Pre-Engineers Present Program in Gym

Friday, Dec. 6, the Pre-Engineers Club of Morningside College carried on their club's tradition, started in 1928, of presenting to the student body and guests, both an interesting and educational program demonstrating the purposes and aims of their organization.

The program, commencing at 8:00 P. M. in the Gym, consisted of a series of demonstrations of scientific nature. A well balanced and interesting evening had been arranged by the president, Stanley Roehrs, assisted by Harold Muschamp and Bob Des Lauriers, under the direction of Dr. Graber.

Activities began with a talk by Dr. Graber. Following his talk, members of the club gave demonstrations of high frequency radio waves, active materials in and the use of the Gieger-counter, and the uses and principles of ultra violet light. There was also a showing of model aircrafts and of controlled flight.

Following the group demonstrations in the Gym, guides were on hand to show the spectators to the different rooms in Main Hall where other demonstrations and activities took place.

AUDIENCE OVERTAXES CHURCH AUDITORIUM TO HEAR 28TH ANNUAL MESSIAH CONCERT

Miss Davis Presents Concert

The Sioux City Civic Concert course presented Miss Ellabelle Davis, the colored dramatic soprano, on Dec. 9 in one of the finest musical concerts given in Sioux City in a long time. Her recital was of New York caliber, a first-run performance of an excellent artist.

Miss Davis sang a program in the best traditions of the vocal art; a classical group in which every detail from minute embellishments to intricate phrase lines were finely executed, a solid, difficult German lieder group, an aria that especially suited the temperament and background of the singer, a varied French song group, and finally an American group in which she and her fellow artists, Dorothy Maynor and Marion Anderson, are special exponents.

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

The Morningside annual Christmas program was held Thursday night, December 19, in the Gymnasium. The women's physical education department presented this program of 17th century music, dance and song, in collaboration with the conservatory of music.

The Faculty Womens' Club of Morningside College held a holiday dinner party December 15, in the dining room of the Womens' Residence Halls. A reading was given by Mrs. Betty Roadman, U. S. O. actress and sister-in-law of Dr. Roadman, and Christmas carols were sung by the group accompanied by Prof. Ames Reistrup.

The annual Christmas ball sponsored by the Student Council for the students and alumni was held December 17 at the Tomba ballroom. Music was furnished by Joe Sanders and his Nighthawks.

The wives of Morningside College students are now banded together in an organization called "The Campus Wives." Officers were elected recently and a bazaar was sponsored by the group.

Dr. W. T. MacDonald, well remembered as a former pastor of Grace Church, has donated his private library to Morningside College. Mrs. J. V. McKelvey (Martha McDonald, '07) and her husband, Prof. McKelvey, mathematics instructor at Iowa State College, brought the books to the college during the Thanksgiving holidays. Miss Janet MacDonald, '10, the younger daughter, is a professor at Butler College in Indianapolis, Ind.

Dr. J. E. Kirkpatrick was called to Coogan, Ia., on December 9 by the death of his mother, Mrs. Jennie Kirkpatrick. Funeral services were held there on December 11. Mrs. Kirkpatrick was known to many Morningsiders because of her frequent visits here in the Kirkpatrick home.

Dr. and Mrs. Roadman are planning to leave January 9 on an extensive eastern trip. Their itinerary includes stops at Syracuse, Boston, New York City, Washington, D. C., Pittsburgh, Cleveland and Chicago.

In a world not yet fully recovered from war nerves, the current popularity of religious oratorios, both in this country and in foreign lands, must be taken as a reassuring sign that peoples everywhere earnestly desire peace and spiritual stability.

Sunday night, December 15, a great audience overflowed Grace Methodist Church auditorium to hear the 28th annual presentation under the baton of Paul MacCollin. Every side room and balcony was jammed, scores of standees fringed the walls of the large auditorium, and some late comers were turned away. Sunday night's performance was one of the best heard here. Perhaps inspired by the near record audience that braved sleet and slippery streets to attend, the chorus and soloists caught fire to deliver a deeply moving performance.

Soloists were Vivian Bauer of New York city, contralto; Elizabeth MacCollin, soprano; Max Williamson of Yankton, S. D., tenor; and Emery Stewart, bass. Mrs. MacCollin and Mr. Stewart are members of the Morningside Conservatory of Music faculty. The four shared equally in honors Sunday night, all presenting musicianly, highly effective performances. It was the first appearance here for Miss Bauer and Mr. Williamson.

Members of the Sioux City Symphony Orchestra and Clara Asmus Gray, organist, were accompanists. Homer Garretson was concertmaster. The choral work equaled if not surpassed any in the long series of Messiah concerts here under the inspirational leadership of Mr. MacCollin, who founded the oratorio series 29 years ago. In only one year during that span has Sioux City missed hearing Handel's magnificent work at the pre-Christmas period. Japan's Pearl Harbor attack caused the one omission.

Attend Convention

Dr. Roadman and Dean Tweito attended the annual conferences of church related colleges of the north central area Wednesday, November 13, at Omaha. The colleges in attendance included the area between Denver University at Denver, Hamlin University at St. Paul, Beloit College in Wisconsin and Illinois Wesleyan University at Bloomington, Ill.

The president of the association, Bryant Drake of Doane College, Nebraska, sounded the keynote in a plea that the colleges seek resolutely to maintain the religious front against advancing secularism in education.

On the problem of increasing enrollments there was a conflict between those who believed that colleges should resist the strain of expansion and those who felt that colleges were called upon to render the most far reaching services which facilities and faculty could provide.

degree from the State Teachers College of Emporia, Kan., and an M. S. from the University of Denver. Her teaching experience includes work in high schools in Kansas and at Kansas Wesleyan University.

Miss Bernice J. Wolfson

Miss Bernice J. Wolfson is a newcomer this year in the women's physical education department as assistant to Dr. Florence Cole. Her A. B. degree was received at the University of Michigan, and her M. All classes in modern dancing are under Miss Wolfson's direction.

Miss Gloria Odegard

Miss Gloria Odegard, a graduate of the Morningside Conservatory in 1944, has returned this year to teach piano and theory in the Conservatory. After graduation Miss Odegard taught music in the high school at Beresford, S. D. Last summer she began work on a master's degree in music at Eastman's School of Music in Rochester, N. Y. Gloria's engagement to Homer Garetson, '42, violin instructor in the conservatory, was announced during the holidays.

New Clock System to Be Installed

A new clock system will be installed throughout the campus in the near future. The system will consist of a master clock in Main Hall with 14 auxiliary clock faces on the different floors of the buildings of the college.

The master clock will be capable of operating for 10 hours if electric power is cut off. When power is turned on again, the clock will synchronize the auxiliary dials.

The present buzzer in Main Hall will be replaced by a single-toned chime to announce opening and closing of class periods. Buzzers will be located in each recitation room to give instructors adequate warning when the period is over.

The present clock, a gift of the class of 1927, has served faithfully through the years. It has earned retirement after seeing so many hundreds of collegians through Morningside.

The new clock system is being installed at the expense of the college in keeping with the progressive building and expansion program of the institution.

Morningsiders Are Elected to Who's Who

"Who's Who" is the national institution whose specific function it is to provide a measuring stick for students throughout the country who have distinguished themselves on local campuses, and to give them national recognition, free from politics and dues or fees of any kind. Proportional selection of students is made by over 650 colleges and universities on the basis of student populations. The criterion for selecting Who's Who students is a balance of ability and achievement. The specific requirements for eligibility include character, scholarship, leadership, and participation in extra-curricular activities, and potentiality for future usefulness to business and society. Only juniors and seniors are eligible.

On the Morningside campus the selection of Who's Who students is made by joint student-faculty vote. This year the student council first voted on a list of all juniors and seniors, and 13 students received enough votes to qualify them for faculty consideration. The faculty decided all 13 were eligible and therefor approved the council nomination list exactly as submitted. Thus, the '46-'47 Who's Who roster of Morningside students is a unanimous student-faculty choice for national honors. Seniors chosen are: Stephen De Vries, Katherine Roadman, Norman Mathers, Carolyn Wolle, and William J. Easley, all of Sioux City; Connie Havighurst and Harold Minor, both from Fort Dodge, Ia.; Mary Jane Conrad and Lovice Kingsbury, from Ponca, Neb.; Lamar Jones from Hinton, Ia., and Barbara Schmidt of Battle Creek. Juniors chosen are Kathryn Nelson of Sioux City, and Lois McCallum from Britt, Ia.

ingside college for use of veterans attending the college. Thirty-two apartments recently completed for the college and occupied by veterans and their families bring the total number to 40. On Christmas eve the last 24 apartments of the college allotment will be ready for transfer to the college, making a total of 64 apartments under its supervision.

FACULTY RECEPTION HELD

The annual formal reception given by the faculty was held the evening of Nov. 15 in the Women's Residence Hall. This reception furnishes an opportunity for students and faculty alike to meet and converse under conditions different than the usual classroom atmosphere. Simultaneously with the reception, dancing to the music of Ed Osborn and his band was available to all. Punch was served throughout the evening.

IRA N. GABRIELSON

On the roll of Morningside's distinguished sons and daughters is the illustrious name of Ira Noel Gabrielson, '12, who retired as first director of the United States Fish and Wildlife Service on April 1, 1946. Ira N. Gabrielson is a name which naturalists and lovers of wildlife everywhere would recognize; he is America's most celebrated authority on the beasts of the field and the birds of the air. Wherever men study the habits of wildfowl, he is regarded as the founder of the refuges which protect the millions of ducks and geese that travel the flyways between the arctic and the tropics.

"All the creatures of the wilderness fascinate him. He knows the gravel pools where rainbow trout will lurk. He can pick out the pebbly river bottoms where Chinook salmon will spawn. Claw marks on a tree tell him the size of the bear which gouges them. A trampled meadow conveys to him the full story of the elk or deer herd which grazed there the night before."

Ira, a jovial, deep-chuckling 230-pounder, boasts that he has climbed more mountains than any other fat man in America, but this is the least of his claims to national distinction. He has tramped all over the North American continent—not as a sportsman, but with a serious purpose: the scientific management of wildlife. He has been working with birds, fish and animals for more than 30 years. During the past 10 of these he has directed all federal wildlife control in Washington and he is recognized today as the nation's foremost naturalist.

The December "Coronet" has published an article entitled "Ira Gabrielson: Wizard of Wildlife," by Jean Potter, the ninth in a series on Great Living Americans. Excerpts from this excellent article portraying Gabe's life will be published in the January Morningsider.

New Library Popular with Students

The new second floor library is popular with students because of its quietness, its ideal lighting conditions and because one may select books from the shelf independently.

The bulletin board near the front of each reading room is one of the available services which help people locate books and periodicals. It gives a summary of the books and periodicals located on each floor.

A second aid is shelf guides giving specific location of various subjects. These are easily seen on the ends of book-stacks and shelves.

CRIPPEN RECEIVES TROPHY

Lowell N. Crippen, '30, coach at Leeds high school, received the congratulations of Harry Stuhldreher, director of athletics at the University of Wisconsin, after Lowell was awarded a trophy signifying the Tri-state Conference football championship at the Greater Sioux City Athletic Association football banquet on December 2. Stuhldreher, principal speaker at the banquet, is shown holding the trophy while shaking hands with Crippen. "Crip" is president-elect of the Alumni Association for 1947-48.

Attend Conference Meeting in Chicago

Athletic Director Les Davis, Basketball Coach Al Buckingham and Prof. Ira Gwinn, president of the association, represented Morningside at the annual winter meeting of the North Central Conference in Chicago early in December.

The conference declared Iowa State Teachers College of Cedar Falls the official 1946 football champions. In choosing an all-conference team they picked the first 22 men representing the best players in the conference and not a first and second team as previously indicated.

The selection of these all-conference football players by the conference delegates resulted in the naming of three Maroons: Roy Haenfler, guard; Connie Callahan, halfback, and Howard Peterson, tackle, on the 1946 all-star team.

1947 Football Schedules Completed

Football schedules for 1947 were completed with each school playing at least four conference games. Morningside's conference games will be Augustana, South Dakota University, Iowa State Teachers College, South Dakota State and possibly North Dakota State. South Dakota State, Augustana, and North Dakota State will be home games. It might be interesting to note that Morningside was the only school in the conference to play all six conference teams.

To Hold Spring Meeting

A spring meeting will be held in Minneapolis April 5, to consider a long term round robin football schedule. Under this new plan each team will either have to play five conference games or there is a possibility that the conference will decide that each team should play each other team, making a total of six conference games.

Football Letters Awarded

Morningside College football awards have been issued to 46 players and managers. Of the group, 25 players received major letters and 19 players and two managers received minor awards. Julius ("Butch") Shkurenky, junior end, was elected honorary captain of the team. The only seniors on the list are Gene Asprey and Gene Stover.

Major letter winners are:

Seniors—Gene Asprey, Holstein; Gene Stover, Sioux City.

Holiday Visitors

Many Morningsiders who spent the Christmas holidays in Sioux City renewed college ties by paying a visit to the Alumni Office or visiting former faculty friends; attending the Morningside-Montana basketball game New Year's evening; or stopping for a chat with the Alumni Secretary about former classmates while on a shopping tour. Among these were Everett Timm, '36, studying for an M. A. degree at The Eastman School of Music, Rochester, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Decker (Helene Crenshaw), both '34, University of Wichita, Wichita, Kan.; Lyle Gilbert, '35, music director at Dakota Wesleyan, Mitchell, S. ### Sports Briefs

Speaking engagements have kept Coach Davis busy during December. Among the football dinners at which he was the speaker were those held at Sutherland, Spirit Lake, and Sac City.

On January 22 Coaches Davis and Buckingham and Bob Wooster, Maroon football star, will attend the football and basketball dinner at Mapleton, Ia.

Coach Davis has announced that Morningside will renew football relations with Omaha University next fall.

The conference in Chicago voted spring sports back in, in full schedule. All North Central Conference schools will meet at Brookings, S. D., May 17, for track, golf and tennis competition.

Basketball Highlights

Morningside College opened its 1946-1947 basketball season at the Morningside gymnasium November 27, when they matched tosses with Western Union College of LeMars. As in all opening games the ragged edges were prominent, but the strength and potentialities of the Maroon squad were evident throughout the game. Morningside swept into an early lead, never to be threatened. It was a high scoring game, with the Maroons leading 81 to 65 when the final horn sounded. Bob Held was outstanding with 25 points.

In the second game of the season Morningside entertained the Buena Vista cagers of Storm Lake. It was a see-saw battle throughout the first half with neither team able to gain a decisive advantage. Morningside came back strong in the third quarter, coupling nice passing with good defensive play, to run the score up to 41 to 23. The reserves took over in the fourth quarter and the game ended 60-41. Gale Stevens and Bill Briggs proved to be the individual stars of the game, racking up 13 points a piece.

The Maroons took to the road to play Omaha University December 10. Behind sensational shooting the Maroons rocketed to an early lead, with the half-time score 37-5 in their favor. The remainder of the game was played by the Morningside reserves who continued to boost the score. At the final horn Morningside led 65-31. Bob Held paced the Maroons with 14 points. The 65 points netted by the Maroons helped them establish their 67.5 point average per game this season.

Morningside played host to the quintet from St. Olaf College in their fourth game of the season. It was Morningside all the way, using a fast break that completely befuddled the visitors. Combining their superior height in rebounding with sharp passing, the Maroons built up a 20-point lead at the end of the third quarter. The reserves continued to pile up the score in the final period and the game ended with Morningside on the long end of a 54-32 count. Bob Held was high point man with 13 points. Briggs, Larson, Mathers, Clark, and Stevens also turned in exceptional performances on the floor.

The Maroons returned to Omaha December 19 to match plays with the highly-touted Jays of Creighton. It was a thrilling game from start to finish with outstanding play on both sides. The first half saw the lead exchanging several times with the score standing 24-all as the teams took a breather. Creighton opened fast in the third period with three quick buckets before Held countered for the Maroons. With seven minutes remaining in the game Morningside cut the Creighton lead to 1 point, but two quick baskets gave the Jays a safer margin. At this point the Jays began to stall and the game ended 46-43. Bob Held again led Morningside in scoring with 16 points. Stevens and Larson turned in outstanding floor games.

Harlan Davis Seen in Action

Movies of this season's football games played by Yale University against Harvard and Princeton were shown in slow motion at the Y. M. C. A. by Howard Odell, Yale coach, who is spending the holidays here.

Films of Yale's freshman team games also were shown, in which Harlan ("Hoss") Davis, son of Morningsides' grid coach, Les Davis, was seen in several plays.

Newsman Wins Chicago Honor

Horace F. Wulf, '18, former Sioux City newspaper man, who now is publisher of the Daily Calumet, a suburban paper in Chicago, recently was a guest at the contributors' dinner of A Line o' Type or Two, popular literary column which appears in the Chicago Tribune.

Mr. Wulf was called on for a speech and he responded in creditable fashion, his address being hailed as one of the outstanding features of the event.

Several days later the following bit of verse, submitted by Frank Earl Herrick, appeared in the column:

A soldier with his country's gratitude
Pinned on his breast, a sight sublime;
Heroic, giant-framed, and thewed,
Standing in manhood's might and prime—
He called all pens and tongues to arm
And fight for the peace. He swept the height
With Ingersollian wings whose charm
Touched the white stars that gem the night.
We have not heard a voice more wise
A thunder-drum of nobler roll
Sweep the high conclave of the skies
Or the deep recesses of the soul.
We give him as we rise and stand
The joint applause of heart and hand.

Horace, a veteran of world war 1, served five and a half years as an infantry officer in world war 2, holding the rank of lieutenant colonel.

Named Head of Air Unit

Lt. Col. Morgan Harrison, '40, has been appointed commanding officer of the 174th fighter squadron of the Iowa air national guard. While in college he was student body president and also taught meteorology in the civilian pilot training program.

Col. Harrison later joined the army air corps and served 52 months, of which 19 months were spent overseas as a rated pilot and weather officer. His advanced training in meteorology was taken at the University of Chicago. He served as weather officer at Maxwell field at Montgomery, Ala., in 1941; later being stationed in the Panama Canal Zone, where he was regional inspector of aviation weather bureau stations in Mexico, Central American and northern South America.

At present Morgan is a training officer with the veterans administration sub-regional office here. The Harrisons live at 2018 W. Fifth, Sioux City.

Rated as Coming Film Star

MacDonald Carey, ex '36, a Sioux Cityan whose acting career was interrupted by the war, has scored a postwar "click" in Hollywood and has been picked by a leading motion picture magazine as one of "tomorrow's greats" in the film capital. "Mac" is one of six persons named in a recent issue of Motion Picture magazine as a "star of tomorrow." Paramount already has spurned four offers from another studio for Carey, and could have made a fortune by loaning him out to other studios, but believes him too valuable to take chances on. Since his discharge from the marines, he has appeared in "Suddenly Its Spring" with Fred MacMurray and Paulette Goddard.

New Director of Choral Society

The North Shore Choral society has John Halloran, '38, as its director for the present year. Jack is well known on the North Shore, having sung with the society on several occasions, and also in the Vesper Quartet at the Winnetka Congregational Church.

After receiving a bachelor of music degree from Morningside, Jack went to Haverdard, Ia., where he taught all instrumental and vocal music in the high school, and conducted community choruses and glee clubs there and in Sioux City. Coming to Evanston, he obtained his master's degree in music education from Northwestern University. He is tenor and arranger for the Cadent's Male Quartet, heard at various times on NBC and ABS and he has also sung with various other Chicago radio ensembles. He is conductor of the Chicago Choralists, a volunteer group of 32 singers, who meet each week for the purpose of enjoying the singing of the best in choral literature. Mr. Halloran's ability as a conductor has been particularly demonstrated with this group, it is pointed out, and he brings this same fine feeling for great music to his work with a large chorus.

Waymack Gives A-Bomb Warning

Washington.—Nobody in Iowa or elsewhere should let himself drift into apathy about the atomic bomb. That opinion was expressed by W. W. Waymack, '09, recently named by President Truman as a member of the United States atomic energy commission.

When Bill was asked for a statement regarding the atomic bomb situation, he said:

"It is the most portentous scientific discovery that man has ever made. Its consequences, for good or ill or both, have no apparent limits.

"Constructive, peaceful use of atomic energy will come slowly or rapidly, depending on how much pressure is put behind that phase, and depending vitally also on what is accomplished in the way of international control.

"As a weapon, the atomic explosive is appalling. Nobody should come to imagine that this has been exaggerated. Hiroshima and Nagasaki are a long way off.

"But suppose it were Des Moines or Cedar Rapids or Sioux City. Ask Senator Hickenlooper; he was at Bikini. Ask Prof. Spedding at Iowa State College; he and his associates there played an important part in making it all happen, and will continue to participate importantly in further research and development in the atomic energy field, through the Argonne National laboratory.

"The scientists of the world have released and partly harnessed a kind of energy so far beyond anything we have had before that there is no comparison.

"Given the chance, the scientists of the world can make it an incomparable servant. Alternatively, of course, it can make earth just a hell. Peoples and governments will decide which of the two it shall be."

New Classroom Units Are Being Erected

Morningside is expanding her classroom facilities by the addition of two Sergeant Bluff army housing units, and work on the two buildings between Main Hall and the Gymnasium is progressing very rapidly. One of the two classroom buildings is to be rearranged as a one-room unit. It will accommodate large classes, band, orchestra, and dramatic rehearsals. Modified interior insulation will be required. The other 70 feet by 25 feet one-story building will be divided into two classrooms. Coal burning furnaces are being removed from the air base, and will be converted into gas burners for campus use. Electrical installations will correspond to the particularities of this type of building. Concrete walks will be added in the spring due to the lateness of the season for concrete work.
