NUMBER FIVE

Lillian E. Dimmitt...

65 years of dedicated Service!

From the President's Pen...

Usually we celebrate Christian College Sunday on the second Sunday following Easter. This year Morningside College cooperated with three other Christian colleges in our area; Yankton, supported by the Congregational Church; Buena Vista, supported by the Presbyterian Church; and Westmar, supported by the United Brethren Evangelical Church. A special program on the campus of Morningside College was planned in which all four of the institutions participated. High school young people from the surrounding area were invited in for the afternoon program which emphasized the values of the Christian Liberal Arts Institutions of higher education. Many churches of the several denominations in the area found representatives from Morningside College taking a place of leadership or participation; again speaking a word for the cause of Christian higher education.

A Morningside grad, who has recently returned to this vicinity as pastor of the Morningside Presbyterian Church, had this to say in his weekly publication, THE CHURCH VISITOR on that day.

"An interesting study was made of the educational background of 30,000 business and professional leaders on the West Coast. 80% of them were college or university graduates. The amazing fact revealed by the survey was that 70% of them were from small liberal arts colleges.

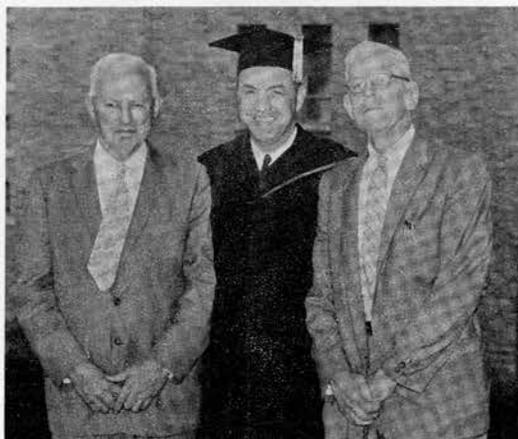

"Another study was made of all the schools of higher learning in America to discover the types of schools responsible for producing the most scholars securing Ph. D. degrees or winning listings as American men of science. Of the 50 schools ranking highest in production of such intellectual leaders, only 3 were state universities, 8 were technological schools and 39 were small liberal arts colleges. Moreover, 85% of the graduates of liberal arts colleges were found to be officers in their churches.

"Time Magazine for January 18, 1954, quoted A. A. Stambaugh, board chairman of Standard Oil of Ohio, as saying: 'Real leadership is compounded of the broadening cultural influences of liberal arts colleges. Industries have lots of men worth $10,000 a year, but can't find many worth $100,000.'

"Parents and students who are thinking of college training in the future, should be cognizant of these facts which proclaim that higher education which is Christian, liberal, and gained in the small Church-related college produces the majority of our responsible leadership in America."

FRONT COVER This year, Miss Lillian E. Dimmitt is spending her sixty-fifth consecutive year on the faculty of Morningside College. She came to the University of the Northwest in 1891, and has remained ever since the devoted friend and teacher of thousands of Morningside students. Miss Dimmitt has saved all her grade books through the years, and on the cover she is posed with some of them arranged to indicate her years of service to Morningside.

Dr. J. Richard Palmer with Frank Heilman, of Anoka, Minnesota, and H. H. Sawyer of Des Moines, Iowa, members of the class of 1908 which this year celebrated its 50th reunion by endowing a Chair of Geology for Morningside. See the story on this reunion on page 4.

Entered as Second Class matter July 1, 1944, at the post office at Sioux City, Iowa under the act of August 24, 1912 published bi-monthly, September, November, January, March and May by Morningside College.

SAUNDERSON SPEAKS AT ALUMNI BANQUET

About 250 people attending the 1958 Alumni Banquet heard Jason Saunderson, '35, describe the need for better college education in the United States. Dr. Saunderson, son of Morningside's beloved coach Saunderson, is vice president of Baird-Atomic, Inc., in Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Previously, Mr. Saunderson was employed by the Dow Chemical Company. In 1952 he received the Willard H. Dow Memorial Award. The citation reads: "In recognition of outstanding achievement in the field of magnesium research and development; specifically for developing a commercially accepted Direct Reading Spectrometer for rapid analysis of magnesium alloys."

After his graduation from Morningside, Mr. Saunderson earned his AM and his PhD in physics from the University of Michigan. He is a member of the American Physical Society, the Optical Society of America, the American Society of Testing Materials, the Society of Applied Spectroscopy, and the New England Spectroscopic Society. Mr. Saunderson holds six U. S. patents on spectroscopic apparatus.

Jason Saunderson, '35, is congratulated on his honorary Doctor of Science degree by Honie Rogers, '25, who presented him for the degree.

The banquet was held for the second year in the Sioux City Auditorium on Saturday, May 31. Darrel Warner, '50, president of the Alumni Association, presided.

On hand for the banquet was Charles "Dad" Eberly, '02, of Lawton, Iowa. Mr. Eberly was the first student ever to register at the University of the Northwest, which became Morningside College. The Alumni Office has a framed copy of his registration, filled out on September 23, 1891, in full payment of tuition $13. The registration will be placed in the College Archives.

Class of 1958 Gives 100% To Living Endowment Fund

ELEVEN CLASSES HOLD REUNIONS

Fifty-Year Reunion Observed By Class of 1908; Endows Morningside Chair of Geology

Nine members of the graduating class of 1908 gathered this Commencement at Morningside to hold their 50th reunion. The class first met for breakfast on Saturday morning, May 31, at Dusty's cafe in Sioux City. They were honored at the reunion luncheons the same day, where they each received a leather desk pad and perpetual calendar engraved in gold with their names and "50-Year Reunion, Morningside College."

The class of '08 reminisced together, but they also planned for the future. At the June 2 Commencement Exercises, Dr. J. Richard Falmer announced that the graduating class of 1908 would endow permanently a chair of geology at Morningside College. Members of the class plan to furnish, not only this year but for years to come, enough additional income for the college to establish a professorship in this field.

Attending the 50-year reunion were these '08 graduates: Thomas and Lura Matteson Anderson, of Chevy Chase, Maryland; Frank and Florence Clark Heilman of Anoka, Minnesota; H. H. Sawyer of Des Moines, Iowa; Mrs. J. Mossman Dunwell of Palo Alto, California; A. G. Cushman of Portland, Oregon; Blanche Watts of Sioux City; and Ethel Haskins Mahoney of Sioux City.

150 ATTEND REUNION LUNCHEONS

Reunions for eleven Morningside classes were held on Saturday, May 31, in the dining hall of the Dimmitt Hall dormitory, at 12:30 p. m. About 150 members of the classes of '03, '08, '13, '18, '23, '28, '33, '38, '43, '48, and '53 were present for the luncheon meeting.

Each class, at its own separate table or tables, read messages from classmates unable to attend the reunion and talked over their college days. Don Stone, ('51), was Master of Ceremonies.

Special recognition was given the 50-year reunion class of 1908. The class of 1903, joined by '04 and '02 graduates, had a total representation of eleven.

Gardner Cowles is Speaker At Commencement, June 2

Gardner Cowles, founder and president of LOOK magazine, spoke to Morningside's graduating seniors, their parents and friends, at the Commencement Exercises Monday, June 2, in the George M. Allee Gymnasium. His subject was, "An Optimist Looks at the World," and in his talk he described a recent visit he made to the satellites of the Soviet Union in Eastern Europe.

Mr. Cowles, born in Algona, Iowa, is a graduate of Phillip Exeter Academy and Harvard University. He has been president of the Des Moines Register and Tribune Company since 1943, and is Chairman of the Board of the Cowles Broadcasting Company.

Other positions held by Mr. Cowles include the board of directors of United Air Lines, Bankers Life Company, and R. H. Macy Company. He is a member of the International Development Advisory Board and Vice Chairman of the Committee for Economic Development.

Mr. Cowles is married and the father of five children. He received an honorary degree from Morningside during the commencement exercises.

The Reverend Fred M. Smith, '23, gave the invocation prayer. Dr. J. Richard Palmer conferred the degrees, and Dean Thomas E. Tweitto announced prizes and honors. Dr. Decker was presented for his degree by professor Leo Kucinski; Dr. Roberts by Mr. Charles Van Eaton; Dr. Nodland by professor Russell Eidsmoe; Dr. Saunderson by Mr. Glen Rogers, '25; Dr. Dunham by Dr. R. J. Harrington, '17; Dr. Dawes by Mr. Herbert Temple; and Dr. Cowles by Mr. David Stewart.

Sixty seniors were awarded Bachelor of Arts degrees; forty-nine received Bachelor of Science degrees; and five were given Bachelor of Music Education degrees. Two-year elementary teaching certificates were awarded to twenty-seven young women.

Award Seven Honorary Degrees

Four Morningside alumni are among the seven men who received honorary degrees from the college at Commencement, June 2.

Herbert L. Dunham, '15, was given a Doctor of Law degree. Mr. Dunham is vice president of the Valley National Bank in Phoenix, Arizona.

A Doctor of Music degree was awarded to Harold A. Decker, '34. Mr. Decker is professor of music and head of choral activities at the University of Illinois.

Jason Saunderson, '35, who also was featured speaker at the Alumni Banquet, was given a Doctor of Science degree.

Harrison G. Dawes, '37, received a Doctor of Divinity degree. Rev. Dawes is District Superintendent for the Spencer District of the Methodist Church.

Others, and the honorary degrees they were awarded, were: Herbert C. Roberts, Doctor of Business Administration; Marvin T. Nodland, Doctor of Pedagogy; Gardner Cowles, Doctor of Letters.

We need 89 Contributors ! ! !

The Alumni Living Endowment Fund is well on its way to setting a new record for total number of participants.

We have already passed last year's total ! ! !

Alumni participation is a measuring stick that is growing in importance with Business Firms, Foundations and Others who are lending a hand in the financing of higher education.

The next 89 contributions to the 1957-58 Fund will be among the most significant that Morningside has received in recent years. Remember that the number is more important than the size.

Class Notes - - -

Anna Hollingsworth Green, '05, and J. W. Green, former Morningside physics professor, entertained Dr. J. H., '10, and Jennie Nelson Bridenbaugh, 11, for Easter Sunday dinner in Hollywood, Florida, this April. The Bridenbaughs were in Florida for the annual meeting of the American Radium Society. Mr. and Mrs. Green lived in Australia, Puerto Rico and Alaska prior to coming to Florida. Mr. Green is now retired.

H. M. Peifer, ('13), is now living in Nipawin, Sask., Canada. After leaving Morningside, he was a homesteader in Canada, and helped organize the town of Nipawin. Mr. Peifer has two daughters and a son.

Rev. Frederick G. Grantham, ('13), now retired Methodist minister who served nine years in British Methodism and 41½ years in the North Iowa Conference of the Methodist Church, is now living in Spirit Lake, Iowa. His two sons, Cecil, '37, and Harley, '48, are both Morningside graduates.

Rev. Grantham was a neighbor of Faith Woodford for some time, and wrote this poem to express what all Morningsiders who remember Miss Woodford feel about her:

Faith Woodford. In Memorium.

We all liked Faith.-Her heart was kind.
Moreover, be it understood
Her soul with music blossomed forth
As flowers blossom from the bud.
We honoured Faith.-We honour give
Where honour is in honour due.
To honour is to dignify
The soul with all that's good and true.
We all loved Faith.-Our spirits true.
A recompense she well deserved.
For Faith was true to every trust
And loved the age she richly served.

Fred A. McMaster, '23, was featured in the April 19 issue of the Los Angeles Times as an outstanding salesman for the Ohio National Life Insurance Company of Cincinnati. The advertisement included this statement about Mr. McMaster: "Ohio National Life is proud of Fred McMaster. He exemplifies the integrity, honesty and leadership qualities that mark the successful life insurance underwriter. It's little wonder he has made a name for himself both locally and nationally."

Mr. McMaster is Vice Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Wilshire Methodist Church, president of Goodwill Industries of Los Angeles, and a member of the Board of Trustees of California Western University in San Diego.

Ernest Raun, '23, has been named president of Iowa Public Service Company, succeeding G. A. Neal. The last annual report of IPS showed 14,462 stockholders in and near Sioux City, for the most part. Mr. Raun was previously vice president and general manager of the company.

Charles Sweet, ('23), recently visited the Morningside campus. He is now Chief of Irrigation Operations, the United States Bureau of Reclamation, Region 3, which includes Southern California and all of Arizona.

Lester McCoy, '25, who is minister of music at the First Methodist Church in Ann Arbor, Michigan, will direct a seventy-voice choir, The Michigan Chorale, which will tour Germany this summer. The choir, composed of high school students, will tour as a part of the Youth for Understanding program of the Michigan Council of Churches. Bernice Trindle McCoy, '25, will accompany her husband and the Chorale on the tour.

Donald Keys, '26, of Lincoln, Nebraska, is grand commander of the Knights Templar in Nebraska.

Gordon Metcalf, '29, has recently been elected a director of Sears, Roebuck and Company. He is now vice president in charge of Sears midwestern territory.

E. Allan Williams, '29, professor of physics at the University of California, Santa Barbara, has recently been named chairman of the Department of Physical Sciences at that institution. Dr. Williams took advanced work at the University of Washington after his graduation from Morningside. He has made studies of the complex action of waves striking the shores, using electronic devices, and has been a specialist in radar and electronics in the United States Navy.

Col. Joy R. Bogue, ('29), who has been a regular army officer since 1946, recently retired from active duty in the army. Col. Bogue had been commander of the United States army aggressor center at Fort Riley, Kansas. He plans to live in Des Moines.

Lorene Marvel, '31, this spring received the degree of Doctor of Education at Teachers College, Columbia University. She did her work in the area of the elementary program as it relates to the role of the music consultant in elementary schools. While at Teachers College, Dr. Marvel was appointed to Who's Who in Music International. She will now return to St. Cloud State College in Minnesota, where she has been on the staff since 1945.

Dr. Marvel's twin sister, Louise Marvel Stanerson, '31, is living in Silver Spring, Maryland. The mother of three children, Mrs. Stanerson has continued to take part in music activities in her community.

Everett Dorr, '34, is pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church in Des Moines. He was featured in the Des Moines Tribune, November 30, 1957, in an article entitled, "He Pledged His Life, if God Spared Him." The article described Rev. Dorr's struggle with tuberculosis and the way it affected his later life. Rev. Mr. Dorr is president of the Des Moines Chapter of the United World Federalists, is chairman of the Peace Committee of the Iowa-Des Moines Conference of the Methodist Church, and has written church school material for the Methodist Church.

Daryl Williams, '35, has been named Dean of Doane College in Crete, Nebraska. For the past four years, Dr. Williams has been chairman of the department of Religion and Philosophy at Mt. Union College in Alliance, Ohio. He and his wife, Elaine Rawson Williams, '36, have four children.

Whitey Rosenberger, '37, is a candidate for Sheriff of Woodbury County, Iowa. (Sioux City)

Mary Brilman Hanley, '39, is director of the College Heights Congregational Church in Bakersfield, California. Her husband, George, is a principal in the Bakersfield City School District. They have three sons, age twelve, five, and two.

A. W. Buckingham, '39, has been named to the Executive Committee of the National Intercollegiate Athletic Association.

Frances Forsberg Keiser, '41, is teaching at the Houston High School in Houston, Missouri. She and her husband are this year Associate Matron and Associate Patron of Mountain Grove Chapter 29, Order of Eastern Star. Mrs. Keiser has recently been initiated into Delta Kappa Gamma honor society for women educators and the P. E. O. Sisterhood.

Edythe Albert, '41, is a member of the School of Music faculty of the University of Michigan. She was recently featured in the Triangle, magazine of Mu Phi Epsilon music sorority, for her supervision of the "Festival of Song" broadcasts of the University of Michigan Broadcasting Service, station WUOM. Miss Albert will take part in the Morningside College Conservatory of Music summer workshop this June.

Eugene Emme, '41, has accepted a position with the national headquarters of Civil Defense in Battle Creek, Michigan. He will be a division chief in the new Operations Research Office of the Federal Civil Defense Administration headquarters. He will transfer to Battle Creek immediately, where he will be joined in June by his wife, Ruth Rance Emme, '41, and their children.

Anna Zenkovich, '41, has been appointed manager of the unemployment compensation division office of the State Employment Security Commission in Tucson, Arizona. She is the first woman ever to hold this position in the state of Arizona.

Don Severeide, ('42), is President of the Sioux City Real Estate Board. He was interviewed in the Sioux City Journal at the beginning of National Realtor Week, April 13-19. He described the functions of the Board and the code of ethics which it promotes among real estate dealers.

Francis Jones, '42, is in his fifth year of coaching at Webster City, Iowa. A forward on his basketball team this year, John Ptacek, was named to both the Des Moines Register and the Iowa Daily Press Association first all-state teams, and to one All-American high school team.

Lucille Roberts Walensky, '43, has been elected president of the Sioux City Parent-Teacher Council.

Captain Jean White, '43, sends greetings to her class from near Anchorage, Alaska, where she is stationed. She regreted that she could not attend the class reunion this year. Captain White recommends Alaska very highly for vacationers, and would be glad to provide information to anyone interested in visiting there. Two other Morningsiders, Captain Orin Goodrich, ('47), and Audrey Hughes Goodrich, '46, and their three children are at the same air base. Captain White will return to the United States in November and hopes to attend the 1963 reunion of the class of '43.

Paul G. Berteloot, ('49), is teaching in the Rawlins High School in Rawlins, Wyoming. He is president of the Department of Classroom teachers of the Wyoming Education Association.

James R. Brodie, '49, has been appointed assistant county attorney for Woodbury County, Iowa. He is also a candidate for county attorney in the November elections.

Leon Shortenhaus, '49, is coaching the football team at the John Burroughs Senior High School in Burbank, California. He writes that he has seen several fellow Morningsiders in the area, and would enjoy having any others who visit the territory stop and see him. He is hoping to visit the Morningside campus while on vacation this summer.

Norman Clark, ('50), is living in Oak Lawn, Illinois. He writes: "I keep telling my friends who have never heard of Morningside that Morningsiders reach the top. I've shown these friends the enclosed newspaper clipping as evidence." Enclosed was a picture of a monkey in a tree, with the heading: Morningside Monkey Eludes Police. The clipping was taken from the New York Times.

Darrel Warner, '50, is a candidate for Representative in the Iowa State Legislature from Sioux City.

Basil Brock, '50, who is coaching at the Twin Rivers consolidated high school, took his girls' basketball team to the Iowa State tournament this year. In the past two years, his girls teams have been beaten only four times, including tournament games. Mr. Brock's wife is Pat Hammond Brock, '52.

Robert Phelps, '53, will join the full-time staff of Morningside beginning this August 15. Mr. Phelps, who has been working for the Sioux City Journal, will teach two classes in journalism and assist in the area of Public Relations, working specifically in publications and information service.

Nathan Goldberg, '30, has been elected president of the Sioux City chapter of B'nai B'rith.

Gaynor K. Rundquist, '54, was one of fifty teachers among nearly six hundred fifty applicants who won places in the 1958-59 Academic Year Institute at the University of Utah. This program was inaugurated last September by the National Science foundation to train better science and mathematics teachers in our high schools. Mr. Rundquist will have an expense-paid year of study at the University of Utah. He has been teaching arithmetic, science and physical education at Sloan, Iowa.

Monte D. Gruett, '55, received his master of science degree from the University of Minnesota on March 20, 1958.

Owen Robert and Elizabeth Ellen Davies, children of Merlin, '49, and Karen Gay Davies, ('57).

John B. Wolff, '55, has been awarded a scholarship for advanced study at the famous Aspen, Colorado, music school. The scholarship was granted by the Sioux City Symphony Association for study from June 23 to August 23 this year. Mr. Wolff has been on the faculty of the Morningside Conservatory of Music for the past two years, and has also been serving as concert master for the Sioux City Symphony.

Douglas Gibbs, '56, and Carole Ferner Gibbs, ('59), are living near Yokohama, Japan, where he is stationed with the U. S. Navy. Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs and their daughter, Karen Sue, born last September enjoy living in Japan.

Dick Welding, '57, is taking graduate work at the University of Nebraska. He is working in the field of personnel management.

Dale Lange, ('58), is a member of the Third Infantry Division Band, which arrived in Germany on April 19 and is giving almost daily concerts.

ATTENTION PHI SIGS!

Mrs. Ella "Ma" Dawson, housemother at the Phi Sig fraternity house in the 1920's and 1930's, celebrated her ninety-second birthday on May 4. To her many friends who would like to send her a belated birthday card, her address is: The Ingleside Nursing Home, 14th and Jones Streets, Sioux City, Iowa. She would appreciate hearing from you.

Barbara Palmer, '58, and Charles Deery, '57, June 14 in Sioux City. The couple will reside in Omaha, Nebraska.

IN MEMORIAM

George M. Allee, who gave the naming gift for the Allee Gymnasium died on Saturday, May 31, in a Fort Dodge hospital. He was 80 years old. Mr. Allee, longtime resident of Newell, Iowa, was a graduate of Cornell College and Harvard University. For the past 35 years he had charge of his family's farming and stock breeding operations near Newell. His gift of $40,000 was received by the college in 1947 for the building of Allee Gymnasium.

Mrs. Maude Joseph McNaughton, ('09), a resident of Lawton, Iowa, died in March after a long illness. Mrs. McNaughton taught for several years in the Lawton vicinity.

Burrell E. Evans, '15, died on March 9 in Omaha, Nebraska.

Dolores Hunter, who would have graduated from Morningside in August of this year, was killed in a two-car headon collision on a gravel road north of Dunlap, Iowa, on June 3. An outstanding student, Miss Hunter had served as a marshal the day before at the commencement exercises for the class of 1958. She was a case worker for the Florence Crittenton Home in Sioux City.

KANSAS CITY HAS REUNION

A group of Morningsiders met with Dr. J. Richard Palmer and A. W. Buckingham in Kansas City on May 9. Enthusiasm was high, and all present enjoyed seeing the color film of the campus and talking over Morningside days.

Those present were: Firman Redman, '39; Robert Jackson, ('43); Dr. and Mrs. John Johannaber, former faculty; Rev. and Mrs. Carl R. Carlsen, '50; Alan Gorthy, '28; Paul Ralston, '48; and Albert Okonkwo, '56.

GOLFERS ARE UNDEFEATED IN MATCH PLAY

Netmen are NCC Doubles Champs

Morningside's varsity golf team had an undefeated season in dual match play, winning eight matches and being tied twice. They also placed fifth in the Drake relays, competing with all the colleges and universities in Iowa, and were second in the North Central Conference, edged out by Iowa State Teachers.

Regular golfers were Don Veglahn of Sioux Falls, South Dakota; Gene Hagen of Sioux City; Gary Larson of Harlan, Iowa and Larry Selgelid of Albert City, Iowa. The team was coached by A. W. Buckingham.

The maroon tennis team won six matches and were defeated four times during the regular season. At the North Central Conference tennis meet in Sioux Falls on May 16, Dan Emmerson and Fred Zimmat won the conference doubles' championship.

Dr. Walter Benjamin, new head of Morningside's religion department, also served as tennis coach this year. Dr. Benjamin was captain for two years of the varsity tennis team at Hamline University, while he was a student there. Members of the tennis team were Dan Emmerson, Fred Zimmat, and Jerry Houpt of Sioux City, and Victor Sardon of Bolivia.

Stripling Gets No-Hitter

The season record of the Morningside baseball team totals eight wins and nine losses. Probably the highlight of the season was the no-hit game pitched by sophomore Ken Stripling against South Dakota State at Soos Park in Sioux City. Stripling came close to pitching a perfect game, allowing only two men to reach the bases.

Among the other wins earned by the baseball team was one over archrival South Dakota University. The maroons were coached by Don Protector.

Ken Stripling led all pitchers in the North Central Conference in the area of earned runs, giving up only one in 20 innings for a .05 average. Vince Rago was third in the conference in hitting, with a .500 average for the season.

Remember the days when there were no married students at Morningside? Times have changed! During the 1957-58 basketball season, five members of the varsity basketball squad were presented by their wives with new babies, and a sixth team member has a son born before this season.

Atomic power in Caesar's day?

Certainly!

It was there, in the ground, in the air and water. It always had been. There are no more "raw materials" today than there were when Rome ruled the world.

The only thing new is knowledge . . . knowledge of how to get at and rearrange raw materials. Every invention of modern times was "available" to Rameses, Caesar, Charlemagne.

In this sense, then, we have available today in existing raw materials the inventions that can make our lives longer, happier, and inconceivably easier. We need only knowledge to bring them into reality.

Could there possibly be a better argument for the strengthening of our sources of knowledge—our colleges and universities? Can we possibly deny that the welfare, progress—indeed the very fate—of our nation depends on the quality of knowledge generated and transmitted by these institutions of higher learning?

It is almost unbelievable that a society such as ours, which has profited so vastly from an accelerated accumulation of knowledge, should allow anything to threaten the wellsprings of our learning.

Yet this is the case

The crisis that confronts our colleges today threatens to weaken seriously their ability to produce the kind of graduates who can assimilate and carry forward our rich heritage of learning.

The crisis is composed of several elements: a salary scale that is driving away from teaching the kind of mind most qualified to teach; overcrowded classrooms; and a mounting pressure for applications that will double by 1967.

In a very real sense our personal and national progress depends on our colleges. They must have our aid.

Help the colleges or universities of your choice. Help them plan for stronger faculties and expansion. The returns will be greater than you think.
