Beloved English Instructor Dies

Miss Helen I. Loveland, well known to those of us who were in her inspiring classes and to those who had opportunity to live in her home, died in that home on Peters Avenue on March 26, 1946.

Services were held for her Friday, March 29, 1946, in Grace Methodist Church. Officiating were Rev. J. C. Buthman, her pastor; Rev. G. W. Dunn, '21, of the First Methodist church; Rev. W. L. Breaw, '16, of Humboldt, Iowa, representing the college alumni; and Rev. R. N. Van Horne, representing the faculty. Mrs. Coss sang "Crossing the Bar," music for which had been written by Miss Loveland's brother, Mr. Dwight Loveland.

The pallbearers were men with whom Miss Loveland, as head of the English department, had worked for many years; Dr. R. N. Van Horne, Dr. T. C. Stephens, Prof.

J. A. Coss, Prof. H. F. Kanthleer, Dr. M. E. Graber, and Prof. I. J. Gwinn. Burial was in a lovely spot in Graceland Park cemetery.

The tribute which Dr. Van Horne gave at the service in the church follows, that each one of you may read his expression of our very great appreciation of her work for us through her many years in Morningside College.

We pause today to honor one of our faculty group who has finished her work, laid down her burdens and crossed the Valley of the Shadow of Death and entered eternal life.

Death to one who has lived a long, beautiful, upright life comes not as a rude messenger but as a kind usher to guide the soul from one room to another—from time to eternity. Miss Helen Loveland came to the faculty of Morningside College fifty years ago, bringing with her the fine academic training of Smith College and her own unusual qualities of leadership, intense zeal and earnestness, which combined to make her an inspiration to the students and faculty.

We remember people in three ways: by what they say, by what they do, and by what they are. We recall Miss Loveland's kindness, her patience, her graciousness, and her unselfishness. She was such a staunch supporter of the highest standards of life that she radiated joy and true friendship. Those who were privileged to come in contact with her pay tribute to her true worth. She was calm, serene and gentle. She lived so close to her Master that she was straight forward and unafraid. She gave generously of her time and talents to her students. Because of her fine sense of justice and her spirit of co-operation she was admired by all her co-workers.

It has been said that the attributes of a great woman are simplicity, sympathy, serenity, and sincerity. Measured by that yardstick Miss Loveland was a great woman.

As a member of the faculty she had all the qualifications of a great teacher. She had intellectual integrity, she had honesty of purpose, she had world vision and she had wonderful spirituality. These qualifications could be defined as the constants of education. The possession of technical facts will avail the world nothing unless they are supported by these qualifications.

History has taught that each age must have these constants; therefore, she who had them made an enduring contribution to the achievements of her time and to her college.

Her friendship put new courage into discouraged hearts. She spoke always of the joy of living.

Robert Service must have had a woman like Miss Loveland in mind when he wrote:

 God made a heart of gold
 Tender and sweet and true
 Gave it a form of fairest mold
 Blessed it and called it you.

It has been said that what we have done for ourselves alone dies with us; what we have done for others and the world remains and is immortal.

The faculty pauses today in recognition of Miss Loveland's long and faithful service and in memory of her devotion to the highest and best in education, religion, and general culture, and to pay tribute to her sterling qualities of character and true worth.

May her ideals and attainments live on in the hearts of her friends.

Gentle lady, we, your co-workers, salute you.

ROBERT N. VAN HORNE.

Rev. Magee at The First Congregational Church

Rev. John B. Magee, professor of Philosophy, preached his first sermon as interim pastor of the First Congregational church, Thirteenth and Nebraska streets, on Sunday morning, April 14. He will serve as pastor until a permanent minister is appointed to succeed Rev. George C. Pullman who recently resigned. Rev. Mr. Magee is an ordained minister, a member of the Pacific northwest conference, and has held pastorates in Maine, Massachusetts and Washington. He is a son of Dr. John B. Magee, late president of Cornell College, and received his education at the University of Washington in Seattle. He took graduate work at Boston University School of Theology, and at Harvard University.

Graduate of Morningside Author of Novel

On April 22, 1946, the University of Chicago Press published "American Daughter," first novel written by Miss Era Belle Thompson, a graduate of Morningside College in the class of 1933.

An advance copy of the book was sent to a member of our faculty by the advertising manager of the University of Chicago Press with the following comment:

"American Daughter" is the autobiography of Era Belle Thompson, a Negro girl growing up in America. Her infectuous humor, irresistible friendliness, and deep understanding of people make her a person worth knowing and fun to know. And you won't be able to forget Era Belle's father, Tony, who could cook a pig, sing a hymn, or woo a widow with equal aplomb; her brothers, teachers, friends, both black and white, or any other people who live in the pages of her story.

"Miss Thompson has met prejudice, hatred, riots, too. But she has consistently answered their challenge with simple friendliness and faith in human goodness. This has been her personal solution to one of America's great problems, and in this book she shares it with her fellow Americans. Her story is not a plea for racial tolerance; it is a magnificent example of it.

"This book is as American as Tom Sawyer." Miss Thompson lives in Chicago and visited in Sioux City last summer on her way to her former home in North Dakota. She included Morningside College in her calls and signed the alumni register. At that time she said that she had, after persistent effort, been granted a fellowship in midwestern studies from the Newberry Library, which gave her the opportunity of leisure to write this middle northwestern states regional novel, one in a series of regional novels, written by various writers who are presenting different sections of the United States.

Miss Thompson came to Morningside College from Bismarck, N. D., with Dr. and Mrs. O'Brian when he assumed the duties of president. She lived with them during her college days. Her life in their home and her ready acceptance by the student body is told in two chapters of the book under the titles of "The Life of Riley" and "President's Daughter," in which Morningside College is called "Dawn" College, Dr. O'Brian is "Dr. Riley," Mrs. O'Brian's given name of Mabel is changed to "Susan" and their son Edward is called "Jan." Her experience in Morningside was generally happy.

The novel sells for $3.00—and the author is donating a copy of what doubtless will prove to be one of a long series of novels to Morningside College library. Era Bell has always aspired to be a writer and proves her talent to do so in this book.

A Call for Your Help

With a steadily mounting list of alumni and ex-students for whom no addresses are available, we are calling on readers of The Morningsider for help in locating former college friends and classmates.

If you are not receiving your Morningsider or know of a friend or classmate who is being missed, please send the correct address to the Alumni Office.

"I Am The Resurrection and The Life"

Classes of 1924 and 1942 Leading

The Alumni Living Endowment Fund committee reports that as of April 11 the class of 1924 is leading in annual contributions with $375, while the class of 1942 is leading in number of contributions with 7. The class of 1924 is closely followed in aggregate contributions by the classes of 1922, 1925, 1914, 1931 and 1942, in that order.

While the class of 1942 leads in number of contributions, it is closely pressed by the classes of 1922, 1939, 1921, 1923 and 1931, in that order.

Among the earlier classes, the class of 1899 with 3 contributors, and 1906 with 4, are outstanding. Only six classes have failed to respond at all, they being the classes of 1901, 1905, 1908, 1912, 1916, and 1934. However, on the basis of past performance, these classes will make a strong showing from here on.

As of April 11, $2,429.75 had been contributed by 148 alumni and ex-students. The committee draws no distinction between these two groups and reports that the number of subscriptions by those who attended Morningside but did not graduate is surprisingly large.

Won't you sign up on the application appearing on the last page of this issue and give your college and your class a boost?

CAMPUS ACTIVITIES

President Roadman and Dean Scarborough attended the 51st annual meeting of the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, which met in the Palmer House in Chicago, March 27-29. Among the topics of discussion at the conference were "General Educational Development Tests, Their Use in Colleges and Secondary Schools," and "What Industry and Labor Expect from Education."

Katherine Roadman, daughter of President and Mrs. Roadman, who is a junior in Morningside College, has been nominated by the Sioux, college annual, for queen of the Drake relays April 26. The Drake relays this year will use the Iowa centennial celebration as a theme and nominations for queen will come only from Iowa colleges and universities.

J. M. Sanderson has been named honorary referee of the Sioux City relays on April 26th. Long an important sports figure in the midwest, "Saundy" was referee of the Drake relays in 1940.

Gov. Robert Blue spoke at chapel Tuesday morning, April 23, on the Philosophy of Government.

DEATHS

Mrs. Florence Cross Moog, wife of Emanuel Moog, formerly of Sioux City, died unexpectedly March 31 at her home in Laguna Beach, Calif. Born in Sioux City, she was graduated from Morningside College in 1922 and for 15 years taught French at her alma mater. She and Mr. Moog went on a tour of the world when they left Sioux City. They went to Laguna Beach in 1937 and resided there since. Mrs. Moog operated the Wishing Well, a unique gift shop, which was visited by thousands of tourists. Her husband is the only survivor.

Morningsiders in the News

Gordon M. Metcalf, '29, has been appointed retail assistant to the president, Fowler B. McConnell, of Sears, Roebuck & Co. Mr. Metcalf will handle activities of the retail administrative office in Chicago.

After graduating from Morningside, Gordon took post graduate work at the school of commerce, Northwestern University, Chicago. For the past 14 years he has been employed by Sears in the Chicago administrative office, stores in Rockford, Ill., Bay City, Mich., Sioux City and Decatur, Ill. In 1943 Gordon returned to Chicago as assistant to H. F. Murphy, zone officer of the midwest territory. In 1944 he assumed responsibility of the Kansas City zone, which consisted of 14 stores in Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska. Recently his zone was increased to include 16 additional retail stores.

The Metcalfs have three children, a daughter, Judy Lee, aged 7, and twins, Donald and Dorothy, aged 3.

An article in the Camp Swift, Texas, army newspaper reveals military honors that have been won by Capt. Kenneth E. Metcalf, army chaplain. The Camp Swift paper, in describing plans for a huge military parade held at Waco, Texas, in the recent observance of Army Day, discloses that Capt. Metcalf "wears the ribbon of the bronze star awarded for his valorous action in evacuating wounded men from under fire at Bleisbruck, Germany; he is a veteran of Anzio beachhead, the invasion of southern France and the march into Germany, crossing the Rhine with the Seventh division."

Capt. Metcalf, who was graduated from Morningside college in '38 and Boston Theological School, now is stationed with the First battalion, 38th infantry, the Camp Swift unit chosen to march in the Waco parade. He will be transferred soon from Camp Swift to Camp Carson, Colorado Springs, Colo.

Kenneth served as Methodist pastor at Archer and Baker, Iowa. He received training for the chaplaincy at Harvard University.

Gordon and Kenneth are sons of Rev. and Mrs. M. L. Metcalf, 3806 Fifth Avenue. The Rev. Mr. Metcalf now is chaplain at the Methodist Hospital in Sioux City. All the children of the Metcalfs are graduates of Morningside College. An older brother, Clifford, '25, lives in Gilmore City, Iowa; Clara, '31, now Mrs. O. A. Lindgren, resides at Hampton, Iowa, and Genevieve, '31, is Mrs. William Danforth of Sioux City.

Prof. James Reistrup Plays Benefit Concert

An overflow audience enjoyed the recital sponsored by the American Association of University Women given by Prof. Reistrup in his second annual benefit concert for the MacDowell colony in the auditorium of the Y. The MacDowell Colony is an organization that encourages creative work by outstanding artists in their various fields by providing the opportunity and the place for such creative work. Mr. Reistrup was selected and has attended the colony for the past two summers and the numbers which he played that were inspired and created while attending the colony were of outstanding interest. This was the first public performance of Parade, a suite composed last summer, and consisting of four pieces: Band, Lion, Calliope and Bright Banners.

Veterans Bureau Expands

Several changes have been made recently at the Veterans Administration Guidance Center at Morningside College. During March the Center was advanced from a Plan "B" to a Plan "A" Guidance Center. This change has expedited the handling of many more advisements. In addition to this change, Mr. John W. Macaulay, who was chief of the Guidance Center, was transferred to the regional office at Des Moines where he is now acting chief of the Advisement and Guidance Section. He was replaced at this center by Mr. Gordon T. Garrison who came here from Des Moines and Ames, where he had been receiving indoctrination and training in this type of work. These changes have involved promotions for both men who are veterans of the navy where they did similar work in the line of counseling and advisement. Additional personnel has also been added so that the present staff consists of Mr. Garrison, acting chief; H. E. Billiard, '23, training officer; Mary Weathers, receptionist and secretary, all employees of the Veterans Administration, in addition to M. W. Pedderson and Harry L. Clayton, vocational appraisers, and John B. Magee and Roberta Stock, psychometrists, employees of Morningside College.

Mr. Garrison received his master's degree from the State University of Iowa and further graduate work in the field of guidance at the University of Chicago. His wife and two children are in Estherville where they will remain until satisfactory living accommodations can be found here. Mr. Macaulay and his wife have already moved to Des Moines.

Wins Scholarship for Music Study in Sweden

A scholarship which will enable him to study music in Sweden for a year has been awarded by the American-Scandinavian Foundation of New York to Thomas N. ("Tom") Wikstrom, member of the senior class. Tom will be graduated in June from Morningside College, where he has been majoring in music, specializing in the study of the violin. In 1942, while a pupil at East high school, he won a four-year scholarship to the college as a contestant in a state high school tournament at Central high school. Tom is a member of the Sioux City Symphony orchestra, the Morningside College choir, the M Club, and Phi Mu Alpha, national music fraternity.

Kanthlener Acquires Morningside Tours

Prof. H. F. Kanthlener has acquired the Morningside Tours which was founded by Prof. and Mrs. H. G. Campbell more than twenty years ago. For the immediate future travel will be limited to Mexico, Central and South America. As soon as travel to Europe again becomes possible (it is hoped by the summer of 1947) parties for travel to European countries will be organized. Prof. Kanthlener stated that every effort would be made to maintain the high standard of service which the Campbells established. Before the war, Mr. Kanthlener conducted parties to Europe for the Armstrong Tours.

Radio Broadcasts

A joint committee of Morningside College and the Junior Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a series of Sunday evening radio broadcasts under the general title of "The Sioux Forum of the Air." These programs originate in the Morningside College auditorium in Main Hall at eight o'clock each Sunday evening beginning April 14. The theme for the first broadcast was "Russia," and members of the panel included J. S. Woodson, Prof. Hawthorn, Attorney Beebe and Allen Holmes.

Admiral Anderson Has Colorful Career in Navy

Rear Admiral Thomas C. Anderson graduated from Morningside College in 1908 and from the medical school of the University of Michigan in 1915. He specialized in surgery and had duty in naval hospitals on both the west and east coasts of the United States. He had several years of foreign duty with assignments at naval hospitals in Honolulu, Cuba, China, and in the Philippines.

At the beginning of the war Admiral Anderson was in command of the naval hospital at Norfolk, Va. In 1943, he was sent to the Pacific and served for two and a half years on the staff of Admiral Nimitz in Pearl Harbor and later in Guam.

Athletes Honored

Morningside College athletes who had competed in a major sport in the last year were feted at a stag dinner given by the college administrators and coaches March 29 in the Student Union.

The dinner was the first of a series of annual banquets honoring Maroon athletes. Festivities began in the afternoon with six basketball teams, captained by starting members of this season's cage squad, competing in a tournament.

The menu for the evening's dinner included enormous steaks cooked by Basketball Coach Al Buckingham, whose culinary ability was heartily endorsed by all guests.

Speakers for the evening were Athletic Director Les Davis and Coach Buckingham, Basketball Manager Jim Steck, Dr. Van Horne, Dr. T. E. Tweit, and several athletes.

Gwinn Elected Conference President

Ira J. Gwinn, registrar, was elected president of the North Central conference at its spring meeting in Minneapolis.

Following the Maroons

The Sioux City relays April 26 are next on the spring sports calendar for the Maroons. Athletic Director Les Davis is working with Central Coach Harold Stevens and East Coach Milt Delzell, co-chairmen, in making preparations for the second running of the track and field carnival.

The Morningside golf team also has a meet scheduled for April 26 with Omaha University. Personnel of the team has not yet been determined but leading contenders include Gale Stevens and Don Shelton, Sioux City.

Also under way on the campus is an intramural softball tournament in which eight teams are entered.

Completed are three weeks of work in spring football which gave Coach Davis his first line on prospects for his first North Central conference race next fall.

Eight Morningside men were awarded letters for their work in the basketball season. They are: John Wansink, Loren Clark, Gale Stevens, Joe DeMaine, Norm Mathers and Leon Uknes, all of Sioux City; Chuck Obye, Akron, Iowa, and Orin Goodrich, Jefferson, Iowa.

During the season the Maroon cagers won 15 games and lost four. They scored 949 points to their opponents 797 for an offensive average of 50 points and a defensive average of 42 points.
