SEPTEMBER 1962

The President's Pen

According to the best information I have, the $100,000 gift being given jointly by Mr. and Mrs. George Neal and Mr. and Mrs. William Klinger, is the largest and in many respects the most significant gift ever received by Morningside College.

In the campaign for $1,250,000 for the three-unit Fine Arts Building, this gift puts us over the top. It makes it possible for us to qualify for four other large gifts which were contingent upon the successful completion of the total goal. The "contingent" gifts amount to $350,000.

For many years, Mr. Neal and Mr. Klinger have been making gifts to the college. Their enthusiastic belief in and support of the college have been a source of inspiration to those who love Morningside.

In giving his gift, Mr. Klinger said, in part, "In planning to make some significant gift of lasting worth to Sioux City, the best idea I could come up with was to do something to help strengthen Morningside College".

Mr. Neal's statement to me was similar. He has said to me so often, as he has helped to lift the load here, "The hope of this world is our educational institutions. Certainly this one, motivated by Christian purpose and program, richly deserves the best help we can give".

In uniting the names of these two prominent Sioux City families on our Little Theatre, students and friends of this college, through years to come, will sense the dedication of these good people who are now helping to make Morningside College one of the very best institutions of higher education in our land.

I am sure you join with me in expressing sincere gratitude to these generous and thoughtful people.

Sincerely,
J. Richard Palmer
President

The President's Annual Report will be the Morningsider for December. The next regular issue will be the March Edition.

NO DIRECTORY is included in this issue of the Morningsider, because a full Directory, listing graduates and ex-students alphabetically, geographically and by years, as one publication, is being considered.

CLUB ACTIVITIES:

The San Diego Club met on August 26, at the home of Harvey Durfey in Escondido for a swimming party and pot luck dinner.

The Des Moines Club had an open house on the afternoon of August 26, at the home of Merle and Cecily Sherk Wood.

Correction

The name of Lowell Brokaw was listed in our directory among the 1915 ex-students as living at 716 E. Pine, in Sioux Falls, South Dakota. Mr. Brokaw passed away in February 1960.

Mrs. Brokaw is the former Jennie Wunderlich who was a member of the 1910 Academy Class. She lives at 1716 E. Pine in Sioux Falls.

Fred B. Rogers, class of 1912, listed as unknown, lives at 1316 Las Juntas Way, Walnut Creek, California.

On the Cover

HOMECOMING

NOVEMBER 3rd

George Dunn '21 Joins College Staff

Dr. George Dunn has been appointed assistant to the president in charge of church - college relations at Morningside.

Reverend Dunn served as minister of First Methodist Church in Sioux City from 1936 to 1952. In 1952 he was appointed district superintendent of the Dubuque District of the Methodist Church.

Graduating from Morningside in 1921, Dr. Dunn attended Northwestern University and did his seminary work in New York. Morningside honored him with an honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity in 1938.

Since his appointment, he has been preaching each Sunday in different Methodist Churches in the North Iowa Conference.

In his new position Dr. Dunn will seek help from friends of the college in the enlarging of our endowment fund through the creation of wills and trusts.

Dr. Dunn is living in Sioux City at the Shaun Apartments, 1716 Nebraska Street.

New York meeting, Nov. 16. N. Y. area Alumni will be notified, others contact M. Hulse, 120 W. 45th St., N. Y. 36, N. Y.

Campus View From Commons Dining Room

The Commons building will be opened by Homecoming, November 3rd, according to Miles Tommerraasen, '43, executive vice-president. The building will be opened by stages with the food service area to be the first part of the structure to be in use.

The dining room which seats 700 people was opened for use at the beginning of the school year.

The building has a 48 x 100 multi-purpose room, featuring a lounge at the front part of the building. This room is built so that areas may be closed off for small parties and meetings.

The snack bar will have circular booths along one wall. Off the snack bar will be a patio.

The health service area contains quiet rooms, a laboratory, a doctor's office, a reception area, and an examining room.

Other areas in the building are offices of the college publications, the bookstore, student council offices, meeting rooms, the chaplain's office and a chapel, and a counseling service area.

The cost of the building completed will be $850,000.

Commons Director

Miss Viola Anderson has been named director of the Commons, the new student center.

Miss Anderson will act as hostess and supervisor of the Commons. She has been head resident for dormitory women this summer.

After attending Drake University, Miss Anderson received her BS degree in school supervision at the University of Iowa.

She came to Sioux City in 1921 as a teacher in the grade schools, and served as a critic teacher for the Sioux City Normal school, and for several years was dean of students at West Junior high school.

Dr. M. B. Street Directs Workshop

Dr. Morris B. Street, professor of education at Morningside, directed a workshop for supervisors of student teaching for the Nebraska State Teachers College at Kearney, Nebr. July 9-20.

Dr. Street was assisted by Dr. Elwood Strong, Supervisor of student teachers at Washington State College and by members of the staff at Nebraska State Teachers College.

Before coming to Morningside in 1959, Dr. Street served as head of the department of education at Wayne State Teachers College, Wayne, Nebr. from 1943 - 1955. He served as dean of the college from 1955 - 1959.

47 Degrees Granted

Degrees were awarded to forty-seven seniors at Commencement exercises Saturday, August 18. Activities were at Grace Methodist Church at 10:00 a. m. The Reverend Robert Rae, '41, pastor of the Morningside Presbyterian church was the Commencement speaker.

Reverend Rae was awarded the honorary degree, doctor of Divinity, as was Dr. Charles Buckwalter, district superintendent of the Fort Dodge district of the North Iowa Conference of the Methodist Church.

The Commencement exercises had a special significance for several of the graduating seniors. Two of them completed college careers started 36 years ago.

Mrs. Goldie Krumwiede of South Sioux City, Nebraska, attended Wayne State College from 1926 to 1928. She enrolled at Morningside in 1938 after entering the teaching profession, but then did not attend college until 1955. Since then she has worked toward her bachelor of arts degree by taking courses during the summer and at night during the regular year.

Two other South Sioux City women have completed their educations entirely at night and in the summer. Mrs. Eunice E. McClurg had attended Morningside since 1953, and Mrs. Berneice M. Lucore since 1956. Mrs. Lucore entered Wayne State along with Mrs. Krumwiede in 1926.

Choir Draws Praise

Reprinted here is an item from the Sioux City Journal of August 22, 1962.

"The Morningside college choir, attending the International Youth Fine Arts festival in Bayreuth, Germany, had the distinction of appearing on the program officially opening the festival. The choir received a standing ovation from the crowd, and local newspapers spoke of the choir's performance in glowing terms.

"One paper, the Franbusche Presse, a regional paper for Bavaria and Switzerland, said: "A rousing beginning for the program was provided by the student choir of Morningside College, Iowa. U. S. A., under its director, Professor James Wood. In this recital of sacred choruses, we marveled at the superb intonation, tight discipline of the voices and at the wonderful homogeneity of

Rev. Robert Rae, '41

At graduation exercises, August 18 the mother of a Morningside student received her bachelor of arts degree.

Mrs. Dick (Florence) Schalekamp, Cherokee, Iowa, was among the forty-seven graduates receiving degrees. She is the mother of Paul Schalekamp, a junior at Morningside college and wife of Dick Schalekamp, ('28).

Mrs. Schalekamp, who has gone to school the last three summers to complete her requirements for a degree, said that she plans to take a vacation after graduation.

She has taught retarded children at Marcus for the past two years.

Her husband, whom she met while both were attending Morningside, is a livestock buyer in Cherokee.

Mrs. Schalekamp is the mother of four children: Lucile (Mrs. D. T. Scothorn), Cherokee; Jean (Mrs. Robert Kunkel), Grand Forks, N. D.; Neal, who attends Iowa State University at Ames; and Paul at Morningside.

the voices in a degree of perfection seldom heard. The participation of this choir doubtless gives to this year's festival a significant accent."

"Another newspaper, the Bayreuth Tag Blatt, commented, "The fresh, happy, straight forward art of their singing exhibited in its entirely an ecstatic, almost Negroid movement and drive which the choir director underscored with meaningful movements."

Professor Wood reported that Morningside college already has been invited to send a delegation to next year's festival.

Washington Semester Program

This is the second year of active participation by Morningside College in the Washington Semester program. Last fall Barbara Lund of Curley, Iowa, was the first student; this coming September Robert Gourley of Sioux Falls will attend American University.

Under this program the student attends American University in Washington D. C. during the fall semester to study American government in action. Included in this are seminars, independent research work, and field trips to governmental agencies. Miss Lund, whose research topic was the National Council of Churches, wrote of many of these interesting activities in the Morningside Collegian Reporter after her return. Mr. Gourley has selected a study of the adequacy of current labor laws for his major research area.

History Professor Does Research in East

James M. Miller, Jr., assistant professor of History and Political Science left August 2, with Mrs. Miller, for New England and New York for a vacation and research.

Miller will do research at Clark University, Worcester, Massachusetts, at Harvard in Cambridge and at Brown University in Providence, Rhode Island. The research is in connection with work on his doctorate at Clark. He will also have conferences with his advisor on his dissertation.

The Millers will return in time for the fall session.

New Faculty

Mr. John Lindenau is a new member of the music faculty.

A native of Cleveland, Mr. Lindenau graduated from Baldwin Wallace College, Berea, Ohio, and received his master's degree from the University of Michigan.

Lindenau teaches classes in brass as well as giving private lessons. He is in charge of the brass ensemble and assists with the band.

Primarily a trumpet player, Lindenau also plays the french horn. While attending Baldwin Wallace, he was instrumental in the organization of a jazz workshop.

Leo Harris '57 has been named instructor of accounting.

Harris attended the business administration institute at the University of Kentucky for three years.

For the past two years he has been chief accountant at Albion College, Albion, Michigan. Before that he was chief accountant at Morningside for three years.

Mrs. Harris is the former Frances Voss who graduated from Morningside in 1956. The Harris's have two children.

Mr. Arthur R. Murdock is assistant professor of chemistry. He attended York College, York, Nebraska, and received his B. A. degree in natural science from Westmar College. He received his master of science degree in organic chemistry from Yale University in 1958 and presently is working on his Ph.D. at the same school.

Mr. Jerry O'Sullivan is assistant professor of modern languages. He has taught French and Spanish at Parsons, Kansas Junior College as well as in various Kansas and Nebraska public schools.

Mr. O'Sullivan received his A. B. degree from Washburn University in Topeka, Kansas, in 1949. He received his M. S. degree from Kansas State Teachers College, Emporia, Kansas, in French and Spanish. He is married and the father of three children.

Mrs. Elizabeth F. Hartman is an assistant professor of foreign languages.

Mrs. Hartman teaches Spanish. She was formerly at Augustana College in Sioux Falls where she taught French and Spanish.

Mrs. Hartman received her bachelor of arts and master's degrees from Texas Technological College at Lubbock, Texas. She has studied for a year at the University of Iowa and has also studied at the University of South Dakota and the Universidad Interamericana in Saltillo.

Mr. Jefferson Giles is the new wrestling coach at Morningside.

A Sioux City attorney, Mr. Giles will continue his law practice and carry out his coaching duties on a part-time basis.

He will continue building the team started by Dr. Allan Jackson, now dean of the College. Wrestling may become a conference sport in the north central conferences in 1963-64.

Until that time Morningside will compete most of the time with non-conference opponents.

Mr. Giles received a B. S. degree from the University of California in 1957 and his L. L. B. degree from the University of South Dakota in June. He also attended the law school at Golden Gate College and Stanford University.

He is married and the father of two sons.

Dr. Lorenzo Plyler is the new chaplain at Morningside. He fills the vacancy caused when Dr. Allen Jackson was made dean this year.

Dr. Plyler has been minister of a Methodist Church in Gloucester, Mass. In addition to his duties as chaplain, he will teach two courses, Introduction to Christian Thought, and Religions of the World.

Plyler received his bachelor of arts degree with honors from Lycoming college, Williamsport, Pa., and his master's and doctor's degrees from Boston University.

His field of specialty is the Old Testament, along with a strong background in church history, theology, and world religion.

Dr. Plyler is married and has one son.

Mrs. Mildred Hickman Stevens, '28, was named assistant professor of English. She has been teaching part-time in the english department this past year, and is now teaching english and journalism courses.

Mrs. Stevens obtained her master's degree at the State University of Iowa, and is currently doing correspondence work from the University of Missouri.

She has taught at Sioux Falls College and substituted in the Sioux City public schools system.

English Journal, Christian Advocate, Moods and other publications have printed poems and articles Mrs. Stevens has written.

Mr. Richard Wyman has been named assistant professor of speech and drama, replacing Robert Quinn who is on leave of absence to study at the University of Wisconsin.

Wyman received his bachelor of arts degree in 1956 from Augustana College in Sioux Falls, and his Master's degree from North Dakota State at Fargo. He has had four years experience in summer theater in the Black Hills, and has an active interest in Community Playhouse work.

Football 1962

Pupil and Former Coach to Clash at Clinic

The master and the protege will clash when the LeMars Bulldogs meet Westwood Community in the sixteenth annual basketball clinic in Allee gymnasium November 24.

The two teams, coached by Francis Jones, '42, (LeMars) and Gary Kolbeck, '60, (Westwood) of Salix and Sloan will meet in the feature game of the clinic. Both coaches are Morningside graduates. Jones was picked for the all North Central Conference team in his senior year and Kolbeck was a high school all stater under his tutelage. Kolbeck was chosen most valuable player, by his teammates in his senior year.

In the other contest of the annual clinic the Morningside Maroon Varsity will meet the freshman.

Sharm Sherman, head basketball coach at the University of Iowa, will be the principal speaker and Lyle Quinn, Secretary of the Iowa High School Athletic Association, will speak on rule interpretations.

The clinic is open to all interested faces.

18 Game Cage Schedule

The Morningside Chiefs will play an eighteen game schedule during the 1962-63 basketball season.

The opening game will be December 1, at Allee gymnasium with Westmar as the opponent. Conference play begins on January 4 when the Chiefs meet State College of Iowa at Allee gymnasium.

The team will participate in the Hastings Nebraska Six State Tournament, December 27-29.

Returning lettermen reporting to coach Chuck Obye, will be Roger Hansen, Chuck Dickens, and Walt Lill of Sioux City; Douglas Glasnapp of Ringstead; Phil Wiggins of North Carolina, and Mike Reis of Woodbine.

Dr. Tyree to Direct Band

Dr. Ronald Tyree has been named band director at Morningside. Dr. Tyree has been at Morningside since 1959. He will continue to serve as assistant professor of woodwinds along with his new duties.

He replaces Professor James Hustis who accepted a position at the University of Richmond, Virginia.

Dr. Tyree received his bachelor's, master's and doctorate degrees at the University of Iowa.

The Principal bassoonist in the Sioux City symphony orchestra, he also plays first chair saxophone in the Sioux City Municipal band.

H. G. Harris Administrator of Boscobel Restoration

Herschel G. Harris, '24, has been appointed administrator of Boscobel Restoration.

Boscobel is the 1805 Hudson Valley Mansion which Governor Nelson Rockefeller has called "one of the most beautiful homes ever built in America."

Harris was president of the New York Rubber Company from 1957 until the firm was sold in 1960.

About Boscobel, Harris says that it is not a museum but a beautiful home that was lived in by an elegant American family. "We want it to remain a home, not a museum where everything is kept in cases."

Washington News

The accompanying picture was taken at a meeting of the 9999 Air Force Reserve Training Squadron, held in the New Senate Office Building recently. From left to right in the picture are Eugene M. Emme '41, presently Historian of the National Aeronautical and space agency in Washington, Lt. Col. USAF Res; U. S. Senator Jack Miller of Sioux City, Col. USAF Res; U. S. ### Wilson's Tour Europe

Ron Wilson, '21, national vice president of Pfister Associated Growers (PAG), co-owner of Wilson and Russell Seed Company in Sac City, Iowa, was a delegate to the American Seed Trade World Congress, Federation of International Seedsmen.

There were more than 900, from all parts of the world, attending the congress held at Evian, France, on the shores of Lake Geneva. The meeting started on May 26 and ended June 1.

Mr. Wilson, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson, (Ida Willcutt '24), left via plane for Evian on May 25. They spent a week in France after the Congress was over, visiting Nice and Paris and rural areas in France.

One of the highlights of their tour in France was spending a day at the Duprez Research Station at Caprelle. The Duprez Research Station is privately financed and is involved in all types of agricultural research. It was established in 1830 and is located on a 1000 acre farm.

For ten days the Wilsons toured the agricultural areas of Belgium and Holland by bus, spent some time in Brussels, travelled by train to Frankfurt by boat.

The Wilsons visited London, Glasgow, Loch Lomond before returning home by plane.

To Mrs. E. W. Gehring:

With deep gratitude for what you did for me as a teacher who truly influenced my life. With the warmest possible affection.

Cameron Hawley

Lester Benz, '25 on Common Market Tour

Lester Benz, '25, State University of Iowa professor of journalism, spent a month this summer touring the six European common market nations.

In a speech made to the Iowa High School Publications Workshop held in Iowa City August 15, and reported by the Daily Iowan of August 16, Benz said that the $64 question now is "will Britain join?," and added that the decision concerning Great Britain must come after a bitter struggle.

Quoting one British government official as saying that his nation "must join the common market in order to survive," Benz also pointed out that Britain's entry will be a "dramatic historical moment," signifying the "liquidation" of the British empire.

Benz talked to officials in Lisbon, Madrid, Geneva, and London and said that the European common market unites Belgium, West Germany, Italy, Luxemborg, the Netherlands and France and has political unity as its primary objective, while the main issues in Britain's controversy center around the common wealth as an entity, Britain's Government, subsidized agricultural policy, Britain's relationship with other non-common market nations and the matter of political union.

He said that while sentiment within the common market nations is not adverse to the acceptance of Great Britain as a member, there is a resentment to the altering of any of the basic regulations of the market in order to accomodate British demands.

The basic organization of the six nations into the common market was completed with the signing of the Treaty of Rome in 1957. Strictly speaking the common market refers to three organizations, the European Economic Community, the European Coal and Steel Community and the European Atomic Energy Community.

Benz pointed out that in general usage the common market often applies to only the European Economic Community, which was established with a goal of achieving full economic union among the six member countries.

He quoted Walter Dowling, U. S. Ambassador to Germany as saying that although the effect of the common market on the United States may be temporarily disadvantageous, it is a small price to pay for the sake of greater unity in Europe which must result in a strong deterrent to communism and a powerful force for world peace.

Benz made the ten nation tour with 41 other United States newspapermen and women. He is the executive secretary of Quill and Scroll, International Honorary Society for High School Journalists.

Mrs. Benz is the former Marguerite Held '25.

Toothaker's Work Shown At Iowa State Fair

A. R. Toothaker, '03, now serving as landscape artist at Friendship Haven in Fort Dodge, was honored by having some of his handiwork shown at the 1962 IOWA STATE FAIR in August.

The Sioux City Journal of Wednesday August 15, said, "A. R. Toothaker, 89, has made an elaborate replica to scale of the Friendship Haven gardens which will be shown in the Women's building at the state fairgrounds.

"The finished product, measuring eight by ten feet represents a city block in size, complete with grass, walks, flower beds, urns with flowers, the big rock garden in the center area with the white garden house atop its white steps.

"Tiny flowers are set into beds throughout the garden and there are bird houses, small trees, shrubs and hedges."

The exhibit was taken to the fair at the invitation of fair officials.

Rev. Thurow '33 On Tour of Russia and Europe

Rev. Willis C. Thurow '33, is on a churchmen's study tour of Europe and Russia.

Countries visited will include Czechoslovakia, Poland, Russia, England, Switzerland, Finland, Sweden and The Netherlands.

Planned with the idea in mind of helping churchmen acquire information of value to them in their work for world peace and order, there will be conferences with political, religious and peace leaders in the countries to be visited.

Carl Saule, executive secretary for the division of peace and world order at the Methodist United Nations office in New York, is the tour leader.

Thurow is the pastor of Rustin Avenue Methodist Church in Sioux City. Mrs. Thurow is the former Alice Hickman '32.

Two Books by Margaret Crary

Mrs. Ralph Crary, (Margaret Coleman, '26, has written two new books which will be released in 1963.

"Corn For The Palace", a story intended for the eight to twelve year old reader, will be released by Prentice — Hall April 1, 1963. This is a collaboration with Carol Voss. Mrs. Voss taught creative writing at Morningside a few years ago.

The story is about an Oglala Sioux boy on the Pine Ridge reservation and concerns his struggle to raise corn good enough to be used in a mural on the Corn Palace in Mitchell, South Dakota. The time is the present.

"Mystery At Blanford Hall" by Mrs. Crary will be released by Funk and Wagnalls in the fall of 1963. The story involves four teen agers who try to unravel a mystery which has its beginning during the Iowa English colony settlement in the 1880s. It is the for the ten to fourteen year old reader.

The most recent of Mrs. Crary's books published is "The Calico Ball", released by Prentice-Hall in 1961. The story centers around Sioux City in 1861. The book was named for the social event of the season, when young women wore fancy calico gowns and provided their escorts with calico ties to match.

Mrs. Crary has written two prize winning radio scripts, short stories and several plays.
