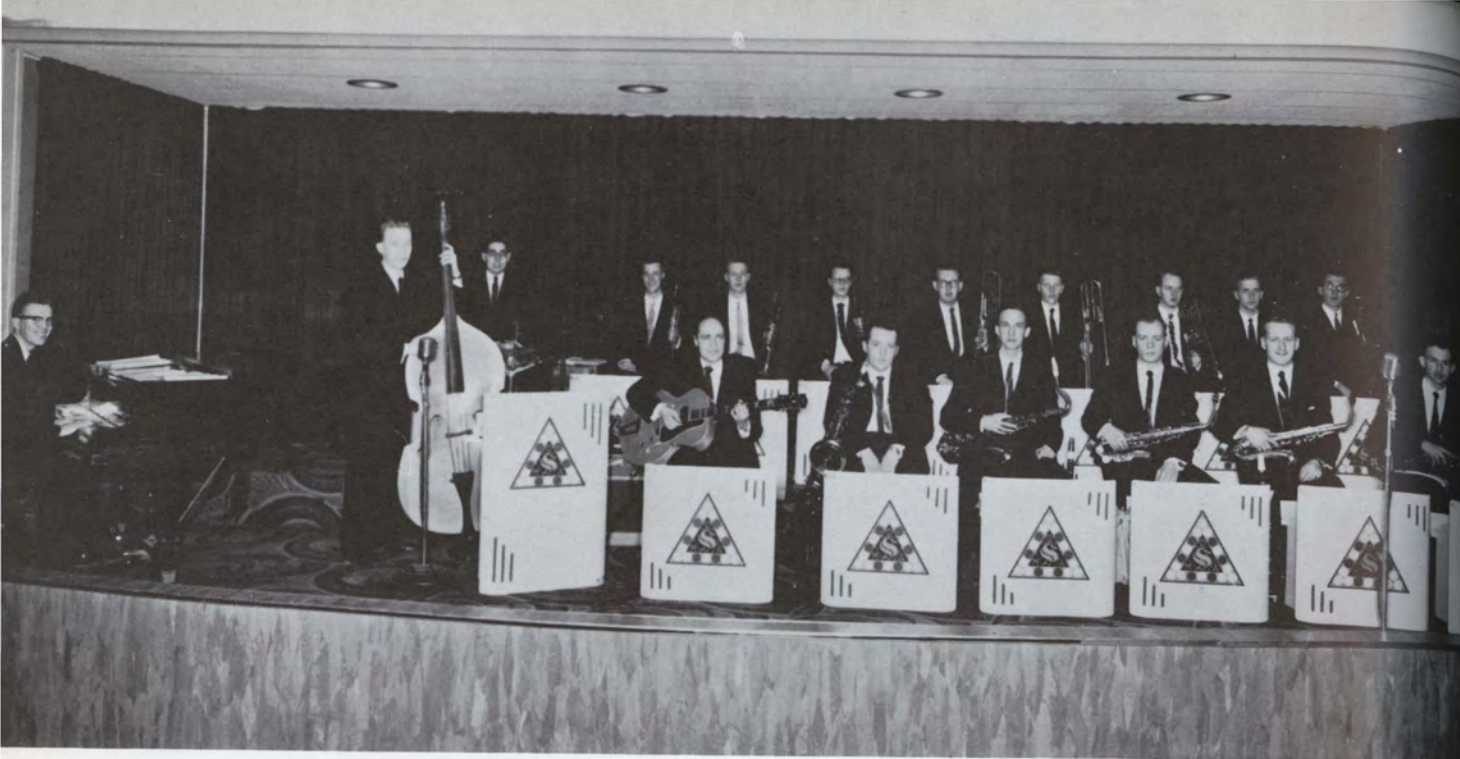

The Religious Life Council will be those responsible for Religion in Life Week Committee in following years. This council is newly formed this year and will play a vital part in the organization of religious life on our campus.

Walk Out Day

The bugle signals a close to classes, and "on to the monument."

Races to the monument are a very integral part of walk out day.

The destination—here the races are ended, and contests begin.

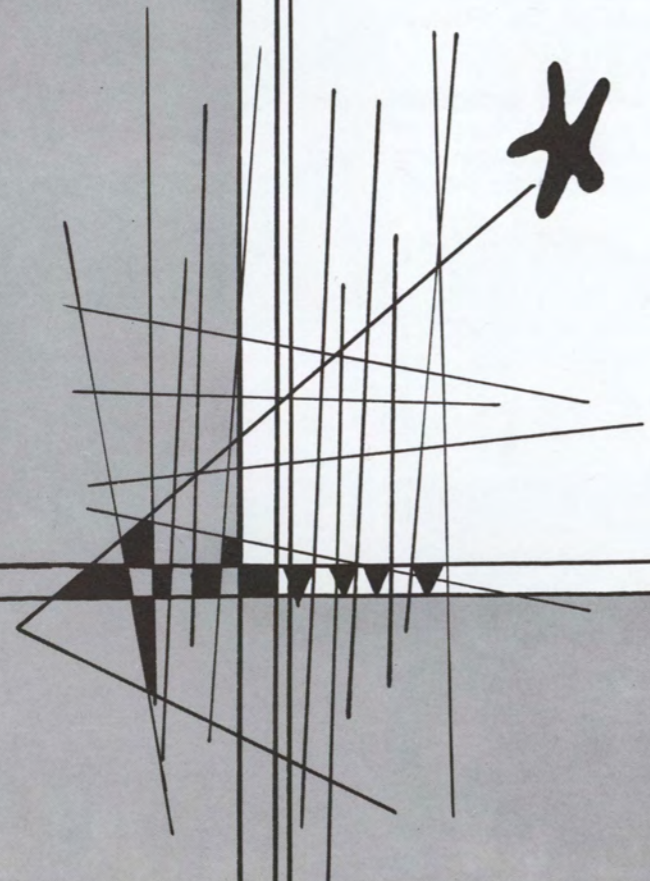

A picnic spirit fills each stomach, and students eagerly wait for food.

The history of Walk Out day is a legend among Morningsiders. It is annually held in the spring, the exact day is left to the discretion of the Student Council President.

Races, contests, speeches, eats, dancing, and tired muscles are most emblematic of walkout day. Yet after it is all over and the school year almost to a close, the undergraduates are planning for a better one next year.

The day is climaxed at the traditional evening dance, at which time the May Queen is announced.

YEARBOOK STAFF
ROY E. PETERSEN, Editor
MARLYS H. LINNAN, Assistant Editor
CAROLYN A. MEYER, Business Manager

Students of Morningside
Morningside College
Sioux City 6, Iowa

Dear Students,

We present to you the 1958 SIOUX. The changes in this year's publication were made with the hope that they would result in a "bigger and better" annual for you, our fellow students. This is your annual, it is merely our job as members of the staff to collect the happenings of the year into a permanent record. We have enjoyed editing the 1958 SIOUX. It has meant a lot of work for the staff but the result is well worth the time and energy put into the production.

Sincerely,
THE STAFF
